APRIL 26, 1884.

Theodore Roosevelt heads the New York delegation to the Chicago convention. How would he do to head the ticket nominated at Chicago? His record is a splendid one for a dark horse. The Democrats of this State piled up a tremendous majority for an ex-mayor of Buffalo for Governor whose name had scarcely been mentioned before the convention met. Theodore Roosevelt might be equally available as a presidential candidate although he has never been more than a State Assemblyman.

The "Ticker" is stopped for the week. Points in a market such as we have had for the last month are of little value. The situation is dismal and the outlook of the stock market is not at all satisfactory. Some new and unexpected factor is needed to stop the decline and inaugurate an advance in stock values. The probabilities are that some time within six weeks there will be a spell of hopefulness, and consequent enhancement of values. The crops all promise well and should grain and cotton shipments be renewed and gold importations cease, prices will pick up and general business become better. But outside of the real estate market the situation is not satisfactory.

The Broadway Arcade Underground project has been endorsed by the State Senate, only eight votes being cast against it. We trust the measure will also be endorsed by the Assembly, as we regard it as involving an improvement which will be of enormous benefit to the metropolis, and particularly to its great thoroughfare—Broadway. It is to be regretted that the amendment proposed levying a tax of five per cent. on the gross receipts of the road should have been voted down. A corporation which secures so valuable a privilege ought to pay something into the city treasury. Indeed, this tax should be levied upon the gross receipts of all ferries, gas, horse-car, elevated, cable and other companies, which are granted exclusive privileges within our city limits. We do not share the fears of the Astors, the Trinity Church corporation or the representatives of the Broadway real estate owners who apprehend some damage to their property by the construction of an Arcade road. All capitalists and large real estate owners are generally blind to their own interests when improvements of this kind are projected. The Broadway property holders have been their own worst enemies, for in putting a stop to the laying of railway tracks on, under or above ground, they have driven the retail traffic from their own thoroughfare to Sixth and other avenues. The Arcade road presents no engineering difficulties which have not been repeatedly overcome, and if ever completed will triple the value of real estate on Broadway. It will benefit every section of the city, and help make New York in time the metropolis of the world.

Although the House of Representatives is Democratic by a large majority that body cannot resist the tendency of the age, and in spite of its traditions is hard at work centralizing the authority of the general government. It has voted to establish a Bureau of Labor and a Bureau of Navigation. This action has greatly distressed some newspapers hereabouts, who prophesy all sorts of evil because government is about to pay some attention to the real wants of the community. The present organization of our cabinet is inadequate and faulty. Why should a peaceful nation like the United States, without an army or a navy, have two of its cabinet ministers representing those departments? The vital interests of the country are transportation, agriculture, manufactures and labor. Education should also be a matter of national concern, and the passage of the Blair Bill will necessitate the organization of a department having the care of educational matters throughout the United States. Certain of our local papers are dismayed at the prospect that the Bureau of Navigation may eventually become as important and complex a machine as the British Board of Trade. But why not? If there is anything which has so far been neglected by the nation it is our foreign commerce. One of the most hopeful signs of the times is the effort to take our civil service out of politics, so that the new functions the government is undertaking may be efficiently carried out. Herbert Spencer's famous law of evolution that all things develop from the homogeneous to the heterogeneous is as true of governments as of vegetable and animal life. The head must become stronger as the body becomes larger, and this is why there are so many departments in our government now compared with the period which preceded the civil war.

The work of reform will not have been completed even if all the Roosevelt bills become laws. The disorder in our city finances is one of the giant evils connected with our municipal government. As Braastreet's very well says: "Everywhere local finance is confused and demoralized. In consequence the entire conduct of city business is in a like condition. As we have often pointed out the municipal problem so-called is primarily a question of practical finance. So true is this that there is not much hope for a better government of our large cities until the point comes to be generally recognized. The only well defined exception to the demoralization is in the recent history of Philadelphia. There the general effects of a reformed finance have been most wholesome. New York has about the worst financial accounting in existence." Time and again has THE RECORD AND GUIDE pointed out a way for using the taxpayers to straighten out our city finances and bring a constant pressure to bear to effect economy in municipal expenditures. We would have the large taxpayers of New York charged with the duty of examining the history of every bill presented to the Comptroller for payment. They should be required to present frequent reports touching the workings of every department in the city government; in other words, they who pay out the money should know what becomes of it—how much is expended on proper city work, and what proportion is wasted on sinecures and fraudulent charges against the treasury. Were the expert representatives of the taxpayers to be, as it were, in perpetual session, there would be no need of Commissioners of Accounts or legislative investigations. We do not propose that the taxpayers shall have any additional powers, but their representatives should have authority to see every salary roll and every bill charged against the city. This would be so simple a reform that it will be a difficult one to adopt; yet it would be a very, very effectual one if tried.

A revolution is impending in the iron business. It has now been settled beyond all peradventure that the very best quality of pig iron can be produced in Northern Alabama for twelve and a-half dollars per ton. The cost per ton in Pennsylvania is eighteen dollars and seventy cents, a difference of six dollars and twenty cents in favor of Alabama. This means that that State can produce iron at a rate so low that no tariff is needed to keep foreign iron out of the country. The consequences which necessarily follow this fact will be most important. Pennsylvania cannot compete with Alabama. Its least profitable furnaces must soon close, never to be reopened. For a time it will retain the making of steel, because the patents for the Bessemer and other processes are held by the owners of the great plants in Pennsylvania; but in time the steel production will be transplanted to Alabama, where iron can be so cheaply mined. With the fall of her iron industry Pennsylvania has no longer any interest in a high tariff. It is the "Keystone State" which has been the bulwark of the Protectionist party in the United States. The New England manufacturers are slowly but surely coming to the conclusion that free trade will give them a better chance for making money than ever did protection. The latter has built up a home competition in the South and West, which is eating up the profits of the New England manufacturer. With free trade he could enter the markets of the world. The fact that we can produce cheaper iron that England and Scotland is destined to have a most important influence upon the politics as well as the business of the United States.

The Senate has passed a new Bankruptcy Act, but it is said its chances to get through the House are very doubtful. Bankruptcy laws are beneficial to only two classes—debtors who wish to rid themselves of their obligations, and the lawyers. Creditors are invariably robbed in all bankruptcy proceedings. Tom Benton said in his day that insolvent estates never paid more than 1 per cent., and this has been true of every bankruptcy act passed since then. All these national enactments create a host of official harpies who, with the lawyers, see to it that the creditor gets nothing. The winding up of estates in this country is a shameful chapter in the legal history of the country. It is simply organized plunder from first to last. What makes the record the more shameful is that the swindling is done in the name of justice. We can never have a proper bankruptcy law passed by Congress when nine-tenths of that body are lawyers, and about all of its leading lights are members of that profession.

While we heartily approve of the reform legislation so successfully conducted by Mr. Theodore Roosevelt there is one bill—that relating to the public parks—which seems to us unnecessary. The present Park Commission is doing very well and it should not be interfered with except, perhaps, to add one or three new members so as to prevent an official deadlock. The newspapers and the public are apt to confound the present board with that of former years when one or two members made the commission a bear garden. Messrs. Crimmins and Viele are admirably fitted for their work. Mr. Wales has experience, as has also Mr. Olliffe. Let us leave well enough alone. The single-headed departments are not what they should be in every case, as witness the Department of Public Works. We will never have thorough reform until the Mayor has the power of removal as well as appointment. Then, but not until then, will we have a really efficient and responsible city government.

The Failure of John H. Deane.

When the announcement was made on Wednesday last, that John Hall Deane, of the law firm of Deane & Chamberlain, and one of the largest speculative builders in this city, had made an assignment for the benefit of his creditors, there was but little surprise manifested by those who have watched, even in a casual way, his building operations during the past five years. During this period he claims to have erected about 1,800 houses at an outlay of $20,000,000, the majority of which, it is alleged, were tenements of an inferior character. The location selected by Mr. Deane for these buildings was between Ninetieth and One Hundred and Twenty-third streets and Madison avenue and the East River. Here row after row have been erected by builders, not all of whom were first-class, backed of course by Mr. Deane, until it is said, when he came to make an assignment, he was amazed at the extent of his own operations.

All that section of the city lying between Ninety-sixth and One Hundred and Ninth streets and Fourth avenue and the East River is what was formerly known as Harlem Flats or Commons, and most of it used to be constantly under water to a greater or less depth, according to the tide. An old Harlemite said to the writer yesterday that he had frequently caught bass and netted crabs on the sites now occupied by many of Mr. Deane's houses and that he did not believe there was anyone other than he who would improve such poor lots at the present time. No later than 1850 there was a saw mill on One Hundred and Eighth street, west of Third avenue, and logs were floated down the East River and under a bridge over Third avenue to the mill without any difficulty.

Mr. Deane is only thirty-eight years of age. It is said he commenced his building operations some ten years ago. At that time he was a bright, clever and popular young lawyer, with the faculty of inspiring confidence in his abilities among his various rich clients. He attached himself to the Baptist denomination, and that very respectable and thrifty sect through its representative men and institutions helped Mr. Deane in his building enterprises. That he was grateful for their support is shown by his gifts to various Baptist educational and religious institutions. The fact that he was finally unfortunate in his ventures has led to the charge that his gifts were intended to secure financial support and that his beneficiaries would be losers in the long run. Among his early backers were Messrs. Constant, Christie & Co., also William A. Cauldwell, a son of Ebenezer Cauldwell, a retired crockery dealer. It was these and other wealthy Baptists whose backing enabled Mr. Deane to project his gigantic operations. His first ventures were profitable, and had he built fewer and better houses he would undoubtedly have realized an immense fortune. But people in the trade say that the tenements and other edifices constructed by the means he supplied were of a character that did not command a ready market. Brokers would not or could not recommend them to their customers. Indeed, it must be confessed that Mr. Deane was not popular with the brokers, they alleging that in many instances he managed matters so as to secure property they had for sale without finding it necessary to pay them commissions. Mr. Deane's method of dealing with builders was also peculiar. It is alleged that he bought materials at first cost and in large quantities, reselling at a heavy advance to speculative builders—men who had little or no money of their own. The result was, it is alleged, flimsy structures of scant and poor materials. Of course this is not true of all the houses, for more than one reputable builder had contracts with Mr. Deane.

That the real estate market, generally speaking, will be affected adversely by the failure must not be imagined for a moment; indeed, it has been a surprise to many dealers and investors that the collapse had not come sooner, especially as of late his paper, it is said, has been selling at a large discount. One broker who has handled some of these notes estimates that during the last six months at least $300,000 of it has been discounted.

Mr. Ward B. Chamberlain, Mr. Deane's assignee, says: "It is impossible as yet to give any exact figures in regard to this failure, but roughly I estimate the liabilities at $500,000, independent of the mortgages and the assets, consisting mainly of the equity in the large number of houses built by Mr. Deane over and above the mortgages at $1,500,000. To some persons it may seem somewhat strange that it should have been necessary to make an assignment when so large a portion of the property was well rented and consequently producing a handsome revenue. But the truth of the matter is that Mr. Deane has been for the past six or eight months making many sales of his real property at very low figures in order to protect his paper, and as a large amount of the latter was about to fall due it was simply a question as to whether it would be wise to continue thus to sacrifice his property or not. After consulting with the presidents of the various banks to which he was indebted and other friends, who were all of the same opinion, Mr. Deane became convinced that it would be best for him to suspend payment, and, as you already know, I am his assignee. I would like to state here that the firm of Deane & Chamberlain are in no way involved in this failure, as these building operations were entirely confined to the senior partner's personal account. Mr. Deane is by no means cast down by this affair, as he is a man of extraordinary energy and pluck, to say nothing of the immense amount of brain work he is capable of transacting in a short space of time. He is only thirty-eight years of age, and, I may say, has a scheme which will be vigorously pushed as soon as he works out of his present difficulties, which may revolutionize the entire method of building operations as carried on in this city at the present time. Care will be exercised that no large blocks of the buildings and lots assigned to me shall come on the market at the same time, and everything will be done to realize as much as possible, which I believe will be sufficient to pay dollar for dollar and leave Mr. Deane a handsome fortune besides."

The Committee on Legislation of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited) held an important meeting on last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Crimmins stated that the Health Department had agreed to put a stop to the dumping of garbage on vacant lots in various parts of the city, especially on the west side. This nuisance could be abated without additional legislation, as the Board of Health had full power. In order to get rid of squatters on vacant property the Board of Health will be petitioned to force property owners who permit shanties on their lots where the squatters live, to make a connection with the sewers, so as to get rid of the drainage which is now a source of possible pestilence on so many of the west side lots. It seems the owners sometimes get a trifling rent from the squatters, and hence cannot be induced to keep their property in good sanitary condition. If forced to build drains to the sewers, to save the expense they would clear their land of incumbrances. Various measures before the Legislature were endorsed or condemned by the committee. Commissioner Crimmins called the attention of the committee to the proposed additions to Highbridge Park. This pleasure ground, if enlarged as proposed, will take in about 135 acres, all of which will be picturesquely located, and promises finally to become one of our most popular resorts. Mr. Fleming Smith thought that the park should be still further enlarged, so as to take in a high declivity on the north as well as some of the front on Harlem River, now occupied by houses. The architect of the proposed masonry bridge over the Harlem River, at One Hundred and Eighty-first street and Tenth avenue, was present, and explained, with the aid of a fine map, the character of his plan. If endorsed by the Park Commission this bridge will be 2,400 feet long and will cost over $3,000,000. Mr. E. H. Ludlow laid before the committee for their information the architect's plans for the new Real Estate Exchange. There was a general agreement that the new salesroom would be a very great improvement upon the present Exchange, at 111 Broadway. It will be 33 feet high, have a gallery on one side, and only one pillar will be needed, while the light will be ample. The improvements on the Exchange will be commenced on the 1st of May, and will, it is hoped, be finished by October at the latest.

The Committee on Legislation will next year be a very important body, and the directors of the Exchange showed great sagacity in utilizing the influence and talent of its members by bringing this committee into existence. It is composed mainly of practical builders and real estate owners, and those interested in New York realty, who are effected by Aldermanic or Albany Legislation, would do well to put themselves in communication with this important department of the Exchange.

The North Central Park Improvement Company have bought the lot on the southeast corner of Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street, upon which it is proposed to erect a building in which will be placed four powerful elevators for the accommodation of passengers on the elevated road at that point. This, it will be remembered, is the highest station on either of the "L" roads, being fully 60 feet from the surface of the ground. The building will be a fine one and the lower floors will be for stores. The elevators will be free to passengers on the road, which will make it the most accessible station in the city. The capital stock of the association is $100,000 and its principal stockholders are John J. Astor, J. H. Sherwood, Simon Sterne, Edward J. King, D. R. Kendall and J. D. Crimmins. Owners of lots north of Central Park and east of Morningside Park are offered a share of stock for every lot they own, par value, fifty dollars a share. The Improvement Company will, it is expected, pay dividends and it is believed the erection of this building will add a thousand dollars in value to every lot in that region. The height of this station, as compared with One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street station, is given as the reason why building has gone up from One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street rather than down from that point. Property-holders who wish to subscribe should address John H. Sherwood, on the corner of Fifth avenue and Forty-fifth street. It is expected to have the elevator in operation early in the autumn.

The new warehouses under the Brooklyn bridge, between Rose and Vandewater streets, have been nearly completed, and are to be ready for occupancy on May 1. There are five of them, and they have been leased by paper, leather and fur merchants, at the rate of from $1,800 to $1,900 a year. The warehouses have each two stories and a cellar, and are said to be fire-proof, no wood having been used except for the doors and windows, and coverings for the iron and brick floors. They will be furnished with elevators, and power and heat will be supplied by the steam-heating companies. The bridge arches between William and Rose streets will also be converted into warehouses, but will not be ready this year.

A "Glass Dealer's Ready Reckoner" has just been compiled and published by John Thorpe. It consists of a series of tables of superficial measurement, calculated from one inch to one hundred and thirty-two inches in width, by two to one hundred and eighty inches in length. The book contains one hundred and thirty-two pages of tables, and is of great value to glass dealers. It is understood to be the first of its kind ever published in this country.

Home Decorative Notes.

—So many signs of promise are visible in art and artistic things that every one who loves the beautiful, and who does not, has reason to be encouraged, a leaven of artistic tastes and aspirations has been implanted in this country and our progress in art has been rapid beyond precedent.

—An elegant silver punch bowl is decorated with a branch of the grape-vine and clusters of luscious grapes in natural coloring.

—For candle shades, tiny fans of various colors are attached to a piece of brass which encircles the candle.

—A new relief decoration for side walls and interior decoration has recently been introduced by R. Graves, of 838 Broadway; a particularly elegant and attractive design for a dining room has a trellis work with grape-vine twining over it; the leaves and luscious fruit stand out in bold relief. This style of decoration possesses the great merit of being proof against fire and water.

—A noiseless way of feeding a coal fire is to put a shovelful of coal in a paper bag, prepare a half dozen bags at a time, use one or more as needed and thus the noise and dust generally accompanying the usual mode of replenishing a fire will be avoided.

—The custom of sealing notes with wax is revived.

—A delicate hand screen is composed of satin leaves of the most exquisite green shadings arranged in the shape of a maple leaf; at the joining of the handle is a bunch of blush roses and half-open buds.

—The bent-wood furniture, which is very light and indestructible, is gaining rapidly in favor and popularity; one great merit it possesses is comfort, as the backs of the chairs are made to fit the body, a variety of graceful designs are shown at No. 814 Broadway.

—Pictures of horses are placed in suggestive frames; a very good example is an olive wood horse shoe, studded with silver nails.

—Venetian glass in ruby, opal or turquoise tints are shown in plain bowls and wine glasses, and in pieces banded with gold in Renaissance style.

—Great rose-globes of cut glass in the hob nail and rich Russian cutting, to be filled with cut flowers, are among the handsome glass table ware.

—A unique fire screen is made of dark green felt, a tiny crescent moon is painted in oil in one corner, far below irregular lines in white silk are stitched across in imitation of water, on one side tall cat-tails cut from light and dark green felt stand in a cluster, fastened on the side with the cat-tails for a back ground is a large stuffed sea gull with head slightly bent watching his prey.

—Handsome dining-room and hall screens are made of the new material employed as wall coverings and every variety of embossed and raised paper is used.

—Leather work is popular for portieres and furniture decoration.

—Almost all bed-room furniture is now of light woods in deference to the prevailing taste that the tone of a bed-room should be light and cheerful; the Wakefield Rattan Company, of 924 Broadway, have recently introduced some very elegant sets of rattan furniture both in the natural coloring and stained effects, this style of furniture is particularly attractive, light, cool and will outlast generations.

—A very rich sofa pillow has the foundation of ecru plush with the pansy crackle wrought in relief embroidery; a very large bow of rich purple satin ribbon adorns the left corner.

—Chinese matting for summer rooms and country homes is shown in solid India red and olive green, or with gay checks, bars and plaids of several colors, a breadth of it tacked around the room, as a dado, forms an effective back ground.

—Most exquisite fire screens are imported from France, which are made of very fine brass wire closely interwoven and mounted on frames of hammered metal.

—The artistic porcelains displayed by Ovington Bros., in their new elegant building at Clark and Fulton streets, Brooklyn, are worthy of the attention of all lovers of beautiful pottery, fine crystal, bronze and ceramics. A large assortment of Hungarian ware, consisting of vases and jugs of unique shapes, varieties of Royal Worcester, Dresden and Staffordshire, in sets or single pieces, decorated in new and novel designs. In the art room the walls are hung with paintings on porcelain by Dresden artists, in plush and bronze frames; here are also arranged, in artistic groupings, statuary and bronzes from the hands of the most-renowned artists and sculptors.

—A new bed-table consists of a movable shelf that may be so adjusted as to serve as a writing desk or book-holder for an invalid; they are very handsome when covered with illuminated or stamped leather.

—Colored embroidery on Bolting cloth is a beautiful novelty for curtains.

—Stained black cherry having the appearance of olive wood in its natural shading is new and fashionable for chamber suites.

—The increased attention paid of late years to designs of wall-paper, carpets and rugs have enabled not alone the wealthy to indulge in luxuries and elegance but has also placed within reach of those of moderate means much that is desirable in making their floors and walls beautiful; the soft, neutral tints are chosen in carpets, the designs are small being made up of geometrical figures, tapestry patterns, conventionalized flowers and Oriental designs, all carpets are bordered, very wide is used, thereby giving them the appearance of rugs. The American Glenham Wilton carpets follow closely the Egyptian order of coloring and design though some floral designs are popular, the moquettes are on gray, olive or fawn grounds or in moresque, exquisite as painting, the ingrains of this manufacture are copied from the Brussels, a very fine and large assortment of the Glenham manufactured carpets are offered by E. J. Denning & Co., of Broadway and Tenth street.

Beyond the Harlem.

To those familiar with the topography of the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards a glance at the map made in accordance with existing plans will reveal a possibility of future elegance unsurpassed, if not unrivaled, in any other section of the city. In the first place, on all the high grounds at least, the rectangular system of streets has been abandoned, the various thoroughfares, as located, winding gracefully around circular or oblong blocks, and conforming to the water courses and hills This will be a great gain in embellishment, and it will relieve the neighborhood of the angular monotony too characteristic of our American cities, and so unfavorable to the finest effects in architectural display. The key to the new system of streets on the high grounds is Sedgwick avenue, now being constructed. Starting at McComb's Dam Bridge and rising by easy grades to the level of the high grounds that form the east bank of the Harlem River, it follows the course of that stream until it is lost in a labyrinth of continuing streets not far from Jerome Park. Eventually this avenue cannot fail of becoming one of the finest places of residence in New York, and when the projected bridge across the Harlem above Highbridge is completed, and the system of rapid transit roads extended along the west side of the island, it will be easy of access. Near the upper end of this avenue commences the system of projected parks located by the Park Commissioners, extending through connecting parkways, 300 and 600 feet broad, down to the very waters of the East River at a point where the shore overlooks Pelham Bay. There can be no doubt that the plans for the improvement of the annexed district are comprehensive and beautiful in the highest degree.

But it is undeniably true that a depression has long rested on property in that section of the city. Land there has been less marketable than elsewhere and even at the present date large landholders in the wards north of the Harlem River do not speak hopefully. It is considerably more than a decade since the Jerome Park Improvement Site and Villa Company was organized for the purpose of converting the celebrated race-course and vicinity into a neighborhood of attractive homes. But thus far the stockholders have not felt warranted in taking any steps towards realizing the plans of the organization. "If we build houses in advance of the construction of rapid transit roads," says Mr. Theodore Moss, a gentleman interested in the company and who holds a large amount of property in the neighborhood, "they cannot be rented. Were such roads constructed the entire section would fill up rapidly with population, and the roads themselves would soon pay handsomely." Mr. Leonard W. Jerome holds to similar views, and is not sanguine in anticipating the time when the proposed high bridge will be thrown across the Harlem River, a work of the utmost importance to all property lying upon the elevated ground bordering upon the stream, as well as to the country still further north.

These are not opinions, however, universally held. Men of enterprising views are willing to stake money on an opposite conviction, and some large improvements are either projected or under way in the two upper wards. The Bedford Park enterprise, already mentioned in these columns, is being pushed forward with commendable spirit, and it is creating quite an attractive feature in the Twenty-fourth Ward. The location chosen for this improvement is favorable. The houses completed and in process of construction are located within two minutes' walk of the Jerome Park station of the Harlem Railroad, from whence frequent trains communicate with the Forty-second street depot at the exceedingly low fares to commuters of seven and one-half cents per trip. As the time by express train is only fifteen minutes, and by local train thirty minutes, this offers nearly as good rapid transit facilities as can be obtained anywhere in New York or vicinity, and it cannot be justly said that a home at Bedford Park is inaccessible. The location, too, is at the point where the Southern Boulevard crosses the Harlem road, an exceedingly attractive situation, high and salubrious, and in the immediate neighborhood of one of the proposed new parks.

The buildings thus far erected, about a dozen in all, are of frame, mainly in the Queen Anne style, and were built at a cost of from $3,750 to $7,000, the price being regulated as well by the size of the plot taken as by the cost and finish of the house. They are surrounded already by a good growth of ornamental trees, and the new avenues are to be embellished with maples and elms of the largest size that can be successfully transplanted, thus offering at an early day the attractions of an almost rural home within the boundaries of a large and bustling city. This attraction, too, is one that will be always maintained, whatever changes time and the growth of population may bring to the upper sections of New York. The neighborhood has been pre-empted for the embellishment of parks. The seat of St. John's College, containing many acres of highly ornamented grounds, is also in the immediate neighborhood, and no oppressive density of population, were the city to finally extend to White Plains, will be possible in that particular location. Fifty years hence, if an investor cares to look so far in the future, he will still find himself surrounded by open spaces with plenty of fresh air, sunshine and green foliage.

Coming southward from the neighborhood of Bedford Park, until we arrive at One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street where it is intersected by Morrisania avenue and Lewis street, we find still another large improvement projected. This is nothing less than an enterprise for the construction of fifty-four new dwellings, plans of which were filed in the Building Department last February by the House and Home Company (Limited), George W. Van Siclen, chairman. The site selected for this improvement, one block south, or rather southwest, of Fleetwood Park, is bounded on the west by Lewis street and on the east by Morrisania avenue, while it extends from One Hundred and Sixty-third to One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street. It is less than three blocks distant from Melrose Station, on the Harlem Railroad, and only one block from the Fleetwood Park Station, as it is laid down in the plans of the projected Suburban Elevated Railroad, which is to cross the Harlem River at Second avenue. The purpose of this company is to furnish homes at a cost, including land, of not more than $4,500 to each subscriber, the money to be paid on the installment plan in sums to come within the resources of persons of very humble means. The location chosen by this company is among the most desirable to be found for cheap dwellings in the annexed district. The improvement has been delayed by a decision of the Building Bureau, which demands 12 inch walls for buildings that would be strong enough if only 8 inches in thickness, but it is hoped that the decree is not final.

Notwithstanding these enterprises, however, the fact that there is a feeling of distrust and uncertainty on the part of large property holders in the annexed district remains as a check upon improvement. The cause for these misgivings will be a good subject for investigation, and, this once discovered, it ought not to be difficult in a city growing so rapidly as New York to provide a remedy. The obstacle, it is to be feared, is not due to a want of rapid transit.

Realty at Albany.

ALBANY, April 24.

The Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the Assembly to the general street railroad bill, and it has been to-day delivered to the Governor. The Cable Company fought the amendment in the Senate, not so much because they objected to them, but for the purpose of delay, hoping to get some one of the number rejected and the bill sent to a conference committee, where it could be held until they got their schemes in New York further advanced. They failed in this, although they came near rejecting one amendment. After that they tried to have the bill held back from the Governor, but a motion to hold it was rejected. The purpose of the Cable Company is to keep this bill back until they have secured vested rights in the routes that they have laid down through the Rapid Transit Commission, and then claim that this bill is unconstitutional because it interferes with vested rights in prohibiting surface roads to be constructed under the Rapid Transit Act of 1875. They actually claim to have secured vested rights by the transfer of the routes laid down to the companies formed to construct them. In that claim they are ahead of time and putting forth pretensions that are not tenable No company can get vested rights under the act of 1875, until they get the assent of the local authorities to the use of the street designated. That the cable party has not obtained as yet, and they are working for delay on this bill until they can have time to secure that assent. That is the fight now. Another week will tell what the Governor will do.

The Senate has had two lengthy discussions over the bill to enlarge the powers of the Broadway Underground Railroad, so as to enable them to construct the road on the Arcade plan, with four tracks and sidewalks under the present walks. It was fought at the close of last week by Senators Otis, Daggett and Robb in Committee of the Whole, but then ordered to third reading. It reached its third reading to-day, when Senator Daly who was absent when it was considered before opposed and endeavored to defeat it. He referred to it as a project that might be feasible in an engineering point of view, but so enormous that capital could not be obtained to construct it. He thought that all the money which those believed it possessed had been expended in preparing documents and pictures of the road and none was left to prosecute the work. This is the first time that objections have been raised to parties who have a measure before the Legislature supplying members with documents which explain the bill in all its details and demonstrating what it is proposed to do under it. The plan generally is to hide the purposes of the measure, but in this case they have done all that they can to make clear every point. Senator Daly did not believe that capital could be obtained abroad to construct the road, for foreign capitalists had so often suffered loss in their investments in this country that they are sending back American securities instead of purchasing more. He insisted that the project was one that endangered all the property on Broadway and ought not to be tolerated. No one made any reply to Senator Daly's speech, but his motion to strike out the enacting clause was voted down, receiving only four votes.

Senator Robb then took a hand in opposition to the bill, declaring that the whole thing was a scheme of paper and water, and proposed that the consent of the property holders should be obtained before the road is commenced. This motion received eight votes. Mr. Lansing wanted the company to deposit a guarantee fund of five millions with the Comptroller before the work was commenced, as a security to property holders against loss or damage. This was rejected. Senator Gilbert raised doubts about the constitutionality of the bill on the ground that it gave the company power to lay down more tracks than it now had, and therefore came within the constitutional provision granting exclusive privileges. This point was argued at length by Mr. Gilbert on one side and Mr. Thomas on the other, the latter bringing out the fact clearly that the company now had the right to lay down two tracks, and the only question was whether it should be confined to a dark tunnel or provide a better mode for the accommodation of the public. The question of allowing them to enlarge the road did not come within the constitutional provision. If it did, then the bill to enlarge the Grand Central Depot, and the laying of tracks in the enlarged portion, also come within that restriction, and in that case the constitution stood in the way of all needed improvement. That question, said Mr. Thomas, has been submitted to some of the ablest lawyers in the State, and they have decided that the Legislature has the right and power to grant this privilege. As to the sidewalks, that is not granting the company special privilege, for they are to be used by the public free. The bill was finally passed by a vote of twenty to eight. It now goes to the Assembly, where a like bill has already been reported; this will be substituted, and the bill considered in that body some time next week. Its fate there is yet uncertain, but its friends are confident of its passage there at an early day.

Ex Gov. Butler of Massachusetts has been looking into the project, and has written a letter commending the measure as one that will greatly benefit the working people and tradesmen. The following is the full text of his letter:

BOSTON, April 21, 1884.

MY DEAR MR. GARDINER:

A mutual friend has been explaining to me your rapid transit scheme by means of an Arcade road under Broadway, and so out to the country by two lines diverging from Twenty-third street.

I am very much struck with the object of the enterprise, which is to give the confined workingmen and tradesmen employed in the lower parts of the city of New York means of reaching home expeditiously and cheaply, and at such a distance as will afford them light, air and space, at least during the hours of recreation and sleep.

Nothing could be done, it seems to me, in the city of New York which would so far benefit all classes of its people. It may be said: where is the capital to build such a road? When there is such a plethora of capital in this country, that it even overflows our borders and seeks investment in Mexico, where investment can never be certain, because its very foundation—stability of government—is wanting, and while New England and New York have more money invested, leaving out real estate, west of the Alleghanies than they have east thereof, and while money can be had for first-class investments at 3 and 4 per cent., it would seem impossible for such a road as you propose to fail for want of capital to build it, even if you depended upon this country alone, and there is a like plethora of capital in Europe.

Wishing every success to the enterprise as one of those steps in advance which are for the benefit of the substrata classes of the people especially, I am, very truly your friend and servant, BENJ. F. BUTLER.

H. C. GARDINER, ESQ., New York.

Governor Cleveland has approved the bill to enable railroad companies which have a terminus at any point in the New York harbor to own and operate ferries for the convenient transaction of their business and the conveyance of passengers.

The bill to enable the Harlem Railroad Company to enlarge the Forty-second Street Depot by building an 80-foot addition on the east side has passed the Senate. The Railroad Commission has decided that this extension and enlargement is necessary for the accommodation and protection of the travelling public.

The act providing for the appointment of a commission to prepare a bill and report to the next Legislature, providing a better mode for the transfer of lands, to cheapen and facilitate the transfer of titles of realty and the dealing therein, has also passed the Senate.

At the session of the Legislature last year a bill was passed prohibiting any corporation thereafter organized from tearing up the streets to lay down pipes for steam heating, gas or any other kind. This gave a monopoly to the present gas and steam heating companies, and would cut off the proposed company for the introduction of river water for the extinguishment of fires and flushing of the gutters from laying down pipes. A bill has been introduced in both Houses, going through the Senate to-day, which excepts pipes for the introduction of salt water from the provisions of that law. This will remove the obstacle in the way of laying the necessary mains and pipes by the company, which proposes to introduce salt water for fire purposes.

All that portion of Ward's Island under the control of the Commissioners of Emigration is soon to be sold under foreclosure. That board some time since mortgaged the property for $200,000, subsequently the State bought the mortgage as an investment for the surplus funds. The Commissioners have failed to pay the interest, the State is not receiving the income anticipated from it, and the Commissioners of Emigration now not only say that they can't pay the interest but don't know that it will ever be paid. Mr. Littlejohn, as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, at the request of Comptroller Chapin, to day introduced and passed in the Assembly a bill authorizing the Comptroller to proceed to foreclose the mortgage and sell all that portion of Ward's Island covered by the mortgage. This is a valuable property.

A bill passed the Assembly to day amending the act of last year, which authorized the Dock Department to construct a pier for the use of the Police Department, between Pier 1, North River, and Castle Garden. It appears that under the act of last year there was some conflict between the Dock and Police Departments, which prevented the work proceeding, and this is brought forward as a compromise in accordance to an adjustment of the difficulties. It allows the joint use by the Dock and Police Departments of the dock when constructed, and exclusively to those departments.

The seven Roosevelt reform bills have been reported in the Senate and made the special order for next Tuesday. These cover the County Clerk's, Sheriff's, Surrogate's and Park Departments. No amendments were made in the committee.

The bill to establish new parks north of the Harlem River, which was sent back to the committee after it was ordered to third reading, to give the Mayor and his cabinet a chance to be heard, was argued before the committee this evening. One of the curious developments was the presentation of a document signed by Mr. Edson and some of the other persons now connected with his cabinet, made before Mr. Edson became Mayor and the other persons became officials, which contains a recommendation for every one of the parks designated by the Marsh commission, and also arguments which refute every single objection now raised to the bill by the Mayor and his cabinet. All of their points as officials are fully and completely answered by them as citizens in that document. Never were men so completely met by their own written and published statements.

Several years ago there was a parade ground laid out on the flats on the upper end of Manhattan Island, and the property tied up under proceedings to condense the titles. While those proceedings were still pending the act establishing the parade ground was repealed and the project discontinued. A bill has been introduced by Senator Plunkett and reported in the Senate to enable the property holders who were put to an expense in the original proceedings to take their cases to the courts and get redress, the city to be liable for the costs.

Chicago Real Estate.

CHICAGO, April 24th, 1884.

Buyers and sellers were not so numerous, and it was almost an impossibility to show property to advantage during the greater part of the week, especially that which is distant from the centre of the city. But renting and leasing occupied very much of the time in the offices. The increased number of tenements renting tell the story of the rapidly growing population of Chicago. During the past year a large number of flats were erected—making thousands of additional tenements or residences. There were those who predicted that the "flat" craze would be overdone. But the influx of population has been greater than ever, and instead of surplus house-room the supply of houses is found to be short of the demand. Rents are firm. Being met with a flat refusal when tenants talk lower rents, they have begun their annual tour of the city—house hunting. "To Rent" is not a frequent sign, however. Many of the new houses will be occupied by their owners, or by parties purchasing as soon as contractors put them on the market.

Following are the total sales and amount of consideration of city and suburban transfers for the week ending Saturday, April 19th, with comparisons:

Location.	Transfers.	Prices.
City property	190	$1,187,773
North of city limits	29	48,725
South of city limits	52	207,431
West of city limits	21	17,484
Total	292	$1,461,413
Same weeks last year	70	1,[illegible]29
	318	1,258,577

The largest transaction of the week was the transfer of a block on

Wabash avenue, south of Van Buren street, from the Connecticut Mutual Life Association, to W. A. Giles, of this city, for $130,000.

The loan agents are driving a pretty fair business on intended improvements. Inquiries are mostly for money in amounts of from $5,000 to $8,000, to be used in the improvement of good property for residences—a few as high as $50,000. Money is plenty, and when the security is ample there is no difficulty in effecting loans.

The lumber market exhibits considerable activity, both on outside and local account. Manufacturers of the Northwest have recently held a conference and will do their utmost to stimulate the market for their mill products by concerted action—holding back supplies, etc. But dealers are not frightened at the prospect. In fact, some are free sellers, and rely on full supplies of new stock to replace shipments. The combined stock of timber on the first day of each month of this year was as follows:

	Lumber and Timber.	Shingles.	Lath
January 1	636,318,561	461,930,496	65,981,140
February 1	583 228,906	457,745 250	62,766,998

The cargo market has not developed very fast this week. Sales dragged throughout. Lumber dealers are disposed to hold off for better prices, and cargoes frequently remain for several days on the market before a buyer is found. Green stuff has lately been sold by the cargo at $9@9.50, and common dry strips and boards and strips have sold at $13@18, for common to choice, a cargo of dry strips being sold a few days ago at $15.50. Lath sells at $1 75 and shingles at $2 35@2 50. Building materials were dull, and nails ruled weak at $ .50@2.55. The Western nail manufacturers will meet on Thursday, when prices will be fixed for the future.

The Builders' Exchange, recently organized in this city by some representative houses, have taken permanent quarters. It is designed to exhibit here the great diversity of materials, extending over various natural and artificial productions, and embracing granites, marbles and the more common building stones, bricks and terra cotta, woods of many kinds and artificial substitutes, such as terra-cotta lumber and paper boards; the new methods of fire proof construction and the varied appliances and improvements; the many sanitary applications; and then the decorative works, which include a great variety of forms and finish, will go to make an exhibition at the same time interesting and instructive, and one from which the public may derive great benefit.

Late crop advices are to the effect that winter wheat in Illinois, Ohio, Iowa and Indiana is in excellent condition, injury by frost having been confined exclusively to scattered points in the two former States. The plant in Missouri has evidently been badly damaged by cold weather. Wisconsin reports a falling off in the acreage of spring wheat, as the farmers are giving greater attention to the dairy. Dakota and Minnesota have a larger acreage than last year, and there is a prospect of the largest yield for years, no damage from insects being reported at any point.

JAY.

Real Estate Department.

There was a halt in the activity of the market during the past week; the rapid pace of the previous weeks could not be kept up. The salesroom was crowded as usual, but the bidding was not so spirited. The fine houses on Eighty-first street, between Fifth and Madison avenues, did not bring prices which represented real values. Had the market been what it should be these well-finished structures would have brought $45,000 each. The sale of the Kingsland lots at Gowanus was also a disappointment, only some seventy being sold out of nearly one thousand offered. Then the great apartment houses belonging to the Maher estate were temporarily withdrawn so as to make good an apparent defect in the title. The corporation sale was also adjourned. But dealers think that the market is only taking a fresh breath, and that the buying movement will continue not only through the summer, but that it will be more pronounced in the fall than it has been this spring. Certain long-headed dealers also think that the turn will come for unimproved real estate some time later this year. The brokers are busy, and the official transfers of real estate recently are far ahead of last year. This is true not only of New York but of Brooklyn, as will be seen by our official transcripts, which are heavier than they have ever been.

The following is the record for the past week:

CONVEYANCES.

On Saturday last only one sale took place at the Exchange, two lots on Alexander avenue selling under foreclosure for $3,600 each. On Monday, eleven four-story stone front dwellings on the south side of Eighty-first street, east of Fifth avenue, were sold under foreclosure; the amount due on the first mortgages on each house was about $36,450. These houses were finished lately by W. P. & A. M. Parsons, who failed a few months ago. No. 10, the house nearest the Fifth avenue, which was held at private sale for $50,000, was offered first and sold for $6,200 over the mortgage, or a total of $42,650; the other houses sold for from $4,450 to $2,950 over the mortgages, four or five of them being bought by parties who have liens against the houses. On Tuesday a number of houses in various parts of the city were sold, and eleven lots on Eighty-sixth, One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets, Fifth and Sixth avenues, were offered to close a partnership. Only two, however, were sold, those on the south side of Eighty-sixth street, 70 feet west of Park avenue, each 18 11x102.2, for $8,800 a piece. Five lots on Pleasant avenue, corner One Hundred and Fourteenth street, were sold; the corner brought $3,600, and the others $2,700, $2,500 and $2,450 each; one lot on One Hundred and Fourteenth street, in rear of above, sold for $2,450, and one on One Hundred and Thirteenth street sold for $2,125. Only about seventy lots belonging to the Kingsland estate, and situated on Van Cott, Kingsland, Nassau and Norman avenues, Brooklyn, were sold. The prices realized not being satisfactory to the executors, the remaining 920 lots were withdrawn. On Wednesday the lot No. 480 Broome street, near Wooster, 25x100, sold for $25,000; the lot No. 362 Third avenue, near Twenty-sixth street, with one-story buildings thereon, brought $25,300 under foreclosure. The plot on the southwest corner of Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Thirty-second street sold for $54,500, and the sale of the apartment houses known as the Newport, Strathmore and Adelphi, on Fifty-second street and Broadway, by order of the assignee of F. Mayer & Co., was adjourned to May 6th. On Thursday several houses were sold, and the sale of property on Mulberry street, Burling slip, South Fifth avenue and Fifty-second street, belonging to the Corporation, was adjourned to April 29th. The sale of the Burlington flats on Thirtieth street, Nos. 8 to 14 West, 100x98 9, was also adjourned, the property having been sold at private contract to William R. Martin, for $320,271. On Friday two sales took place, the others being adjourned.

Mr. Geo. W. Hamilton offers for sale the remaining houses built by him on Seventy-first street, between Ninth avenue and the Boulevard. These are first-class buildings in every respect. They are four-story high stoop brown stone dwellings, of different sizes to suit all classes of investors. The west side is being built up very rapidly, and within a few years will be thickly studded with all kinds of buildings. Those having capital will make a safe investment in houses of this kind, as they can now be had at much lower figures than similar property on the east side.

Messrs. Bradley & Currier offer a number of houses for sale or in exchange for city lots, as will be seen by their advertisement elsewhere. Inquiries should be addressed to them at their place of business, No. 54 Dey street.

A. H. Muller & Son will sell several parcels of valuable city and country property, to close the estate of the late John Haggerty, on Thursday, May 15. The property includes lots on St. Nicholas and Tenth avenues, and East Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth streets.

Richard V. Harnett will sell on Tuesday, April 29th, the three high stoop dwellings, Nos. 231, 233 and 235 East One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street; the houses and stores Nos. 85 and 85½ Division street, and a valuable lot on Seventieth street, west of Eighth avenue; also No. 537 Court street, Brooklyn.

Mr. Harnett will on Wednesday, April 30, offer a desirable stone front dwelling on the Sixth Avenue Boulevard, south of One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Monday, April 28, the premises No. 92 James street, and will dispose of on Tuesday, April 29, the dwelling No. 335 East Twenty-third street, the tenement No. 633 East Seventeenth street, the business property Nos. 13 and 14 Pell st, and the private dwellings No. 493 Lexington avenue and No. 145 East Thirty-eighth street.

On Wedesday, April 30, Mr. Smyth will sell the tenement No. 516 West Thirty-ninth street, and two lots and dwellings in the city of Brooklyn, viz., No. 440 State street and No. 51 Nevins street.

On Wednesday, April 30th, there will be an executors' sale of a portion of the Jones property, which includes four lots on West Forty-eighth street, nine and one half lots in Morrisania; Brooklyn property corner of Graham avenue and Varet street, a number of vacant lots in Rahway, and the well-known Wiedenmayer Brewery property in Newark. This will be an interesting sale, and will be conducted by A. H. Muller & Son.

Varnum & Harison, of 110 Broadway, offer for private sale some very choice fee simple and leasehold property, including the store property No. 747 Broadway, extending through to Mercer street (Sailors' Snug Harbor leasehold), and the four-story stone front dwelling, No. 207 West Forty-fifth street, Astor leasehold; also a desirable plot, 20 x125, on the east side of the Boulevard, from One Hundred and Fifty-second to One Hundred and Fifty-third street, the brick apartment house No. 1695 Lexington avenue, the plot and frame dwelling No. 521 East One Hundred and Twentieth street, and in the city of Brooklyn, the two-story brick dwelling No. 157 Heyward street. The above very desirable property is offered on easy terms by the advertisers.

Attention is called to the west side lots offered for sale by V. K. Stevenson, Jr., in another column.

Gossip of the Week.

Thirty-two lots, comprising the block bounded by Fifth and Madison avenues, One Hundred and Sixth and One Hundred and Seventh streets, have been sold by Fred. W. Gunther to James McCreery for $275,000; broker, W. P. Seymour. These lots sold under foreclosure in March, 1878, for $194,050, to Charles M. Field, they were resold by Mr. Field to Mrs. Henrietta wife of Charles B. Gunther, July 11, 1879, for $180 000, and were conveyed by the latter to Fred. W. Gunther November 5, 1879, for a nominal consideration.

The North Central Park Improvement Company have purchased a lot on the southeast corner of Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Sixteenth street for $12,000, which they will improve as announced elsewhere.

John H. Sherwood has bought from the Ferris estate four lots on One Hundred and Tenth and One Hundred and Eleventh streets, between Sixth and Seventh avenues. He also owns ten other lots on the same streets, which he purchased about a year ago.

Riker & Co. have sold for Dr. Carrie L. Black the four-story high stoop brown stone dwelling, No. 58 East Fifty-fifth street, between Madison and Park avenues, 16x65x100, for $32,500; and for S. Fox the four-story high stoop brown stone house, No. 125 East Sixty-first street, near Park avenue, 19x55x100, for $23,500.

Thomas Crimmins has sold his property on the east side of Second avenue and Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth streets. The plot comprises something over fourteen lots and has a frontage of 151.7 feet on the avenue, 84.2 on Fifty-ninth and 208.8 on Sixtieth street. There are several dwellings on the site. The purchasers will erect a large factory and other buildings thereon when the leases of the structures on the property expire next year. The brokers were Messrs. Peter A. Lalor and M. H. Beringer.

Max Danziger has purchased from James Bentley Squires the first-class four-story high stoop brown stone private residence, No. 11 East Seventy-ninth street, 20x79x100, for $50,000. Mr. Danziger has bought the house for his own occupancy.

The four-story and basement marble front building, No. 17 Wall street, size 20x65, was reported sold yesterday, for $325,000, to Matthew Wilks, the owner of the southwest corner of Wall and Broad streets. Upon inquiry we learn that the sale has not been made, and it is said the owners, the Coddington estate, would take much less than $325,000 for the property.

William M. Thomas has purchased from Chas. C. Wheatleigh the four-story English basement brown stone private dwelling, No. 460 West Thirty-fourth street, 16.8x50x98.9, for $10,000. Thomas & Eckerson were the brokers.

The Equitable Life Assurance Society has sold thirteen lots on Ninth avenue, three on the northwest corner of Ninety-fifth street, one on southwest corner of Ninety-sixth street, six on east side, between Ninety-sixth and Ninety-seventh streets, one on northeast corner of Ninety-fifth street, and two on east side, 76 feet north of Ninety-fifth street, to Henry Bornkamp, for $90,000, with loan.

John Gorman has sold for Charles Jones, the plot on the northeast corner of Eighty-first street and Lexington avenue, 70x102.2, to F. R. Walker, for $32,000; also for Louis Young, the three-story English basement brick dwelling, No. 238 East Eighty-second street, 19x102, for $7,000.

E. A. Cruikshank & Co. have sold the four-story brown stone front flat, No. 308 East Eighteenth street, 20.8 x about 80, to B. T. Kearns, for $19,000.

P. S. Treacy has sold for John Richards the five-story stone front tenement, No. 506 West Sixty-first street, 25x82x100.5, on private terms. Mr. Richards has also sold Nos. 508 and 510, adjoining the above, for $40,000, to Richard Quirk.

Isaac Stern is the purchaser of the block bounded by St. Nicholas and Seventh avenues, One Hundred and Twelfth and One Hundred and Thirteenth streets, the sale of which was reported last week.

Henry Bischoff has sold the house, No. 43 Bleecker street, 22.11x83.3, to Henry L. Luccas for $15.750.

Scott & Myers have sold, for D. W. James, a plot on Eighty-fifth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues.

J. Romaine Brown has sold for J. C. Laurence the two-story frame dwelling and lot, 20x30x56, on the south side of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street, 200 feet east of Tenth avenue, to Louis Messing, for $2,800.

Mr. Jacob New has sold to Hiram Moore four lots on the southwest corner of Fifty-eighth street and Eleventh avenue, for improvement.

Dennis Loonie has sold the four-story and basement brown stone improved flat, No. 234 East Seventy-first street, 20x65x100.4, to A. Kain, for $20,500.

Richard Totten is the party who purchased from R. Guggenheimer and H. Clausen, Jr., the twenty-three lots on Avenue A, Forty fourth and Forty-fifth streets, and East River, as reported in our issue of the 5th inst.

The Clark estate have sold the plot on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-third street, 70 feet east of Lexington avenue, 104x100.11, to F. J. Wall.

W. H. Streeter has bought Mr. Samuel G. Courtney's house No. 127 West Forty-fifth street, a four-story high-stoop brown stone house, size, 19.9x55x82; broker, James R. Edwards. This house will cost the purchaser when put in order about $26.000.

Three lots on One Hundred and Sixth street, south side, 100 feet west of Eighth avenue, have been sold by John R. Suydam to John E. Parsons, for $17,000.

Two lots on the north side of One Hundred and Fifth street, 100 feet west of Eighth avenue, have been sold by the Morgan estate to John E. Parsons, for $13,700.

Isidor Cohnfold is said to have purchased nine lots on Central Park West (Eighth avenue) and One Hundred and Sixth street, for $43,500.

Dye & Castree have sold the four-story brick store and dwelling on the southeast corner of Perry and Greenwich streets, 25x36x40x48, to T. Stillman, for $15,000.

Richard Lines has sold for Mrs. Henrietta Frank the four-story house, No. 135 Avanue C, for $13,000, to A. Rosenheim.

F. J. Wall has sold the two frame cottages, Nos. 169 and 171 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street, with plot of ground, 34x100, to William N. Beers, for $10,500.

F. S. Gray has sold for J. W. Tucker the three-story brick house, No. 226 West Twenty-ninth street, 16.8x50x85, for $9,500; for Mr. McCann, the four-story front and rear brick tenements, No. 211 West Thirteenth street, 25x103, for $17,000, and the three-story front and rear brick houses, No. 457 West Twenty-seventh street, 25x100, for $8,000.

Mr. Kavanagh has sold the old three-story frame house, No. 2191 Third avenue, 32x125, to John Lynch, for $25,000.

D. Kempner & Son have sold the five-story brick store and flat, on the southwest corner of Eighth avenue and Forty-seventh street, 25x100, to M. Ceiler, for $73,000.

Maclay & Davies have sold the four-story brick store building, No. 550 Pearl street, for $50,000.

A. A. Teets has bought the plot of ground comprising six city lots, four on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-third street, commencing 75 feet east of Seventh avenue, and two on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-second street, commencing 125 feet east of Seventh avenue, for $41.500. These are the lots the Board of Education had intended to purchase for a new public school building.

Herman Kamberger has sold the five-story double brown stone flat house, No. 1343 Second avenue, 25x72, for Charles Nette to Alphonse Hogenauer, for $31,000, and for Isidore de Jonge the five-story double brown stone flat, No. 835 Second avenue, 25x100, to Charles Lutz, for $25,000.

Andrew Kelly has sold the four-story flats on the north side of Sixty-ninth street, 100 feet east of Third avenue, 84x100.4, to Henry S. Strauss, for $77,600.

Brooklyn.

W. F. Corwith has sold the two-story and attic frame dwelling, No. 140 Meserole avenue, to Paul C. Larsen for $3,000; lot on the south side of Clay street, 230 feet west of Manhattan avenue, 25x100, to William Manigan for $1,150; house and lot No. 134 Calyer street to Agnes McLachlan for $5,400.

Julius Rottman has sold the three-story frame dwelling, No. 134 Newell street, to W. F. Corwith, for $3,000.

The premises No. 251 Clermont avenue, 23x200, to Vanderbilt avenue, with three-story and basement brown stone dwelling, which was to have been sold at auction has been sold at private contract for $15,000.

Leonard Moody has sold for the Seney estate the block on Seventh avenue, from Union to President street, 190x188 feet, for $55,000, to W. Flanagan, who will improve the property immediately.

The work of tearing down the old club house of the Hamilton Club, Brooklyn, for the purpose of erecting a new building on the site, will be begun on May 1. The cost of the proposed structure will be between $175,000 and $200,000. The subscription for the bonds will, it is expected, be all taken up during the week.

Out Among the Builders.

The Eagle Insurance Company intends to erect a seven-story and basement office building on the corner of Wall, Pearl and Beaver streets. The building will have three frontages, 70 feet on Wall, 22 on Pearl and 60 on Beaver, the main entrance being on Wall street. It will contain two elevators and steam heat, and will be strictly fire-proof in construction. The material for the fronts will be of stone on the first two stories, and Baltimore brick with stone trimmings above. The architect will be G. E. Harney, by whom the plans are now being drawn. The cost of this improvement has not yet been estimated.

Mr. Miguel Garcia intends to demolish his stables at No. 5 East Nineteenth street, and erect on their site a five-story store building. The fronts will be of Philadelphia brick, trimmed with Ohio stone, and the dimensions 25x97. The cost will be about $30,000. This will be a welcome improvement to the owners and tenants in the immediate neighborhood. The architect, Robert Mook, has the sketches under way.

James E. Ware is at work on the plans for an apartment house and store, to be erected at No. 82 New Chambers street. The building will have a frontage of 41 feet, with an irregular average depth of 55 feet. The owner is Elizabeth Delancey.

Hiram Moore will erect four five-story tenements on four lots on the southwest corner of Fifty-eighth street and Eleventh avenue.

Mr. Jacob New intends to build a five story addition to his silk factory at No. 524 West Fifty fifth street, to cover four lots, two on the south side of Fifty-fifth street and two running through to Fifty-fourth street, commencing 275 feet west of Tenth avenue.

Richard Totten will erect eighteen five-story brown stone improved double apartment houses, 25.5x75 each, on the east side of Avenue A, Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets and East River. This improvement, which was referred to in our issue of the 5th instant, will cost from $280,000 to $300,000. The buildings will be commenced in the summer, there being some rock to be excavated prior to their erection.

Wm. Graul has the plans under way for the following: A five-story brick and brown stone double tenement and two stores, 25x92, to be erected on the west side of Suffolk street, between Grand and Hester streets, for Charles Malawista, to cost $18,000; two five-story brick and brown stone tenements and stores, for F. Libman, one to be built at No. 112 East Broadway, 21x60, and the other at No. 103 Division street, 21x48, to cost together $26,000; and for the alteration into a flat with two stores, the four-story high stoop dwelling, No. 212 East Fourteenth street, at a cost of $10,000.

John Brandt has the plans in hand for a five-story brown stone double tenement, 25.6x85, lot 113, to be erected by John W. Love, on the east side of First avenue, commencing 75 feet south of Seventy-fourth street, adjoining the other tenement to be built by him. There will be two stores on the first floor.

Robert T. Bellchambers intends to build for his own occupancy a first-class three story Philadelphia brick and brown stone residence, 20x50, on the north side of One Hundred and First street, 250 feet west of Eleventh avenue.

W. White and S. P. Anderson are about to erect two four-story brick and brown stone improved tenements, 25x84 each, on the south side of One Hundred and Twelfth street, 370 feet west of Third avenue, to cost $26,000. Architect, G. Robinson, Jr.

John Jardine, of D. & J. Jardine, intends to erect three four-story and basement brick and stone private dwellings, 25x50 or 55 each, on the north side of Eighty-third street, 125 east of Ninth avenue.

The Society Library intends to erect an addition to their building at No. 67 University place.

G. W. Eggers intends to erect a three-story stable and three tenements and stores on four lots on the north side of One Hundredth street, 100 feet west of Eighth avenue.

Umbert & Crompton have the plans under way for a two-story and attic frame cottage, 51.6x56.6, to be erected at South Orange, N. J., for D. McIver, at a cost of $15,000.

The Macdougal Street Baptist Church is about to undergo extensive alterations, including a new front of Philadelphia brick, with stone trimmings, the cost of which will be about $30,000. The plans are being drawn by Messrs. Pugin & Walter.

Holy Trinity Episcopal Church of Harlem proposes to erect a brick chapel, 25x90, on the north side of One Hundred and Twelfth street, 100 feet east of Second avenue. When completed the Rev. Mr. Cornwall will be placed in charge of it.

Bart. Walther has the plan under way for the erection of a four-story brick store and storage warehouse, 31x120, at No. 2191 Third avenue. It will be furnished with two elevators and cost $20,000. The owner is John Lynch, of No. 386 Third avenue.

Maclay & Davies have prepared plans for the following buildings: Fourteen five story brick tenements, 25x70x100 each, to be erected by Henry Bornkamp on either side of Ninth avenue near Ninety-sixth street, at an outlay of $210,000; and for remodeling and additions to the five-story stone front building, No. 108 Liberty street. Iron beams and columns will be put in and the entire structure overhauled. The owners are the Phœnix Packing and Rubber Company, who will expend $30,000 on the work.

A. A. Teets proposes to erect some five or six four-story brown stone cabinet trimmed private dwellings on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-third street, 75 feet east of Seventh avenue, and three similar houses on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-second street, 175 feet east of Seventh avenue. The plans have not yet been drawn.

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction and architect Le Brun recently discussed the two plans submitted for the enlargement of the City Prison. More room is needed, and $90,000 has been appropriated for the purpose of providing it. One of Mr. Le Brun's plans is to build two stories on the main prison, situated in the rear of the yard and parallel to Elm street, making that structure six stories high. The other plan is to tear away the female department on the Leonard street side, including both the stone and brick structures, from front to rear, and the boy's prison, situated between the female department and the court room of Special Sessions, and to erect a four-story stone building, containing forty-eight cells. Entirely around this building is to be an area from 15 to 17 feet wide. The windows in the outer wall in Leonard street will be built in with stone, and the covered semi-circular corridor will give place to the open drive-way. A similar building is to be erected on the north or Franklin street side, with the same number of cells and the same open areaway.

Brooklyn.

M. J. Morrell has plans in hand for a four-story brick store and flat, 50x65, to be erected on the northeast corner of Bridge and Tillary streets, for Mr. George Wilson, the cost will be about $16,000.

Robert Dixon is preparing plans for a three-story brick dwelling, 20x40, to be erected on the south side of Union street, 80 feet east of Bond street, for James Riley, at a cost of $5,000, and a two-story and basement brick public school with stone trimmings, 60x80, to be erected on Fulton avenue in the town of New Lots; cost $18,000.

Th. Englehardt has the plans in hand for a four-story double frame tenement, 25x50, to be erected on the west side of Newell street, 195 feet south of Norman avenue, at a cost of $7,000, for Balthasar Drexel, and a similar dwelling on the north side of Nassau avenue, 75 feet west of Diamond street, for the same owner; cost, $7,000; two three-story double frame tenements, each 25x55, to be erected on the south side of Locust street, 125 feet east of Broadway, for Bernard Miller; cost, $11,000; four-story frame double store and tenement, 25x60, on the east side of Broadway, 25 feet south of Locust street, for John H. Dewes; cost, $7,000; two two-story brick dwellings, each 20x40, on the east side of Bushwick avenue, 25 feet south of Palmetto street, for Blaisdell Brothers; cost, $10,000; four two-story frame flats, each 18.9x42, on the south side of Jefferson street, 150 feet east of Bremen street, for Frederick Herr; cost, $3,700 each; four two-story frame flats, 20x44, on the north side of Harmon street, 100 feet west of Evergreen avenue, for Conrad Guthardt; cost, each, $4,000; and a three-story frame double store and tenement, 25x55, on the west side of Sumner avenue, 25 feet north of Stockton street, for Andrew Wils; cost $5,500.

Notes and Items.

Application will be made to the Supreme Court on May 16th for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the matter of the Commissioners of the Department of Public Parks for and on behalf of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the city of New York, relative to acquiring right and title to certain land required for a certain public park or parks, square or squares, place or places, included between 155th street, Edgecombe road, 10th avenue, Fort George avenue, 11th avenue, Dykman street, River street, and 8th avenue, in the 12th Ward of the city of New York.

The Commissioners in the matter relative to the opening of 133d street, between 8th and St. Nicholas avenues, have completed their report, which will be presented for confirmation to the Supreme Court on June 13th.

Notice is given that a petition of property-owners with map and plan for changing the grade of "10th avenue, from the centre line of 136th street to the centre line of 139th street," is now pending before the Common Council. All persons interested in the above change of grade, and having objections thereto, are requested to present the same in writing to the Commissioner of Public Works before Saturday, May 3d, 1884. The maps showing the present and proposed grades can be seen at room 7, No. 31 Chambers street.

Contractors' Notes.

Sealed estimates for making alterations and repairs to the Eleventh Precinct Station-house on Houston street, known as the "Union Market" building, will be received at the central office of the Department of Police 300 Mulberry street, in the city of New York, until 10 o'clock A. M., of Tuesday, the 6th day of May, 1884.

Sealed proposals will be received at the Department of Docks until 12 o'clock, noon, of Wednesday, April 30, 1884, for furnishing and putting in place small cobble and rip-rap stone, and for furnishing and delivering broken stone and sand, in accordance with the specifications prepared therefor, and at such times and places and in such quantities as may be required by the Department of Docks for and during the period of one year from May 1, 1884, to May 1, 1885.

Special Notices.

There has been great activity in real estate on Prospect Heights, Brooklyn. The elevated character of the site, the proximity of the lots to the Park, the easy access which the residents of that locality have to all parts of the island, the admirable drainage and water privileges which have been secured, added to the natural advantages which may there be enjoyed, render it one of the most desirable places of residence in and about New York. Brooklyn builders and capitalists have long since given this section their peculiar attention, and in connection with this fact we would call the attention of our readers to the well-arranged, comfortable and attractive houses in Carroll street, near Seventh avenue. These residences are offered at reasonable rates, and those desiring to invest are invited to call and examine them.

A. Z. Ross, real estate agent, at Port Richmond, S. I., has a variety of water front and other property on the island for sale and to rent. Port Richmond is a desirable place for residence and other purposes. Mr. Ross has some eligible houses for sale and quite a number of village lots to dispose of, as well as some tracts of land that can be cut up into village lots, and which would make good investment property.

Pond & Warren, real estate agents, have removed from the Horton Building, No. 110 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, to No. 2053 Lexington avenue, near One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, where they will continue to take charge of estates, negotiate loans, collect rents, &c.

The Automatic Cement Tester, which appears in the advertisement of Messrs. Fairbanks & Company in another column, was built by that firm, and exhibited by them at the American Society of Civil Engineers recently, a committee of which reported in favor of the adoption of a standard in cement testing. The size of the machine shown in the diagram is 22x9 inches, and it has a capacity of 1,000 pounds. Messrs. Fairbanks' circular, giving a full description of the working of this valuable tester, can be obtained by applying to them at their offices, No. 311 Broadway.

The stair-building establishment of Mr. D. Black is situated at Nos. 153 and 155 East One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, where he turns out excellent work in rails, newels, balusters and wainscoting. He also supplies car elevators, and does turning, band sawing, carving and other work of a similar character. Mr. Black, it may be mentioned, is one of the oldest subscribers of this paper. He has been established in business since 1870, and faithfully attends to all orders, besides furnishing estimates for all kinds of work in his line.

Mr. Anthony Miller, proprietor of the ladder yard, No. 152 East Twenty-third street, has returned to his old place of business after an absence of two years, caused by sickness. With this exception, Mr. Miller has been continuously in the manufacture of ladders, poles, &c., at his present stand since 1857.

West side property owners and architects having plans for west side buildings, are referred to the card of Mr. E. C. Lynch, mason and builder, of No. 440 West Fifty-eighth street. He gives as references Messrs. Edwin Clarke, John J. O'Keefe, John J. Bannon and George Wiley.

The Central Wire Works, No. 18 New Church street, manufactures all kinds of wire-work, bank railings and window guards. The location is decidedly convenient for the large down-town business houses.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Common Hards in all important features remain just about the same as noted for several weeks past. There is no hurry or special effort to operate on the part of either buyer or seller, and while occasional small fluctuations on cost takes place the changes are not of sufficient magnitude to change the general range of prices. About $6.25@7.25 per M will cover the average of stock buyers are content to handle, with slight chances that the outside figures may be exceeded, and a very decided probability that the inside would have to be shaded on many of the parcels. Indeed, the poor and unattractive character of a large percentage of the supply continues a matter of considerable comment and it looks as though all the worst portion of the stock was being sent forward first, and by thus producing a scarcity of the finer grades, create a brace against the weakening tone of the market. The demand, it is thought, has increased a trifle this week, and in the natural order of things must continue to grow, but this is offset by about a corresponding addition to the supply. Some of the yards have, to be sure, curtailed shipments but others have only just commenced and quite a number of new points were represented through the cargoes offering of late. Preparations for new stock continue progressive but the work will not amount to much before the first of May. For Pales the market appears to have temporarily gone all to pieces. It is said that the Brooklyn authorities just after partaking of lunch suddenly discovered that Pales were not only being used freely but indiscriminately and at once resolved to "put a stop to this thing." Whatever the incentive may have been, however, consumption has certainly been greatly cut down on the other side of the East River and prices took quite a decided 'drop touching as low as $2.00 for ordinary with still lower intimated and just now $3 00 is probably as high as could be made, though receivers seem to think that after the present flurry is over there will be some recovery to pretty nearly former rates.

GLASS.—There is a continued strong market for window glass, with some gain if anything during the week. Demand generally shows full volume on all regular outlets. Supplies are small in first hands, the home production well engaged, the importations light and, with stiffer accounts from abroad, the selling interest exhibits much confidence.

A dispatch sent from Pittsburg this week says that some leading members of the Window Glass Workers Association have started for Europe. Their most important object is to induce the European glass-workers to send representatives to an international glass-workers' convention which will be held in this city in July. One of the parties says:

"It is proposed to form an association whose membership will include all the window-glass workers in the world. We believe that by so doing we can better regulate wages and secure the rights of all. In our travels we will gather data interesting to glass-workers, so that in our efforts to make the proposed combination we can work intelligently. Our trade is peculiarly adapted for a union of this kind, as we can at all times get accurate estimates of the consumption and supply of window glass in every quarter of the globe. We hope to form a consolidation that will protect the prices of manufacturers and wages of workmen on both sides of the Atlantic, and thus insure peace and prosperity for all interested in our trade. For some time past there has been a nominal union between the window-glass workers of America and those of Belgium, but we now intend to make the bond closer."

HARDWARE.—The movement of supplies appears to have been satisfactory to most operators, and reports, as a rule, are cheerful. A larger number of interior points have been heard from in form quite up to calculations, and the mail advices seem to indicate a further increase of orders. Still no difficulty has been experienced in meeting all calls, and most dealers could attend to a larger amount of business without trouble. Values remain steady on all leading descriptions, with no new lists of importance made public.

LATH.—There has been no quotable change in price since our last, and the rate remains at $2.25 per M, but this is bid on stock to arrive and refused. Indeed, the situation shows a tendency toward a further gain of strength, and receivers seem to think that with a supply to offer they could early find customers and also obtain better rates. Local accumulation in second hand is running moderate and out-of-town calls increasing, while the quantity of stock afloat is said to be extremely moderate.

LIME.—Supplies have continued full enough to satisfy all immediate wants and finally became somewhat excessive, especially of common, with a weaker tone developed and the rate reduced to 90c. per bbl., under the effort to realize. This, it is expected, will hasten the efforts of manufacturers to work the market into such form as to create a closer balance between supply and demand, and afford bases for a restoration of price to a more remunerative level.

LUMBER.—An increased consumption has certainly become an established fact, and there is a tendency to further growth, with more or less reflection to be found upon the wholesale market. It would have been a pretty bad condition of affairs, however, if something of that kind had not by this time commenced to develop, and the more careful and conservative operators are inclined to restrain any sanguine expectations until they have an opportunity to fully test the force and volume of the inquiry behind the growth of trade. The many almost dead weeks during the winter and the very unsettled weather of the spring have brought forward a great deal of work that by this time should be out of the way, and it is not fair to accept current operations as a true indication of new business. There is no doubt that in this city and its dependent points a considerable amount of stock of all kinds will be wanted, and it may be that the hopes of animation entertained by some dealers will be realized as the season opens out fully, but it is evident that in a wholesale way, at least, the buying here as well as at primary points will be conducted with much caution, and a tendency to keep the quantity handled within the bounds of early requirements, while the selection of quality is likely to be as close as the available assortments permit. It is possible that values have touched the lowest point, but calculations upon any sharp recovery may meet with disappointment.

Eastern Spruce in most general particulars shows about old features. We find an occasional conflict of opinion among the Trade in a few cases of a quite decided character, but this appears to be due in the main to influences bearing only upon the operations immediately in hand, and not fairly representing the condition of the entire market. We find that short and narrow stuff secures no greater favor than heretofore, and has to be offered low to obtain an outlet, but sizes adapted to the regular wants of local consumption are readily saleable, and agents find it necessary to give more time to estimates desired on specials. Stock is costing about as before with considerable steadiness on the upper grades, and a little stronger expression from manufacturers. The latter are talking about a short log crop in some sections of Maine, but say nothing of the full supply in other sections and in the Provinces. The ruling rates may be placed at $13.50@15 50 for random, and from this up to $17 for special extra difficult.

White Pine continues "about steady" and is meeting with a fair average demand from all regular sources, including shippers. The immediate supply to meet the outlet does well enough, but would not stand any protracted call, and holders in consequence offer without pressure. Additions are moving forward, however, and this of itself checks buoyancy, though buyers are closely posted, and will make very fair bids on desirable parcels of stock. A careful scrutiny of interior advices reveals nothing of a stimulating character. We quote $17.50@19 for West India shipping boards; $28@30 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16 50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine, on the influence of somewhat more costly transportation from some points, has a slightly firmer tone, and especially so as now and then a buyer can be found who does not object to handling a desirable cut random. A fair number of specials also come under treaty and command bids fully up to any recent cost. A portion of the trade are inclined to assume that the turning point has been reached, but the majority, in view of former disappointments, are less sanguine. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18 @21.50 per M; Specials, $21@22 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods generally remain steady where they show any kind of desirable quality, and are easy as soon as faults develop on the offering. It is simply too much poor stock and not enough of fine, with cost in accordance. We quote at wholesale rates by carload as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M; ash, $35@40 do; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20@32.50 do; chestnut, $25@30 do; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

Shingles are finding a somewhat better home call as well as a continued fair run of orders for export, and rates are firm in proportion. The desirable supply on hand is moderate. We quote Cypress at $8.0 @8 50 per M. for 5x20 and $11 @12 do for 6x20 regularly assorted shipping. Pine shipping stock $2.00 @ 2.50 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $2 00@2.50 for 16 inch, as to quality and to quantity. Eastern shaved cedar $4.00 @4.50 per M. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: for 30 inch, $15.00@20 00 for A, and $23@28.50 for No. 1; for 24 inch, $13.00@15 for A and $18.50@20.50 for No. 1; for 20 inch, $8@9.50 for A and $11.00@12.50 for No. 1.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending April 23 as follows:

The shipments of lumber during the week have been heavy and much larger than in any previous week since the opening of navigation. The wharves have been lined with all kind of craft, sailing vessels, barges and canal boats, which have taken away about 13,000,000 feet. A good attendance of buyers have been in market, who report a lively trade at their homes, and who will be here again when the stock is replenished by canal receipts. It is expected that the canals will be opened for navigation during the first week of May, and soon thereafter boats from northern New York will arrive with spruce and hemlock, which are in large supply. Pine is in fair stock, and soon will begin to arrive, when the usual business for the season will be in full force. Hardwoods are in fair stock now, and all kinds are on the yards. The usual receipts by canal and rail will enable dealers to keep up the assortment of open air dried lumber. The stock of shingles and lath is light, but will soon be replenished, so that all kinds can be obtained.

THE WEST.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

The lumber trade shows a steady increase at nearly all points. The daily shipments from Chicago show from six to seven million feet and the receipts are light.

News from the Saginaw River is cheering, 115,000,000 was sold on the docks last month and 15,000,000 in ten days this month. In the Northwest the roads are still very bad, which seriously interferes with the lumber business. A very large amount of lumber is being moved to the Missouri Valley, principally over the lumber line from Wisconsin. What the rates are and what prices are given to reach the trade we are not able to say, but we are aware that the "youths" are getting a share. The universal complaint is that every car of lumber shipped contains about a full assortment of lumber, showing that buyers are only sorting up in a sort of hand-to-mouth way and waiting for developments. Lumber has commenced moving on the river, and although prices are not settled lumber in the water is being offered at about the following rates:

No. 1 boards and strips	$17 00
No. 2 " " "	10 00
Dimension	11 00

News from the drives on a majority of the streams is most unfavorable. The snow has gone and the rivers are as low as in winter. The Upper Mississippi seems to have the best chance to get out the logs. Some driving is being done on the Chippewa and Black.

The Bay City Lumberman's Gazette reports the following important sales:

W. W. Richardson, 2,500,000 feet to Ohio parties in lots 500,000 feet of which was bill stuff at $10, 1,000,000 coarse at $7, $14 and $35, and 1,000,000 at $8 50, $17 and $38; Ohio parties purchased at East Saginaw early last week 800,000 feet at $8.50, $17 and $37, 400,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38, and 250,000 feet at $8.25, $16 50 and $36; S. C. Bryant, of Tawas City, reports the sale of 325,000 feet of good lumber and 200,000 feet bill stuff, p. t.; C. H. Bradley sold of H. W. Sage & Co.'s lumber to Albany parties 3,000,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38; C. H. Plummer sold 600,000 Norway at $12 and $15 to go to Chicago; on Saturday last 500,000 coarse inch and a quarter lumber was sold at Saginaw at $9, and also 150,000 inch stuff at $11.50; 250,000 feet was sold on Friday at Saginaw City at $11.50 straight; on the same day Arthur Barnard sold 4,000,000 feet of good stock still in the log to New Jersey parties at $10, $20 and $40; sales were also reported at East Saginaw on Friday as follows to go to Ohio and Buffalo, N. Y.; 500,000 feet at $10, $20 and $40; 1,000,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38; 500,000 feet at $8, $16 and $36; 700,000 at $12 straight, and 500,000 feet of bill stuff at $8 50; in addition to these was a sale of 450,000 feet at $8.50, $17 and $36; 150,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38, and 1,500,000 at figures not learned. Sales were also reported of 200,000 feet of Norway strips and boards at $10; 150,000 feet of pine at $7.50, $15 and $35; 200,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38; 600,000 feet at $7, $14 and $35; 75,000 feet of fine common, selects, and uppers at $28, $33 and $38; 100,000 feet of saps at $16 straight; 1,000,000 was also sold on Friday in this city by Thomas H. McGraw, at $9, $18 and $38, to go to Albany, N. Y.; New York city also purchased the same day in this city 500,000 feet at $9, $18 and $38; 200,000 feet of ash lumber was also sold in this city at $14 straight, and 75,000 feet of Norway at p. t. Shingles show slightly increased activity, and have settled at $2.15 for clear butts and $3.50 for XXX, several sales having been made during the week at those prices.

FOREIGN.

The Timber Trade's Journal as follows:

We have again to record a smart business doing at the docks here in London in the shape of wood deliveries. These still keep in advance of those of a twelvemonth ago, and last week, ending 29th ult., more deals, battens, &c., had left the docks by 698 standards than had been taken away during the corresponding week of 1883; while of prepared flooring boards there were 233 standards more left the docks than were delivered in the same week last year, altogether making 931 standards excess, besides an excess in the week's deliveries of ponded goods amounting to 457 loads.

The total deliveries from January 1st to March 29th show an excess in favor of the present year of 5,853 standards, which, while the arrivals were confined to such a small scale, became a very important feature, and cannot fail to have its influence on the market sooner or later. Of floated timber the deliveries this year have not been so active as last, up to this period the difference in favor of 1883 being 2,965 loads.

Trade in American black walnut continues dull; the late heavy arrivals of the poorer grades of stock have certainly strained the market considerably, but prime quality logs of large sizes are inquired for and maintain a good price; the stock of such, however, is fast running short.

We see there is just landed a very good parcel of American whitewood logs of unusually large sizes and straight growth; these will doubtless sell at a good price. It appears this wood is still gaining favor in the trade, and is we are told being much used by pianoforte makers for ends and other purposes. There have lately been sent over in round logs a variety of woods from New York, probably with the idea of obtaining our people's judgment as to their value and use. Some of them we know very little about, though we remember having had our attention called to specimens of these and other kinds sent over some time back—but since we see they have been sold, we shall probably hear something further about them shortly, which we shall be pleased to report in due course.

NAILS.—More or less of the recently noted irregularity of demand continues, but not enough to seriously disturb or change the general character of the market. Holders have the accumulation well enough under control to prevent an offering beyond the natural exhaustive capacity, but buyers know there is no actual scarcity and are unwilling to invest against the future on the mere supposition that stock will be missing when called for. Cost is unchanged but lacks strength. For 10d. to 60d. the rate is $2 60 per keg, with the usual reduction expected and allowed on full invoices.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Demand still very good and increasing for some outlets. Buyers, however, are careful operators in about all cases, and, while giving orders promptly to the extent of early and well-known wants are rarely sanguine to operate on any greater chances. The supply and assortment holds out well of both domestic and foreign goods, but can only be reached on full bids. Linseed Oil fairly active and steady at 57@57½c. for domestic and 58@59c. for foreign. Spirits Turpentine has continued in buyers' favor, though apparently a shade firmer at the close. Quoted at 31½@33 per gallon, according to size of invoice, etc.

PITCH AND TAR.—The tone of the general market steady, with a fair trade doing, and about enough stock at all times within reach to satisfy the outlet. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

MAY 3, 1884.

Governor Cleveland has a chance to win the good will of all intelligent owners of realty in New York, by promptly signing the bill which has passed both branches of the Legislature by overwhelming majorities, amending the Broadway Underground Road act so as to permit of the construction of an Arcade road under the present surface of our greatest of thoroughfares. Only nine votes were recorded against the passage of the bill in the Assembly and four in the Senate. Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Windom telegraphs from London that the money will be in readiness for the construction of the road the moment the Governor signs the bill. Should it ever be completed New York will become the most important city of any capital in the world. It will be the terminus of every railway in the country. It will reduce the time of transit from the Battery to the upper boundary of the Twenty-fourth Ward to within thirty minutes. The through and way roads under the present surface of Broadway will have a capacity to transport 500,000,000 of people per annum. It will solve the problems of sewerage, water service, pneumatic tubes, telegraph and telephone wires, as well as gas, steam heating and the other subterranean necessities of our great city. Governor Hoffman vetoed a similar measure at the instance of the Tweed ring, bringiug on himself deserved censure for all time. Governor Cleveland should see to it that this improvement, so important to the metropolis, be forever associated with the history of his administration.

The most important session of the New York Legislature ever held draws to a close. The reform measures passed under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt mark an era in the history of this city. Of couse much remains to be done, but the policy of the State has been fixed and there is a reasonable assurance that the metropolis will hereafter have the advantage of responsible local government. If matters go wrong we will know hereafter who to blame. The passage of the Broadway Arcade Underground bill by both Houses is an event of the utmost moment to New York provided the Governor approves. It is also settled that we shall have additional street car facilities as well as an improved and workable building law. The present Legislature has done well.

Congressman Randall's proposition to cut down the appropriations for our diplomatic and consular service, so as to force our representatives abroad to pay their own postage bills and live in garrets, should be responded to by a shout of indignation throughout the whole country. The United States is potentially the richest and most powerful nation on earth, and the mere proposal by a committee of Congress to conduct our government upon the model of a crossroads country store or a Chatham street pawnbroker's shop, is a gross insult to the American people. Mr. Randall engineered the Democratic House before upon economical principles, and it lost the Democratic party its majority in the House and the presidency at the last election. The time has come when the United States should take its place among the nations of the earth, when it should strengthen its diplomatic service and extend its relations with distant countries. Franklin's "Poor Richard's Maxims" were well enough in the middle of the Eighteenth Century, but they will never do as the ideals for one of the greatest nations on earth at the close of the Nineteenth Century.

So we are to have two more commercial cables although those already in existence are not used to one-third of their capacity. This, of course, is a sheer waste of money. It is literally throwing millions of dollars into the ocean, never to be recovered. In truth, all the cables in the world should be controlled by a commission representing the various commercial nations. Great Britain, Germany, France and the United States might combine to purchase existing cable lines and lay new ones wherever there is a commercial need for them. By this means needless expenditures of money would be obviated, and the commerce of the world would be taxed only for the international telegraphic service, while there would be an assurance that the cables would not be made use of to advance private speculation at the expense of the commercial public. So long as the cables are owned by private companies there is always an apprehension that its owners may take advantage of the market news communicated by this agency.

The building of new telegraph lines, is, of course, another waste of capital. Like the railroad the telegraph or the telephone is a natural monopoly; it can never be otherwise. But millions and millions of money have been spent and wasted in constructing rival and competing railroads, and in every case the result has been either a consolidation of the lines or a pooling arrangement, which amounts to the same thing. The government built the first telegraphic line in this country, and proved its value. Had it kept the monopoly itself, literally hundreds of millions would have been saved to the business community. There would have been no unnecessary lines nor any gigantic stock watering. The poles, wires and offices would have represented actual and not fictitious outlays. Had Mr. C. C. Washburn been heeded in his speech in the House of Representatives on December 22, 1869, and the government had then acquired possession of the telegraph, we would have had telegraphy, as he demonstrated then, for a cent a word, and fifteen cents for twenty words all over the United States in towns of over four hundred inhabitants. The corrupt relation between the Associated Press and the telegraph company at that time led to the suppression, so far as the public were concerned, of Mr. Wasburn's proposition, while the misleading counter-statements of the monopolizing telegraph company were published far and wide.

The attitude of the government to-day is stimulating the formation of rival telegraph companies, by which new and unnecessary lines are being constructed. The business public must, of course, foot the bills in the long run, while in the meantime the stock market is being demoralized in the break in the shares of the telegraph company. All this is wrong, wrong, wrong. Our telegraph system should be nationalized and made an adjunct of the Postoffice Department, as in every country on earth save alone the United States. Every dollar spent on rival lines is a criminal waste of money for which the United States is itself responsible. The only representative in Congress who seems to have any comprehension of this vital matter is Mr. Sumner, of California, whose speech on the subject on March 8th last should be read by everyone who wishes to be posted respecting the merits of the telegraph controversy.

Around the Bridge Approach.

When an engineer confines himself to engineering he is apt to produce very good looking as well as very good work. It is only when he tries for architecture that his work becomes offensive by reason of his lack of special training in this direction. Upon the whole, however, the building of engineers is apt to be much better, even as architecture, than the building of the common run of architects.

These remarks are suggested by the fronts of the warehouses which are now in course of insertion in the arches of the viaduct on the New York side. These are designed, we suppose, by the engineering staff of the bridge; at any rate they look like engineers' work. They are certainly not monumental in treatment and, although they are appendages to a work which is monumental in scale and durability, and ought to be, though it is not, monumental in design, these things ought not to be monumentally designed. If there were no question of income they would not be built at all. Inasmuch as their purpose is purely utilitarian they ought to appear as mere screens of brickwork inserted in the openings of the great viaduct, without reference to its primary purpose as a viaduct, and without obscuring that purpose; and so they do.

The openings of the arches thus far filled in the New York approach are about 20 feet wide and not far from twice as high. The brick screens are set back so as to show nearly the whole depth of the granite pier and arch. They are in two stories, the lower consisting of three brick piers with granite binders and springers, between which are turned two segmental arches. A few feet above each of the arches is a panel filled with brick laid diagonally and relieving the monotony of the wall without any decoration inconsistent with the prosaic purposes to which these buildings are to be devoted.

The second story of the warehouse corresponds to the arch of the viaduct, the sills of the openings being nearly on a level with the impost moulding. These openings are three in number, the central being taller than those on the sides, so that their arrangement conforms to the arch. The wall is of common brick, the arches alone being composed of pressed bricks of a stronger color. Nothing could be simpler or more satisfactory in treatment, or interfere less with the dignity the viaduct derives from its size and massiveness.

Even better than these, simply because it is more extensive and the opportunity is better, is a leather warehouse just erected at the corner of Jacob and Frankfort streets, opposite the approach to the bridge, or rather emerging on each of these two streets, the exact corner being occupied by a piece of commonplace ugliness inserted in the building we are talking about. It is a pity the owner of this ugly box should not have employed the designer of the other building to carry out the same scheme with the advantage the additional frontage would have given.

The longer of the two fronts of the leather warehouse is on Jacob street. The basement consists of four large round arches, treated with perfect simplicity, but emphasized by a row of black bricks around the outside of the arch, and by a course of granite at the springing. The arch at one end is a gateway, and here there is an inner arch carried on a corbel of granite projected from this springing course. Above, the front is divided into two by a pier in the centre, corresponding to a pier at each end, all running through three stories. In each story there are in each of the divisions thus formed two openings covered with segmental arches, the voussoirs continued to the horizontal formed by the sill course of the story above. The openings are carefully spaced so as to serve a wall space visibly sufficent for abutment and one of good depth, but without modelling.

There are three stories treated in this way with exact uniformity, and above them a horizontal band is formed by courses of projecting bricks against which the piers stop. The fifth and uppermost story is an arcade of eight openings, extending across the whole front and resembling the treatment of the basement, except that the openings are here doubled. The spring line is marked, and the arches are outlined as before with black brick. Over the arcade comes a high cornice of small projection, formed by corbelling in brickwork, and over this a straight low parapet wall. There are a number of square openings in the corbelled cornice, which besides their practical purpose of lighting an attic floor, serve the architectural purpose of giving intervals of strong shadow to a cornice which, if honestly executed in brickwork, is apt to be very flat and to lack emphasis in the absence of some expedient to this end. The openings, in fact, serve the same architectural purpose as the more common device of building the cornice with machicolations, which would be too pretentious a device for the character of a mere place of storage.

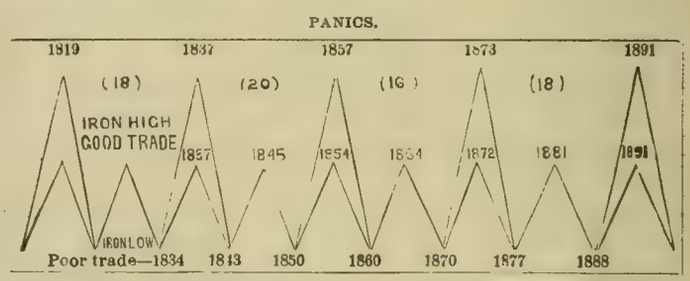
The front on Frankfort street is not more than half as wide as the other, and is of one bay only, treated like the larger front except that the two openings in the basement are unequal, one being a driveway and the other the office door. The driveways are recognitions of the public rights in the public streets, which are uncommon in the thoroughfares devoted to heavy traffic. In that sweet by-and-bye when we get a municipal government, one of the things it will ordain will be that owners of warehouses shall load and unload their goods on their own premises instead of using the sidewalks for that purpose and compelling passers-by to dodge barrels or to go out into the street. In the meantime, a private builder whose own sense of propriety induces him to do what the law does not compel him to do, deserves to have his action recognized.

We do not know who the architect of this warehouse may be, but we beg to make him our compliments upon his work. It is not only excellent as a building, but it shows an unusual self-restraint in keeping so clearly within the line of what is appropriate to a merely utilitarian building. We cannot have a decent architecture so long as architects are encouraged or permitted to lavish upon commercial buildings the wealth of decoration which should be reserved for public buildings, so that when they come to these latter they have no resources left to signalize their importance. There is not a single ornament in this building. Its respectability comes solely from a careful adjustment of parts, and a straightforward and expressive use of common materials. Nothing is attempted which cannot be built of common and unmoulded bricks. Pressed bricks even are not employed, but selected common (Haverstraw?) brick, much to the advantage of the work, even if the two were of the same price. If we had more buildings for common and prosaic purposes as good and as simple as this work, and the filling of the arches in the bridge approach, the sense of appropriateness which people would acquire by having these to look at would be exerted also in a better estimation of the requirements of buildings which may properly be elaborated. As things are now, the degree of ornateness to which the ordinary architect goes in any given work is limited not by the purpose of the work, but only by the amount of money the architect has to spend.

The ex-Consul of Havana declares that our government has had to adopt a truckling policy to the Spanish authorities in Cuba. Our Secretary of State did not even remonstrate against wrongs inflicted on our citizens in that dependency of Spain. But what can our government do? It is better to submit to and conceal insults put upon us as a nation than to bring them to the attention of the world when we are in no condition to resent them. We have no navy and no chance of getting one, and are hence absolutely at the mercy of any fifth-rate power that chooses to wrong our citizens in any part of the world. Potentially the greatest military power on earth we are actually the most contemptible from an aggressive point of view. The apathy of our people, in view of our national impotence, is the most alarming feature of the situation. The owners of realty in New York have a vital interest in having protection for our harbor in the way of ships, guns and batteries, for at least defensive purposes; but who ever heard of the representatives of our real estate interest leading a movement to secure protection in the event of a foreign war? Nothing but some dreadful or humiliating experience will awaken the American people to a realizing sense of their impotency as a naval power.

Our Prophetic Department.

INVESTOR—So you feel blue, Sir Oracle, at the general business outlook?



SIR ORACLE—I certainly do and I am inclined to believe that we must look forward to a state of general depression for several years to come. Of course there will be rallies and bull markets, and periods when a hopeful feeling will obtain, but the tide, I fear, is running out, and low water mark will not be reached for months if not years.

INVESTOR—Upon what general ground do you base your gloomy prognostications?

SIR O.—Upon the general drift of events, which seem to me in the direction of lower prices, and upon the law of the recurrence of speculative cycles, which Samuel Benner, in his work on prices, has so clearly formulated.

INVESTOR—Who was Benner and what was it he gave to the world?

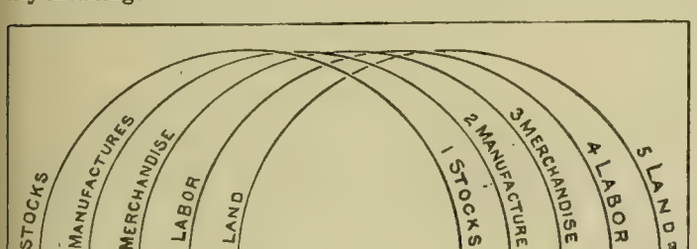
SIR O.—Benner, I have referred to frequently in my conversations, particularly in THE RECORD AND GUIDE of October 28, 1882. Those who have files of the paper can see what was then written. According to Benner the price of iron is the key to the industrial situation. When that metal is in demand at rising prices the world is prosperous. When it falls in value and is slow of sale then is business depressed. Benner, moreover, in his book which was written in 1875 foretold accurately the course of prices up to the present time. He said iron and stocks would be lower in 1876 and 1877 than in 1875, and he was right. The turning point was to be in 1878, and in 1879 a boom was to set in, which would last till the spring of 1881. After that would follow a period of depression, which would not culminate until some time between now and 1891, when there would be a great crash, to be preceded, however, by a very general boom. He held that panics as well as periods of prosperity were governed by a law of periodicity. He pointed out the fact that we had panics in this country in 1819, 1837, 1857 and 1873 and that the next one is due in 1891. You will notice that these periods vary from sixteen to twenty years. The following is the diagram he gives in his book:

The figures in the above table, between the upper apexes, show the number of years between each occurring panic.

SIR O. (continuing)—Of course, you understand that Benner was not so foolish as to say that recurring panics would be precisely on time. There are perturbations in prices as in the planetary system. Hence our lowest price of iron and poorest trade may come before 1888, and the panic may come in 1890 or 1892.

INVESTOR—What is a panic, anyway? What does it mean?

SIR O.—Strangely enough, that question is rarely asked, because, perhaps, it is so difficult to answer. The only attempted solution of that conundrum that I ever heard of was made by Mr. D. G. Croly, who has published it frequently. According to that gentleman what are called panics occur only in nations which use and abuse the credit system. Communities that deal mainly in cash may have periods of depressed trade, but never panics. These last are confined mainly to Anglo-Saxon countries—such as Great Britain and the United States, which use individual and bank credits in the greater part of their commercial transactions. For instance, in France panics are unknown, because bank and other credits are rarely used. The Tribune and some other benighted financial papers think there is too much money in the United States, yet the amount per capita of gold, silver and paper is less than twenty-six dollars, as against fifty-seven dollars in France.



INVESTOR—You still have not explained to me what a panic is.

SIR O.—A panic is when people who depend upon credit for carrying on their business say they cannot pay, and, with the financial institutions, go into temporary bankruptcy. Now the cause of the panic, Mr. Croly explains, is due to the difference between the natural increment in the wealth of the nation and the current rates for the use of money. Statisticians tell us that the additions to the wealth of even the most prosperous countries is rarely more than two and a-quarter per cent. per annum, that is, taking the average increase for a number of years. Now, according to the authority I am quoting, previous to 1873—our last great panic—the average rate of interest for the use of money was somewhere between seven and ten per cent. It follows, if the actual addition to the wealth of the country was only two and a-quarter per cent., while the price paid for the use of money was over seven per cent., that the money so employed was unprofitably used. Hence speculative indebtedness was steadily piled up until the time came when the business community could not meet their obligations. A panic is wiping a sponge over the slate which records the debts which cannot be paid. It means the starting of a fresh set of books with the old scores forgotten. I do not say this theory is correct, but it will do as a working hypothesis to account for the financial disturbances in countries where credits are freely used.

INVESTOR—It is very certain that in the process of liquidation which has been going on that we are now not going into debt but out of it. There is no abuse of credit when money goes begging at 2 per cent. on call, and no one is willing to engage in new enterprises. By the way, I notice you have some theory respecting real estate, that activity in the price of realty is not altogether a good sign.

SIR O.—Pardon me; I did not mean to convey that impression. What I did say was that in speculative cycles, the fever of speculation commenced in the stock or iron market and ended usually in real estate, and that the phenomena was often exhibited of stock prices going down when real estate was going up. This was the case previous to the panic of 1873, and it is going on right before our eyes to-day. A panic in the stock market anticipates the lowest prices in the real estate market, sometimes as much as three or four years. I can remember "Lou." Phillips bidding up prices for lots on the Riverside Drive before it was improved, at the sale of the Mott estate in 1875, two years after the panic, which prices would be deemed high to-day. The following diagram illustrates my meaning:

SIR O. (continuing)—Of course this only gives a general idea of the drift of prices. The first movement is usually in the Stock Exchange, or, if you please, in the iron market; then come the products of our mills and looms. Merchandise is next in order, because commerce is affected by the international state of trade. Then labor has its boom; and, finally, land. You know how surprised we all were at the demands of the working people everywhere in face of the depression in business. The manufactures had their innings in 1879–81. Wages were low and the price of manufactured articles ruled high. But once on the way the manufacturers could not stop, and they bid up labor, so that the working classes during the past few years have had a good time of it. Food has been cheap, and goods of all kinds quite low. I have been quite amused, in looking over the papers, to see how the facts of the situation are misinterpreted by the editors of the daily papers. Take, for instance, the Sun of last Sunday, which, in an article on "The Average Comfort," says:

Despite the complaints of commercial depression which we have heard so constantly during the last two or three years, there are many evidences that the mass of the people of the city are in circumstances of comparative comfort. Visitors who go about among the poor, seeking for proper objects of charity, report that the suffering from bitter poverty is less than in other years. Labor is pretty generally employed at good wages, and the workers are more than ordinarily content, because low prices for food and for clothing make their money go further than formerly. The loss of the speculators in the grain and provision markets has been their gain. The number of marriages affords a very fair test of the condition of the people. The returns show that matrimony is unusually popular this season. Young men are doing so well that they feel able to take wives to themselves and bear the expenses of setting up households. There is also a decrease in the amount of crime, and it is largely due to the circumstance that the people are getting on very comfortably on the average. Few cases of serious crime are brought before the courts, and the town is exceptionally orderly. These evidences of the public well being and tranquility do not seem to justify the gloomy apprehensions of so many speculators and merchants.

This editor never suspected when he penned the above that the working classes have yet to undergo the same distress which their employers have passed through during the past few years. In view of what is to come, I think Jay Gould is very wise in proposing to take that trip in his yacht all round the world.

INVESTOR—I judge then from what you say you have no faith in the real estate boom now supposed to be under way?

SIR O.—On the contrary, I think real estate is a purchase. The rise in its value comes last, as you will see by the above diagram. Its price goes up at the same time as stocks go down. Of course, the time will come when real estate will also show declining values, but that period has not yet arrived. Then I hold that as a matter of permanent value the purchase of realty in good locations on this island is a wise thing to do, provided the mortgage obligations are not too heavy. It is always well to bear in mind while the lowest point in stocks was reached in November, 1873, the lowest figures in real estate were not reached till 1877, five years later. The activity in stocks in 1879, 1880 and the spring of 1881 is having its corollary in the real estate market in the spring of 1883. Reasoning from past experience the upward movement in real estate may last for one or two years longer.

(An interval of one week here occurs.)

INVESTOR—Our conversation did not appear last week in THE RECORD AND GUIDE.

SIR O.—No; the pressure of news and business forced the printer to leave out my vaticinations. On looking them over in proof I see nothing to take back. Indeed the events of the week justify all I said to you at our last conversation. The figures in THE RECORD AND GUIDE show there has been an active movement at advancing prices for the last four months in real estate at the very time when stocks and general business was undergoing a process of severe liquidation. This may seem strange to the average operator, but it strictly accords with past experiences in speculative eras.

INVESTOR—What have you to say as to the immediate future?

SIR O.—The selling of securities will go on, the liquidation in general business will continue, as will also the investment in real property. I think realty will be a purchase for a year to come.

INVESTOR—How about stocks in Wall street?

SIR O.—I am looking for a turn in the tide, but a catastrophe may intervene; that is to say, there may be a week of partial panic. There must be a great deal of concealed weakness after the heavy losses and shrinkage of values during the past three years. We would have had a crash long ago were it not for the ease of money, due to the coinage of the silver dollars. It is the low rates for carrying loans which has enabled the speculative holders to remain solvent, or at least apparently so, for so long a period. But the crash must come, and then I look for a recovery in values. This may be delayed until the Republican nomination for President is made at Chicago. If Arthur or Edmunds, or some cautious statesman of the same class, should become the standard bearer of the administration party, I would look for some such recovery in values as occurred in June, four years ago, when Garfield was nominated. If Blaine gets the prize it would postpone a revival of prices, because although a man of ability he is too sensational a statesman to be regarded with favor by the business community. It seems to me the chances favor an active and advancing market towards the end of this month or in early June, but to be wholesome it should be preceded by a crash that would rid the street of unsound enterprises and weak speculators.

J. W. W. Mitchell writes to us complaining of the bad state of the roads on the Boulevard, from Sixty-ninth to Eighty-first street. He represents 75 feet on Seventy-sixth street, west of the Boulevard, and says Commissioner Thompson has been appealed to in the matter, but without effect. We think the complaint of our correspondent is just, and the residents and owners of realty on the west side who pay rents and taxes have a right to expect that the roads shall be kept in proper condition. Our correspondent, it may be added, is probably unaware that there is a bill before the Legislature to create a park at Seventy-second street and the Boulevard. This measure has received the support of the Committee on Legislation of the Real Estate Exchange and of the West Side Association, and when passed will do much to remove the evil of which he complains.

Messrs. Phyfe & Campbell's building on the Fifth avenue plaza is going forward rapidly. The first story is peeping above ground, and the second will soon be under way. An hotel, and not an apartment house, is to be the character of the new structure. As the owners are also the builders it is naturally to be expected that they will rear an edifice which will gain for them both reputation and credit. This can hardly be said of them so far, for they are deviating, it is stated, from the original plans of the architect, Mr. Carl Pfeiffer, and substituting their own wherever it may please their fancy. Of course builders often change the plans of their architect when they are owners, but they eventually find when it is too late that they have added neither value nor beauty to their work. Where is the use of employing an architect if he is treated as a mere figurehead? It were surely presumption on the part of even a first-rate builder to assume superiority over a first-class architect. The building will no doubt cost near $1,200,000 before it is completed, and for the sake of New York city architecture it is to be hoped that the orgiual plans will be closely adhered to, so that this mammoth structure may receive praise and admiration, and not condemnation, when it shall finally have left the builders' hands.

There ought to be no delay about extending Lexington avenue through the workshops of the elevated railway company. There is no sense in retarding the growth of a section of the city so as to protect the selfish interests of a corporation. The work ought to be commenced at once.

Home Decorative Notes.

—There are many things that we have about us, and many that we destroy, that might be turned to good account in knick-knacks and trifles; for instance, who does not possess a Canton ginger jar, many of them have a beautiful ivory ground with the richest blue coloring; well, the cast-aside jar may be converted into a very handsome vase-lamp by procuring at a merely nominal expense a receptacle in brass for holding the oil and placing it within the jar, then purchase a porcelain shade and cover with lace or colored silk, the result obtained will compensate for the very little required trouble.

—The four-leaved clover smoking set, in oxidized silver, is quite novel.

—Blocks for a crazy quilt have different shapes and styles of fans on them; brocade silk can be made more effective, if of one color, by outlining the figures with gay silks.

—Some of the latest freaks in floral wedding decorations cause a bower of tall growing ferns to be constructed with the ferns meeting over the bridal pair; another is a house entirely of roses large enough to hold the bride and bridegroom; this is first built of bamboo or light wood, then covered thick with roses.

—Enrichment of every possible description has been brought into service in the decoration of furniture; figured stuffs are used for upholstery, silk and tapestry of the most delicate and exquisite shades and velours with raised figures on satin grounds are popular for drawing-rooms. An extensive variety of these rich and exceptionally fine goods are displayed by R. Lo Forte, of Madison avenue and Forty-fourth street.

—To use up most effectually the odd bits of worsted, crochet in spider stitch a sofa pillow cover, then decorate one corner with a large bow of wide satin ribbon of various colors.

—Old-time workstands of mahogany with two drawers and leaves which may be raised or lowered at pleasure are brought to light—the drawers are ornamented with fancy brass handles.

—For odd pieces of furniture in a drawing-room the Vernis-Martin is much sought after, this varnish is of a limpid transparency, which permits of it being applied over the most delicate painting, generally the ground of the furniture is gold, either plain or sprinkled like fine Japanese lacquer, and on this ground are painted favorite subjects in tone and style of Watteau, the whole is surrounded by finely chiselled gilt bronze.

—Pails of water, in which hay has been steeped, will absorb the smell of fresh paint; a saucer of ground coffee will serve the same purpose.

—A unique floral centre piece is a gilt chariot drawn by two white doves; the chariot is covered with La Purete carnations; the chariot was filled with bonbons and could be tipped down so as to scatter its contents at dessert.

—A small reception chair has a gilded frame, the back is harp-shaped, at the upper point a drapery of olive plush in folds is attached, this falls across to the lower point, where it is loosely banded together by folds of blue plush, then drops carelessly down and is bordered with dark amber fringe; the seat is covered with olive plush.

—Leopard skin is the latest novelty in leather for portfolios, photograph screens and music rolls.

—Very handsome and extremely large towels have woven borders of red and blue in antique designs, and vases bearing fruits and flowers, or a medallion with a Japanese scene.

—A peculiarly delicate frame for a photograph or etching is made by taking an ordinary pine frame covered in loose folds with shrimp pink India silk; held in place at each corner by means of gilded splint placques, about three inches in diameter; the accompanying mat for this frame has the appearance of gilded Chinese matting, the whole effect is quite startling, still very pleasing.

—A brass shield suspended from two spears is a novel arrangement for a clock.

—The small Japanese fans with the long slender handles may be very prettily decorated and used for brightening up a dark corner or side walls by covering them with crinkled rose-colored paper, sew about the edge crimped paper fringe, gild the handle, and where it joins fasten a bunch of paper poppies.

—At Tiffany's is shown a very fine work in marble by the late young sculptor, Edward R. Thaxter, of Boston, called "The First Dream of Love," the price asked for this statue is $7,500.

—Placques of hammered brass or copper make artistic decorations, the art is exceedingly simple and is being much cultivated.

—Those who are interested in Japanese and Chinese art will find some exquisite examples at the rooms of the American Art Association, No. 6 East Twenty-third street. Chinese stuffs of great beauty and metal work of the better Japanese types, the odd shaped four-sided vases, with floral ornamentation in bronze and gold, are of the highest quality of metal work.

—Cretonne work is most effective, and an opportunity of producing the very beautiful and artistic designs is undeniable; on a foundation of good satin cloth, or twilled cotton, the most satisfactory effects can be arranged. the cretonne should be of good quality, and the designs carefully cut out and slightly gummed in order to keep in place and prevent slipping.

—For table decoration at lunch parties gilded baskets of ferns are in favor, the delicate maiden hair fern is fast taking the place of smilax, the new climbing asparus is exquisitely delicate and graceful for decoration.

A very economical and satisfactory arrangement for a growing palm consists of a demijohn, with the neck cut off just above where the slope begins from the sides, gild the wicker work and attach bows of appropriately colored ribbon to the sides, then fill the demijohn with earth and set the plant into it, an ordinary round pine table may be used to support the jar, cover the circular top piece with felt having fringe about it; the legs which are placed in tripod form, should be covered with split-reed and gilded.

Concerning Men and Things.

James R. Keene's failure has been made the occasion of compliments in the Herald and other papers which are not deserved. People who have had dealings with this really great California operator allege that he is nothing more than a common mining shark of the most objectionable kind. His origin is very humble. He once drove a milk wagon in Sacramento, and his necessities were such in early life that he became reckless in his methods of earning money. He has been designated a "call to-morrow" man from his reluctance to settle bills. In The Record and Guide of a recent date appeared a judgment for a small amount against him. He has been credited with some of the queerest kind of mining deals. He has undoubtedly lost money through his privileges of late, but as he has been a persistent bear for three years past he will, without question, have a handsome fortune left after he rids himself of his creditors' claims. But he is a wonderful speculator and has no equal in the country but Jay Gould. He is not only correct in his general theories of the market, he is also a trader of exceptional ability, and knows as it by instinct when the market has turned. Keene always "paddled his own canoe;" he has no relations with other great operators. Indeed, none of the latter can trust him, so remorseless are his methods. It is in this particular that Jay Gould has the advantage of him, for the latter has had the ability to attach to his fortunes at one time or another all the leading operators in the market. There is scarcely a broker or banker of any prominence in the street who is not now or has not been at some time a partner with Jay Gould in some of his numerous deals and enterprises. This has given the New York operator an immense advantage over his would-be California rival.

Russell Sage is understood to have lost several millions in the privilege business recently. He has been as badly "caught out" as Keene, for althongh his "puts" were not so recklessly sold or so near the market, he probably had ten privileges out where Keene had one. While his losses were not so great on each transaction, he lost far more money because of the number of "puts" on the market. There is known to be trouble between Gould, Field and Sage. The two latter charge that the former, after he left on his last yachting trip and since his return, sold the market down and got rid of his long stock without the knowledge of his two associates. Field, it is said, lost heavily on the Gould stocks, while Sage was put in for large amounts in protecting his privileges in Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Western Union and the Wabash stocks. Jay Gould makes a counter charge that Sage "skipped" in Manhattan, selling all he could from 58 down to 45. It is known that Gould and Sage were closeted all Thursday afternoon, and it is believed that they were forced to come to some terms to protect a financial institution, which, if it failed, would precipitate a panic and play havoc with the fortunes of Gould, Sage, Field and their associates. Gould, it is believed, has been forced to sell long stock to make good certain time loans, which have inopportunely become due at this crisis.

Theodore Roosevelt is, it seems, barely twenty-six years of age. Though so young, he belongs to an old Knickerbocker family, as will be seen by consulting Mrs. Lamb's History of New York. Of late years the Roosevelts have developed a taste for political life. Theodore's father figured as a reformer in his day, and was nominated by President Hayes for Collector of this port, to succeed Chester A. Arthur, removed. Theodore's uncle, Robert B. Roosevelt, was formerly a member of Congress, and has been keenly interested in city politics all his life. He is a famous fisherman and sportsman and "a jolly good fellow" in every way. But he isn't a bit of a reformer. Had he the keen moral sense of his nephew, or his late brother, he could have been Mayor of New York, the Governor of the State, and might even have aspired to the presidency, for he is wealthy, affable and Democratic in his habits and tastes. But he was not conscientious either in his aims or associates. He has trained in local politics with so many scurvy fellows that he has been taken for one of them, though he is personally probably as honest as his now famous nephew.

General Adam Badeau, who resigned his position as Consul to Havana, in order to bring charges against the State Department, has a history. His father in a past generation was the owner of a "Poor Man's Plaster," which was widely advertised. Young Badeau started in life as a reporter on the Express with James Brooks. Under the nom de plume of "The Vagabond," he wrote a series of sketches in Noah's Sunday Times; which showed much literary skill and command of language. He subsequently went to the war as a correspondent, and finally became the private secretary of General Grant, who advanced his fortunes in every way. Since Grant's retirement he has held various consular positions, and spent his spare time in writing a biography of his patron. It is a highly eulogistic effort, and while the facts are no doubt trustworthy, they only furnish materials for history, for they will hardly be considered a fair estimate of the character and sources of the conqueror of the Confederacy.

Madame Nillsson was quite right in her statement to a reporter that New York ought to have a great musical and dramatic conservatoire similar to that of Paris. We have plenty of musical and dramatic talent in this country, but have no great school to give a proper training to artistic neophites. As our government, national, State or municipal, is not paternal, the rich men of New York, nay, of the whole country, should institute a fund to build an academy of lyric and dramatic art that would accommodate students from all parts of the country. It would pay our real estate owners to munificently endow such an institution. Will they do it?

Thomas A. Edison, the well-known inventor, proposes a new departure in his method of living. He has been residing in a luxurious apartment house, taking his meals with his family at a restaurant. He now proposes to go house-keeping, and, characteristically, he expects to put his inventions to work in building a city home. To begin with, he objects to the single lot business. In his late New Jersey home he had plenty of elbow room, and e cannot content himself with 25x100 in the pent up streets of a great city. Ir. Edison has been looking at some lots on One Hundred and Sixteenth treet, and is negotiating with a view to purchasing a plot which will give im not only a house, but approaches to it. He is said to be at work on the lans and will make it one of the most novel as well as convenient edifices n the country if not the world.

A New Field for Improvement.

Passengers on the New York & Northern Railroad, after skirting the shore f the Harlem River from the bridge at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street to Kingsbridge, cannot fail of being impressed by the picturesque scenery that pens to their vision as the latter station is approached. They find themelves at the entrance to a prolonged valley, and the hills upon either side of he railway, while not too precipitous at any point to form available building ites, are crowned at intervals by expansive plateaus admirably suited for mprovement. At every point between Spuyten Duyvil Creek and South Yonkers, passing Van Cortland Lake and the grounds of one of the proposed ew parks, the train passes through a country where nature has been lavish n decoration, and which only needs the hand of art to be made a region of nsurpassed beauty.

Why is this section not being more rapidly improved? It cannot be said hat it is left a comparative wilderness because of the want of rapid transit ccommodations. The Northern Railroad is a practical extension of the Metropolitan Elevated Railway, sending frequent trains at the rate of thirty miles per hour between the station at One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street and South Yonkers. It is only a step from the latter station to the Harlem River crossing. Even as far north as South Yonkers there is a site for a suburban colony unsurpassed in the vicinity of New York, easily accessible at all hours f the day and at any reasonable hour of the night. Rising from the station t this point the hills upon one side overlook the Hudson River, where it xpands into the Tappan Zee, and upon the other is a view of the waters of he East River, embracing within the vision the blue and distant shores of Long Island. Such a situation cannot be otherwise than healthful and pleasnt, and provided with a sufficient number of neat and cheap dwellings to form a village, it could not fail of aiding to relieve our tenement house disricts of their plethora of population. But the dwellings are not forthcoming, nd other suburban neighborhoods with which the material interests of New York are less closely bound find their advantage in the Sleepy Hollow like tmosphere that pervades the neighborhood.

The principal sign of activity visible at South Yonkers is an indication hat the first movement of the late sleeper, now gradually recovering consciousness, is not in a direction to enable him to get out of bed. Passengers on the railway see standing near the station huge board signs, on which are displayed in large letters the words "South Yonkers Land Agency." Now, t is not a land agency that is needed in that neighborhood; it is a house nd home agency. Mr. Andrew Powell, the chief of this land agency enterprise, has taken an option of two thousand acres of land, and, on paper, ntersected it by streets and divided it into building lots. But even if he could give a good title to every acre of this great demesne, the era of real estate speculation has, fortunately, not yet returned, and there is little vocation for a land agency. A representative of Mr. Powell tells us that they are trying to form a syndicate in London to perfect the title on all this land by meeting the necessary payments, and then to go on with building improvements. But Rome was not built in a day. Would it not be better to form a small syndicate first, and, having constructed a village, leave the construction of a new city for the hands of posterity? Perfect title can be given, we are told, to about eighty acres in the immediate vicinity of the station. Then why not improve a portion of this eighty acres, and see if the enterprise would not increase the market value of the remainder? The real estate which is marketable in the present temper of the community is either improved real estate or property bought with a view to early improvement. There have been too many examples of what are known as "Irish hoists"—pronounced hists in the vernacular—during the last ten years to allow of much encouragement to those who are holding unimproved land in the hope of selling it at a profit.

The land along the line of the Northern road is about the most desirable land for immediate improvement to be found north of the Harlem River; but owing to the long delay in securing transit accommodations, it is comparatively little known. There are many very picturesque building sites along the railroad on the eastern bank of the river, between One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street and Kingsbridge, notably in the neighborhood of Morris Dock and Fordham Heights. But the erection of dwellings in these localities is hardly desirable. When the Harlem River is converted into a ship channel, and opened into the Hudson River by a canal, an improvement certain to be soon made, the shores must be occupied by warehouses and factories, and the locality will become an unattractive place for a residence. But at Kingsbridge and beyond, in the region extending to the boundaries of the projected Van Cortland Park, and on the northern side of the park, the opportunities for improvement are almost unlimited. There is an impression abroad that the time for the occupation of this territory has not yet come. But a single trip over the Northern road to South Yonkers will dispel this idea. At the present date it is the most accessible territory suitable for building sites to be found north of the Harlem River.

Two things only are required to promote the growth of this section. First, we must have a frank recognition of the fact that northern New York has many powerful competitors in the suburbs, on Long Island, Staten Island and in New Jersey, and that land desired for immediate improvement in the upper wards must be offered on terms that will correspond with the prices at which it may be obtained in many other equally accessible and pleasant localities. There is a popular impression that land is increased in value when it comes within the jurisdiction of our Board of Aldermen. The value of land is enhanced by being located in certain fashionable and business neighborhoods; but it is presuming too much on human folly to suppose that the wage worker, or the clerk on a small salary, will consent to deprive his family of comforts for the purpose of renting a high-priced domicile within the limits of the city. New York will grow faster when this illusion is dispelled. The second want for the growth of the upper wards will be met by the construction of a sufficient number of cheap dwellings to cause a movement of population large enough to attract attention. There s not much danger of too much enterprise in this direction. Dwellings in really accessible localities, unless haunted, rarely lack tenants.

Realty at Albany.

ALBANY, May 1.

The Assembly this afternoon took prompt action on the bill enlarging the powers of the Broadway Underground Railroad. It met with little opposition. It was considered in the Committee of the Whole, and, after a half-hour's speech by Mr. Littlejohn in commendation and explanation of the measure, in which he pictured it as one of the greatest enterprises of the age, it was ordered to third reading, the rules suspended, and the bill at once had its final reading.

While the Assembly was engaged on the Arcade Underground Railroad the Senate was debating the motion to disagree with the adverse report of the Railroad Committee of that body, on the bill adding six more hours each day in which the elevated roads should charge only five-cent fares. The motion to disagree with the adverse report was rejected by a vote of 12 to 18, and the adverse report then adopted by a vote of 19 to 9. This kills the bill, and the rates of fare on the elevated roads remain as heretofore—unchanged.

The Assembly, at its morning session to-day, passed the bill giving the authority to the Harlem Railroad to take the necessary property for adding 80 feet to the east side of the Forty-second street depot. That bill now goes to the Governor. The session of the Legislature has thus been an important one to-day in the measures that it has acted upon in reference to improvements in New York.

The bill which was introduced early in the session amending and codifying the building laws relative to New York city, and making those laws applicable to New York of to-day instead of the past generation, has at last been ordered to third reading in the Senate. Several amendments have been made to it, most of them correcting defects in the original draft of the bill. These amendments do not change the general provisions of the measure, but remove the principal opposition that has so long retarded its passage.

The bill which passed the Senate some time since restricting the height of flats and tenement houses hereafter erected in New York has been reported in the Assembly.

Six of the so-called reform bills reported by the Roosevelt Special Committee passed the Senate to-day; that reducing the Park Commission to a single head was postponed for further action, it having been decided that it will not be wise to place all the powers of that department in the hands of a single commissioner. It is not yet decided whether or not the powers will be changed or the commission fixed at three members. The Park Department is now charged with the duty of laying out streets and parks in the annexed district north of Harlem, the opening of streets and the adoption of ordinances, the violation of which is a misdemeanor. To give all of these powers to one man over that territory, in addition to that of bridging the Harlem River, is at last discovered not to be wise, or the kind of reform wanted, hence the postponement of the action on the bill.

The Roosevelt bill relative to the Surrogate's office, for the correction of abuses there; that in reference to the Sheriff's office; the bill repealing the act of last year to prevent the overcrowding of jails by allowing the Sheriff to transfer prisoners from the Tombs to Ludlow Street Jail; the bill fixing the salary of the Register of Deeds in lieu of fees; the bill fixing the salary of the County Clerk in lieu of fees, all passed the Senate without amendment and now go direct to the Governor.

The other bill, relative to the County Clerk's office, which gives the Board of Estimate and Apportionment the power to fix the number and compensation of the deputies and searchers of titles in the County Clerk's office, was amended by the Senate after a long contest by striking out the provision inserted in the Assembly reducing the fees about 40 per cent. to be charged for searching titles in that office, and then passed. This has to be returned to the Assembly for concurrence. This change takes out all the real relief that the bill gives to the public, and leaves the charges on searches the same as heretofore.

The act authorizing the Sinking Fund Commissioners of New York to contract with a company for the introduction of water pumped up from the river for the extinguishment of fires and for sanitary purposes, passed both Houses and is in the hands of the Governor. This contemplates the erection of the necessary works and the laying down of a system of pipes for the distribution of the water to all parts of the city by the company contracted with, the city to pay for the amount of water taken from it on terms to be agreed upon, the intention being to take all the water from this source necessary for the extinguishment of fires and the flushing of gutters, relieving the Croton system from any drain for these purposes.

The new bill to prohibit the manufacture of cigars in tenement houses has passed both Houses, and the act which has already passed the Senate requiring telegraph, electric light and telephone wires to be laid under ground in New York and Brooklyn, and the removal of the poles, has been ordered to third reading in the Assembly.

The bill providing for a commission to report to the next Legislature a plan and a bill to facilitate and lessen the cost of transfer of land and exchange of titles to realty in the cities of the State has been ordered to third reading in the Senate.

The Fifth avenue repavement bill, over which there has been so much controversy, with charge of job when it passed the Senate, has been remodelled by the Assembly Committee, and favorably reported in that body. As changed it limits the cost to $400,000, and places the work in charge of the Sinking Fund Commissioners instead of the special committee named in the bill as it passed the Senate. A determined effort was made to induce the committee to insert a provision allowing the use of asphalt pavement in that avenue, but the proposition was rejected.

An important measure of interest to landlords and also to the working people, has passed both Houses, giving the jurisdiction of the civil district courts in all cases where the amount involved does not exceed $500, also reducing the costs of summons and other processes in those courts. The dispossess cases are all acted upon in these courts.

A bill has also passed both Houses dividing the Nineteenth and Twenty-second Wards into two civil districts, and establishing a new civil district court in the Twenty-second Ward or on the west side of the city.

The bill for the establishment of a permanent exterior street along the East River, 150 feet wide, from Sixty-fourth to Ninetieth street, has been ordered to third reading in the Assembly. Its final passage in both Houses depends upon how long the Legislature remains in session.

The bill for the purchase of Rikers Island and its annexation to New York city for the use of the Charities and Correction Department, heretofore passed the Assembly, has reached the order of third reading in the Senate.

The act adding Fire Commissioner Van Cott to the new Aqueduct Commission for political purposes, heretofore passed by the Senate, is awaiting its final reading in the Assembly. And the bill adding the names of Hugh Gardiner and Joseph Garry to the commission to revise and adjust the assessments for boulevard improvements was this afternoon favorably reported in the Assembly, as was also Mr. Plunkett's bill to establish a park at Seventy-second street and Broadway, out of a gore at that point.

This season bids fair to end with the enactment of more important measures for public improvements than any for several years past.

The Position of Manhattan.

There is to be a meeting of the Manhattan as well as the east side elevated stockholders next Tuesday at noon, and, naturally, there is much curiosity as to what will be proposed and adopted looking towards a settlement of the dispute with the Metropolitan Company. Of course the sensible thing to do would be to submit the dispute to arbitration, and get rid of the enormous legal expenses which the litigation involves. But according to the best authorities this is not likely to be done. A representative of this paper had a conversation lately with a gentleman who is understood to be posted on the inside situation of affairs so far as the Manhattan side of the controversy is concerned.

"I do not think," said he, in reply to a question, "that there will be any settlement. The Manhattan people will now play what they consider their trump card. They will probably offer to give up the lease of the Metropolitan, provided the latter company pays all charges and advances $6,500,000, which is the par or face value of the Manhattan stock given to the Metropolitan stockholders when the 10 per cent. lease was first made. The Manhattan lawyers say that under the laws of this State all stock must be full paid, but this right was waived in the case of the east side elevated when the leases were made. The talk about a corner in Manhattan was based upon the theory that the Metropolitan's backers might, as a matter of prudence, purchase Manhattan at its present low figures for fear they might be required to pay the par value for the stock they had received as a bonus."

"But," said the writer, "of what value would be Manhattan stock if the original merger agreement should be broken? Would not the east side elevated, which makes the bulk of the profits of the elevated system, resume control of its own road and work it for all it was worth for themselves?"

"That," was the reply, "would depend upon how Field, Gould and Sage would regard their interest in the matter. They have thought that it was impossible now to sever the elevated system, that it must be run under some arrangement that takes in both roads. The law unwisely forbids consolidation, and hence the makeshift of a Manhattan lease is the only solution of the difficulty. Then, undoubtedly, there are other considerations. Gould's plans involve something more than New York island. He has it in his power to consolidate with the Brooklyn Elevated Road, and I have the best authority for saying the Suburban Rapid Transit Company will be made a part of the New York elevated system, and that the New York & Northern Road, running from Highbridge to Brewster Station, will be reorganized and made an important feeder to the elevated system. According to the plans agreed upon the Second avenue elevated would be made a through line to convey passengers from the Harlem to the South Ferry in twenty minutes. It would also receive and distribute the passengers by the New Haven and other roads, which would converge at the Second avenue bridge over the Harlem. It is a suspicion, if not a knowledge, of these far-reaching schemes of Jay Gould's which makes Kneeland and his friends so obstinate, for, while the big money on this island is made by the east side elevated, the extension of the system beyond the Harlem renders the Metropolitan roads essential to the carrying out of the programme. But if they do not come to an agreement the Metropolitans have a hard fight before them. Its funded debts are heavier than those of the east side; the claims for damages are more numerous and serious, and its unpaid taxes are larger in amount."

"What are the profits of the elevated system?" asked the writer.

"They are larger," was the reply, "than the public suspect. This year the receipts per diem will average $20,000 or $7,320,000 for the year, for bear in mind there are 366 days in this year of 1884. The operating expenses are only about 53 per cent., but, calling it 55 per cent., the net profit will be $3,294,000. If 6 per cent. was paid upon the twenty-six millions, which represent the capital stock of the Manhattan the east side elevated and the Metropolitan, it would amount to $1,560,000, which would leave a surplus, less taxes and interest on bonds, of $1,734,000. The elevated system therefore as it is pays splendidly, but whether it will pay is another question, for if Gould succeeds in his contest with the Metropolitan he will probably saddle the Manhattan with leases of the Brooklyn Elevated Road, the Suburban Rapid Transit and perhaps the New York & Northern. These leases will, of course, be far more valuable to Jay Gould and the ring that is back of him than to the Manhattan stockholders."

The death of Adrian H. Muller, Jr., naturally excites much regret in real estate circles. The young man himself was held in high regard, as his character was estimable, and he lived as he died, without reproach. The sincerest sympathy is felt for his father, Adrian H. Muller, Sr., who up to the time of his retirement was one of the foremost real estate auctioneers of his generation. The Real Estate Exchange was always a centre of interest when he was on the stand. No matter how unimportant the sale, his personal magnetism was such that he made his stand the principal one in the room for the time being. Broken in health and retired permanently from business, it must be a grievous blow to the elder Muller to lose his only son, one whose future was so promising.

Some curiosity has been evinced as to the result of the action of Architect Da Cunha against Phyfe & Campbell for breach of contract. Mr. Da Cunha claimed $10,000. The experts chosen, Messrs. Upjohn, Anderson and Field, all architects, after hearing the evidence, thought compensations of from one to two per cent. should be granted, Mr. Upjohn urging two per cent, Mr. Field one per cent., and Mr. Andersen one-and-a-half, or, as a compromise, one per cent. The evidence was conflicting. The jury were unanimous that there had been employment, which had been denied by the defendants, though they eventually disagreed, ten being for one per cent., equal to $7,000 (the estimate being $700,000), and two for $2,500. The case was argued in the Superior Court before Judge Ingraham.

Chicago Real Estate.

CHICAGO, May 1, 1884.

The delightful weather seemed to impart new life to business the past week. On 'Change speculation continued brisk, and the volume of business transacted reaches enormously large figures in the aggregate. Trading in local bonds and stocks failed to maintain the activity recently exhibited in that line. The week's report shows a material decrease of Eastern tonnage—over 15,000 tons. Architects are all busy, but real estate agents had time for little else than attend to renters the past week. The attempt of owners to raise rents has been persistently fought, and many persons did not decide about removal until the sun rose May 1st. In a majority of instances good tenants were clung to for the consideration paid last year. In a few of the more desirable sections of the city, where there has been improvement in railway and horse-car transit, rents have advanced. Certain business sections have also been re-rented at increased rentals.

That the present railway accommodations are not sufficient to meet the requirements of the rapidly-increasing population is evident from the success with which newly-formed companies are getting permission of property-holders to lay new roads. There are five new lines projected, most of which are intended to facilitate movements of the rural population.

Following is the number and amount of city and suburban transfers within a radius of seven miles of the court-house filed for record during the week ending Saturday, April 26:

Location.	Transfers.	Prices.
Same week last year	318 / 275	1,258,577 / 1,628,323

The most important building permit issued during the past week was to S. L. and P. C. Brooks, of Boston, Mass., for a twelve-story office building. It will cost $250,000, first and second stories stone, and the other ten stories of pressed brick with terra cotta trimmings.

The Master Masons' and Builders' Association, a strong organization of this city, held a meeting last week, and the question of giving bonds to endemnify the city against damages for accidents from obstruction in the streets while engaged in the construction of buildings was discussed. There is much confusion under the present city ordinance, which prevents a contractor from lifting his deposit after finishing his part of the building, if any other kind of work is going on at the building.

The lumber trade was fairly active at the yards last week, but prices were very weak and unsettled. Good dry lumber is becoming a scarce article, and the new arrivals of cargoes at the sales docks afford very little dry stock. Nearly all the seasoned lumber coming in is sold ahead. Consequently there is a stability about this feature of the yard sales that is healthy. There is an active call for interior work—sash, doors, blinds, etc. This branch of the trade has lagged all spring. Bad weather deferred building an unusual length of time. Now the local factories are busy and have plenty of orders ahead. Prices are uniform also. Manufacturers have tired cutting the lists.

West Compared with East Side Property.

In the New York Herald of Sunday appeared the following statement of the condition of the real estate market by the remarkable V. K. Stevenson, Jr.

"The lines of profit in New York real estate," said V. K. Stevenson, Jr., yesterday, "are about as difficult and intricate as the currents of the ocean. Take the down-town district of New York, south of City Hall Park, and see how firmly it is held and how greatly it is sought after by capitalists. Still, in the face of this fact, we observe in Pine street, between Broadway and Nassau street, bills on six of the finest and most expensive offices in the street; and here it is the 25th of April. I cannot see how it is possible for this down-town property to continue advancing in the face of the general dullness in the Cotton, Coffee and other exchanges. As to property above and below the Lenox Library, on the east side, I think it will decline from the present high prices. For instance, I sold a lot recently on Sixty-ninth street, 200 feet east of Fifth avenue, to Mr. Richard, who is now building on it. It was 25x100, and I sold it for $42,500. The same day I sold a lot of the same size on the same street, 200 feet west of Central Park, between Eighth and Ninth avenues. It was the same distance from the Park as the former one, yet the price was $8,333. Our best engineers claim that on this west side we have 'tonic' air. I bought sixteen lots on One Hundred and First street, running through to One Hundredth street, and commencing only 100 feet west of Eighth avenue, last week, for $3,600 a lot, for Mr. John E. Parsons, who has been buying conservatively for investment. I bought for Benjamin F. Holske a plot of ground from One Hundred and Sixth to One Hundred and Seventh street, Ninth avenue to New avenue, for $3,250 a lot. New avenue at One Hundred and Sixth street, which is a wide street, is distant only about 450 feet from Eighth avenue and Central Park. All such purchases as these on the west side, where the lots have Morningside Park to the north of them, Central Park to the east of them, Riverside Park to the west of them and the Metropolitan Elevated Railroad running right through the centre of this plateau, with convenient stations every few streets, are examples of the tendency of things in the world of real estate. I confess I cannot understand why people can be pursuaded to buy east side property, down-town property and Harlem property at the high prices now ruling. I contend that a man can take a horse and blindfold him, and start him over this west side district, and buy the property wherever he stops, and pay the owner all he asks for it, and double his money on it, on account of its being surrounded by three beautiful parks, with the elevated road running through it, and with the sewerage system of the west side being made so superior under the direction of General Viele, while Commissioner Crimmins is also giving his personal supervision to the practical portion of the work. These two gentlemen are specially devoting their attention to the development and completion of this west side. They are assisted by their co-commissioners, Messrs. Wales and Olliffe, who have had all the experience of years of service in the Park Commission Board. I simply mean to say that if the public who are now going in such vast numbers into west side real estate would make judicious and careful purchases, it would certainly strengthen all the business that real estate brokers have and start investors in their investments on the right track, whereby ultimately both investors and the broker would be benefited."

In the case of U. Hill Fowler vs. Charles F. Callan, it was decided January 21, 1884, by the New York Common Pleas, General Term, that where an attorney agreed to perform all legal services necessary to secure his client legal title to certain premises, and to save him harmless from all expense, etc., and at the same time, as consideration and advance payment therefor, received a deed of an undivided half of the premises, and performed the services agreed upon, which involved the title to said premises, held, that the agreement was champertous under 2 R. S., 288, Section 72, prohibiting attor neys from advancing moneys, etc., as consideration for placing a debt, demand, etc., in their hands for collection, and that the deed was therefore void, and possession of the property therein referred to could not be recovered by the attorney thereunder.

Important Decision by the Court of Appeals.

The appeal in the cases of Chase vs. Knowles and Chase vs. Stieglitz was decided by the Court of Appeals on the 15th ultimo in favor of the appellants. Judge Danforth handed down the decision, in which his brother judges unanimously agreed. This was a case arising out of the three sales at auction of the famous Jumel estate on May 31st, 1882, November 14th, 1882, and May 31st, 1883. It seems that when the purchasers of the lots on either side of Tenth avenue, between One Hundred and Sixty-second and One Hundred and Seventy-fourth streets, came to take title they discovered that there was an unpaid assessment, aggregating $73,000, against the various parcels, which, by-the-way, was the choicest portion of the estate. They declined to complete their purchase unless the referee allowed the amount due for these assessments, which were for regulating, grading, setting curb, gutter and flagging, out of the purchase money, which he refused to do, and brought suit against them to compel them to take title.

In the decision above mentioned the Court of Appeals say:

At a sale had by the referee in pursuance of the judgment in partition, the respondent Knowles became the purchaser of part of the premises known as lot 66, and paid a portion of the price. The respondent, Stieglitz, also purchased other lots. It was one of the conditions of sale that all taxes and assessments, which, at the time of the sale, were liens or incumbrances upon the premises, should be paid out of the purchase money. The referee, although requested by the purchasers to pay the assessment above referred to, refused to do so, upon the ground that it was void, and, therefore, not a lien upon the premises. Knowles refused to complete his purchase, and a motion was made at Special Term to compel him to do so. The matter was referred to a referee, who reported that the assessment was a lien—that Knowles should not be required to complete his purchase, but should be repaid the sum already advanced by him, and his expenses. The plaintiff's exceptions to the report were overruled, and the report was confirmed by the Special Term, on the 11th day of March, 1883. Upon appeal to the General Term the order was affirmed on the 1st day of October, 1883, and the referee who made the sale was directed to pay the assessments in question out of the purchase money.

We think the appeals well taken. Therefore the General Term order of June 1, 1883, is reversed, and the Special Term order of March 5, 1883, affirmed, with costs. The General Term order of October 1, 1883, and the Special Term order of March 11, 1883, are both reversed, with costs, the exceptions to the report of the referee sustained, and the purchaser, Knowles, required to complete his purchase.

"All concur."

Mr. Carter, for Nelson Chase and Eliza J. Caryl, appellants. Mr. Roe and Mr. Macklin, for William I. Chase and others, appellants. Mr. Whalen, for James Knowles, respondent. Mr. Isaacs, for Marcus L. Stieglitz, respondent.

Real Estate Department.

Again we have to report a rather dull market. The attendance at the Exchange has not been large nor has the bidding been as lively as during previous weeks this spring. House property has not done so well under the hammer and except in some favored localities vacant lots have not been in demand. Brokers of course have been very busy in closing up their renting contracts. Would-be tenants who delayed until the last moment fared much better than those who secured their dwellings and stores earlier in the season. The renting was delayed owing to the bad state of the weather and this made the competition very active during portions of March and April. THE RECORD AND GUIDE of this and the next two weeks will record a phenomenally large list of conveyances in this city and Brooklyn. At this time of the year it is the fashion to take title, but no previous April has ever shown such enormous transactions in number as these we are now publishing. It should, however, be remembered that the transfers we publish this week represent purchases made a month ago. The actual sales of the past week will not be recorded until early June. The volume of business to-day is not as large as it was a month since. But, all things considered, the market is healthy and hopeful. The business of the coming summer promises to far exceed in volume the summers of 1882 and 1883 and there seems scarcely a doubt but that the opening of the new Real Estate Exchange next October will be accompanied by a movement in real estate that will prove very satisfactory to owners and dealers.

Renting has, on the whole, not been so good this year as last, especially with residence property. Very few cases are reported of increase in rent. Houses on the east side renting up to $1,200 have as a rule been readily taken, but the finer class of houses, from $1,500 to $3,000 and above, are still to let in large numbers. The past has not been a profitable year for many people, and there is a disposition to economize. Hence the large number of high-priced houses which the agents say they cannot rent. High-priced flats have not done so well on the whole, and concessions have been made in some instances. Flats and tenements under $30 have rented well; there is a market for these all the year round. In Harlem houses renting above $1,500 are, a well-known agent said, "a drug on the market." Private houses from $600 to $800 have rented well, though there are still too many flats. West side agents talk more cheerfully of renting, though they do not speak in glowing terms. Business property has held its own fairly well, and in some cases, notably at the lower end of the island, advances have taken place. On the whole, however, renting has not been by any means as good as it was in the spring of 1883.

On Saturday, the property No. 174 Division street and No. 50 Sixth avenue was sold. On Monday, No. 92 James street, and two lots on Bloomingdale road, between Ninety-seventh and Ninety-eighth streets, were sold—the latter under foreclosure. On Tuesday, the sale of realty belonging to the Corporation was held, and the property on Burling slip, South Fifth avenue and East Fifty-second street sold; the schoolhouse, Nos. 135 and 137 Mulberry street, was withdrawn, no one bidding more than the upset price of $35,000; dwelling houses on East Twenty-third, Thirty-eighth and One Hundred and Twenty-seventh streets and Lexington avenue, and business property on Centre, Division, Pell, South and Water streets was also sold; a lot on Seventieth street, north side, 350 feet west of Eighth avenue, was knocked down for $7,500. Eleven acres, with buildings, at Mount Vernon, known as the Shipley Place, went for $5,400, to W. V. Sharplis, and 70 acres at Princeton, N. J., were withdrawn on a bid of $30,000. On Wednesday two three-story buildings, Nos. 54 and 56 Hester street (15-16 interest) were eagerly bid for and sold for $38,050; houses on West Thirty-ninth street, East Ninety-eighth street and Sixth avenue were also sold, and lots on Forty-eighth street and Railroad avenue, New York, and Graham avenue, Brooklyn, were knocked down but not sold. On Thursday, two tenements on East Ninety-eighth street, and eight lots, corner of Second avenue and Ninety-eighth street, were sold under foreclosure. Two flats, Nos. 327 and 329 East Seventy-second street, were knocked down at $24,000 each, but not sold. On Friday, No. 29 Perry street, and Nos. 202 and 204 West Nineteenth street, were sold in partition to parties in interest.

At the Exchange Salesroom, during the first four months of this year, $12,169,843 was realized on the property sold, against $11,612,699 during the corresponding period last year.

CONVEYANCES AND MORTGAGES.

A comparison of the number of conveyances in the first four months of this year compared with a similar period of last year shows an increase of nearly 400 transactions while the total amount invested is some thirteen millions more. The mortgage indebtedness is about the same as last year, all of which goes to show a very healthy state of the real estate market. It is now settled that the first half of this year compared with the first half of last year will show a handsome increase in the real estate business. It will indeed be the largest ever known in New York.

One of the most hopeful signs of the real estate market is the large proportion of cash which is being invested in real property. Last year the mortgage indebtedness was 69 per cent. of the property purchased, while this year the proportion is only 56 per cent. Of course if there should be a speculative market the proportionate increase of the mortgage indebtedness will grow, but when there are large transactions, the largest indeed known in the history of the market, and the mortgage indebtedness decreases relatively, it shows that investors are taking money out of Wall street and out of business to put it in real property.

NEW BUILDINGS.

From the following table, showing the number of new buildings and their cost for the first four months of the past three years, it will be observed with satisfaction that the building movement shows no falling off that is appreciable. The first three months of last year showed more building plans filed and for larger amounts than ever before in the history of the city. The corresponding three months of this year showed a falling off, but the April of this year has made the total of 1884 so far but little behind 1883; in other words, there were 970 new buildings projected last year against 967 this year, the estimated cost in 1883 being $16,877,622, and this year $15,728,026. As will be noticed by the record for April for the last three years there are 353 new buildings this last month, which will cost $7,378,740. Last year the new buildings for April were 283, and the estimated cost $4,102,222. Among the plans filed last month were those for the new hotel now under way at the Grand Plaza, on Fifth avenue, and the great addition to the Florence apartment house on Fourth avenue, as well as the Astor building on Broadway, Pine and Wall streets. There seems to be no abatement but rather an increase in the demand for new buildings in this city.

Investors are beginning to realize the value of plots of one and more acres in the annexed district. A complete system of suburban rapid transit will soon be under way, and those who buy now are certain to realize handsome fortunes when speculation makes its appearance in well located property in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards. James L. Wells will sell at auction, on May 6th, a very desirable plot of ten acres extending from Morris to Valentine avenues, at Tremont. This plot fulfills all the conditions for a valuable investment. It is surrounded by avenues which are macadamized, and have gas and Croton water, and is within one block of the Suburban Rapid Transit route. It is also near the depot of the New York & Harlem road. When the movement for improving this kind of property commences, it will proceed with great rapidity. Small houses in this region are in steady demand at good rents. They also command a ready sale, as is shown by the experience of the Bedford Park improvement. The time is not distant when the Suburban Rapid Transit will be under way and when the Harlem Canal will be at least begun. One or both of these great improvements, in conjunction with the laying out of the parks, will undoubtedly lead to the most active movement ever seen in the region beyond the Harlem.

Richard V. Harnett will sell on Tuesday next, May 6th, a very desirable plot and frame residence on the south side of Eighty-fourth street, 119 west o Eastern Boulevard. This property is in every respect desirable and convenient of access.

On the same day Mr. Harnett will sell by executor's order, a plot with buildings on West street, south of Charlton street.

Mr. Harnett will also sell on the 7th inst., to close estate of the late James Dooley, a plot 100 feet front on Bathgate avenue, near One Hundred and Eighty-third street.

Scott & Myers will on Wednesday next, May 7th, sell the property of the estate of John Brice, dec'd, seven lots on One Hundred and Nineteenth street, near Eighth avenue. They will also sell at the same time and place three lots on One Hundred and Thirty-third street, near Sixth avenue, and three lots on One Hundred and Nineteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets, west of Eighth avenue. These lots are choice and available for immediate building operations.

Louis Mesier will on Thursday, May 8, sell the estate of the late George H. Peck, comprising a large number of valuable parcels on the west side in the line of improvement and located in some of the most desirable sections of the city. There will also be offered properties and water fronts on the Harlem and Hudson Rivers and parcels in the Twenty-third Ward, situated on Claremont, Central and Grand avenues. The property, enumerated at length elsewhere in our columns, is all worthy the attention of investors and capable of realizing in a few years the most satisfactory profits to those who purchase at this sale.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Tuesday, May 6, the dwelling No. 219 East Forty-fifth street, and four lots on One Hundred and Seventeenth and One Hundred and Eighteenth streets, east of Seventh avenue. On Wednesday Mr. Smyth will sell the dwellings Nos. 320 and 322 East Fifty-sixth street, and No. 440 West Thirty-fifth street, and on Tuesday, May 13, the same auctioneer will sell the fine dwelling on the northwest corner of One Hundred and Eleventh street and Lexington avenue, and the excellent stone front dwelling No. 145 East Fifty-sixth street.

The valuable plot on the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Twentieth street, 50x100, will be offered at public auction some day during May, to close an estate.

Gossip of the Week.

Charles Buek & Co. have sold the four-story and basement brick and brown stone private residence, No. 28 East Sixty-first street, being on the southwest corner of Madison avenue, size 25x50x67, to Mrs. B. L. Harsell for $55,000 cash.

Max Danziger has sold the plot of ground on the northeast corner of Second avenue and Seventieth street, 100.4x150, to John Mulholland, for $48,000.

Dr. Roener, the dentist, has bought the four-story brick house No. 206 East Fifteenth street, 22x60x103.3, for $17,250.

William H. Rosenblatt has sold, for Johanna Ewest, the six-story double brick tenement No. 53 Allen street, 25x87.6, to George Gottheimer, for $25,000.

Riker & Son have sold the plot comprising six city lots, three on the south side of One Hundred and Fifth street, 125 feet east of the Boulevard, and three in the rear on the north side of One Hundred and Fourth street, 125 feet east of the Boulevard, to Lawson & Moore, for $24,000.

L. J. & I. Phillips have sold the plot of five lots on the south side of One Hundred and Fifth street, commencing 125 feet east of First avenue, for $8,500, and the lot on the east side of Fifth avenue, 75 feet north of Ninety-fifth street, 25x100, for $17,000, to Alexander Blumenstiel.

Benner & Zeller have sold the three-story brick dwelling No. 63 East Third street, 20x50x90, to H. Brunich, for $14,000, and the two four-story brick tenements on the corner of Broome and Norfolk streets, being known as Nos. 208 and 208½ Broome street, 32.2x50, to Aaron Stone, for $12,750.

Brooklyn.

W. F. Corwith has sold the four-story double tenement No. 107 Newell street, to George A. Bell, for $6,400; two-story and basement dwelling No. 86 Diamond street, to Mary McDonald, for $2,500; gore lot on the east side of Manhattan avenue, 148 feet south of Nassau avenue, to Horace Crosby, for $600; two-story frame store and dwelling No. 321 Eckford street, to John P. Rohr, for $2,000.

Out Among the Builders.

Albert Wagner is preparing plans for a seven-story basement and subcellar building, to be erected at Nos. 541 to 547 Pearl street, commencing 200 feet east of Broadway, having a frontage of 100 feet. Two elevators will be provided and the front will be of iron and brick. There will be two boilers of 150 horse-power under the sidewalk. The first floor is to be arranged for stores, the second for offices and the remainder for printing and other purposes. Messrs. Ottmann, Kepler & Schwarzmann, proprietors and publishers of Puck, will be the owners. The estimated cost is about $150,000.

The Union Theological Seminary are having plans drawn for three first-class brick and brown stone private residences, three and four stories high, to be erected on the south side of Seventieth street, about 100 feet west of Park avenue, adjoining the Seminary. They will be 16x54 each, and will cost about $60,000. It is understood that these houses, when completed, will be rented to private parties; they are to be solely for investment. Messrs. J. B. Lord and W. A. Potter are the architects.

Four handsome Queen Anne private dwellings of brick and stone, with all the modern improvements, will shortly be erected on the south side of One Hundred and Thirtieth street, 75 feet east of Seventh avenue. They will be three-story and basement houses, one 21x50, having a conservatory attached, and three 20x50. All the houses but one are already bought, that is, they are to be built to order, the following being the purchasers: Mr. S. T. Smith, a 20-foot house, Mr. M. Wooley, the 21-foot house, and Mr. Andrew Knowles, a 20-foot dwelling. The architect, builder and seller is Mr. W. J. Merritt.

J. W. Smith will shortly erect eight four-story high stoop Connecticut brown stone private dwellings, 19 and 20x55 each, on the east side of Seventh avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-first and One Hundred and Twenty-second streets. They will be of a first-class character, and will cost about $130,000. Architect, Geo. B. Pelham.

Charles M. Earle will erect a three-story stone front dwelling on the south side of One Hundred and Thirtieth street, 156 feet east of Seventh avenue, having a frontage of 19 feet, from designs by J. E. Ware.

Terence Kiernan is about to erect three handsome four-story high stoop brown stone houses, on the south side of Eighty-fourth street, commencing 100 feet east of Ninth avenue. One will be 18x52, and the remainder 16x52. They will cost about $40,000. No architect has yet been selected.

Ten three-story and basement private dwellings, 20x52, are to be erected on the north side of Sixty-eighth street, commencing 200 feet east of Third avenue, for Messrs. W. F. Schermerhorn and Richard T. Auchmuty. The cost has not yet been estimated. The plans are being prepared by H. J. Hardenbergh.

James Macdonald intends to erect three four-story high stoop brown stone private dwellings, with all improvements, on the south side of Seventy-eighth street, 100 feet west of Fourth avenue. Two will be 17x55 and one 16x55, all having extensions. They will cost about $60,000. Thom & Wilson are the architects.

A. B. Ogden is the architect for two five-story improved brick and stone tenements, 25.6x80 each, to be erected on the north side of Eighty-eighth street, 100 feet west of Lexington avenue, for James E. Burne, to cost $30,000, and for a three-story high stoop brown stone private dwelling, 16x55, to be erected on the north side of Ninety-first street, about 136 feet east of Madison avenue, for Richard E. Johnston, to cost $14,000.

Messrs. William and Richard E. Johnston intend to build two first-class three-story and basement brown stone private houses, 18x55 each, on the north side of Ninety-first street, commencing 100 feet east of Madison avenue, to cost about $40,000 together. The houses will be built for their own occupancy. The plans are being drawn by A. B. Ogden.

Mr. George Matthews intends to improve four lots on the northeast corner of Lexington avenue and Seventieth street, by the erection of a handsome and costly private residence, to be surrounded by grounds, the whole to occupy about 100 feet square. The work will probably not be commenced till the fall or early next year. The house will be built for his own occupancy.

Gordon Brothers, of Thirty-ninth street and Second avenue, will shortl commence the erection of three five-story brick and stone trimmed tenements, with stores, 25x80 each, on the south side of Forty-second street, commencing 125 feet west of Second avenue, to cost about $48,000. The architect has not yet been selected.

Crombie, at a cost of over $50,000; for four five-story brick tenements, 25x83, to be erected on the north side of Seventy-second street, between First avenue and Avenue A, by Julius Johnson, at an outlay of $72,000; for four five-story brown stone tenements, 19 and 27x82, to be built on the southeast corner of Eleventh avenue and Fifty-eighth street, by H. Moore, at a cost of $64,000; for twelve three-story brick houses, 16.8 x50, with extensions 15x15, two stories high, each to be built at Stamford, Conn., by S. Wilson, of Elmira, at a cost of $90,000; for two five-story brick tenements, 25x83 each, to be erected on the southeast corner of One Hundred and Thirty-first street and Eighth avenue, for O. C. Ferris, at a cost of $40,000; for five story brick tenements, 25x80 each, to be built on the northeast corner of Tenth avenue and Sixty-sixth street, by Julius Johnson, at a cost of $72,000, and for ten four-story brick flats, 20x65 each, to cover the entire front on the west side of Ninth avenue, between Ninety-fourth and Ninety-fifth street. The owner is John M. Pinkney, who will expend $120,000 on this improvement.

John Brandt is working on the plans for the erection of a four-story brown stone flat on the south side of Eighty-fourth street, between Lexington and Fourth avenues, for the Messrs. H. & J. Spies, to cost $16,000.

John Mulholland will erect six 25-feet front five-story brick stores and flats, on the northeast corner of Second avenue and Seventieth street, at a cost of about $90,000. Architect, F. T. Camp.

The competing engineers for the proposed bridge across the Harlem River, about one-half mile above Highbridge, are Messrs. Wilson Brothers & Co., A. P. Boller and Buck & McNulty, and the estimated cost of the structures is $1,500,000, $2,225,000 and $3,065,000, respectively. The designs will be submitted at a meeting of the Park Commission on Wednesday, May 14.

Brooklyn.

Robert Dixon has plans in hand for two three-story brown stone stores and flats to be erected on the north side of Gates avenue, 125 feet east of Marcy avenue, for W. H. Aldridge; cost, $10,000 each.

Th. Engelhardt is preparing plans for a three-story double frame tenement to be erected at No. 239 Devoe street, for Catharine Lehr; cost, $4,800.

Notes and Items.

The Board of Street Openings and Improvement propose to alter the map or plan of the city by laying out, opening and extending Lexington avenue, of the uniform width of 75 feet, in a northerly direction from its present terminus, at the north line of 98th street, for a distance of 261.10 feet.

The commissioners in the matter relative to the opening of 98th street, between the Boulevard and Riverside avenue, have completed their estimate and assessment. Objections thereto must be made in writing to the commissioners, at No. 73 William street, before June 7, 1884, and a hearing will be given to objecting parties between June 7 and 17. The report will be presented to the Supreme Court June 20 for confirmation.

Postoffice Station H, formerly located on the northeast corner of 3d avenue and 61st street, has removed to No. 156 East 54th street, Breevoort Hall, first door west of 3d avenue. The removal was rendered necessary by the large increase of postal business in that portion of the city, the new premises being much more spacious and convenient than those formerly occupied.

Contractors' Notes.

Bids will be received by the Commissioner of Public Works until Tuesday May 6, 1884, for the following work:

Sewers—Broadway, west side, between Battery place and Morris street; 4th avenue, east and west sides, between 27th and 30th streets, with connections to present sewers; Avenue B, between 4th and 5th streets; 89th street, between 8th and 9th avenues; 120th street, between 8th and 9th avenues.

Regulating, grading, setting curb and flagging—Madison avenue, from centre of 135th street to north side of 137th street; 95th street, from 9th to 10th avenue; 112th street, from west curb of 7th avenue to east curb of 8th avenue; 132d street, from 10th avenue to Broadway; 134th street, from St. Nicholas to 8th avenue; 152d street, from 10th avenue to Edgecombe avenue; St. Nicholas place, from south curb 150th street to intersection of St. Nicholas avenue.

Special Notices.

Mr. W. W. Montague, the west side real estate agent, is a very energetic and enterprising man. He has adopted the novel mode of advertising by placing his picture on the side of his card, as will be seen from another column. He has been established since 1870. He collects rents, loans money on bond and mortgage, and does a general business in real estate. He has also a fire insurance agency, and is a notary public. He has two offices—one on Eighth avenue and Twenty-first street, and the other on Ninth avenue and Eightieth street. Owners and residents in those locations would do well to give him a call should they require his services.

John G. Folsom is the successor to the well-known real estate firm of C. J. and J. G. & S. D. Folsom & Co., which was established in 1847. Mr. Folsom will continue the business at No. 14 Bible House, Eighth street. This gentleman, it may be added, is a member of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room.

The card of Messrs. Porter & Company, real estate agents and brokers, appears in another column. This firm is one of the best known in Harlem, and has a large clientele. Owners of property, tenants and others may rely on receiving every attention from them in everything relating to the purchase or sale of realty, renting, collecting, loans, etc. Their office is at No. 157 East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street.

O. G. Bennet, real estate, insurance and mortgage broker and appraiser of real estate, has removed to the new building of the Williamsburgh City Fire Insurance Company, No. 150 Broadway. Mr. Bennet has been the official appraiser for the Dry Dock Savings Bank for the past sixteen years, and is also appraiser for the Produce Exchange. Mr. Bennet, it may be added, is the real estate agent for the Williamsburgh City Fire Insurance Company, and has a few desirable offices left in that building suitable for lawyers, brokers and others.

Howard W. Coates, the well-known real estate broker, has removed from his offices on Pine street to the Williamsburgh City Fire Insurance Company's new building, No. 150 Broadway, Room 2. Mr. Coates is agent for several large estates.

The Excelsior Hatch Company, whose advertisement appears on the sixth page, are the sole manufacturers of the Sinclair, Van Cott and Fraser Self-Adjusting Covers for elevator-ways, hoist-ways and other openings. These covers have been widely endorsed by some of the principal architects in New York, Boston and St. Louis, as well as by insurance men, builders and occupants of mercantile buildings. The company claims that their covers ensure safety from fire and accidents. Communications addressed to the president, Mr. Jas. R. Webb, or the secretary and treasurer, at their office No. 120 Broadway, will receive prompt attention.

Our readers are referred to the card of the White, Potter & Paige Manufacturing Company, of Brooklyn, who are designers and manufacturers of cabinet house trimming, door and window trim, wainscoting, mantel pieces, console frames, insect shutters and hardwood doors of any design required. This company has had numerous contracts in New York and Brooklyn. The large eight-story apartment house, the "Grenoble," on the corner of Fifty-seventh street and Seventh avenue, and the costly private residence No. 1 East Sixty-third street, valued at $125,000, was trimmed by this firm, and more recently the fine private residences of Charles E. Dingee, Esq., on Clinton avenue, and W. E. Scovil, Esq., on Carroll street and Seventh avenue, Brooklyn, were trimmed, polished and put up complete by them. They furnish special designs and estimates to architects and builders. This company own their own mills and lumber yards, and have every facility for manufacturing goods in large quantities and at low prices. They furnished the Anderson residence in New Haven with over $30,000 worth of cabinet work in competition with some of the best houses in New York. Their place of business is at No. 415 Willoughby avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. Telephone call, 273, Williamsburg.

Edward E. Gold & Co., inventors, manufacturers and constructors of steam heating apparatus and wrought iron furnaces, have removed their manufactory and office to Nos. 14 and 16 Vandewater street, between Pearl and Frankfort streets, where they have additional facilities and increased special machinery for the manufacture of steam compound coil wrought iron circulating heaters. The heaters occupy less than one-half of the space of ordinary radiators. The casings are japanned in any color suitable to the surroundings of the apartments. The heat is regulated by register. On account of the rapid circulation of air, the heat is much more agreeable and healthful than that produced by the common radiators. The heaters are made circular or rectangular in shape, of any size or height, as required, and can be fitted with fresh-air supply attachment in any position. They have been adopted at the United States Military Academy, at West Point, and are now being put in the Navarro apartment buildings on Fifty-ninth street.

Attention is called to the card of John Jennings, carpenter and builder, formerly of the well-known firm of Jennings & Brown. Mr. Jennings has been in the trade for the past twenty years. It is sufficient recommendation to say that he has done the carpentry work to the Presbyterian Hospital, Dr. Hall's church, the Young Men's Christian Association, the Manhattan Market, the Navarro buildings and the Chelsea apartment house. He has just removed from his old place, corner of Avenue B and Eighteenth street, to No. 810 Fifth street.

Mr. M. J. Hynes, the well-known bookseller, has just removed from 229 Broadway to more extensive quarters, and now occupies the commodious store on the ground floor of Temple Court, No. 3 Beekman street. His large and varied stock of new and second-hand books, including the most valuable encyclopædias, histories, biographies, etc., with his own extensive and accurate knowledge of the standing of the different editions, should appeal strongly to intending purchasers of every variety of taste and purse, while those having books to sell could nowhere meet with juster appreciation or more liberal dealing.

Charles Schwartz, carpenter and builder, makes a specialty of breweries and icehouses. He does all kinds of carpenter work for stores, offices and other buildings. Architects and builders are referred to his card in another column. It may be added that he also contracts for alterations to buildings. His shop is at Nos. 426 and 428 East Ninety-second street.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Nobis & Reid, stair builders. They were between ten and fifteen years with the well-known firm of C. Graham & Sons, and are thoroughly practical men. Prompt attention will be paid by them to enquirers and orders at their shop, No. 447 West Forty-fifth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The general monotony of the market for Common Hards continues unbroken, and we find it a very difficult matter to "draw out" from the Trade anything that can be called really new or interesting. Very much the former general range of quotations has been retained during the week with a slightly variable tone, the fluctuations amounting to 12½ or possibly 25c. per M, according to momentary influences governing the necessities of buyer or seller, but, as a rule, the feeling was easy and the position does not show the full strength of last week. This may be attributed in the main to the full run of supplies, the arrivals having proven very liberal, and once or twice the accumulation of unsold barge loads proving large enough to create a little uneasiness. Many of the Trade, however, seem to think that in view of this ample supply the market has stood up very well, and are hopeful that cost will not further greatly recede, especially as about all the evidences go to show that the poorer portion of the stock from yard has been pushed forward, and what is left is likely to show more attractive quality and afford a better basis for the display of firmness. Some doubts over the probable consumption may still be heard, but there is little doubt that some of the heaviest jobs will go forward and a great many brick will be wanted during the season, and particularly so should cost not run up to a very full figure. By Monday next it is expected that pretty much all manufacturers will have resumed work with no other understanding, we believe, than that there shall be a reaction of 25 per cent. in the amount of the output. Current reports in naming prices generally agree upon $6.25@6.75 for "Up Rivers," and $6 50@7.25 for Haverstraws, with the outside figures somewhat difficult to realize. The effects of that "lunch" over in Brooklyn are still felt upon the market for sales, and the reduced consumption keeps business in a slow and unsatisfactory condition. Stock is not crowded quite so freely, and $2.50 would probably be inside, but it is rather difficult to exceed $3.00 for the usual run. Something extra might do better and range up to say $4.00 for light Hards, salmon color, etc. Fronts firm and in fair demand for the season.

LATH.—The market has remained quite firm, and the advantage well in sellers' favor. Arrivals during the week have been larger and coming to hand somewhat bunchy; buyers saw a comparatively full accumulation before them and were inclined to stand off. Latterly, however, it has become evident that a large proportion of the receipts were under engagement when they reached port, and finding receivers making no additional offering of importance, dealers have bid with a greater degree of promptness and manifested some anxiety. Nothing sold for less than $2.25, and $2 35 is asked, with the latter rate understood to have been made on local account.

LIME.—No further changes reported on the general market. Arrivals without proving positively excessive, have been quite as full as the market could exhaust, and sellers found it well to accept about old figures. Receivers, however, commence to talk with greater confidence and assert that the recent decline was the last straw, and that all the chances are now in favor of a re-action.

LUMBER.—Considerable irregularity prevails on pretty much all grades, and, as a whole, the market fails to settle upon a sound and healthy basis. The general tendency of business, however, is toward improvement, and this naturally brings with it a hope that values will shake up into firmer position. The least promising stock is yellow pine, but there is nothing really encouraging for spruce, and for the average run of white pine buyers are expecting some advantages, but a gain is likely on some of the hardwoods, and especially choice walnut and ash. Owners of supplies here, at intermediate markets and at primary points, are, as a rule, asking about old rates, but are not selling one-half the quantity of stock they are credited with by some of the alleged market reports of local journals. Distribution from yard makes some growth, but can be fairly and readily met by the accumulation of stock in hand, and dealers seem satisfied with about former rates. River arrivals are adding to the accumulation somewhat, but the parcels are in many instances simply from purchases made last season. Export demand continues very good.

Eastern Spruce has undergone some fluctuation in tone, according to amount of stock offering and the manner in which it was handled by receivers, but, as a rule, the inclination was to favor buyers, and especially so if quality happened to be at all defective. A large percentage of dealers still have a supply on hand from which they meet any call of reasonable or likely proportions, and when they make additions to the accumulation it is with a close adherence to the determination to have the assortment high and attractive. It is therefore only very choice randoms likely to secure full bids, and short and narrow stuff must continue to take the chances, with very poor chances at that. Specials are called for to quite a full extent, and many agents report a comparatively large accumulation of specifications on hand, but not much business accomplished. The trouble appears to be that current bids range much below the asking rates, and cannot be stimulated while the selling interest is equally determined in the refusal to make concessions. Manufacturers claim that they cannot shade further as matters stand, owing to the trouble caused by freshets and full valuation placed on logs. The latter, indeed, in some cases held so high as to receive positive neglect, and quite a number of the mills are as yet almost entirely destitute of supplies for their saws. It is thought, however, that a change one way or the other must come pretty soon. Randoms range from about $13 50 @15.50, to very choice at $16.00, and there has been shown about the usual proportionate difference when any contract for a special cut was closed.

White Pine is talked up very well, indeed rather amusingly so by the reporter of one of our local journals, who obeys the orders of those who run his reports. Outside of the export demand, however, the outlet is very small and uncertain, with buyers decidedly cautious in their movements and operating only against immediate necessities. Reports of liberal purchases in the interior should also be read with more or less caution, as they cannot be positively verified beyond some parcels taken to fill out assortments. Advices from the interior still suggest plenty of logs, but the drives uncertain as yet. Stocks here are holding very well, and orders are filled without much difficulty. We quote $17.50@19 for West India shipping boards; $28@30 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16 50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine picks up a few sales now and then on specials, but there is little or no chance for random unless the quality should be extra attractive, and then the rate would have to be low. The offering from the South has increased somewhat of late and taken more urgent form as the mills have fewer foreign orders to keep them busy. About old figures are named but with the rates simply nominal. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@21.50 per M; Specials, $21@22 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding, $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18 @20 for dressed.

Hardwoods of attractive quality continue generally steady but fine to choice walnut is stiffening, and first-class ash appears to be doing better. The arrivals are moderate of any kind of stock that buyers are likely to handle quickly, but there is too much undesirable stuff for which no fixed market rate can be found. The culls appear to sell, to be sure, but only on snap chances and at variable figures. We quote at wholesale rates by carload as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M.; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $26@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

The exports of lumber from the port of New York during the month of April last, and since January 1, were as follows:

	Feet.
To West Indies	1,830,000
To East Indies	810,000
To Europe	24,000
Total feet	6,260,000
Previously reported this year	21,108,000
Total since Jan. 1, 1884, feet	27,368,000

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending April 30 as follows:

The last week in April has not shown quite so large shipments and sales as the preceding week, but it has been fairly active, with a good attendance of buyers, who report a good business at their homes. The stock on the yards here is less than it has been in many years, and will need replenishing as soon as the canals are open. This will be sometime early in the coming week, and the superintendent has allowed the locks at Lockport to be opened on the 3d proximo, that light boats may be in Tonawanda ready to load on the 5th. This will enable shippers to clear out the large quantity of pine which was wintered there and make room for receipts from Michigan by lake. It is hoped that the first trips on the canal may be "rapid transits," so that the stock and assortment may soon be of larger volume. Spruce and hemlock have been kept in fair supply by rail receipts, and some reduction in price is probable when the boats arrive from the North. Hardwoods are in good assortment, and all kinds of seasoned lumber can be obtained. The supply of shingles and lath is sufficient for the present demand, and the receipts will now continue both by canals and rail. The only change in prices is in lath, which has changed to $4.75.

THE WEST.

The Lumberman and Manufacturer, Minneapolis, Minn., as follows:

The situation in the Northwest is interesting. The stocks of lumber are now far below a reasonable supply to answer the demand until August the 1st, which is as early a date as any dry stuff can be got out of the new crop of logs. Still there is no actual advance in prices, although holders of dry stuff are growing firmer every day. The weather continues dry, and the streams are all down almost to low water point. No driving is being done on any of the tributaries of the Mississippi, except on the Black River. A splash from the Little Falls dam on Chippewa has started the old logs and some 50,000,000 feet will perhaps be run into Beef Slough, but no driving is being done on the brooks. Some few sales of logs are reported from the St. Croix and Black River stock running from $8.00 to $11.00 for ordinary logs which have been carried over. New of the same class ought to bring nearly $1 better.

The turnout at Onalaska so far is about 15,000,000, and at the Slough 40,000,000, with nearly as many more on the St. Croix. No man can figure out where there is a thirty days' stock of logs for the mills in sight, and no one expects now to see any new logs within that time.

The Chicago Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

CHICAGO.

AT THE DOCKS.—It will doubtless surprise some to learn that during the week ended Wednesday night 98 cargoes of lumber had put in an appearance at this port. Yet such is the fact, and the number is more than double that of the corresponding time last year. Of course, by far the larger number of loads arriving have gone directly to the yards. Nearly all the dry lumber over the lake is being purchased to arrive, and though many transactions are negotiated by the commission dealers, the lumber that thus changes hands does not figure as dock sales. One house has, within the last ten days, sold 4,000,000 feet of east side stock, and it will all go up the branches without so much as a wink at the market docks.

It is to be noticed that less dry dimension is being offered on the market this year than was the case last spring. Nearly all that has shown up at the docks has been green. Several cargoes of dry inch lumber have been offered and sold on the market.

The large number of loads were of green piece stuff, and it dragged until Tuesday afternoon before it fairly got started. Buyers were not plenty, and hung off when they were asked to pay $9 a thousand, though that price was fully $1 lower than last spring's prices on short and $1.50 on long stuff. At last the fleet was cleared off, and there was much speculation about prices. The commission house that sold the most of the dimension gave $9 as the selling price, and probably the more desirable did go at that figure; but it was an exceedingly mellow nine dollars, and probably with a 60 days' time and no interest, as sauce to the trade. Without doubt dimension has been sold within the week at $8.75 and $8.50. There are few who have the hardihood to say that short dimension will sell higher than $8.50 within fifteen days from date, and probably plenty will change hands at $8. The Straits of Mackinaw are now open, and soon the coarse Norway of the Huron shore will begin to put in an appearance. This kind of stock will likely sell as low as $8, and perhaps lower.

The No. 2 boards and strips, mostly dry, that have been disposed of at the docks have sold for $11 to $11.50. Medium stock is worth from $13 to $15 50. Some No. 1 stock has been sold here, but more over the lake. It is worth here $16.50 to $18, a price not greatly differing from that prevailing last spring. Large blocks have been sold over the lake at $15 to $16.50.

The Bay City Lumberman's Gazette as follows:

Navigation is now open, and several tows have left the river for Ohio and the East, lumber laden, and more are taking on lumber preparatory to a start. The clearances on Saturday embraced about 5,000,000 feet of lumber, besides lath and shingles; and it is expected that over 35,000,000 feet of lumber will float out of the river during the present week. A large number of the mills are actively engaged, and the balance will commence as soon as the Tittabawassee Boom Company, which commenced rafting yesterday (Monday, April 28th), can furnish them with logs.

Prices remain firm, the same as usual for the better grades of lumber, and the demand exceeds the supply. Coarse lumber is moving as well as it has at any time since the close of navigation last year. It is claimed by commission men that the quoted prices on the latter class of stock are being shaded to quite a considerable extent, while the mill men insist that it is very trifling, and some of them even maintain that they are getting the same figures as have been reported in the quotations. The Gazette inclines to the opinion that concessions are being granted to buyers of course lumber, which will in a measure account for the quite extensive movement of the same.

Since the last issue of the Gazette, sales of lumber have come to the surface as follows: C. H. Bradley last week purchased for eastern parties 1,000,000 feet of box lumber; 1,000,000 feet was sold at East Saginaw to Buffalo parties at $9, $18 and $38, and 1,000,000 feet to New York parties at the same price; S. C. Bryant, of Tawas City, on Wednesday sold 600,000 white pine and 300,000 Norway strips; also on Friday 1,250,000 feet of lumber to Toledo parties. Sales have been reported at East Saginaw as follows: A. T. Bliss, 480,000 feet at $8.50, $15.50 and $26; 1,000,000 feet was also sold to Ohio parties on Tuesday at $8, $16 and $36; and also 175,000 feet at $8.25, $16.50 and $36. Saginaw City parties also sold 700,000 feet, figures not ascertained. Albany parties also purchased 850,000 feet a $9, $18 and $38, and 400,000 feet at $8.50, $17 and $37.

SOUTH AMERICA.

The News from Rio Janeiro by the week's steamer reports:

Pitch Pine—Arrived Corfu from Pensacola 278,122 feet, which were sold at 37$000 per dozen. The market is flat under advice of considerable shipments on the way. Arrivals in March, 890,789 feet, against nil in March, 1883. White Pine—No arrivals since our last report, but there are several parcels nearly due. Brokers quote nominally at 12$ rs per foot. Arrivals in March, 117,066 feet, against 497,039 feet in March, 1883. Spruce Pine—No transactions. No arrivals during March nor during same month of 1883. Swedish Pine—Arrived Maria 242 dozen from Stockholm, which, as well as the 491 dozen per St. Clements, were sold at between 36$000 and 37$000 per dozen. Market firm. Arrivals in March, 733 dozen, against nil in March, 1883.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trade's Journal says:

Several months ago there was some correspondence in our columns on the subject of California redwood. It was proved there was a class of redwood growing on the California or western coast of America, but doubt was cast upon the possibility of it ever reaching our market, because of the distance and necessary cost of freight. We find on reference to Edward Rayner & Co.'s catalogue of April 10, that they have in Liverpool 48 pieces 12 to 20 ft. long, 10 to 26 in. wide, and 2½ to 3 in. thick; and 92 pieces 11 to 16 ft. long, 14 to 8½ in. wide, and 1 to 1¾ in. thick. We have not seen this class of wood, but those interested in the matter will no doubt be pleased to learn samples are within their reach.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot has met with a somewhat irregular demand of only moderate volume, and the tone of the market was weak throughout. Openly, the offering appeared to be light, but supplies have in all cases been available on call, with owners quite ready operators. Lake is quoted at 14½@14¾c. and other brands 13¾@14c. Manufactured copper shows about average animation, with little or no change in the general line of prices. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size, over 16 oz. per sq. foot, 23c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq foot, 25c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 28c. per lb.; do., do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq foot, 30c. per lb.; circles less than 84 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; 84 inches in diameter and over, 29c per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb.; locomotive fire-box sheets, 24c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq foot, 21c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 24c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig has secured a fair amount of custom, but mainly for parcels to arrive, on which rates were somewhat unsettled. Spot goods, however, remain under control and show a pretty steady tone for principal brands. We quote at $19.75 @22 50 per ton, according to brand, etc. American Pig is rarely called for in large lots, but for small average invoices quite a fair market can be found. Offerings have been ample in quantity and assortment, and sellers in pretty much all cases were well satisfied with former values. We quote $20.00 @21.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry, $18.50@19.50 for No. 2 X do. do., and $18.00@18 75 for gray forge. Old rails have shaded a small fraction on cost, and found only a moderately active demand. Supplies, however, are carefully offered and there is no evidence of pressure to realize. Scrap iron has met with only mod rate sale and shows more or less irregularity on the general line of values. We quote at $21.00@22 00 for tee rails, $22.50 @23.50 for double heads, $22.00@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap ex ship, $23.50@24.00 for selected do., $18.00@ 19.00 for old car wheels, and $22.00@23.00 for crop ends. Steel rails very slow of sale and indeed no important contracts have of late been closed. Former prices are asked in pretty much all cases, but sellers occasionally intimate that a shading would be made to increase business. We quote at $33 00@34 00 per ton, according to delivery. Manufactured Iron has found about the average store trade and also secured a fair number of contracts. Sellers, however, appear slightly disappointed with the market in some instances, and indulge in moderate complaint. On the general range of cost, slight shadings have in one or two instances been granted. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.00@2.10c. from store, and Refined at 2.10@2 4c.; Rods, round and square 2 20@2.35c.; Bands, 2.50@2 60c.; Norway Nail Rods 5¼ @6c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.80@3.10c for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig has been rather active of late, but less owing to force of demand than to the desire on the part of holders to realize, and considerable pressure was brought to bear upon the market. The very natural result is to be found in a reduced line of cost and at the shading the feeling still appears quite unsettled, with buyers by no means anxious operators. We quote at about 3⅝@3¾c. per lb., according to brand and the size of invoice handled. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar, 5c.; pipe, 6¼c.; and sheet, 7¼c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig found a somewhat better demand from consumers, and that in connection with speculative movements based on favorable foreign advices has given the market a comparatively cheerful tone and strengthened values. We quote at 18⅞@19¼c. for Straits and Australian, 19½@19⅝ for English, and 2 ¼@20⅜ for Banca. Tin plates have been less active than during the early portion of last month, and with a pretty fair offering of stock the tone was rather easier on most grades. We quote I. C. Charcoal, third class assortment, $5.75@5.85 for Allaway grade, and $6.10@6.20 for Melyn grade; for each additional X add $1.25 and $1.50 respectively; I. C. Coke, $4.75@4.80 for B. V. grade; $4.87½@4.90 for J. B. grade; Charcoal terne, $4 75@5.10 for Alaway and Dean grades 14x20; $9.80@10.20 for do. 20x28; Coke terne, $4.55@4.60 for Glais grade 14x20, and $9.50@9.55 for do. 20x28—all in round lots. Spelter somewhat unsettled, with the tone if anything in buyers' favor, as the demand has disappointed holders and some are a little anxious to sell out. We quote at 4½@4¾c. for domestic and foreign, according to brand, quality, etc. Sheet Zinc meeting with a moderately active demand, and ruling steady at 5⅞@ 7c., according to quantity, quality, delivery, etc.

NAILS.—The amount of stock moving is very fair but the development of demand quite erratic and buyers evidently in no great hurry. They have heard the fable of diminishing stock so often of late and never found the least difficulty in getting the quantity wanted, that they now simply move as early as positive necessity may dictate and allow the future to take care of itself. Production is at present quite general and well up to full average capacity, and on prices the position is called steady. Quoted on basis of $2.60 per keg for 10d. to 6d., but 5@10c. less accepted on car lots and a little more charged on small invoices.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The general movement about as full as before. Some buyers have disappeared but others at once took their place, and between local and interior outlets a good amount of stock finds an outlet. That, and an indisposition to engage in any severe competition, gives sellers a fair advantage and maintains values very well. Linseed Oil meeting with a good average demand and holding a steady position, as the supply is not allowed to become excessive. Quoted at 57@57½c. for domestic, and 58@59c. for foreign. Spirits Turpentine not very active, but has strengthened somewhat, and closes at 32@34c. per gallon, according to size of invoice, etc.

PITCH AND TAR.—It is considered a seasonable market for all good lots of stock and holders quite generally refuse to operate below former rates. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

TERMS:

ONE YEAR, in advance, SIX DOLLARS.

C. W. SWEET, 191 Broadway.

J. T. LINDSEY, Business Manager.

MAY 10, 1884.

A picture of the new Real Estate Exchange, corner of Liberty street and Liberty court, will be given as a supplement to THE RECORD AND GUIDE on May 24. As there will be a large extra edition published, this will afford an excellent opportunity for real estate dealers, builders, furnishers of material, architects and others interested in realty, to make their wants and wishes known through the medium of our advertising columns.

A third edition of Benner's Prophecies has just been published. We have referred so often to this remarkable book that inquiries have been sent to us from time to time to know where it could be procured. We are now able to announce that it will be for sale at THE RECORD AND GUIDE office after next Wednesday. Its price will be one dollar. Every one interested in speculative sales of stocks, cotton, grain or provisions, cannot afford to be without this interesting brochure.

The defeat of the Morrison tariff bill would have been the signal for a spurt in prices on the Stock Exchange, for there were many factors favoring a hopeful view of the immediate situation, but nowadays all the accidents favor the bears, and the Marine Bank disaster came like a thunderclap in a clear sky and sent prices rattling down again. There is no immediate hope for the market, but a rally in prices will certainly come some time within the next six weeks, unless the unexpected should again happen. Should the Republican party make a wise nomination for the presidency, it would probably be the signal for an advance in prices, the same as occurred when Garfield was selected in June, 1880.

The new surface railway law is not all that it should be, but it will be a benefit to New York in the long run. It concedes altogether too much to the existing horse car monopolies, and does not provide for a system of exchange checks which would allow a passenger to reach any part of the city for five cents. Then it does not provide for other than horse power. The plan proposed by the Rapid Transit Commission would have given us a complete system of intermural travel at a uniform rate of five cents to any part of the city. There will probably be a legal contest as to the rights of the newly formed cable company under the law of 1875. However it may end, New York city is tolerably well assured of abundant means of internal transit. The west side and the northern parts of New York will no longer be neglected because of the want of horse car facilities. Owners of realty are to be congratulated upon the prospect.

The elevated roads seem to be in a worse muddle than ever. It was considered monstrous for Gould, Sage and Field to attempt to coerce the Metropolitan stockholders into taking less than the terms of their lease, without their consent. But what is to be said of the new arrangement, by which the New York Elevated Company proposes to give 6 per cent. to the Manhattan stockholders, who really own nothing but a charter and two leases, the obligations of which it cannot fulfill? There is no equity in the transaction, and so the courts will doubtless hold, whenever the matter is adjudicated. There is a silly law on our statute books prohibiting the consolidation of competing roads, and this enactment is to blame for the present legal tangle in the elevated road system. The Manhattan stock was created for the purpose of running the two roads under one management, as clearly ought to be done and must be done in some final settlement of the imbroglio. The sensible thing would be for the three companies to refer the matter to arbitrators and abide by their decision. So long as the litigation is continued in the courts the stockholders of all the companies are being plundered for the benefit of the legal harpies who are being paid such enormous bills to continue this senseless quarrel.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE alone of the city papers insisted that any corporation hereafter chartered, in using our streets, should be forced to pay a portion of its gross receipts into the city treasury. In the new street railway law it is provided that every company organized under the act shall pay three per cent. of its gross earnings for three years, and five per cent. after five years, into the city treasury. Had this provision been inserted in the charters of all our ferry, gas and horse-car companies, the city would be relieved of at least one-third of its taxes. But better late than never.

And now General Grant thinks the constitution of the United States ought to be revised. The presidential term, he thinks, should be extended to seven years. The laws relating to the election of a President should be revised so as to avoid any such entanglement as occurred in 1876, and then when appropriations are not passed through a congressional deadlock, those enacted by a previous Congress should remain in force. When THE RECORD AND GUIDE first suggested the meeting of a national convention to revise our very imperfect fundamental law there was scarcely any response, but recently the necessity of such a revision is being very generally recognized.

The failure to pass the Morrison tariff bill puts the Democracy in an equivocal position before the country. Revenue reform was the only live issue they had to present to the country, for the attitude of the party on civil service reform was, to say the least, unfortunate. Nor are they to blame for this. It is too much to ask of any party that it should pledge itself, after carrying an election, to keep their opponents in office. If the Democracy can rise to the height of the great argument they will, on the meeting of their National Convention, adopt a stiff revenue reform platform, nominate Carlisle or Morrison for President, and appeal to Free Trade Republicans for support. If there is any equivocation on the main issue, the Republicans will carry the election with a hurrah. As we have said before, when the Democrats next wish to reform our tariff they should adopt the tactics of Mr. Theodore Roosevelt, and effect the reforms by piecemeal. No complete tariff reform bill has ever passed Congress, and probably never will. The interests attacked are so powerful that they cannot be successfully overcome en masse. All attempts made to reform our city charter in a wholesale way have met with ignominious failure. To divide and conquer was the maxim of the municipal reformers, and their example should be followed by the tariff reformers.

New Real Estate Investors.

It is a notable circumstance that Samuel J. Tilden, while selling his Union Pacific and Western Union, is beginning to purchase real estate. In our official list of conveyances it will be noticed that Mr. Tilden has recently taken title to the house No. 38 West Thirty-eighth street, and it is understood that others have been bargained for and will soon be officially recorded. But this is not the only conspicuous case of a disposition to leave Wall street and invest in real property on this island. Only a few years back, when our merchants and other business men made money in their several occupations, they went to Wall street and not only took "flyers" in the current speculations but invested largely of their surplus in standard securities. But Wall street is no longer an attraction, while the real estate market is. The members of the firm of Arnold, Constable & Co. are all large investors in real estate and have been for some years. Isaac Stern, of the firm of Stern Brothers, has recently purchased the block bounded by St. Nicholas and Seventh avenues and One Hundred and Eleventh and One Hundred and Twelfth streets. The brewers of this city and the vicinity, all of whom are getting very rich from the increasing popularity of lager beer, have been investing heavily of late years in New York realty. Among the names which frequently appear in the Register's office records are Geo. Ehret, Jacob Ruppert, Tracy & Russell and Henry Liebmann, of Brooklyn. Among the bankers who have been large investors recently are J. H. Schiff and Henry Bischoff. James McCreery, the dry-goods merchant, has recently bought a block bounded by Fifth and Madison avenues and One Hundred and Fifth and One Hundred and Sixth streets. Pomeroy & Plummer, the woollen merchants, have purchased largely of late, as have also E. G. Blackford, Fish Commissioner and merchant; Henry Welsh, grocer; E. D. Farrell, the furniture dealer; B. F. Spink, the jeweler; M. & H. Schedlinsky, furriers; J. Plunket, cigar manufacturer; C. A. H. Bartlett, lawyer; Frank Tilford, of Park & Tilford, grocers and liquor dealers; Henry S. Strauss, corsets; Stephen Barker, rubber goods; Hotchkiss, Field & Co., contractors; John E. Kaughran, dry-goods, and John F. Halsted, president of Fireman's Insurance Company.

This list might be indefinitely extended, but it shows "that all sorts and conditions of men" are investing in business and other property on this island. Not only are these new buyers, but the old estates are adding to their possessions. The Astors are constantly in the market. Amos R. Eno is a steady purchaser, and John H. Sherwood buys—but never sells—vacant property.

These facts go to show that men who have been successful in every department of business are all agreed on one point, that New York real estate not only offers a safe but an attractive field for money investments. The rich and all who are luxuriously inclined, from every part of the Union, find their way to New York. Our places of amusement are equal to the best in London and Paris. Our city has become attractive from every point of view. It is the great summer watering place as well as the choicest of winter residences. No other city can afford such an opportunity for a business man, or those who want to be interested or amused. It is the headquarters, too, of all speculative enterprises. Our Produce, Cotton, Mining, Petroleum, Mercantile, Coffee, Metal and other Exchanges vie with the stock market itself in the variety and magnitude of their transactions. A great Real Estate Exchange will soon be in operation, and then, more than ever, will dealings in realty become popular and profitable.

Around the Produce Exchange.

While the enormous building of the Produce Exchange has been under construction we have from time to time offered such comments upon its architecture as seemed to be called for. Now that it is completed and opened, there is nothing in these to be modified, and nothing to be added to them, except to remark upon the singularity of treatment by which it has been attempted to convert the obscure and secluded rear of the building into the most monumental, indeed the only monumental, portion of the design. A tower which is purely monumental has been built in the rear, and not even at the corner but withdrawn up an alley. On the north side of this tower is a considerable area of ground which has been reserved apparently for the purpose of securing a good light for the east side of the building. This space is converted into a paved plaza, with the heating apparatus of the building underneath, and has been laid out with broad flights of granite steps at the north end, and heavy balustraded railings of the same material. This might constitute a dignified approach if it were at the principal front of the building or even faced a broad street. But it can be gained or even seen only through a low vaulted passage at one end or an alley at the other, so that it is amusingly incongruous with the plainness of the entrances of the principal fronts; as if one were to lavish all the decoration of his house upon the kitchen door.

The tower seems to be purely monumental, since an edifice of this kind, considered merely as a dwelling for a janitor, must be admitted to be extravagant. It contains a clock, to be sure, but by reason of the sequestered situation of the tower the utility of the clock will be confined to the people who approach the building from the rear. Considered as a monumental tower its situation is particularly unfortunate, since from no point of view does it dominate the building, or seem even to belong to the building except by the similarity of color and treatment. By itself, however, it is an impressive object by its size and massiveness, and in some measure by its design also. In general form it suffers, like the building to which it is adjoined, from having no visible roof, and this privation is emphasized instead of being relieved by the structure at its centre, which makes the tower look even more like an unfinished edifice than it would otherwise appear. From the basement, which is pierced with an arch opening into a tunnel vault through the tower, up to the clock stage, the only relief to the solid square shaft is afforded by the openings which follow the line of the stairway, and by the string courses which run through, forming the springing course of one opening and the sill course of the opening next above. On a small scale, in a building treated expressively and picturesquely, as the Produce Exchange eminently is not, this is often a very attractive feature, but it is scarcely a motive for the treatment of a tower of this size attached to a building treated with this pseudo-classical formality and symmetry. The clock stage is scarcely lighter or more open than the shaft below, though it has an apparent balcony in each face; but it is very much enriched by panelling below the springing of the tower arches and by decorated spandrils and panels above. This work is perhaps the best detail in the building, abstractly considered, if detail can be abstractly considered. It is also very well adjusted in scale to its height, and being a visible inlay it is much more appropriate to terra cotta than the preposterously projecting cornices, which are the most conspicuous details of the main building.

During the progress of the great building, its effect upon real estate in the neighborhood has been anticipated by the erection of a number of warehouses and office buildings in the neighborhood. Just below the Exchange a seven or eight-story building has been erected which, by contrast with the excellent warehouse we noticed last week near the Brooklyn Bridge, shows how desirable it is to have an artist to design even the most prosaic buildings. Without a single ornament, as we then saw, and simply by the disposition of parts and the emphasis of an ordinary construction an excellent effect has been produced. This building has some ornament, notably a cornice and parapet in terra cotta or tin painted to that effect, and very bad ornament it is. Otherwise it consists merely of a basement with arches in granite and brick, and a superstructure in red brick alone, with segmental arches and jambs slightly projected from the plane of the wall, apparently with the intention of producing an effect of depth which is not produced, but might easily have been produced by setting the windows back a few inches and permitting the thickness of the wall to be felt. The openings are not grouped at all, nor modelled at all, and the result is a very thin and stupid looking box.

In Beaver street, just below the Exchange, there is a 25-foot front in blue stone and red brick, which is a typical example of what a commercial building should not be. It is a house front designed in the Dutch domestic Renaissance with the bloated grotesqueness of that style, which has a charm in a dwelling when it is done with spirit, or even in a shop front which is also a house front, such as is often found in Germany and the Low countries. But nothing could be less appropriate to a modern place of business in Beaver street. The "Ticker" might as well be set to grinding out old-fashioned madrigals. The quaint ornamention is worse than thrown away. Besides it is not good of its kind, and though it is worse on the front of an office building than it would be on a house front, it would be a bad house front in the most appropriate situation that could be chosen for it.

On the other hand, the German Society has just finished a building on lower Broadway, which is distinctly a place of business. Three brick piers enclose two tiers, four stories high, of square-headed openings all alike, with brown stone lintels and mullions. There is no ornament and indeed there is no art about the building. It is not a particularly agreeable object to contemplate, but it is so simple and straightforward that it cannot be offensive or ridiculous, and it is absolutely without pretension.

Was Real Estate Speculation to Blame?

The Commercial Bulletin is usually wise and discriminating in discussing trade and financial questions, but in the following paragraph it does not show the same intelligence in real estate matters:

> The suspension yesterday of the Marine National Bank, owing to the speculations of its president in real estate, is a significant symptom. Following the failure two weeks ago of a prominent private operator in the same line of business, it indicates the strained condition of real estate speculation which has long been patent to disinterested observers. It is a rule in all great commercial reactions that real estate is the last to feel the effects of the general decline in values; and hence experienced observers who remember the series of events started by the panic of 1873 have looked for such a fall in the values of real estate as has already occurred in respect to commodities and manufactures at large. Real estate is the last interest that could be expected to escape the general fall in values; for in nothing has there been such an excess as in the structure of dwellings, flats, office structures and public buildings, and in those of the more costly and luxurious kind. Nothing has been learned from the manifest over-production on every hand nor from the prevailing depression, and the construction of new buildings is, up to to-day, carried on with an energy which has kept wages and materials from sympathizing with the general decline. But, at last, the inevitable crisis appears to have come when lenders refuse to advance on such undertakings; and that is likely to be the beginning of the end.

There is a curious mixture of truth and error in the above. The Marine Bank failed not because of the real estate ventures of its president but on account of the reckless and dishonest conduct of one of the members of the firm of Grant & Ward, a concern which had nothing to do with real estate. Mr. Fish's investments in real estate were very large and generally wise although the heavy mortgages he has recently assumed caused much comment in real estate circles. His bank would undoubtedly have pulled through all right were it not for the reckless overcertification of the checks of the junior member of the firm of Grant & Ward.

If the Bulletin would consult the tables given in last week's RECORD AND GUIDE, it would see that the dealings in realty has been so far perfectly legitimate. The proportion of the mortgage indebtedness now being created is far less than in former years and although the monies invested are the largest known in the history of the city, it is notorious that prices are not high and that there is no speculative fever. In another article we have pointed out the fact that our business community is investing in real estate instead of in stocks and Wall street securities. It may be that too much money is being put into large city apartment houses and business offices but errors of judgment of this kind are confined to a few wealthy persons and institutions. Investors are showing good judgment and are purchasing productive store and residence property. There is no danger of real estate being overdone until the price of unimproved lots is swollen to an unnatural figure. So far vacant property is slow of sale and does not command high prices.

A surface railway on Forty-second street is now in order. An organization has been effected, and property-holders are being requested to sanction the laying of the rails. There ought to be no impediment to the early construction of this desirable improvement. A Forty-second street road would cross all the principal city tracks at right angles, and would furnish greatly-needed accommodations to down-town as well as up-town residents. A surface road on the Boulevard will doubtless soon be projected. It is very much required on the west side, and the motive power should be something swifter than horses. The Cable Company would do well to come to some terms with the horse-car companies so as to give our citizens the advantage of the recent improvements in motive power. A railroad is also projected on Broadway which is a desirable thing in itself, as it will probably clear that thoroughfare of omnibusses, but under the law no provision is made for giving anything to the city treasury for the franchise. In the general railway law, vetoed by Governor Cornell, provision was made that no road should be built on Broadway, unless the company obtaining the charter paid at least $700,000 therefor. This provision raised a clamor against the bill in the city press, as it was claimed the charter was worth at least $2,000,000. The company now organized will pay nothing. But, after all, the extension of our surface road system will be of great benefit to New York.

Our Prophetic Department.

POLITICIAN—Name the standard-bearer to be selected by the Republican National Convention which meets in Chicago.

SIR ORACLE—Robert Todd Lincoln, of Illinois, the present Secretary of War and the son of Abraham Lincoln, of blessed memory.

POLITICIAN—Is not that rather a bold prediction, Sir Oracle? The outcome of a national convention is apt to be as inscrutable as the verdict of a petty jury. Do you feel quite sure you are right?

SIR O.—Why, of course not. There is one factor in the case which is lacking, and that is the estimate of the inside wire-pullers as to Lincoln's pliability. If they believe him to be so honest and high-minded that he will agree to no bargains and make no secret pledges, he will not be the nominee. The personal interests are so enormous that the politicians cannot afford to put a man into the field who cannot be manipulated and who won't listen to what they call reason. This is why men like General Sherman are utterly unavailable as a candidate in the national convention. But Lincoln has all the characteristics of a dark horse. His name and family are in his favor. He is a quiet, reticent gentleman, who has the reputation of being an excellent executive officer. He is uncommitted upon any of the vexed questions of the day. There is nothing to be explained away in his utterances or his actions. He is in no sense a brilliant man, and our whole history shows that the American people have a profound prejudice against voting for great statesmen, orators or editors. They prefer a third-rate lawyer, who is the reverse of brilliant, or a military man who knows how to hold his tongue.

POLITICIAN—How about Blaine?

SIR O.—I do not think he has a ghost of a chance. He is running, I think, for the sole purpose of making a trade for himself and his friends with some candidate whom he will select. The business men of the country do not like Blaine. They regard him as unsafe. For myself, I should not object to his nomination. He is an able and a strong man, thoroughly versed in public affairs, and a good judge of men. With the responsibility of power, I believe he would make a reasonably safe President. Yet were he nominated stocks would fall in value, and the election of a Republican President would be imperilled.

POLITICIAN—Sometime since you thought well of Arthur. Has he no chance?

SIR O.—Not being able to secure his own State would kill any ordinary candidate. But Chester A. Arthur is exceptionally gifted as a manipulator of political forces. He is secretive, fertile in expedients, and knows how to influence votes by indirect means. While it is doubtful, very doubtful, he may after all secure the prize by some unexpected coup de politique.

POLITICIAN—You admire President Arthur, I believe?

SIR O.—Yes and no; he is a gentleman and displays rare tact in dealing with public men and affairs. There is no danger of foreign wars or any startling variations in the politics of the nation while he is at the helm of affairs. The United States will have no history while he is in power, nor will his administration ever be memorable for anything great. I confess I do not like the composition of his Cabinet. Our Secretary of State is a very commonplace person. Despite the puffs of the newspapers, I do not see that Gresham or any of the others are more than very ordinary politicians. Chandler is the one able man in the administration, and his moral character is below par. The present Cabinet was made up so as to keep the real Republican chiefs in the background, and Chandler was secured because he was Blaine's right hand man in manipulating the political field. President Arthur has been a candidate from the beginning of his administration. He played what he thought was a master card in inducing Folger to run for Governor of the State. The tremendous defeat of the latter, however, it seems to me, settles the question as to the impossibility of President Arthur succeeding himself. I think the real struggle in the convention will be between the Blaine and Arthur men, neither of whom will expect to nominate their chiefs, but both of which will aim to name the successful candidate.

POLITICIAN—What have you to say about Edmunds and Logan?

SIR O.—Logan would not run here in the East, and Edmunds comes from too insignificant estate to make him an available candidate. The nominee will be Lincoln if he is considered safe by the politicians, or else some other dark horse in the interest of Arthur or Blaine.

Concerning Men and Things.

While General Grant has shown himself to be a military leader of the first order, he is now, as he always was, a tyro in business affairs. After he resigned from the army he endeavored to make his living as a farmer, a leather merchant and in other occupations, but he invariably failed. He was a very poor man at the beginning of the civil war. After he became famous he developed a curious admiration for successful business men, and he bestowed favors whenever he could upon men like the late A. T. Stewart and other noted millionaires. Since the war he has been very unfortunate in his business ventures. His difficulty through life seems to be in his inability to distinguish rogues from honest men. Entirely trustworthy himself, and with strong personal attachments, he has confided in people who have betrayed his trust. His last experience with Ward is but the repetition of similar mistakes of judgment in the past. The General's friends should see to it that he has nothing to do with business hereafter. His great reputation should not be sullied by another such fiasco as that attending the revelations of the doings of the firm of Grant & Ward. It will be found that Ward's doings were probably as nefarious as those of Bonner & Netter, indeed he seems to have faithfully copied those worthies, and the fact that none of the Grant family understood what he was doing shows that they are all lacking in ordinary business intelligence.

N. T. Theiblien, so well known under his signature of "Rigolo" in the Sun, has made one hundred and thirty thousand dollars lately in an operation in wheat. He has been a bear on everything for three years past and has amassed quite a snug fortune. From choice he remains a slave to the pen and continues to edit the Hour as well as contribute "mid-week echoes" for the Sun. This gentleman has a history. A Frenchman by birth, he is a master of a good English style and could give lessons in writing to many native-born editors. He has sold books in St. Petersburg, and was a correspondent for the London and New York papers during the Carlist civil war in Spain. Later he became a contributor to the Pall Mall Gazette and an attache of the Herald. He has also done much literary work for other papers. He has been a daring operator in stocks and grain and has at last been successful in becoming a rich man. He has been a faithful follower of James R. Keene until lately. Mr. Theiblien states that when he came to this country he did not know one playing card from another, nor could he distinguish by taste wine from ale or spirits, facts which probably account for his success in literature and business.

Some years ago the writer of this paragraph advised Mr. Whitelaw Reid to add to the attractions of the Tribune by publishing a pictorial supplement. But the editor of that paper could not see his way clear to venture upon so great an innovation. Since then Truth, the Star, the Morning Journal and the World have been testing the attractiveness of the woodcuts in their news columns. It has met with such favor that the World has become a daily illustrated paper, though the woodcuts are the veriest caricatures, because of the impossibility of getting a good print on a rotary type press. The woodcuts in the magazines and weekly papers are often specimens of very high art, and are printed in a way which the daily papers can never emulate. The Herald has tried to reproduce the pictures from the Paris Salon, but the woodcuts were simply shocking. The journal of the future will undoubtedly be a pictorial one, but the illustrations must be in a supplement, and printed either on stone or in the same way that woodcuts are reproduced by the magazines.

It is a curious fact that Americans have not yet succeeded in establishing a comic illustrated journal. Every year sees some new attempt to imitate the London Punch, but everything of that kind has failed. Life, which is edited with taste and intelligence, still lives, though its future is doubtful. But the Germans have succeeded in a field where the Americans have failed. Puck is prosperous and popular, but all its artists are German. They cannot draw an American face, and their humor is, as a general thing, brutal. The ridicule of Grant, Conkling and Blaine and other statesmen is unspeakably offensive, and it is disgraceful that an American public should tolerate the coarse libels of that paper. It is not generally known, but Nast is also a German, and his treatment of Horace Greeley, Carl Schurtz and other respected American citizens was an outrage on good taste and the amenities of current journalism. Nast was at his best in satirizing the Tweed ring, for whom no treatment of his was too severe.

John Swinton is missed in the make-up of the Sun. He supplied a conservative element and a felicity of expression which is missing from that daily luminary since he has taken to publishing a paper of his own. There are many bright things in John Swinton's Paper, but it does not look as though it had a large constituency behind it. Workingmen care for nothing but good pay and short hours. They have no fancy for discussions of schemes for regenerating the human race, nor fortunately have they any prejudice against the rich. A Vanderbilt and a Gould may be objects of envy, but not of hatred to the ordinary workman. The latter never votes for one of his own class at the polls. He prefers a rich man, an employer or a scurvy lawyer, to any of the orators or editors whom he applauds at a labor mass meeting. Mr. Swinton has made the greatest of personal sacrifices for the workingmen, but were he to run for any office with the lowest kind of a rum seller for a competitor, the latter would get all the votes from the day laborers.

Home Decorative Notes.

—Now that summer is drawing near a good plan for the army of flower lovers is to have one or two window boxes, they offer an easy method of gardening, and are a source of comfort to those who are debarred the pleasure of an ordinary flower garden, a collection of fuchias is charming, they can be left to their own devices, and neither trimmed nor trained. Bigonias are suitable plants for this kind of gardening, and the brilliant colors with a mixture of ferns add grace and beauty to the surroundings. Sweet peas and mignonette are always acceptable, while the Madeira vines clambering over a slender lattice will wreathe the windows with their own peculiar drapery of cool green leaves and faintly sweet flowers.

—India pongee hangings may be ornamented with wide horizontal stripes in darning of gold and gay colored silk thread.

—The Japanese wall paper, with strange and curious designs in brilliant colorings, is extremely effective for certain rooms.

—A very odd chair back has a centre of pongee about six inches square, embroidered with lichens, roses, ferns and partridge berries; about this is a border of bright yellow flannel, about six inches in depth, which is caught down with the feather stitch in yellow embroidery silk.

—A living vase may be obtained in the following manner: Take an unglazed terra cotta vase and saturate it in a bucket of water for twenty-four hours, then remove it and scatter over the surface small seeds, completely filling the interstices. In a short time an interesting germination will appear, thus forming a living vase, which is remarkably ornamental.

—Kid embroidery and painting for portieres and hangings is very popular. Bold conventional flowers and leaves cut from kid in soft colors are laid on plush and couched down with silk or gold cord.

—For tapestry work Congress canvas is used and fine embroidery materials are employed. The quarter stitch is the one used and the colors are quaint and subdued.

—Exquisite curtains and portieres are made from strips of silk dresses and trimmings that have outlived their usefulness; the strips are cut from one quarter to half an inch wide and are either bias or straight, of any length and of various colors; allow one pound and one ounce to the square yard; about eleven pounds are required for eight yards of material thirty-five inches wide, wind the silk in balls and carry to any carpet weaver. These draperies are decidedly Oriental in effect.

—Very showy and lovely bureau sets are made of pineapple gauze, with the Japanese lily pattern wrought in darned work.

—Dinner, tea, breakfast and luncheon linens are made as decorative as possible with artistic embroideries in color and gold thread.

—An odd oak picture frame has small flat straw basket covers, gilded, silvered and bronzed, fastened on the frame at intervals of four or five inches. Strange to say the effect is pleasing.

—The fashionable woods employed are mahogany, oak, ash and cherry. The latest novelty in bedroom suites is bronzed oak, with interminglings of color in red and green; marble slabs are used, but are covered with scarfs and draperies of costly fabrics embroidered in warm flowing colors, and not infrequently velvet appliqued on with gold or silver thread.

—A bunch of pond lilies on a large bow of China silk decorates very effectively the left corner of a silvered picture frame.

—It would be impossible, unless entirely blind to a sense of beauty, not to revel in the faultless taste evinced in every department of the establishment of Pottier & Stymus, of Fifth avenue and Forty-second street. The warerooms are filled with the most sumptuous furniture and fabrics; on each floor are samples of all the different styles of art and decoration; portions are set apart to show modes of furnishing rooms and suites according to all the different fashions of epochs and ages, such as are at present imitated and reproduced.

—English oak is used for dining rooms and red oak and San Domingo mahogany for libraries, these are not only employed for the movable pieces of furniture, but for the architectural wood work, the wainscoting, the mantel and its shelves that are built above it, the doors, window frames, etc.

—A very pretty decoration for a square bamboo waste basket is a band of yellow satin ribbon tied around the centre of it and fastened with a square bow and loops, a bunch of apples, berries or cherries may be added, which indeed heightens the effect.

—With the Renaissance style go the new gas fixtures, some in wrought iron, others in polished brass and all with flowing lines and volutes, sometimes suggesting foliage and tendrils from which spring the stems that bear the light.

—The Old Colony rocking chairs, sometimes called Boston rockers, with railed backs and wide arms, are in mahogany and cushioned with satin or plush, a head rest corresponding is tied on with large brilliant bows of wide satin ribbon.

—Among the recent importations is the new unglazed Doulton ware, called the Silicon, which has a fine paste, self-colored in the softest shades of brown ranging from chocolate to a soft cream color, with interminglings of quaint olives, pale blues and gray.

—Everything that money can purchase, ingenuity devise, talent and workmanship execute, is now to be obtained, and gives unbounded pleasure to many happy little hearts. Separate pieces of miniature furniture for dolls' houses are made so large that little girls appropriate them for their own use. Sets of dishes in boxes are tastefully decorated, and there are toilet sets of French china; very attractive table linen is shown with cloth napkins and doilies, all bordered, fringed and folded similar to those used by grown-up housekeepers; cabinets, holding dishes of stone china; well-furnished kitchens—in many even the maid appears—and baskets with complete sets of knives, forks and spoons are among the housekeeping toys that will delight the eyes of little girls, and all fond parents will be fully repaid, interested and gratified by visiting the toy bazaar of Scharles Broe., No. 24 West Twenty-third street.

The Increasing Wealth of New York.

Mr. John H. Sherwood was seen by the writer on the day of the Marine Bank failure.

"I do not believe," said he, "that there will be trouble with any other bank. From all I can learn, every leading financial institution in the city is in a perfectly sound condition. The wealth of New York is steadily increasing through periods of so-called bad as well as good times. It is impossible to tell where this new wealth comes from, but of the fact there can be no dispute. The addition to the income of the large owners of realty is very marked. Take the Astor estate, it was never so valuable, and I believe that the members of the Astor family are puzzled how to invest their surplus profitably. They are perfectly satisfied, I judge, to get five, or even four per cent., for any new investment. The Goelet brothers are increasing in wealth very rapidly, and the same remark is true of the Rhinelanders and the other aggregations of realty on this island. We will never again see the high rates of interest which prevailed previous to resumption. Money is as cheap in New York as in London and Amsterdam, and I do not believe it will ever be much dearer in the future. By the way, I have been reading your "Sir Oracle's" vaticinations in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, and I think he sometimes makes very good guesses, but I do not take stock in his theory that there is any periodical recurrence of panics and good times. These are due to causes which cannot be predicated by any rigid rule."

In the course of the conversation Mr. Sherwood said that enough money had been secured to insure the construction of the elevator building at the corner of One Hundred and Sixteenth street and Eighth avenue. He believed that the region just north of the Central Park and below One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street would be the site for a much finer class of buildings than those recently erected above One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street. He understood that as soon as practicable, the surface track on Madison avenue will be extended from Eighty-sixth street to the Harlem River. He had heard something said about cable power being used on the Fourth and Madison avenue lines.

Realty at Albany.

ALBANY, May 8.

The Governor has approved the general street or surface railroad bill after determined efforts to induce him to veto it. The opposition came only from the Cable Company. Since its approval, the leading men in the Cable Company, including Wallace C. Andrews and William C. Whitney, have filed articles of association, incorporating two companies to build roads under the act; one is for a road the entire length of Fifth avenue from Washington square to Harlem River, the other is for a road on Broadway from the Battery to Fourteenth street. Their attorney, who is here, states that it is not the intention to construct these roads, but the articles have been filed to illustrate what can be done under the bill, and make that law odious by arousing the indignation of the residents of Fifth avenue and those who use that avenue against the law. He further declares the purpose of the cable company to go on with their routes laid out by their commission and contest their rights in the courts. The construction of roads under the Rapid Transit Act of 1875 is not as advantageous to the people as their construction will be under the Surface Road Act just approved. Under the latter, the roads are required to pay to the city three and five per cent. of their gross receipts for all times, but under the Rapid Transit Act the city will receive no revenue.

Elliott F. Shepperd has filed articles of association under the new street railroad, incorporating the New York City Street Railway Company, to construct and operate a road through Forty-second street, also on First avenue from Ninety-second street down, with branches to each ferry on the East River, also on Tenth avenue and West street, with branches to each ferry along that route. The Cable Company's agents assert that this is Vanderbilt's scheme to take possession of some of their routes.

The promoters of the Arcade Railway have returned to Albany to-day to attend a hearing of the Arcade Underground Railroad bill before the Governor to-morrow. There are no indications as yet as to what the Governor will do on this important measure. Its advocates are, however, confident that it will be approved.

The bill revising the building laws of New York, which has been pending in the Legislature ever since the early part of the session, to-day passed the Senate without a vote against it. An effort will be made by Mr. Howe, when it is announced in the Assembly to-morrow, to have it at once advanced to third reading.

The Governor has to-day signed the bill authorizing the Harlem Railroad to acquire the necessary property to add 80 feet on the east side of the Grand Central Depot at Forty-second street. That improvement will go forward.

The bill to acquire the property for the new parks north of the Harlem River, recommended in the report of the Marsh Commission, has passed both Houses and was sent to the Governor to-day. All the parks, places and parkways recommended by that commission are provided for in the bill. The only change in the bill, as drawn by that commission, is in placing the parks under the control of the Park Department. No provision is made for improving the new parks in the bill, simply for the acquirement of the lands. Their improvement is left for the future, the condition and natural lay of the land not requiring any outlay for their improvement for the present. Most of the sites recommended are natural parks without regulation.

The Assembly has adopted the amendments made by the Senate to the County Clerk reform bill. This takes out all provision for the reduction of fees in the searching of titles, and retains the present charges for searches in that office.

A bill has passed the Senate and been ordered to third reading in the Assembly for the construction of an iron foot bridge across the railroad tracks on Fourth avenue at Ninety-eighth street, one-half of the cost to be paid by Vanderbilt's roads.

The act giving the property owners adjacent to the abandoned parade ground on the upper end of Manhattan Island a standing in court, to recover costs and expenses which they were subjected to in connection wit the laying out of the parade ground and its abandonment by the city, has passed both Houses.

The bill conferring the control of Gansevoort Market upon the Comptroller, adding additional land to it, and changing the location of farmers' market wagons, has passed both Houses, the Senate to-day concurring in the Assembly amendments.

The act authorizing the appointment of a commission to consider Dwight Olmstead's plan to facilitate and lessen expenses in the transfer of lands and titles in the cities of this State, to report a bill to the next Legislature for that purpose, yesterday passed the Assembly.

The act pressed for political purposes to grab patronage, by adding the president of the Fire Department to the new Croton Aqueduct Commission, has got through both Houses. It can hardly be possible that the Governor will approve this measure, and thus place more office-holders than citizens in that board.

The act changing the name of Reservoir square at Forty-second street to Bryant Park has reached the Governor.

No action has been taken on the bill for the repavement of Fifth avenue this week.

The act providing for two millions in bonds for the use of the Board of Education in the purchase of land and erection of new school buildings has passed the Senate and ordered to third reading in the Assembly. The mandatory provision was stricken out in the Assembly and the issue of the bonds left to the discretion of the Comptroller, with the approval of a majority of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment.

The bill for the purchase of Riker's Island in Long Island Sound and its use by the Commissioners of Charities and Correction was to-day approved by the Governor, and the act authorizing the Commissioners of Charities and Correction to acquire title to a portion of Ward's Island was to-day passed in the Assembly.

The bill appointing a commission, of which Professor Adler is one, to examine and report upon the tenement houses in New York, with the view of improvement in their construction, has passed both Houses.

The Legislature has to-day had a sharp controversy over the bill relative to the tenure of office of the commissioners and heads of departments who shall be appointed by Mayor Edson this year. As it passed the Senate sometime since, it provided that the terms of all such officers as shall be appointed by the Mayor this year shall terminate on February 1, 1885, and the Mayor elected this fall appoint their successors for the full terms now provided by law. This would give the Corporation Counsel and Commissioner of Public Works appointed next January and a Park Commissioner a term extending over that of two Mayors and all through that of the Mayor elected in 1886. Mr. Dayton objected to this and insisted that if there was any reason why those appointed by Mayor Edson should expire in thirty days after he went out of office, there was no reason why the next Mayor should appoint men who were to hold office all through the term of the next Mayor. He secured an amendment over the protest of Mr. Roosevelt, which provides that the heads of departments and commissioners appointed by the Mayor elected this fall under the pending act should hold office for only two years and that their terms should cease thirty days after the expiration of that of the Mayor appointing them. The Senate subsequently concurred in this change and the bill now goes to the Governor.

The bill making the Brooklyn bridge free to foot passengers has been ordered to third reading in the Senate.

The act to change the lines of Morris avenue, north of the Harlem River, has been ordered to third reading in the Assembly.

The Legislature is to wind up, close doors and take its departure at noon on the 16th. There will be a number of bills left unacted upon, but the more important measures will have been disposed of. Among those passed will be more measures of public interest than any Legislature has enacted for several years. If the Governor approves the Arcade Underground bill, the act establishing the new parks north of the Harlem River, the reform bills before him, the building law, which will reach him, the act for a commission to lessen the cost of the transfer of titles, these with the street surface railroad bill which he has signed, the Forty-second Street Depot bill, and the act taking the confirming power away from the Common Council, it will make a list of important measures in regard to New York city which can be pointed to with pride by those connected with the Legislature.

Some of Fish and Ward's Real Estate Operations.

Booth's Theatre, on the corner of Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street, was purchased by James D. Fish and Ferdinand Ward in February, 1883, from Oliver and Oakes A. Ames, for $507,500; broker, Paul P. Todd. It is mortgaged for $400,000, the Equitable Life having advanced $350,000, and the Ames estate a second mortgage of $50,000, and it is said to rent for between $80,000 and $90,000. The property Nos. 31 and 33 Broadway, owned by Mr. Fish, was taken in trade for lots on One Hundred and First and One Hundred and Second streets, between Second and Third avenues, and is mortgaged for $150,000. Nos. 33 Broad and 34 and 36 New streets were taken in exchange for a plot of lots on the corner of Sixty-second street and Boulevard, and is mortgaged for $200,000. The "Brandon," on the corner of Fourth avenue and Seventy-third street, was taken in trade for Morningside Park lots, and is mortgaged for nearly $90,000. The Mystic, on Thirty-ninth street, near Broadway, was built by Mr. Fish, and is mortgaged for $100,000. Messrs. Fish and Ward also purchased for $233,500 twelve houses on Madison avenue, near One Hundred and Twentieth street, subject to mortgages of $185,600, which it is said was a poor investment, in fact the only one on which an advance could not be obtained. Mr. Fish lately bought four lots on the north side of Thirty-ninth street, 100 feet west of Sixth avenue, for $122,500, subject to mortgages amounting to $100,000.

When the Williamsburgh City Fire Insurance Company bought the northeast corner of Broadway and Liberty street, May 31, 1882, for $356,000, it was thought that the investment was not one that would recommend itself from a conservative point of view. It was hardly thought possible for a building on such a small lot to yield a rental sufficient to give a profit on the outlay. But the results have justified the prescience of the company. The cost of the new structure was $200,000, making an aggregate cost of $556,000. The building is now rented to a large extent at very good figures and it is expected will yield a total yearly rental of $60,000, of which $15,000 may be deducted as representing the rental of the company itself. Here, then, is $45,000 clear on the investment, which, deducting taxes, &c., will leave about 5 per cent. profit, giving the company their offices without one cent of cost. A reporter of THE RECORD AND GUIDE made a tour of the building with the agent, Mr. O. G. Bennet, and found every room well lighted and ventilated. The plumbing is in a wing on the rear. Although the building has steam heat throughout, every suite of rooms has also a fireplace for the use of those occupants desiring the older style of heating. There are, by the way, two immense tanks on the roof, giving a copious supply of water to every office in the building. The size of the lot on which the new structure stands is 25.4x85.2 feet on Broadway, with an "L," 25.4 x about 47.7, on Liberty street.

A petition was received by the Park Commissioners at their last meeting bearing a number of signatures and favoring the building of a suspension bridge across the Harlem, above Highbridge. The petition claims that the act directs that a suspension bridge be constructed, although the petitioners said they would offer no objection to a bridge other than a suspension being built, providing that prompt action be taken, and approve of the plan submitted by Mr. Wilson, which shows stone piers and abutments, and was handed to Commissioner Wales some time since, and by him been mislaid or lost.

Real Estate Department.

The past has been a dull week in real estate. There is but little doing by the brokers, and most of the best sales at the Exchange Salesroom were postponed. The sale of the Richardson property on Tuesday was a failure. It was not advertised, and it is understood there was an upset price at which the various parcels were bought in. Only two parcels were sold. Business at this time of the year would naturally be dull—yet really there is a great deal doing in real estate, as will be seen by the list of conveyances in this city and Brooklyn. The coming weeks promise to make a better showing; quite a number of sales are promised during the next month. The embarrassment of James D. Fish was unexpected to real estate operators, in view of the fact that his operations, though large and venturesome, showed judgment and a keen appreciation of values. True, he mortgaged heavily, but when he sold it was at profitable figures. The most apparently risky of his enterprises was the new building on the Booth Theatre site, and that has rented so as to yield over 7 per cent. on the investment.

The sale of the Peck estate on Thursday shows that west side lots, remote from the elevated stations and away from the line of immediate improvement, do not command high figures. The sale was well advertised and there was a large attendance, but the price of every parcel sold was a disappointment.

No sales were held at the Exchange Salesroom on Saturday or Monday. On Tuesday business property on West, Grand and Spring streets, dwellings on East Forty-fifth, Eighty-fourth and One Hundred and Forty-first streets, and vacant lots on Third avenue, East One Hundred and Twenty-fifth, West One Hundred and Seventeenth and One Hundred and Eighteenth streets were sold; four of the Third avenue lots were on the northwest corner of Ninety-seventh street, and were sold under foreclosure for $10,300; there was due hereon on the mortgage foreclosed about $31,450. Only two parcels of the Harlem realty offered by Capt. Richardson were sold, the remainder being bid in for the owner. The sales of 10 acres of land on Valentine avenue, dwellings on One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, flats on One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street and lots on West Seventy-sixth and Seventy-seventh streets and East One Hundred and Forty-second and One Hundred and Forty-sixth streets were adjourned, as was also the sale of the Adelphi, Strathmore and Newport apartment houses. No. 177 Lewis street was offered, but not sold. On Wednesday houses on West Thirty-fifth and Forty-sixth streets and East Fifty-sixth and One Hundred and Eleventh streets and lots on Madison avenue near Eightieth street, and on Bathgate, Central and Walton avenues, in the annexed district, were sold, six on Central and Walton avenues, on which $3,500 was due, being sold for $4,000; the sales of lots on West One Hundred and Nineteenth, One Hundred and Twentieth and One Hundred and Thirty-third streets, and on Franklin avenue, north of Sixth street, were adjourned. On Thursday 100 west side lots were offered by the executors of G. H. Peck and nearly all sold; four on Central Park West (Eighth avenue), corner Sixty-second street, went for $19,500 each, to Tracy & Russell, brewers, while four on the corner of the Grand Boulevard and One Hundred and Thirtieth street sold for $3,000 each. Several houses on East One Hundred and Ninth street were sold under foreclosure, and eight lots on the southeast corner of Tenth avenue and One Hundred and Fifty-first street, which sold October 24, 1879, for $14,500, brought the sum of $19,200. The sale of three lots on East One Hundred and Eleventh street was adjourned.

The following is the table of conveyances and mortgages for the past week compared with the corresponding week last year:

Jose F. Navarro has filed plans for six immense apartment houses, twelve stories in height—two are situated on the northwest corner of Eighty-sixth street and Madison avenue. They are to be of brick and stone, and will be 56.3 feet front on the avenue, the buildings being about 90 feet deep and the rears 37.6 and 41 feet. On the north side of Fifty-eighth street and the south side of Fifty-ninth street, 125 feet west of Sixth avenue, Mr. Navarro will erect four twelve-story fire-proof apartment houses, each 50x90 feet. This announcement will greatly surprise, as well as please, every one interested in realty, for it shows that the Fifty-ninth street apartment houses must have proved very profitable, which was contrary to the general belief. Indeed, the profit on that investment was supposed to be as yet an unsolved problem. The projected Madison avenue apartment house, if ever built, will be on the opposite corner from the great stables which the Vanderbilts are about to construct for the accommodation of the Madison avenue horse-car line which they intend to extend to the Harlem River. It is understood that the plans were filed for the above buildings earlier than intended, in anticipation of the new building law restricting the height of apartment houses built in the future.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Tuesday, 13th inst., the finely located house 145 East Fifty-sixth street; also the property on the northwest corner of Lexington avenue and One Hundred and Eleventh street. On the 15th inst. the same auctioneer will sell the house No. 9 Birmingham street, near Madison street.

Ten shares of stock in the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited) can be purchased at a premium of about ten to fifteen dollars. Apply RECORD AND GUIDE office.

Richard V. Harnett will sell on Wednesday, May 14, the block on Eighth avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-fifth and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth streets, containing in all fifteen houses and lots. This splendidly located property cannot fail to attract the attention of buyers.

Mr. Harnett will also sell on the 14th inst. No. 119 Pearl street, near Hanover street, and on May 13 the same auctioneer will sell the dwelling No. 243 Monroe street

On Thursday, May 15, Mr. Harnett announces several important sales, the principal one being that of Nos. 3 to 13 East Sixty-seventh street, comprising six dwellings, as well constructed and elaborately finished as any of the many first-class dwellings our city contains. These dwellings are to be disposed of at peremptory sale and an opportunity will be afforded to purchase at reasonable figures residences first-class in every respect that have never been occupied since their erection by a well-known builder.

On the same day Mr. Harnett will offer the valuable plot and buildings on the southwest corner of Broadway and Twelfth street, 41.9x133, with a depth on the rear of 103 feet. The site is unexcelled for store purposes, south of Fourteenth street and presents a chance to obtain a site for the future erection of a handsome store building, or the property as it stands will be found a good paying one. The same auctioneer will dispose of, on that day, Thursday, May 15, the handsome apartment houses, Nos. 419, 421 and 423 East Fifty-second street.

A sale to close the estate of the late John Haggerty will be held, by order of the administrator, on Thursday, May 15, by A. H. Muller & Son. The fine block lying between Tenth and St. Nicholas avenues, One Hundred and Fifty-sixth and One Hundred and Fifty-seventh streets, will be sold, as also six lots on Eighty-ninth street, near Avenue B, and six lots on Eighty-eighth street, adjoining the rear of the above. This property is desirable, and will become yearly more valuable as the line of improvement is extended and the neighboring properties covered with brick and mortar. If not previously disposed of at private sale, there will also be offered a handsome country seat and about eighty-three acres at Whitestone, L. I.

A large number of valuable west side properties will be sold by E. H. Ludlow & Co., on Tuesday, May 20. The parcels are all unimproved, and comprise more than fifty lots lying within the district bounded by Forty-eighth and Fiftieth streets, Eighth and Ninth avenues. The sale is by order of the executors of the late Don Alonzo Cushman, and as the neighborhood in which the property lies is one of the most impreving sections of the city, we look for a successful termination of the sale.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. are now fairly settled in their handsome new quarters on the first floor of the Duncan building in Pine street. The senior member of the firm has never done business in any location further south than Exchange place, or north of Pine street, although of course the firm has for many years had an up-town office. The present down-town office will be as near the new Real Estate Exchange as was the old office to the salesroom. The remarkable success of this firm has been so identified with Pine street that its members are loth to leave its precincts.

Bradley & Currier, of No. 54 Dey street, elsewhere offer city houses for sale or will exchange for lots.

Notwithstanding all the inducements for delay, arising from the firm condition of the market for real estate and the demand for investment of good parcels of improved property, Mr. Deane has resolved to put all his realty into the market at auction by Richard V. Harnett & Co. at once, as will be seen by the advertisement in the present issue.

The property includes many valuable pieces, the most of it improved with apartment houses and single dwellings at Harlem, and some very choice vacant lots. While this is characteristic of Mr. Deane for his energy in making a quick liquidation of his estate, which appears to be solvent with a surplus of value, and resuming his position as a large and successful operator, it affords great opportunities for investors. To the large class of business men who are looking out for bargains in the purchase of a moderate residence, at a range of prices from $10,000 to $20,000, and to the class, equally large, who are looking for a safe and remunerative investment in apartment houses, this sale will offer unusually good chances. The month of October in each season is generally the best for sales of each of the kinds spoken of, and the purchaser of a mildly speculative turn will strike this sale at the right time for a three months' profit.

It is the characteristic of the present situation that real estate is reassuming its normal position as the soundest and most solid of all income investments, and the disturbance of the market in railroad securities this spring is only making it the more apparent.

Gossip of the Week.

Anson Hubbell has sold for John M. Hodgson the five-story English basement brick dwelling on the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Forty-first street, 23x100, to A. R. Kramm, for $120,000.

C. R. Gregor and C. S. Van Loon have sold for James L. Montgomery the plot on the southeast corner of First avenue and Seventy-second street, 102.2 x113, to George Treacy, for about $39,000.

C. S. Van Loon has sold for Jas. L. Montgomery four lots on the south side of Seventy-second street, 113 feet east of First avenue, to Julius Johnson, for improvement.

Crevier & Woolley have sold for the estate of J. D. Sturkem the store and flat No. 873 Eighth avenue, between Fifty-second and Fifty-third streets, 22x80, for $27,000, to M. Loewenstein.

M. H. Raubitschek has sold the four-story brick tenement No. 1091 Second avenue, 20x60, to Mrs. Aronson, for $14,500, and No. 1055 Second avenue, 25x65x100, to Mrs. Fressberg and others, for $25,000.

Louis and Louis K. Ungrich have sold the two five-story brick tenements Nos. 333 and 335 West Forty-third street, each 25x83x100.4, to Walden Pell, for $32,000 and $33,000, respectively. Messrs. Ungrich have purchased from the New York Steam Company three lots on the north side of Forty-seventh street, west of Eighth avenue, which they will improve at once.

George Gottheimer has purchased from John Overbeck the five-story front and the four-story rear brick tenements No. 11 Delancey street, 22.2x94, for $23,000.

Messrs. Oppenheimer & Metzger have sold the four lots on the north side of Forty-eighth street, 225 feet east of Second avenue, to Francis McQuade, for improvement.

The sale of property for unpaid assessments for opening, widening, extending and straightening roads, streets, avenues, parks and public places, announced to take place on Monday, May 5th, was adjourned until October 6th, 1884.

J. Romaine Brown has sold the three-story and basement brick dwelling No. 459 West Thirty-fourth street, 20x50x100, for W. G. Robinson, to D. and W. Lawson, for $14,050.

Richard Lines has sold for J. I. West the four-story dwelling, No. 434 East Fourteenth street, for $12,500, to W. F. Rohrig.

Yenne & Lydon have sold for David Atkin three lots on the southeast corner of Second avenue and Seventy-first street, each 25x100, for $18,000, to F. A. Seitz, builder.

Two lots on the north side of Sixty-ninth street, 100 feet east of Boulevard, have been purchased by Messrs. Oppenheimer & Metzger.

G. W. Tubbs has bought two lots on the north side of Sixty-fourth street, 375 feet west of Eighth avenue, for $25,000.

McCafferty & Buckley have sold to J. D. Slayback the three-story brick stable, No. 125 West Fifty-second street, 25x90x100.5, for $30,000.

The five-story brick tenement, No. 409 East Sixty-third street, has been sold by Samuel Weil to John Lynch, for $14,500.

David De Venny has sold the plot of ground on the south side of Eighty-sixth street, 70 feet west of Fourth avenue, 37.8x102, which he bought at auction about two weeks since, for $17,600, to Thomas Pearson, for $18,350.

Edward Coburn has purchased two lots on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, 150 feet west of Seventh avenue, for about $11,500.

Morris B. Baer & Co. have sold three lots on the west side of Ninth avenue, 75.6 north of Ninety-fifth street, with frame house, to Mr. Bowman, for $13,300.

Brooklyn.

From the tables given below it will be seen that Brooklyn is keeping pace with New York in the number of new buildings which are being erected. The first four months of 1884 compare very favorably with the similar period for 1883. The record for this year shows 940 new buildings, costing $4,310,365, against 740 houses last year, costing $3,180,590. A very good class of houses is being erected, and with the progress of the elevated road the investment in real property becomes larger. There have been but few failures amongst contractors, and the liens of creditors against buildings have been insignificant. One noticeable fact is the large increase of brick as compared with frame buildings.

The greatest activity has prevailed in the Eighteenth, Twenty-second, Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth Wards. The number of first-class private dwellings erected this year is 402; of dwellings for more than one family and stores and tenements combined, 331. An interesting feature is that of the 51 workshops and factories. The proportion of citizens who drive their own teams may be estimated from the total of over sixty stables.

W. F. Corwith has sold the four-story frame double tenement, No. 109 Newell street, to James Scott, for $6,400.

The property, No. 832 Flushing avenue, announced for sale on Monday last, was withdrawn, having previously been sold at private sale for $4,000.

Out Among the Builders.

Cleverdon & Putzel have plans in hand for a five-story brick and brown stone tenement, 25x80, to be built on the east side of First avenue, between One Hundred and Seventeenth and One Hundred and Eighteenth streets, for Matthew Coogan, at a cost of $16,000.

J. H. Valentine is engaged on the sketches for five three-story and basement brick, brown stone and terra cotta private dwellings, each 15x50 and extension, to be erected on the north side of One Hundred and Thirty-first street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, for J. O'Kane, at a cost of $45,000. The same architect has the plans for three two-story and basement brown stone private dwellings, 16.8x50, to be built on the north side of One Hundred and Thirty-sixth street, 75 feet east of Sixth avenue, for Robert Hargreaves, to cost $24,000. Mr. Valentine is the architect for the houses to be built for Hy. V. Hamilton on Seventieth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, and not Thom & Wilson as previously reported.

Three three-story and basement brown stone private houses, two 17x56 and extension, and one 16x56 and extension will be built on the north side of Eighty-first street, 55 feet west of Lexington avenue, instead of a five-story apartment house, 50x87½; owner, Thomas Gearty.

A. B. Ogden has the plans for the following: A five-story brick and brown stone tenement, 28x75, to be built on Horatio street, 151 feet west of Greenwich avenue, for John E. O'Brien, to cost $17,000; two five-story tenements, 28x82 and 25x82, to be built on the north side of Eighty-fifth street, 125 feet west of Avenue B, for Emma Johnston & Co., to cost $31,000; one similar building, 30x84, to be erected on the north side of Sixty-first street, 95 feet east of Second avenue, for J. Goetz, to cost $14,500; and two tenements, 25x85 each, to be built on the north side of Eighty-first street, 225 feet east of Second avenue, for Beaudel & Co., to cost $32,000.

M. L. Ungrich is the architect for three five-story brick tenements, 25x83, to be built on the north side of Forty-seventh street, west of Eighth avenue; owners, Louis and Louis K. Ungrich.

Francis McQuade intends to erect four five-story brick and brown stone improved tenements, 25x83 each, on the north side of Forty-eighth street, commencing 225 feet east of Second avenue, at a cost of about $68,000.

Frank A. Seitz, it is said, will erect three five-story tenements on the southeast corner of Seventy-first street and Second avenue.

Five five-story tenements and stores will be erected on the southeast corner of First avenue and Seventy-second street, by George Treacy.

Julius Johnson will erect four five-story double apartment houses on the south side of Seventy-second street, 113 feet east of First avenue, to cost about $72,000.

Edward Coburn will erect three three-story brown stone dwellings, 16.8x50 x100, on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, 150 feet west of Seventh avenue. M. L. Ungrich is now preparing the plans, and the cost will be about $30,000.

Joseph M. Dunn has the plans on the boards for the erection of a five-story brick house, 23x25, on the southwest corner of Delancey and Pitt streets, for Francis Higgins, at a cost of $8,000, and for a six-story brick factory, 20x46, to be built at No. 264 Broome street, for J. F. Fitzpatrick, at a cost of $10,000.

J. Lederle & Co. have the plans for a three-story brick addition, 45x64, to the residence of Mr. L. H. Meyer, at Clifton, Staten Island. The interior will be finished in hardwood, the decorations being in the German Renaissance. The cost of the work will be about $35,000.

Brooklyn.

Geo. B. Chappell, of New York, has the plans for the following houses: Four three-story and basement brown stone private dwellings, to be erected on the corner of St. Marks and Brooklyn avenues, the corner 25x60, and the others 22x45, for Mrs. Eliza J. Smith, to cost $50,000; two three-story and basement brick and stone villas, 22x60 each, to be erected on the north side of Park place, between New York and Brooklyn avenues, for Major Hobbs, at a cost of $25,000; a four-story brick and stone flat, 22x60, to be built on the southwest corner of Fulton street and New York avenue, for M. Diefendors, to cost $12,000; two four-story brick and stone tenements, 25x45, to be built on the corner of Stagg and Ewen streets, for Alfred A. Travis, to cost $15,000; and a four-story tenement and saloon, 22x45x120, to be erected on Fulton street, near Franklin avenue, for Geo. Bommerman, at a cost of $12,000.

Th. Engelhardt is preparing plans for a three-story frame tenement, 24.6 and 27.3x55 feet, to be erected on the south side of Walton street, 100 feet west of Harrisen avenue, for Charles Scheidt, cost, $4,800; three-story store and flat, on the north side of Fulton street, 95 feet east of Tompkins avenue, running through to Decatur street; the front on Fulton street will be of brick and that on Decatur street of stone, for William Graf, cost, $7,000; and two-story frame dwelling, 23x48, on the west side of Bushwick avenue, 100 feet north of Greene avenue, for Frederick Doering; cost, $4,000.

John Platte has plans in hand for the following: Three-story and attic brick dwelling, 25x60, to be erected on the northeast corner of Sumner and Vernon avennes, for Ferdinand Munch, at a cost of $30,000; three three-story brick tenements, 25x60 each, on the east side of Sumner avenue, between Myrtle and Vernon avenues, for Ferdinand Munch, at a cost of $7,000 each; four-story frame dwelling, 25x60, on the south side of Meserole street, 50 feet west of Graham avenue, for M. Schwinn; cost, $7,000; three-story frame dwelling, 25x57, on the east side of Ewen street, 50 feet north of Meserole street, for Mr. Glassen; cost, $5,600; two-story brick packing house, 30x40, on Harrison avenue, near Middleton street, for Mr. Mosetter; cost, $4,000; two three-story frame dwellings, 25x55 each, on Troutman street, near Evergreen avenue, for Mr. Dallar; cost, $4,500 each; six three-story frame dwellings, 25x50 each, on the corner of Flushing avenue and Bogart street, for George Loeffler; cost, $4,000 each; five three-story frame dwellings, 24x56 each, on Middleton street, between Harrison and Throop avenues, for Jacob Bossert; cost, $4,800 each; two-story frame flat, 20x42, on Humboldt street, near North Second street, for Mr. Karuts; cost, $4,200; and three three-story brick stores and flats, with all improvements, 95.6x126, on Broadway, corner Flushing avenue, for Herle estate; cost, $30,000.

H. Vollweiler has plans for a two-story frame dwelling with mansard roof, 34x47.4x25.3, on the junction of Myrtle and Central avenues, for Leopold Michel; cost, $3,600; two three-story frame tenements, 25x50 each, on Throop avenue, near Gerry street, for J. G. Thompson; cost, $3,800; three-story frame tenement, 25x50, on the north side of Gerry street, 125 feet west of Throop avenue, for John G. Thomas; cost, $4,200; and three-story frame double tenement, with extension 25x50, to be erected at No. 64 Dupont street, for Henry Stobbe; cost, $4,000.

A. Herbert has plans in hand for three four-story brick stores and dwellings, each 26.8x54, to be erected on the southwest corner of Bergen street and Franklin avenue, for Christian Schmersal, at a cost of about $7,000 each; five three-story brick dwellings, each 20x42, on the northwest corner of Tenth and South Fifth streets, for William Kohlmeier; cost, $3,500 each; and three-story frame dwelling, 25x54, to be erected at No. 22 Catharine street, for Frank Hagemeier; cost, $4,500.

Contractors' Notes.

Proposals for building extension of sea wall and for the construction of a pier on North Brother Island, city of New York, and for steam boilers and other steam-fitting work required for the hospital building at the foot of East 16th street, will be received by the Commissioners of the Health Department, at No. 301 Mott street, until 2.30 o'clock, May 20th, 1884.

Proposals will be received by the School Trustees of the Fifteenth Ward, at the Hall of the Board of Education, corner of Grand and Elm streets, until Tuesday, May 20th, 1884, at four o'clock P. M., for improving the cellar, drainage, etc., of Grammar School-house No. 47, on West 12th street, near University place.

Proposals will also be received at the same place and time for new steam-heating apparatus for said school-house.

Special Notices.

We call attention to the card of Howard Fleming, of 23 Liberty street, the well-known cement importer. In addition to the Standard Portland Cement of J. B. White & Bros., which he supplies for the new Produce Exchange, he has accepted the agency of Gibbs & Co., limited, who supply the Metropolitan Board of Works, London, with extra fine ground cement. As their engineer, Mr. Grant, requires that 80 per cent. shall pass through a sieve containing 5,766 holes to the inch, and as fineness is a feature in cement, it is well to remember that heavily limed and under-burnt cement clinkers can be ground to a fineness that is exceptional, but when tested in blocks and with sand at the age of six months and a year its worthlessness is apparent. Cement, to be properly burnt and ground to the fineness above named, costs more to manufacture, but it is economy to use it, as it carries more sand and bears a greater strain than the quicker-setting cements that contain more lime.

To meet the demand for German cement, which costs less than English, owing to lower ocean freights, the Stettiner Co., of Stettin, and Lagerdorfer Co., of Itzchoe, have placed their celebrated cements in Mr. Fleming's hands, and purchasers are invited to call upon him.

On our front page will be noticed the advertisement of Mr. P. S. Treacy, the well-known up-town real estate agent. That gentleman has had a good deal of experience in the buying, selling and management of property, especially of west side realty. Prompt attention will be paid to any letters addressed to him at his office, No. 809 Sixth avenue, near Forty-sixth street.

J. Romaine Brown the well-known west side real estate broker and agent, has removed from his old quarters, No. 1280 Broadway, to No. 62 West Thirty-third street, on the southeast corner of that street and Broadway. Mr. Brown's new offices are very spacious and comfortable and his clients meet with the same politeness and attention which has always characterized this firm. Telephone No. 381, Thirty-ninth street.

The card of Mr. Max H. Raubitschek appears in another column. This gentleman succeeds his brother, the late Mr. E. K. Raubitschek, in the real estate business. He is an energetic young man, and will give every attention to owners and tenants who may place their interests in his charge. His office, it may be added, is at No. 1050 Second avenue.

George Collins, carpenter and builder, of No. 525 West Twenty-third street, has done some very good work on several Fifth avenue houses. He is well known as a first-class builder, and has done carpenter work on the Vanderbilt houses, among other buildings. Orders entrusted to him will receive the best attention.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—Common Hards have on the whole had rather a quiet market during the past week without resulting in much if any actual change on values. The diminution in the volume of sales, however, can scarcely be attributed to an actual falling off in consumption, but mainly to an enforced suspension of work as the natural sequence of the miserable condition of the weather. Had it not been for that, it is just possible that a somewhat firmer tone might have been generated as the supply offering was smaller and no serious accumulation at any time shown. The opposing influences in fact have proven of about equal weight and held values on a fairly even balance. The greatest scarcity of stock was from Haverstraw Bay with a probability that this may be attributed to the fact that a great many of the vessels were at this end of the route. We are informed that very little in the way of production has as yet taken place in the "Bay," but that at other points along the Hudson work is progressive and some sample cargoes of new stock may be expected at no very distant day. There is also a better prospect for demand. It now about time to look for settled weather, and as the work of demolition on doomed structures vacated May 1st is about completed, the new and more commodious edifices intended to occupy their sites will soon be under way. We allow about the old range of quotations to stand, but only the best of stock will realize the outside figures. Pales appear to be gradually stiffening up somewhat from the late depression. Demand is not very sharp, but buyers can be found for good stock, with not much difficulty experienced in obtaining $3 for anything useful, while some of the best reach as high as $4 per M.

CEMENT.—The local call for domestic grades has been rather slow, and some of the agents are inclined to express dissatisfaction. It is with this, however, as with pretty much all other articles of merchandize, buyers showing a careful spirit and a decided determination not to move until they feel the pressure of necessity. In the meantime, however, manufacturers have been securing a very good shipping trade, South and East at first, and subsequently with the opening of inland navigation on orders from interior points. The price has been well preserved, and sellers appear generally confident over the situation. Imported stock has also done well for all the attractive supply. Receipts for five or six weeks have been quite liberal, but most of the prominent agents had the bulk of their importation sold before arrival, and we are told that it is impossible to find to-day in first hands any of the well-known and established brands beyond the usual small quantity carried for jobbing orders. Values naturally have been well supported on first-class stock, and it is claimed cannot be broken down, owing to the continued full cost of freighting room from the other side. Of unknown brands there is said to be a considerable quantity "laying around loose," and while it is possible that some of the supply may be "very good," buyers in the present careful form of trading would prefer knowing all about the merits of stock before investing. A considerable quantity of "well recommended" cement has gone into the interior in search of appreciative customers, with results not yet known. There is certainly nothing in the way of desirable Portland pressing for sale, and every prominent importer appears to think it will be an easy and simple matter to dispose of everything they have ordered out. The choice foreign cements have also been in fuller demand this season, and are evidently steadily growing in favor as their usefulness becomes better appreciated. A good idea of the fine work they afford may be obtained by an inspection of the new buildings of the Mutual Life Insurance Com pany. Portions of the walls, the elevator shafts and the columns have been finished in White's Keene's cement, and show a superiority of beauty and finish rarely attainable, and it is claimed to be as enduring as it is attractive.

As an indication of the steady growth in the foreign cement trade we append a comparison of the imports at this port for a series of years, from January 1st to May 1st:

	Gt. Britain. bbls.	Continent. bbls.	Total. bbls.
1882	21,483	31,466	57,948

HAIR.—The market for plasterer's hair has undergone no important change this spring. Demand has been about up to the average and fairly met, but the additions to stock from time to time are scarcely full enough to form a surplus. Recently small importations have been made from Europe, but it is not sure that the movement will prove profitable.

HARDWARE.—The distribution on local account is increasing somewhat, especially of builders' hardware, and naturally the market is favorably influenced. Dealers are also encouraged by the call from interior points, and the latter promise a still further growth. No effort of positive character looking to an increase of cost is indulged in, however, and the selling interest as a rule seem to think that if they maintain their former position they will do well. Buyers, in fact, are alert and quick to resist all attempts intended to add to the cost of their supplies, and a steady consumption is evidently dependent upon easy terms.

LATH.—About the only new feature to note is a somewhat higher range of values, the outside figure mentioned in our report of last week being now firmly established, and receivers asking a still further advance to arrive. There is not, as yet, however, anything apparent warranting a quotation above $2.35 per M. Generally the outlook still seems promising, and receivers are very confident in their reports. Moderate accumulations in the hands of dealers are claimed with more wanted, a better call from country sources is now in season, and the evidences are that shipments from the most desirable sources of supply will be light for some little time to come.

LIME.—Arrivals are reported as small enough to be handled without much difficulty, and the market was kept very well cleared up. Sellers, however, gained no further advantages, and the line of quotations remains unchanged on both qualities.

LUMBER.—The general market cannot be credited with any decided improvement but has made no loss so far as shown through the reports from various divisions of the trade, and that is a matter of more or less encouraging character. The yards sent out a fair amount of stuff and are weekly adding somewhat to the distribution, but appear to have sufficient both in quantity and assortment to draw upon and the increase of consumption makes no immediate reflex upon the wholesale market. Dealers, in fact, are remaining offish and cautious on all negotiations for additional stocks, and, while unquestionably feeling greater interest in the situation, present and prospective, are lacking in confidence sufficint to induce investment beyond positively assured wants. This, however, is an epidemic in the commercial community and it would be surprising had the lumber trade escaped the contagion. The line of valuation on nearly every class of goods remains much the same as for several weeks past, but not much strength is shown and in many instances the figures are given from a nominal basis only. Our market is by no means a demoralized one but simply backward and no doubt having many chances of a change for the better as the season progresses. From points of supply accounts are conflicting, but, as a rule, reveal an effort to present the strongest side of the question.

Eastern Spruce retains about the old position. Accounts from the mills are not very promising for any immediate addition to stock, especially from Maine, and the limit of valuation is kept up full. Too extreme, in fact, for business, as buyers still refuse to bid up, and allow their specifications, as noted last week, to remain idle awaiting the outcome of the contest between the manufacturers and themselves. The mill men repeat the complaints about scarcity and high price of logs, and no doubt with good reason for doing so in some sections, but still they have sent forward a considerable quantity of lumber this spring, and from the looks of the English deal trade it is believed that the Provinces will be at liberty to contribute a larger proportion of coming supplies than usual. At least there is no "total suspension of work," nor anything like it, and as compared with immediate wants, supplies are ample. Quotations range at $13.50@15.50 for random, and as high as $16.50@17.00 is asked on specials.

Hemlock is scarce on this market at the moment, and indeed enough so to leave values entirely nominal, especially in a wholesale way. There seems to be a gaining interest in that description of stuff, and it is claimed that wood workers readily become accustomed to it, and find no greater difficulty in adapting it to numerous purposes than they do spruce. Referring to hemlock, the Bay City (Mich.) Lumberman's Gazette recently contained the following:

Hemlock, the hitherto much despised tree in the great pine producing States, is fast attaining prominence. Michigan and Wisconsin are both beginning to utilize it quite extensively, the latter State having harvested a considerable quantity the past winter. Shawano County alone is credited with an output of 20,000,000 feet annually, according to a correspondent. Michigan possesses millions of feet within her borders, which has for years been viewed as a worthless appendage by lumbermen, and hundreds of thousands of acres of land have been allowed to revert to the State for taxes, heavily timbered with this wood. Hemlock for many puposes is equally as good as the best white pine; and the natural wood, when judiciously selected for interior furnishing purposes, produces the most beautiful effect. St. Mary's Church in West Bay City, a very large and expensive structure, is finished throughout the interior with hemlock, and oiled, and much of the panelling cannot be surpassed for beauty by any wood that nature produces. It is especially admired by every person who visits it, whose judgment is worthy of note. As the supply of of the superior white pine of this State diminishes in extent, hemlock and the vast tracts of hardwoods of different varieties will obtain prominence, and our lumbermen will turn their attention to getting out what profit there is in them. It would be a curious proceeding, however, for these men to re-purchase from the State the same land they once possessed and permitted it to revert because of its supposed worthlessness.

White Pine undergoes little or no variation in the general features of the market except possibly a little more home trade. The increase, however, is hardly as full as might be expected, and does not materially benefit the position of holders. Exporters are pretty good customers as to the amount of stock handled, but develop their wants in a somewhat irregular and unsatisfactory manner. Feelers from the interior are commencing to be thrown out more generally, but have caught very few of our local dealers. We quote $17.50@19 for West India shipping boards; $28@30 for South American do.; $14@16 for box boards, and $16 50@18.00 for extra do.

Yellow Pine remains nominally unchanged in value, close quotations being quite as difficult as ever. In fact, it is a sort of go-as-you-please market on prices, but with a general tendency in buyers' favor, as the demand is extremely moderate, and when a chance comes to secure a customer every possible attraction is offered. Randoms remain at a discount here, and the call for specials is of a desultory, unsatisfactory character. It is understood that efforts to check production are again making, but with doubtful success thus far. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@20.50 per M; Specials, $20@21.00 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Stilling, $22@23 do; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods may be quoted steady on the assumption that attractive stock is referred to, but poor quality culls, etc., have the usual poor chance for sale, and uncertain basis of valuation. We quote at wholesale rates by car load as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M.; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

Shingles are scarce and firm according to most reports and have sold very well. Quite a full amount has in one way and another been shipped, and new points in the country are commencing to be heard from. We quote Cypress at $3.00@8.50 per M. for 5x20 and $11@12 do. for 6x20 regularly assorted shipping. Pine shipping stock $2.00@2.50 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $2.00@2.50 for 16 inch, as to quality and to quantity. Eastern shaved cedar $4.00@4.50 per M. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: for 30 inch, $15.00@20.00 for A, and $23@28.50 for No. 1; for 24 inch, $13.00@15 for A and $18.50@20.50 for No. 1; for 20 inch, $8@9.50 for A and $11.00@12.50 for No. 1.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending May 7 as follows:

The sales and shipments for the week have been larger than usual at this time, just before lumber is received by canals, and indicate a large trade when the stock in Albany is replenished. While the assortment here is good, the quantity is less than it has been for many years. The dealers have ordered rail shipments of the kinds which were in limited stock, and have in that way supplied the wants of their customers. The prices of good lots of pine in the manufacturing districts are held firmly at the old figures, or at an advance, as the logs cut this winter in Michigan are largely coarse. Common lots are a little easier, though no considerable reduction is expected. Spruce and hemlock have been kept in stock by railroad receipts, but as the canal is now open, they will soon be brought by boats, which will be here by the ninth or tenth inst. The prices will then be reduced to those of last year, the slight advance on them being caused by increased cost of transportation. Shingles are in good stock, but light demand. Lath have been received by rail to supply the wants of customers, but will soon be brought by boats, and the usual quantity will be in market. Hardwoods have continued in fair demand, and the supply, particularly of the commoner kinds, will soon be considerably increased by canal receipts and piled to season and be ready for immediate use.

THE WEST.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER,
MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

A steady business is reported at all river points from St. Louis, but no changes in prices are noted except at Minneapolis. In this city several of the leading firms, after consulting and considering the situation, issued a new list on last Saturday, advancing common $1, and nearly all the articles on the list in proportion, and propose to stand by the list until the last board is sold on the yards. Whether all the dealers will follow remains to be seen, but as the principal stocks are in the hands of the movers it will make but little difference except for a few days. The only disturbing element on this market (as is usually the case) is the road men, who can always find somebody giving away lumber to prevent their selling at fair prices.

The mills are nearly all in operation in all sections. A few of them manifest a disposition to push sawing, but the large majority are in favor of a conservative course.

The news from the drives continues to grow more favorable up to the hour of our going to press, making it probable that a fair supply of logs will soon reach the mills along all the streams.

Just what is to become of green stuff this summer remains to be seen but we feel sure that the man who will run his mill moderately, pile his lumber and let dry, will realize a fair profit. If he goes into the green lumber business he is liable to get squeezed.

A visit to St. Paul found the fraternity more cheerful than at any time for months. Their only mourning is over the want of stuff fit to ship. The trade to the lower Missouri valley continues brisk. It is probable that the proposed pool for handling lumber will soon be inaugurated.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trade's Journal says:

Pine deals, we understand, are firmly held in the market, with no disposition to make sales, except at full prices; this would mean about £9 10s for 3d regulars. There are not many 2d, and no best quality now in first hand to quote, so that it is probable an advance on the current rate for such goods will soon take place, especially in view of the fact, which is indisputible, that the approaching season's cut in Canada will be on a very reduced scale. The Montmorency mills do not cut any, Gilmour's not half their usual quantity, and the other large mills much less than they generally do.

Again we have nothing to record as doing in American black walnut, the transactions having been small and consequently unimportant. We notice the large stock of squares is being reduced very slowly; at the present rate of procedure it will be a long time indeed before what is here is worked up. Mostly they appear to be dry, sound, and free from centre, and had it not been for the very excessive quantity sent over, we believe would have sold freely and well; but of course there is a limit to the consumption, which was apparently not considered by the shippers, or, if so, must have been thought to be more expansive than it has proved to be.

We see at the docks several prime parcels of American oak wainscot, also very many handsome logs of the same, but we hear the sale of these is at present very limited.

In American whitewood we are told there is an increasing trade; many of the logs lately landed are of very great size, sound, and of straight growth; such as these will of course cut up very profitably.

NAILS.—The market does not show many stirring features. Reports of both an active and a dull trade have been received during the week, apparently just as sellers happened to catch it, and the probabilities are that striking a balance the volume of distribution would vary little, if any, from that for some time prevailing. To meet the call, supplies and assortments hold out very well, and while the production is under very good control it is not reduced enough to lead to any scarcity of stock. Prices are steady, and quotations remain on a basis of $2.60 per keg, for 10d. to 60d.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Much the same general features for some time current continue on this market. Demand fluctuates at times, but on any given period will generally require about as full an aggregate of stock as for quite a little while back, and the assortment selected prove general in character. The line of cast is also very well maintained, and sellers are satisfied. Linseed oil fairly active and generally quite steadily held at 57@58c. for domestic, and 58@59c. for foreign. Spirits turpentine selling moderately, and ruling steady at 31½@34c. per gallon, according to size of invoice.

PITCH AND TAR.—Demand has been about equal to calculations, and without new features worthy of note. Stocks fair, and prices steady. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., and tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

MAY 17, 1884.

An immediate recovery of confidence in values must not be looked for. A panic such as that of last Wednesday is usually followed by an unwholesome reaction, but later on prices sag off again. Speculation is being killed, the swarm of brokers in all the exchanges in the lower part of the city will find that a great part of their occupation is gone, and many of them will be forced to change their business and enter some productive employment. Confidence is a plant of slow growth, and even good securities will be in the market at low figures until there is an assurance of large cotton, corn and wheat crops. If the Republicans make a wise nomination for the presidency there will probably be a rally in prices. The only property that will command good figures for the rest of the year is real estate.

The national banks have the press of the country at their back, and the business public is always eager to countenance legislation that will give the banks all they want in transacting their business. But when the day of trouble comes, the banks take care of no interests but their own, and slaughter their customers without mercy. The panic of last Wednesday was largely due to the refusal of the banks to continue their loans even upon the choicest securities. They forced liquidation and assumed an attitude of antagonism to every solvent interest in the "street.". The final action was a determination to stand by one another at the sacrifice of every interest but their own. But when a question comes up in Congress affecting the banks, the press and the business public are expected to do all they can to forward the interests of the institutions which always fail them in times of trouble.

The operations of Grant & Ward and the events of last Wednesday will alter vitally the relations of brokers to the banks and will lead to an entire change in the method of doing business. The certifying of checks with no funds in bank, which has been the practice for so many years, can no longer be considered safe. The practice is contrary to law, but the necessities of the dealings of the street have made the enactment a dead letter. What Congress could not effect, however, Ferdinand Ward has brought about —a stoppage of the certifying of checks before the funds they represented were actually in the vaults of the bank. This may lead in time to the establishment of a clearing house for stocks. Several futile attempts have been made to establish such a system, but it now seems to have become a necessity.

A national bank would have been a useful institution in such a crisis as that which we have just passed through. It would have kept the rate of interest at a reasonable point, and would have averted the failure of firms which were really solvent. The powers of a national bank are now exercised partly by the Treasury Department, but in a greater measure by the associated banks of New York. These latter come together after the mischief is done, but their action is entirely selfish, for they unite to protect themselves at the expense of their clients. The 900 per cent. per annum paid for carrying stocks from Wednesday to Thursday tells the story of the utter uselessness of our national banks to help the community in such a crisis as we have just passed through. They use the private money entrusted to them to ruin their own depositors and customers. The name of a national bank is very unpopular in this country, but it is a very much needed institution notwithstanding.

The Committee on Legislation of the Real Estate Exchange met on Thursday. The announcement was made by the secretary that the law had passed authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission to prepare laws reforming our system of land transfer. It was decided that it might be proper for the Real Estate Exchange to send a list of names to the Governor of lawyers who might make useful members of that commission. It is understood that a list will be prepared to be sent to the Governor containing names from which he may select a commission to prepare the necessary bills to be acted upon by the next Legislature. This Committee on Legislation has proved a very useful body, as it utilizes the most influential members of the Exchange, so that their influence can be brought to bear in Albany and in the City Hall. It is not probable that it will have many more sessions this year, in view of the adjournment of the Legislature, but next year the committee ought to be a powerful influence in forwarding good and opposing injurious legislation affecting real estate.

A building movement seems to have commenced in the Seventh and Thirteenth Wards. It has been found that down-town east side property has been growing largely in value, due to its convenience for workingmen and the growth of large industries in the central and eastern parts of the city. The daily car fare may seem a small matter to persons with incomes of $1,500 a year and over, but it becomes a serious matter to heads of families with incomes of from $10 to $16 per week, and hence the demand for cheap tenements on the eastern side of the city below Grand street. They have been found to pay much better than in Harlem. There are several large estates in this section of the city which have been forced to sell recently, and the prices under the hammer are quite high as compared with property in the other poorer parts of the city. There are still other regions down town, that is, below Forty-second street, which will enhance in value for the same reason. Indeed builders think it is unwise to build large tenement or apartment houses for either rich or poor above Fifty-ninth street. One excellent symptom for real estate in New York is the growth of its manufacturing industries. Although the cost of land and living is high in New York yet the manufacture of goods is found to pay in the saving of freight and the ability to deal directly with customers.

Will Chicago Overtake New York?

There is no parallel in the history of nations where cities have grown so rapidly in population, commerce and wealth as in the United States. New York has advanced with gigantic strides during the past decade or two. At the last census there were twenty cities in the Union with populations of over 100,000 each whose rise and progress has been equally phenomenal. A glance at the following table, which includes some of the smaller cities recently sprung into prominence, shows that there has been an increase of 44 to 2,130 per cent. in the different populations from 1860 to 1880 :

	1880.	1860.	Increase.	Inc. p. c.
Philadelphia	846,984	585,529	261,455	44
Pittsburg	156,381	49,217	107,164	217
Cleveland	160,142	43,417	116,725	265
San Francisco	233,956	56,802	177,154	311
Jersey City	120,728	29,226	91,502	313
Minneapolis	46,887	5,822	41,065	705
Kansas City	55,813	4,418	51,395	1,163
Omaha	30,518	1,883	28,635	1,520
Oakland, Cal	34,556	1,549	33,007	2,130

But of all the large cities, those, for instance, having above 100,000 inhabitants, Chicago has made the most headway. A local authority states that in its first decade, from 1833 to 1843, that city increased thirty-seven times its population, and in its second decade gained more than 800 per cent. In the third decade the population increased over 200 per cent., and in the ten years from 1863 to 1873 more than doubled itself. In the last decade the increase has been about 50 per cent. When Chicago was a village just incorporated as a town of 200 inhabitants, New York was a city of 250,000, and Philadelphia and Boston each had 100,000 people. Even St. Louis claimed to have 8,000 people on the banks of the Mississippi, and Cincinnati boasted of 30,000 as the metropolis of the West. But Chicago has outstripped all these in half a century's growth. While in that fifty years New York quadrupled her population, Philadelphia increased eight times, Boston nearly four times, Cincinnati eight times, and St. Louis forty times, Chicago has increased about three thousand times.

In the last decade, from 1870 to 1880, New York's gain in population was 28 per cent., Philadelphia's 25 per cent., Boston's 44 per cent., Cincinnati's 18 per cent., and St. Louis' but 9 per cent. Chicago's gain was 258 per cent.

Much has been said and written about the possibility of Chicago some day overtaking New York in population. Should the future increase be in the same ratio as during the past ten years that will eventually take place. A comparison between the two cities, from 1860 to 1880, sheds some light upon the matter :

		Population.	Increase.	Inc. p. c.	Population 1880.	Increase.	Inc. p. c.

It would, of course, be impossible to base any estimates of the future population of either city on the ratio of increase from 1860 to 1870, which in the case of Chicago was abnormal, the increase during that period being about 200 per cent. more than during the succeeding decade. A comparison between the populations of the two cities shows that the average yearly increase during the twenty years was nearly the same in both instances, while the average annual increase per cent. was, of course, much larger in the case of Chicago, owing to that city's smaller population. This will be seen from the following:

	Inc. pop., from 1860-80.	Av. inc., per annum.	Inc. p. c.	Av. ann. inc. p. c.

	Pop. of New York.	Increase.	Pop. of Chicago.	Increase.
1920	3,238,913	708,512	3,134,593	1,149,407

It will be seen that Chicago overtakes New York in 1922. Of course, the rate of increase in both cities is not at all likely to be as large during the next forty years as it has been in the past twenty. The experience of all large cities is that when they arrive at a certain population the ratio of increase becomes smaller year by year. There is no reason to believe that either Chicago or New York will suffer any very great decrease in ratio for the next twenty or thirty years. Ours is a young country. The natural increase of our large population, and the millions of immigrants who will come to our shores during the next generation, will suffice to maintain the increment in population of the two cities at an unusually high standard. Indeed, both cities are no doubt destined to overtake in population the great English capital itself. The population of London showed an increase of 16 per cent. in 1871 and 22 per cent. in 1881, compared with the previous decades. The former is probably the more normal percentage of increase, and should the population of London continue in the same ratio, it would take Chicago till 1953 to overtake the British metropolis. The figures given for London, it should be remembered, include the various boroughs comprised within that municipality, such as Westminster, Southwark, Greenwich, and many others, and embrace a very wide area, taking in both sides of the river, London proper having scarcely 80,000 inhabitants by itself.

The same may be said to a large extent of Chicago, and in this light New York should add Brooklyn, Jersey City, Newark and other surrounding places to her population, these cities being practically as much a part of New York as are the populations on the southern side of the River Thames, which divides the counties of Surrey and Suffolk as the East and North Rivers divide New York from Brooklyn, Jersey City and the adjacent populations. The bridge has now made Brooklyn a part of New York, so that calculating the combined populations we find that they increased 32 per cent. in the last decade. On this basis the following estimates of the future increase of the three cities may not be uninteresting, however impossible they may appear:

	Pop. of London.	Inc.	Pop. of New York and Brooklyn.	Inc.

Of course some of the above figures seem wild when the ratios are projected into the future, but there is no reasonable doubt but that our children who will come after us will see larger aggregations of population than any heretofore furnished in the annals of the world's history. Unless war, pestilence, famine, or all three combined, should visit this continent North America alone will show a vaster population at the end of the Twentieth Century than is contained in Europe to-day.

There may be other causes which may work a distribution of the population of cities like New York and Chicago which are not now thought of. Our railroad system is as yet in its infancy and while so far as it has concentrated population at given points it may in time serve to distribute commerce in such a way as to favor the smaller at the expense of the larger centres of population. But the above figures are curious and will prove interesting to others besides statisticians and political economists.

The findings of the Grand Jury, as well as the testimony before the Roosevelt Committee, justify the charges which have been made in the Tribune and other prints respecting the official misconduct of Commissioner Thompson, of the Board of Public Works. Had we a really responsible municipal government that official would not remain in office twenty-four hours, but no chief magistrate or court has the power of summary dismissal, and so the corrupt practices go on notwithstanding their exposure. The reform measures of Mr. Roosevelt are excellent in their way, but the Legislature cannot be induced to give the power of removal to the Mayor. It was the one defect in the government of Brooklyn and an effort was made to give Mayor Low authority to dispense with the services of corrupt and inefficient heads of departments, but the Legislature threw out the bill having that object in view. Next year Mr. Roosevelt must complete his good work by further restricting the powers of the Aldermen, and by giving the chief magistrate authority to dispense with the services of officials who serve their own rather than the people's interest.

Our Prophetic Department.

QUERIST—Instead of discussing business or politics, why not give your views, Sir Oracle, upon some noted persons. From time to time reports are circulated in the street that Mr. Jay Gould is in trouble, and that he may some day succumb to a bear market. What do you think of Jay Gould?

SIR ORACLE—That operator is probably the most remarkable genius who has ever appeared in any of the money markets of the world. His enterprises are boundless, but generally prudent; indeed he is a singular combination of audacity and caution. He is wonderfully self-poised, and can be either a bull or a bear, as the exigencies of the situation may demand. The great mass of operators are one-sided. They are either hopeful or depressed about the future, but Gould can be on both sides of the market at once. During the hard times which followed 1873 he was a bear on securities east of the Mississippi, but with rare sagacity foresaw the future of Union Pacific and the Southwestern roads, which he picked up for a song, and laid the foundations for the gigantic fortune which he certainly possessed two years ago.

QUERIST—You believe, then, all stories current in Wall street as to the extended operations of Gould?

SIR O.—Oh, dear, no! Wall street overdoes everything. Jay Gould is credited with a thousand operations of which he knows nothing. He is not a god, but a very remarkable man. When anything happens in "the street" it is always attributed to Jay Gould, but he is neither omniscient nor omnipresent, though generally he can not only form correct theories of the market, but is able to adopt himself to its changing fluctuations. He has, however, been under a disadvantage for the last three years. He has been forced to appear to be a bull because of his immense interests in Western Union, the Wabashes and the Southwestern roads. Hence he has always talked hopefully, even about the Wabashes, and he has consequently achieved the reputation of being "a magnificent liar," and of selling at the very time he was inducing people to buy rotten securities.

QUERIST—Well, take the case of the Wabashes. Did he not succeed in getting rid of a great deal of that stuff at high figures? Did not the late Governor Morgan quarrel with him on account of the decline in the securities of that road, and is it not true that English investors would have nothing to do with Western Union because of their losses in the Wabashes? Was not his course deceitful from the very first?

SIR O.—I think Jay Gould has been unjustly blamed in connection with that system of roads. You remember Cyrus W. Field and his crowd made the first money in Wabash when that road was reorganized. Then Gould and his friends took the property, and I really believe he supposed that its various connections were very valuable, and that by the alliance which could be effected with the Southwestern system, Wabash could be made a paying property. But, as I have said, he is not omniscient. He miscalculated, and, moreover, could not foresee that the great corn belt east of the Mississippi, upon which Wabash depended for its earnings, should have been barren for three years in succession. Now Gould has had to sustain Wabash, and he must have lost oceans of money in so doing. It is said that to-day he owns vast quantities of the bonds and stock of that road, and I believe it. Even bears can lose money in dealing in a stock which they sell short. Woerishoffer is loaded up with Denver, although largely short of the stock at various periods. Indeed it was his great bear card, but the price has so fallen that his coverings from time to time represent an immense loss.

QUERIST—You think, then, that Mr. Gould's fortune has been impaired by the last three years' operations, and that there may be something in the reports of his embarrassments?

SIR O.—As I said before, Mr. Gould has been forced to figure as a bull during three years of liquidation. He has had to sustain the market on a number of securities. That means buying them when other people were selling them. He has probably borrowed money to do so, and every time his loans were renewed he has had to increase his margins. Fortunately for him money has been very easy and he could borrow at very low rates. Paying two per cent. for money in carrying Missouri Pacific and Western Union, which pay seven per cent., would be a profitable thing in itself if Mr. Gould had not to sustain the market at a time when the stocks he was carrying were shrinking in value. It would be the very irony of fate if the great bear of the street, one who laid the foundation of a gigantic fortune as a seller of stocks, should be ruined as a bull.

This is what has happened to James R. Keene. He has been the most pronounced bear in Wall street, yet he was wrecked by selling "puts," that is, agreeing to pay more for stocks than they were worth at the time his privileges became due.

QUERIST—But Mr. Gould of course has a great business head, and as he has no prejudices he must have been selling other stocks while sustaining his own.

SIR O.—It is said so, and there may be something in the report, but I would not be surprized if some day it was found out that Mr. Gould's business affairs are conducted in a most unmethodical manner. You may recall the fact that when he was a partner with Mr. Loup in the leather business he had charge of a tannery in Pennsylvania. He engaged in several gigantic enterprises, and his partner became so terrified at the way in which he was apparently involved that he committed suicide. In the lawsuit which followed, Jay Gould's books of the tannery were examined and they were found to be in a state of the wildest confusion. Gould is no book-keeper. His faculties are of a high order, but I doubt whether he would earn his salt as a clerk. He has judgment and is fertile in expedients, but has probably no faculty for detailed work. Nor is this defect unusual in great operators. When Daniel Drew was examined after his bankruptcy it was found he knew nothing about his affairs. All his accounts were kept by the brokers. His only memorandums were in his head. He knew that in a general way when he bought or sold he made or lost money, how much he could not tell.

QUERIST—Am I to understand then that you think Jay Gould will find himself in the same box as Keene and Drew?

SIR O.—I don't say that; he is a wonderful man with vast resources, and his failure would affect such mighty interests that he would probably be sustained if in trouble. I would be surer of his future, however, if he invested in real estate. But beyond the World building, his Fifth avenue mansion and the Tarrytown property Mr. Gould has not a dollar in real estate. Indeed he has always told real estate dealers that he wanted his money in business. I am certain, however, that the gigantic fortune he had in 1881 has been considerably diminished by the liquidation of the last two or three years.

If Ferdinand Ward had operated in England or on the Continent in the same manner as he has in New York he would probably be imprisoned for life, and his assignees and preferred creditors would be forced to disgorge all the sums he gave them before failing, but it is not likely that he will be punished in any way under our loosely-drawn laws, made still more lax by the rulings of our courts. Ours is a democratic country, but while we punish severely the poorer class who break our laws, the rich easily escape when guilty of substantially similar offenses. The Commercial Bulletin calls attention to the grave irregularities of certain bank officials. It says:

The humiliating confession must be made that the disaster to each of these institutions is directly and solely due to their presidents having devoted the means of the banks to the support of their private ventures or to undue committments to firms through which they were speculating. In the case of one bank some $4,000,000 appears to have been abstracted from its vaults for stock speculations; in the case of another, the president has loaned to himself and his brokers, upon otherwise unavailable collateral, an amount sufficient to compel the bank to refuse payment upon $8,000,000 of deposits; and, in another case, the president has so involved the bank in his private speculations and has so committed it to an outside firm in which he was interested as to throw the bank into an utterly insolvent condition. Fortunately, in the case of the Second National family honor has made good the losses sustained; and, in respect to the Metropolitan, arrangements have been made which so repair its disaster as to restore it to its position in the Clearing House. The Marine, however, appears to be ruined beyond all possibility of resuscitation.

The punishment of the directors of the Bank of Glasgow tells the story of how the English law deals with offenders of this class. They were stripped of their property and sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment. Yet they all stood high in financial circles, and three of them were noted for their large gifts to charitable objects. Were there a corresponding failure in this country, these guilty directors would have resigned and that would have been the end of it.

The mint keeps on coining double eagles. For the four first months of this year $5,743,840 was minted of that coin, against $610,400 in eagles and $215,190 in half eagles, and only $107.50 in quarter eagles. In other words, the mint is worked for the benefit of exporters of gold. The only use for double eagles is to send them abroad. The half and quarter eagles are never exported, and if coined and circulated would dispense with the use of small bills and the silver dollar. Eighty-eight per cent. of our whole gold coinage is in these twenty-dollar pieces which, as General Jordan, an expert, says, are "more than five times as large as those habitually coined in France, and four times larger than the English sovereign, while of the remaining twelve per cent. of the coinage three-fourths are more than twice as large as the sovereign." The same authority adds that "it is this abnormal character of the gold coinage of the United States, with respect to that of France, England and Germany, Holland, Italy and Belgium, which tends materially to facilitate the exportation of our gold whensoever there is a stringent demand in Europe for the metal. Were Congress, instead of suspending the coinage of standard dollars, to put a stop to that of gold pieces larger than that of the half eagle over and above twenty-five per cent. of the gold coinage for any one month, it would materially check gold exportation."

The Harlem River Improvement.

This title should be stereotyped and kept in the office of all New York journals for continual use. The words have been in service during a half century, and at the date of this present writing, under the stimulus of a revival of interest, they are being compelled to do double duty, while there is not yet possible any very clear forecast as to the probable duration of their campaign. They must have cost by this time, in wages paid to compositors, the interest on a sufficiently large Congressional appropriation to meet all the demands of the proposed work.

It begins to look, however, as if the demands of private enterprise would soon compel a solution of the problem involved in the destruction of Spuyten Duyvil Creek, and the construction of a broad ship channel between the two rivers that form the east and west boundaries of New York. Property-holders are beginning to discover that estates bordering on the Harlem River are worthless, except for commercial and industrial purposes. This discovery alone would not be sufficient to justify a Congressional appropriation, but another discovery, long since made by navigators, the discovery of a possible short cut between the Hudson River and Long Island Sound, has furnished the necessary justification, and commerce and capital are combining for their mutual benefit. That they will be successful in carrying the proposed improvement to an early beginning can hardly be doubted.

Several private improvements are already projected along the Harlem River The Astor estate comprises many acres of both upland and land under water, just below Central Bridge, bordering on Cromwell Creek. At the mouth of this creek is a triangular piece of overflowed land about twenty-seven acres in extent. This land it is proposed to fill in as a site for factories, while along the stream, extending about one-third of a mile inland from the river, is projected a crib bulkhead, the channel to be dredged to the depth necessary for the use of shipping. The land on the opposite side of the stream belongs mainly to the Campbell and Anderson estates, and as the spirit of improvement is largely contagious, it is to be presumed that this property also will be soon put in a more marketable condition. Further up the river, at a point about midway between Morris Dock and Fordham Heights, on the west shore of the stream, is Sherman Creek. Here, also, the riparian proprietor contemplates an improvement, but he receives a check to his plans from the chief engineer of the Dock Department, Mr. Greene. The plan was to fill in the creek and make building sites of the new ground; but it is not thought that there is a sufficient waste of waters about New York Harbor to justify the destruction of any possible water front. Dredging and not filling is the treatment for Sherman Creek proposed by the chief engineer, and in his decision he is probably serving the true interest of the proprietor as well as of the public. In a commercial city, with great future possibilities, every inch of water front should be utilized.

But this sensible decision of Mr. Greene raises another question. In looking over the plans of the Park Commissioners we see a projected park extending along the south and west shore of the Harlem River, from One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street to Dyckman street, a distance of not much less than two miles. This park, so called, varies in width, being at some points not more than four hundred feet broad, and at the widest places only about seven or eight hundred feet. Reaching to an elevation of nearly two hundred feet above tide water, it will form a pretty fringe to the river it is thought. But will it not represent an extraordinary waste of water front for which there will be no compensating advantages? However cordial the relations between the Park Commissioners and Dock Commissioners personally, their plans run frequently at cross purposes; and this seems to be a case for a very pronounced disagreement. The Harlem River after its improvement, it must be remembered, will form merely a ship canal. It will present no broad expanse of water, such as would be necessary to make this prolonged strip of a park attractive, but along its shores will be ranged huge factories with tall, smoking chimneys, and other discomforting objects. In such a locality will the sacrifice of two miles of water front be worth while? To a man looking up from below, it would seem not, but looking down from the altitude of the Park Commissioners, there may be seen a reason for the surrender not vouchsafed to ordinary vision. A broad avenue extending along the bank of the river, with the space below left for the service of commerce and industry, would be very desirable, but this so-called park, it is to be feared, will hardly be worth the cost.

The improvement of the Harlem River is becoming a momentous question for New York, and it is a pity that inquiry fails to remove the cloud of uncertainty under which the subject is still obscured. The time when the necessary rights will be secured and a Congressional appropriation sufficient for beginning the work obtained is still uncertain; but as the legal obstacles have been removed, it may confidently be hoped that the day for the advent of the dredging machine is not distant. The Harlem River may never become so much of a passageway for river and coasting craft as some men have predicted. It shortens the route of a vessel bound from an up river port into Long Island Sound by nineteen or twenty miles it is true, but it will necessitate bills for towage which, when the winds are favorable, cannot be profitably paid. But one of the greatest wants in New York is sites for factories where coal and material can be cheaply handled and stored; and the district bordering on this river offers just the needed accommodations. Even after the improvement is undertaken, however, one thing must be remembered. By holding the lands at too high a value it will be just as easy to drive a manufacturer who is looking for a factory site over into New Jersey as it is to drive a man in search of a cheap and pleasant dwelling into Brooklyn.

Home Decorative Notes.

—A novel and exquisite floral decoration consists of two immense Japanese fans, twelve feet tall, hung with floral favors of the german, which should be Leghorn hats filled with flowers, and pretty little Indian baskets of fragrant grass also filled with flowers and tied with beautiful ribbons, these immense fans form a very beautiful screen and a fragrant fence for the german.

—Small baskets gilded inside and out and decorated with huge bows of velvet ribbon of brilliant colors, fine ostrich tips and luscious branches of fruit are extremely attractive for holding bonbons.

—Vases about 14 inches high, made of papier mache and painted by hand, are offered as bouquet-holders or for growing plants.

—The patterns for crochet and knitting are so numerous that no difficulty will be found in selecting something pleasing and attractive to all classes of workers; Marie Henderson, of 872 Broadway, offers innumerable varieties of knitted and crocheted articles, both of silk and worsted, samples of all styles of work may also be obtained.

—Tiny bright-colored Japanese lanterns serve as hair-pin receivers.

—Bunches of bluettes wrought in ribbon work, with leaves embroidered in filoselle, is an extremely beautiful design for a baby's carriage robe, use cream eider down flannel for the foundation and edge with wide lace.

—Stairways are carpeted to match the hall and may have round rods to fasten them, or else pins or buttons made of brass, French gilt, nickel or bronze, the carpet may cover the stairs or there may be the floor border visible on each side.

—The Bohemian ware shows beautiful rose, ruby and gilded trays, ice-cream sets, decanters, glasses with borders, in imitation of filigree or lace work, in gold and enamel of delicate colors.

—Both the first and second prizes for original wall paper designing were won by women; the first was taken by Mrs. Wheeler, the second by Miss Clark, quite a number of men artists were in competition; this is a study of art by women to some purpose.

—Mantel scarfs are more graceful than lambrequins, for the material, if soft and clinging, follows the lines of the slab and chooses its own folds for the corners.

—Glass is becoming fashionable as a protection to oil paintings, and as a safeguard against moths and damp the backs of valuable pictures should be covered with rubber cloth.

—The rich satin quilts in squares of different colors, each square embroidered in bouquets or loose flowers in all their rich shades to suit the colors of the square on which the embroidery is done, and joined together by fancy stitches in fine gold threads, are very elegant, these squares should be sufficient in number to cover the bed, and a border attached about a half or three-quarters of an inch in width with a graceful running wreath or more set designs worked in silks with a plentiful but appropriate mixture of gold thread, the edge is trimmed with guipure lace, which should be laid flat on the satin just passing the outer edge, a lining of quilted satin adds to the beauty of the work throwing it up with a softness it would otherwise lack.

—New china tea-pots have old English mottoes inscribed on them, inviting "Polly to put the kettle on."

—A beautiful dinner decoration may be made by running lines of smilax about the set pieces, and then sprinkling the cloth with pansies from which the stems have been plucked.

—An exquisite trophy for the wall of a country mansion is of Berlin bronze, composed of a massive shield, embossed with oak leaves and grapes, with an antlered deer's head, a pair of hunting knives, a halberd, spears and hunting horn, embossed with high relief figures accompanying it in picturesque grouping.

—An attractive pedestal scarf is of orange Japanese silk, with ends embroidered with the crackle design arranged with sprays of forget-me-nots.

—Very pretty crumb trays are of olive wood in horse shoe form, with silver mountings; others are of copper and brass in shape of lotus leaves; the fine Japanese lacquer is much admired and can be found in numberless designs.

—A delicate drapery for a small table is of crushed strawberry Surah silk, the ends decorated with the pear design in applique; velvet or plush is used to form the leaves and fruit, the coloring is strictly conventional.

—American walnut is out of fashion, the light woods for chambers are ash, oak and cherry, both in its light color and stained to imitate mahogany.

—The latest craze in embroidery is for Chinese effects.

—A paper chimney 50 feet high has recently been erected at Breslau, France, compressed paper pulp is stated to be one of the least inflammable of substances and to make an excellent material for fire-proof doors.

—For lustra painting the Lewis velveteen, which may be procured in all colors, is used with very satisfactory results.

—It is astonishing to what a degree of elevation Chinese matting has been raised, it is capable of almost anything and now aspires to be used for portieres; it has long been admired as a foundation for screens, and is singularly adapted to the use of oil-colors, most effective panels are decorated with sprays of flowers or branches and clusters of fruit; the wisteria with its graceful vine and clusters of rich purple flowers form an exquisite panel design, and the mock orange with branch and yellow fruit is extremely beautiful; the seamless matting in all the dull colors of dark shades, such as Chinese red or olive, is greatly preferred to those of the natural straw colors or checks, an extensive assortment of these goods are offered by W. & J. Sloane, of Broadway and Eighteenth street.

Realty and Stocks.

The fact that Amos R. Eno had to come to the rescue of his son, John C. Eno, has naturally attracted much attention in real estate circles. The father made his money in real estate investments; the son lost millions in stock speculations. Mr. Eno is not only a very large holder of realty but a constant buyer; his face is well known on the Exchange and lately he has been putting a great deal of money in vacant west side property.

"Real estate is good enough for me," said Mr. Fleming Smith. "Some very conservative capitalists put their money into bank stocks but I could not sleep nights were I to do so. You are liable under the law for double the amount of your investment in the stock of the bank in case anything goes wrong. You are at the mercy of speculating presidents, indifferent directors and defaulting cashiers. The last sale of Marine Bank stock before its failure was at 162, yet it now looks as if every owner of the capital stock will be forced to pay out double the amount of its par value. Then take the case of stocks. What ruin they have brought upon thousands. There is a game among boys called 'cracking the whip.' The youngsters are ranged in the order of their strength and size, the big ones coming first and the smallest and weakest last. The game is to imitate the motion of a whip, that is, the top of the line oscillates a very little but the further end is swung violently to and fro. As a consequence the weak little fellows are the sufferers; they get hurled about in every direction. The holders of stock correspond to the end of the line in this game. When financial oscillations commence they are knocked about to their great injury. Ahead of them is the preferred stock, the income bonds, the fourth, third, second and first mortgage holders. The nearer you are to the top of the line, the less danger. No! I don't care to invest in stocks." Mr. Smith then went on to state a number of cases where investments in city property, wisely made, had not only produced a regular income but had enriched the purchasers. Of course real estate has its fluctuations but it was the surest kind of property after all.

H. H. Cammann held to the same view. One of his clients who had invested largely in vacant property was naturally much depressed in 1877 when realty brought very low figures. One day this gentleman came to him looking more satisfied. Said he, "I have just parted with a friend who started with me in life, with about the same capital I had, I bought real estate and he invested in stocks. When I met him to-day, I congratulated him, but he cut me short by telling me I was the one to be felicitated. All he had to show for his fortune were some worthless printed certificates, while I had kept my principal intact by real estate investments which had at least a substantial basis." Mr. Cammann here mentioned several instances to show the great appreciation of real estate values in New York. In 1856 he bought for a client a piece of property on Broadway, below Twenty-third street, for $10,500. A small addition subsequently cost $3,000. That property has just been rented on a three years' lease for $10,000 per annum. The building No. 28 Broad street, corner of Exchange place, was sold in 1844 for $13,000. Its assessed valuation to-day is $68,000, and the owner would probably ask $150,000 for it, nor would this price be high, for D. O. Mills, in 1881, paid $200,000 for No. 11 Broad street, a plot 32 x about 78. No. 2 Broad street, 15.9x29.2x18.9x29.1, sold in April, 1882, for $168,000.

J. F. B. Smyth said that although the first shock would affect people's minds, there is no doubt but what real estate will gain by the failures. Wall street is too insecure for the investment of any large sum of money. If you hold real estate, you know you have something which a bank president or officer cannot abscond with. It is something tangible and yields a fair profit. People are beginning to recognize that the best investment they can make with their money is to purchase real estate.

The general impression seemed to be that young Eno would have done well to have followed in his father's footsteps, and that he did not show much sense in trying to add to a fortune which was large enough, and of which he would naturally come into possession before many years were over, by bulling a falling market.

Land Transfer Reform.

"We have got our bill through the Legislature," said Mr. Dwight H. Olmstead, "authorizing the Governor to appoint a commission on land transfer reform. If the right kind of lawyers are chosen they can easily make up their report by the next session of the Legislature, for the work has all been done by our association, and so thoroughly that it needs no revising. A change in the mode of registering conveyances has become a necessity, and all the leading lawyers favor it as much as do the owners of realty. Nothing has been said about our bill in the press as yet, but it is one of the most important measures of the session. There is a reasonable hope that the next Legislature will enact our land transfer reform bills."

The Herald is showing a marvellous lack of sense in its articles and editorials on real estate. It gives accounts of booms which exist only in the imagination of singularly misinformed reporters. The Roosevelt property, which was sold recently, was a family affair. The various parcels were bid up by the uncles, cousins and aunts of the Roosevelt contingent, who had the bidding all to themselves. They naturally valued their own property very highly, but the figures were no indication of the state of the market. Yet the Herald makes the sale a text for showing what high prices are secured for desirable realty in New York. There was a time when this paper would not say a word about real estate, but now it is literally running things into the ground. We have found it always best to tell the exact truth about the state of the market. Men with money to invest do not like being deceived.

The New York Board of Health has just forwarded to the International Health Association of London a set of plans of typical tenements and apartment houses built in this city during the past two years, and also a complete set of plumbing plans, school, office, public, hotel, stable and private residences, thus giving the Health Boards on the other side an opportunity of studying our local regulations for the maintenance of health.

Benner's Prophecies.

This curious publication made its first appearance in Cincinnati in 1875. The third edition is now before us. It is a crude work, and the lack of literary skill it betrays is explained by the fact that its author is, what he claims to be, an uneducated Ohio farmer. It is, however, the subject matter of the work, and not its form, which has given it a deserved reputation. The author claims to have discovered certain laws which control prices, and whatever critics may say of his vaticinations he certainly succeeded in forecasting the price of iron, corn and hogs from the year in which the book was written up to the present time. The claim he makes on page 135 of the third edition of this work, just published, is fully justified by the facts. Philosophers say that the test of all science is the ability to predict; as, for instance, the astronomer can tell to the fraction of a second when an eclipse will begin and end. The chemist with equal certainty foretells the result of any combination of physical atoms. Judged by this standard, Benner's claim that he has discovered a law of prices is entitled at least to respectful consideration.

As we shall have occasion from time to time to speak of this work, we shall not charge our crowded columns with any selections from it in this issue. As it is not available at any of the city stores, we have procured a few copies, which we can furnish any of our readers who may desire to peruse it at the publication price of one dollar. It will be mailed by us to any address.

The late Charles O'Connor is the subject of fulsome eulogy in the daily press. He has all his life been held in the highest estimation, when probably no man who ever lived deserved it so little. He was learned in legal technicalities, had a strong will and imperious manner, and his very limited intellect was keen and logical. But while he stood high at the New York bar in ordinary practice, because of his strong personality, he made a lamentable failure in discussing constitutional questions before the Supreme Court. This was due to his want of general culture and breadth of view. He was a State's-right secessionist before the Cival War, and when he went bail for Jeff. Davis at the close of the civil conflict, it was from actual sympathy with the man and his cause. True, Horace Greeley was on the same bonds, but the latter's motives in wishing to deal generously with the fallen rebel chief were the very opposite of those which influenced his associate. During the latter part of O'Connor's life he lived on a borrowed reputation. It was his defence of Mrs. Forrest which brought him professional renown and made his fortune. The popular supposition was that he never charged Mrs. Forrest for his services. But at length the fact was made public by Mr. Henry Selden, a relative of the lady, and now one of the editors of the Commercial Advertiser, that this supposed disinterested lawyer was as greedy a shark as the very worst in his profession. Mrs. Forrest got very little from the generous verdict of the jury, but her lawyer a great deal. Yet for a quarter of a century Mr. O'Connor passed for the most disinterested and most generous of men, and the false impression he created during his life survives his death. The truth will be told about him nowhere except in this paragraph.

A dastardly attempt was made by a syndicate of bear houses yesterday to ruin a leading Vanderbilt banking firm, so as to drive down the price of Central and Lake Shore. The firm attacked was perfectly solvent, but, owing to the policy of the banks, it could not borrow even upon the large line of governments it held, owned by Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt. Fortunately Secretary Folger came to the rescue, and authorized the lending of government gold upon United States securities. This saved the house, but it had a narrow escape, as Lake Shore was driven down to 82 and other Vanderbilt stocks were heavily raided. The bear firms engaged in this conspiracy ought to be driven out of the street. They are worse than highwaymen. As they are known, they should be marked and outlawed by all honest traders.

The work on the new Real Estate Exchange has commenced. The old building purchased with the Marquand building is being torn down to give place to a front, corresponding with the rest of the exchange on the corner of Liberty court. It is hoped that the new building and the alterations to the old one will be completed by October. The new salesroom will be square in form, 33 feet in height, and will be well ventilated and lighted. Next week we will give a picture of the Exchange as it will appear when reconstructed. As THE RECORD AND GUIDE will issue a large extra edition advertisers will find it to their advantage to make use of it in giving publicity to their special lines of business.

With the exception of the Second National, the up-town banks do not seem to have had any large or numerous calls from depositors, as was the case with several down-town banks. In a conversation with a representative of THE RECORD AND GUIDE on Thursday, President Kelly, of the Fifth National Bank, corner Twenty-third street and Third avenue, stated that he made preparations for paying out a very large sum of money in view of the apprehensive state of the public mind since Wednesday's failures, but he was surprised to find that not a quarter of the demand was made upon the bank that he had anticipated. He felt confident that owing to the concerted action of the Clearing House, things would now run smoothly. He expected to see the stock market improve.

Some of the trains of the London and Southwestern Railway are to be permanently equipped with incandescent electric lamps supplied by batteries of the Holmes-Burke pattern. The estimated cost of working is ¼ cent an hour for each lamp of a nominal five-candle illuminating power.

Realty at Albany.

ALBANY, May 15.

The new building law for New York city has passed both Houses. There was a sharp controversy over it in the Assembly, and several amendments made before it could be passed in that body. It appears that the Senate inserted a provision compelling the attachment of patent automatic traps at each floor in every elevator shaft, and the Assembly was flooded with letters and telegraphic dispatches against that provision. One section was believed to legislate Mr. Esterbrook and his force in the Building Bureau out of office. This section was drawn to meet the original purposes of the bill when it provided for an independent department, and was not changed when it was decided to continue the bureau under the Fire Department. This led to bitter opposition among some of the New York members. The builders were not satisfied with the provision for a Board of Appeal and Arbitration. The bill after being ordered to third reading was sent to a special committee, before whom appeared the attorney for the Fire Department and representatives of the builders.

The compulsory provision relative to patent automatic traps on elevators was taken out. An amendment was made requiring that all buildings erected for dwelling purposes over 70 feet high should be constructed of fire-proof material. A new section was inserted providing for a Board of Appeal from the Superintendent in all cases where the matter involved covered an expenditure of over $500. This was made satisfactory to the builders. The section which legislated Mr. Esterbrook out of office, or was supposed to do so, was amended by adding a proviso that nothing in that section should be construed as legislating Mr. Esterbrook or his subordinates out, leaving the same power for his removal as now exists undisturbed. A few other technical amendments were made, the bill reported, and passed the Assembly yesterday. Thus after three years efforts the building laws have been revised and modernized, provided the Governor signs the bill.

The bill providing for the introduction of salt water, for fire and sanitary purposes, has been approved by the Governor. This is to be done by a company, the city to pay under a contract for the water taken.

The act pressed by many underwriters giving authority to a corporation to bore artesian wells for water, and supply that for the extinguishment of fires, has passed both Houses. There is thus plenty of plans provided to obtain water for fire and sanitary purposes.

The Earl Mechanic's Lien Law has passed the Senate. That body made several amendments, inserted new matter, and struck out the second and third sections of the bill, as it originally passed the Assembly, also making several other changes. The Assembly has concurred in the amendments, and it now goes to the Governor.

The bill of Mr. Plunkett, providing for the change of the grades of the streets between Eighth and Ninth avenues, from Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Twenty-third street, so as to conform them to the grade of Eighth avenue, has passed both Houses. Also the bill to make a park out of the gore on the Broadway Boulevard, between Seventy-second and Seventy-third streets.

The act for the repavement of Fifth avenue has finally got through. The work is placed under the Sinking Fund Commissioners, and if they find that they cannot get the work done as it should be by responsible contractors, for $400,000 or less, they are authorized to re-advertise the work, and pay not to exceed $500,000.

The bill for an iron foot bridge over the railroad cut at Ninety-eighth street and Fourth avenue has passed both Houses, as has also the bill for the construction of a pier for the use of the Police and Dock Departments at the Battery.

The Mayor's cabinet protested against the bill authorizing the extension and enlargement of the pier at West Forty-second street and the Hudson River. It appears that arrangements had been made to give the West Shore Railroad accommodation there, which deprived the Metropolitan Gas Company of its necessary accommodations. The bill in question was to enlarge and extend the pier to meet their wants. It has finally passed both Houses, in spite of the protest of the Mayor's cabinet.

The act relative to the appeals of property-owners to the courts in regard to damages connected with the establishment and abandonment of the parade ground on the flats on the upper end of Manhattan Island, has gone to the Governor, as has also the bill adding the names of Hugh Gardner and Joseph Garry to the Assessment Commission to adjust the Boulevard assessments.

The act requiring the Park Department to alter the map or plan of the district north of the Harlem River by striking therefrom so much of Morris avenue as lies between One Hundred and Sixty-second street and Overlook avenue, and so much of One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street as lies between Winfield place and Sheridan avenue, has passed both Houses.

The bill establishing an exterior street on the East River, from Sixty-fourth to Ninety-second street, has passed the Assembly, but it is doubtful if it will get through the Senate.

A bill amending Section 2231, of the Code of Civil Procedure, which passed the Senate sometime since, came up for third reading in the Assembly to-day, when it was discovered that it had an important provision relative to landlords and tenants. It provides, that "In either of the following cases a tenant or lessee at will, or at sufferance, or for part of a year, or for one or more years, of real property, including a specific or undivided portion of a house or other dwelling, and his assignees, undertenants or legal representatives may be removed therefrom, as prescribed in this title."

1. When he holds over and continues in possession of the demised premises, or any portion thereof, after the expiration of his term without the permission of the landlord.
2. When he holds over, without the like permission, after a default in the payment of rent, pursuant to the agreement which the demised premises are held, and a demand of the rent has been made, or at least three days' notice in writing requiring in the alternative the payment of the rent or the possession of the premises, has been served in behalf of the person entitled to the rent upon the person owning it, as prescribed in this title for the service of a precept.
3. Where in any city in this State he holds over and continues in possession of the demised premises or any portion thereof after default in the payment of any taxes or assessments levied on such demised premises, and which he has agreed in writing to pay pursuant to the agreement under which the demised premises are held, and a demand for the payment of such taxes or assessments has been made, or at least three days' notice in writing requiring in the alternative the payment thereof, and of any interest or penalty thereon, or the possession of the premises, has been served in behalf of the landlord upon the lessee as prescribed in this title for the service of a precept. An acceptance of any rent by the lessor or his legal representatives shall not construed as a waiver of the agreement of the lessee to pay taxes or assessments, so as to preclude the lessor from the benefits of this chapter.

4. Where he, being in possession under a lease for a term of three years or less, has, during the term, taken the benefit of an insolvent act, or has been adjudicated a bankrupt, under a bankrupt law of the United States.

5. Where the demised premises, or any part thereof, are used or occupied as a bawdy-house, or house of assignation for lewd persons, or for any illegal trade or manufacture, or other illegal business.

§ 2. Subdivision one of section twenty-two hundred and fifty-four of said code is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

1. Where the final order establishes that a lessee or tenant holds over, after a default in the payment of rent or of taxes or assessments, he may effect a stay, by payment of the rent due, or of such taxes or assessments and interest and penalty if any thereon due, and the costs of the special proceeding; or by delivering to the judge or justice, or the clerk of the court, his undertaking to the petitioner, in such sum and with such sureties as the judge or justice approves, to the effect that he will pay the rent, or such taxes or assessments and interest and penalty and costs, within ten days, at the expiration of which time a warrant may issue, unless he produces to the judge or justice satisfactory evidence of the payment.

The new portion is contained in the third subdivision of the first section, and in the second section of the bill. It has passed both Houses.

The Roosevelt so-called reform bill, relative to the Park Department, one of the series, was amended in the Senate to-day by providing that all of the present Park Commissioners should retire on the first of February next, and that the Mayor should then appoint three new Commissioners, one for two, one for four and one for six years; the salary of each should be $5,000. The bill was then passed, and the Assembly concurred in the amendments in spite of Mr. Roosevelt's protest. Only one of the Commissioners now receives a salary. The powers of the Department is left unchanged.

The bill enlarging the powers of the Board of Health relative to drainage and plumbing was defeated in the Assembly this afternoon.

The bill providing $2,000,000 for the Board of Education to purchase land and erect school buildings thereon has passed both Houses.

Governor Cleveland has signed the two reform bills relative to the County Clerk's office, the two relative to the Sheriff's office, and the Surragate's and Register's bills of the reform series have been recalled and amended by striking out the technical errors, and repassed again.

The bill changing the name of Reservoir square, at Forty-second street and Sixth avenue, to Bryant Park has been signed and is a law, as has also the bill establishing another Civil District Court in the Twenty-second Ward.

The Legislature is still at work and may pass several other bills for New York before it closes its labors to-morrow noon.

The veto of the Arcade Underground Railroad bill was a surprise to everybody here and has arrested that important improvement for the development of New York city. His message is generally called a weak document and would have been just as strong if he had merely said: I object to the proposed road, and don't think the bill should become a law, therefore I refuse to sign it. That is about all there is to it.

The Arcade men have been at work trying to see if they cannot pass the bill over the veto. There is no doubt of the result in the House, but the difficulty is in the Senate. Senator Low, one of the strongest advocates of the bill, is absent from sickness, and this makes the result so doubtful that at this hour of writing the friends of the bill are in doubt about the policy of trying to pass the bill over the veto. That this great improvement and plan for furnishing the city with rapid transit facilities which will meet the wants of a growing city should again be arrested by an executive veto is a calamity to New York. The Governor appears to have been frightened by the fears of a few property holders who stand in the way of the enhancement of the value of their own property.

The Prospect for Wheat and Corn.

Mr. George H. Sexton, of the firm of Bottom & Sexton, thinks it is dangerous to sell wheat below 88 for June. At that price he is sure it is a purchase, and as good as government bonds. He looks for a great corn crop this year, but expects to see the old corn sell very high before the new crop is marketed. There is not, he thinks, much sound old corn in the country. That cereal was undoubtedly injured by the frost of last September, and the price shows the yield was not up to the wants of the country. It is a mistake to suppose that we are not shipping wheat abroad; there is always a demand for our red winter wheat. It is required to mix with the soft and inferior British wheat. Unfortunately, our stock of this fine quality of wheat is running low. Europeans do not want our spring wheat, except in the form of flour as manufactured by the patent process in Minnesota. Wheat, Mr. Sexton thought will some time this year see much higher figures, and he believed it a purchase now for the late months of the year. Pork will continue to command a high price, due to the scarcity of corn. The value of this cereal would, he thought, constantly increase in this country. Wheat cannot be fed to cattle, but Indian corn is eagerly devoured by both man and beast. And then the uses for corn are multiplying, as, for instance, its conversion into glucose. In this country we have a practical monopoly of corn raising, while wheat can be grown in any part of the world. There is a large profit in corn at 25 cents a bushel, and the high price of the last three years will stimulate farmers to raise continually increasing crops of that most useful of the cereals.

Real Estate Title Insurance.

The Title Guarantee & Trust Company into which the New York Title Company (Limited), and the German-American Loan & Trust Company have been merged, with a large paid-up capital, is now ready to examine and insure titles to real estate in New York and Brooklyn.

The company is organized and conducted upon the same principles as the Philadelphia Company. It is now preparing new indexes, arranged according to locality, as has been done so successfully, first in New Zealand and subsequently in other places, notably Philadelphia, Baltimore and Boston.

With these indexes completed it can examine a title in much shorter time and with much less risk of error and at less expense than under the present cumbrous system, and in addition to all these advantages it insures the result. Meantime it will examine titles according to the old system and by skilled experts, and issue its guarantees, which will be more valuable, as the risks under the old, or name index, system are greater than under the new.

The promoters of this company think it would be of great assistance to the Real Estate and Auction Room (Limited), and the two together might be able to reach that much desired goal, where real estate is to be as easily marketed as stocks or bonds.

There is every reason why title insurance should be still more successful here than in Philadelphia, and if the policies of a well-managed company, backed by a careful examination on an improved and well nigh perfect plan, can take the place of abstracts of title and enable transfers to be made in a day, as they do there, a great step will be taken in the right direction.

A singular amendment has, it seems, been made to the proposed new building law since its introduction in the Assembly. Its object was to compel the use of an elevator and hoist-way cover, the patents of which are owned by private individuals. It does not look well for legislation to be invoked to fill the purses of particular persons. There are several very popular hatch-covers which are favored not only by the public, but by the insurance companies, for instance those of the Excelsior Hatch Company, which asks for no special law and in its advertisements claims credit for not doing so. The insurance companies all abate their rate on buildings in which this particular hatch cover is used, and the manufacturers have so many demands from Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia that they are refusing western orders, being unable to fill them. Our Albany correspondent states that the building law has passed both Houses with the objectionable clause stricken out. So far so well.

If you wish to know all about the nature of property in real estate, either in fee simple or life estates, such as a husband's right by the courtesy, or a wife's right of dower, estates at will, leases, franchises, easements, trust estates, mortgages, waste and how to prevent it, deeds, and devises by will, you will find all the principles of the law tersely and correctly stated in the handy little pocket volume by Charles T. Boone, published by Sumner, Whitney & Co., of San Francisco, and for sale by all law booksellers in this city. We notice that the decision of our New York Court of Appeals holding that estates by the entirety (to a husband and wife and the survivor of them), still exist, the case of Bertles vs. Nunan, overruling Meeker vs. Wright (cited on page 426), had not reached Mr. Boone when this book went to press. But it is an admirable, clear, readable little volume, which we willingly recommend to our subscribers. It gives the law as it exists to-day divested of all obsolete doctrines, in a form readily accessible.

What a change a couple of years makes. When The Record and Guide in 1882 first suggested the wisdom of holding a national convention to revise the constitution of the United States, the proposition was not entertained by the leading city papers. But recently a discussion has sprung up all over the country, touching the desirability of a new or at least an amended fundamental law. Papers like the Journal of Commerce and the Commercial Bulletin warmly urge the assembling of a new convention—on the date first proposed by us—that is, the hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the present constitution. It will, however, still take some time before public opinion pronounces decidedly in favor of an amended constitution. But the change has got to come. The very discussion of it will be of benefit to the country, as it will bring fundamental questions of politics to the front. The political articles in our newspapers of to-day are the merest husks of discussion and touch no vital question affecting the welfare of the nation.

Editor Record and Guide:

In your issue of April 12, Mr. Fleming Smith says a dwelling 30 feet wide will give two wide rooms in front on the upper stories. Taking off the walls they would not be 15 feet wide.

As to the pay for labor we have not paid over $4 per day for bricklayers since the eight-hour trouble. We can get all the men we want for $4. Van Dolsen & Arnott.

Our correspondents may not pay more than $4 a day to their workmen, but the contract price to investors would surely be more than that. Labor is certainly higher than the condition of the times warrants. Mr. Fleming Smith did not allude to merely 30-foot houses; his point was that much wider houses than those that can be built on a 25-foot lot would give more spacious parlors, wider halls and ampler living rooms.

Mr. D. R. Kendall thinks it a great mistake for owners of realty to allow their vacant property to be used for advertising purposes, by permitting the placarding of large posters on the fences surrounding their ground. In some cases a rental is received for the privilege granted to the advertisers, but in others the posters are stuck up without the knowledge or consent of the owner. This is particularly the case on the west side, especially in the upper region. Mr. Kendall is of opinion that the large boards obstruct the lots from view, and keeps them from being purchased by investors or for improvement. Buyers are attracted by a nice clean patch enclosed with a simple fence, and pass by plots defaced with advertisements. An acquaintance of his recently informed him that some vacant property on the west side sold for a good deal less than its fair market value, and he attributed this to the big posters by which it was disfigured. He recommends property owners desirous of disposing of their holdings to keep them clear of placards, a matter of greater importance than appears on the face of it.

A representative of The Record and Guide went over to Garden City last week and got off at Hinsdale City, a small place adjoining, being one station nearer this side. The depot is surrounded by a large tract of finely cultivated ground, dotted here and there with farm houses and cottages of residents in the vicinity. Most of this property has been surveyed and laid out in building lots, 25x100, which the owner is disposing of on very easy terms. The price of the lots last fall was $150, which has been increased at the rate of $5 monthly, the figure now being $170. The lots are paid for at the rate of $5 per month by purchasers, who are encouraged to erect cottages for residences during the summer and all the year round, which are constructed for them by the owner, and which they can pay off in monthly installments of $5 for every $500 of cost. It will thus be seen that it is easy for mechanics to obtain a home there within a few years by paying their monthly rent into their own pockets, as it were, instead of into the pocket of their landlord, and thus in a few years become the owner of a comfortable and healthy home, with all the advantages of a country life, and far away from the crowded streets and thoroughfares of a great city. This little place is finely located. It adjoins Creedmoor on the one side and Garden City on he other, while Mineola, where the cattle fairs are held, can be seen in the distance. The ground is free from malarial influence, and the soil very good. A telegraph and postoffice are on the spot, and, owing to the proximity of Garden City College, Creedmoor Rifle Range and Mineola, the place would be very attractive as a summer resort should a large hotel be built there. This, it is said, is in contemplation, and sketches have already been made for such a structure by D. T. Atwood, of Broadway. It may be added that Hinsdale is thirteen miles distant from New York. It is about half an hour's ride to New York, exclusive of the time occupied in crossing the ferry, and the commutation trip is ten cents. Those interested can communicate with R. Wilson, attorney, No. 335 Broadway, New York.

Real Estate Department.

This has been a quiet week in real estate. There were the usual throngs at the salesroom, but the bidding was not spirited and most of the important sales were postponed. The sale of the Roosevelt property early in the week did not attract much attention, nor were the prices at which the parcels were knocked down regarded as being any indication of real values, the bidding being confined to the members of the Roosevelt family, who bought at higher figures than would have been given by outsiders. Vacant property, as usual, did not command good figures at the sales. Despite the "racket" in Wall street there is quite a confident feeling in real estate circles. It is believed the summer's business will be a fair one, better than last year, and that the activity of this spring will be renewed in the fall season. The conduct of Amos R. Eno in standing by his son and making good the losses of the latter in stocks was much commented on. Mr. Eno, Sr., will stand even much better than he has heretofore, due to his creditable action in this matter.

Although there were few private sales reported last week, as well as little done at the salesroom, quite a number of new plans were filed in the Building Bureau, some of them quite important. The Sisters of the Poor have taken title to twenty lots on One Hundred and Sixth and One Hundred and Seventh streets, east of Tenth avenue, upon which they will build a hospital. The Cancer Hospital has taken title to the property on Eighth avenue, recently purchased from Mr. Cohnfeld. It looks, indeed, as if the region on the northwest of Central Park is about to become a new home for hospitals and charitable institutions. This will improve it architecturally, but will not advantage it as a region for retail stores, nor will it be so desirable for private residences.

At the Exchange Salesroom, on Saturday last, the brick tenement No. 47 Emmet street, Brooklyn, was sold for $5,600. On Monday, houses on West Tenth and Thirteenth streets were sold. On Tuesday, dwelling houses on Monroe, East Fifty-sixth, Eighty-third and One Hundred and Eleventh streets, New York, and on Court, Carroll and Skillman streets, Brooklyn, were offered; also lots on Elton avenue, corner of One Hundred and Sixty-first street. Ten acres on Valentine and Morris avenues were knocked down but not sold. Stores, dwellings, stables, wharves and piers, offered by order of the executors of Theo. Roosevelt, were bid in at high prices. On Wednesday fifteen two-story dwellings on Eighth avenue, extending from One Hundred and Twenty-fifth to One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, were sold for $106,750; a store on West Third street, 20x75, brought $11,250; one lot on the southwest corner of Eleventh avenue and One Hundred and Second street, on which $3,800 was due, sold under foreclosure for $3,800, and one lot on the street and adjoining above went for $2,150; six lots on One Hundred and Nineteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets, west of Eighth avenue, brought $3,750 each; six others on One Hundred and Nineteenth street $3,008 each, and three on One Hundred and Thirty-third street, east of Sixth avenue, $4,825 each; one lot on Seventy-sixth street, west of Eighth avenue, 18x204.4 to Seventy-seventh street, sold for $9,600, and six lots on One Hundred and Sixty-fourth street, west of Grove avenue, for about $800 each. The sale of No. 119 Pearl street was adjourned sine die, and lots on East Seventy-fifth and Seventy-sixth streets to May 21.

On Thursday the seven-story brick apartment house on the southwest corner of Fourth avenue and Sixty-second street, 100.5x83.4, was sold under foreclosure for $118,000, to the New York Life Insurance Company, who hold a mortgage against the same, on which about $136,000 is due; four lots on St. Nicholas avenue, on which $9,100 is due, brought $9,600, and the four-story dwelling, No. 126 East Twenty-seventh street, sold for $20,900, there being $20,200 due thereon; three flats on East Fifty-second street brought about $12,200 each; the dwelling, No. 1110 Park avenue, north of Sixty-sixth street, was knocked down for $21,250, and 7 11-100 acres, with house, at Fort Washington, for $37,000. The sales of store property on the southwest corner of Broadway and Twelfth street and six dwellings on East Sixty-seventh street were adjourned for one week, and lots on East Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth streets and St. Nicholas and Tenth avenues to May 27th; foreclosure sales of houses on East One Hundred and Sixth and One Hundred and Eighth streets were postponed.

On Friday all the sales were adjourned, except those of the houses No. 5 East Seventy-third street, which sold under foreclosure for about $65,500, and No. 406 East Fifty-second street for $6,700.

On Thursday, E. H. Ludlow & Co. offered at Fordham, 167 lots on Union avenue, Hoffman, Frederic, Cambreleng and Pyne streets, belonging to the estate of Wm. L. Chamberlain, deceased. The prices obtained were very low.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. will sell on Tuesday, May 20th, a number of vacant lots belonging to the estate of the late Don Alonzo Cushman. The parcels, the locations and dimensions of which can be learned from our advertising columns, are all on the west side, between Forty-eighth and Fiftieth streets, and with one exception west of Eighth avenue. This district has improved rapidly during the last few years, and investments there will beyond a doubt prove satisfactory to the purchasers at this sale.

On May 21 Richard V. Harnett will sell fifteen very valuable lots situated on Fifth avenue, between One Hundred and Thirty-sixth and One Hundred and Thirty-seventh streets; also two lots on Fifth avenue, near One Hundred and Twelfth street, and four lots on Sixth avenue, between One Hundred and Thirty-second and One Hundred and Thirty-third streets. All these lots are finely located, and have great prospective value. They should bring high figures.

The sale of the property of John H. Deane will take place on June 3 and 4, the auctioneer being Richard V. Harnett. Elsewhere in our advertising columns will be found a complete list of the numerous parcels to be offered. There are to be sold a number of valuable dwellings in the vicinity of Mount Morris square, of various sizes, fitted with all the conveniences of modern life. On Mount Morris square are two very excellent houses, and included in the other Harlem property announced to be sold will be some desirable apartment houses. Residences on Fourth and Lexington avenues and elsewhere, and a few vacant lots, go to complete the 200 parcels to be disposed of, variety enough we should suppose to suit the tastes and desires of operators and purchasers of every class.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Tuesday, May 20, the valuable tenement properties, Nos. 402 and 404 East Fifty-ninth street and Nos. 242, 244 and 246 East Eightieth street.

On Tuesday, the 27th inst., some valuable city and country property will be sold at the Exchange. It comprises an entire block of land, bounded by St. Nicholas and Tenth avenues, One Hundred and Fifty-sixth and One Hundred and Fifty-seventh streets; also six lots on Eighty-ninth street, and six lots on Eighty-eighth street, and the county seat at Whitestone L. I., known as Spring Lawn. These parcels belong to the estate of John Haggerty. A. H. Muller & Sons are the auctioneers.

Attention is called to an advertisement offering a fifty-acre plot (600 lots) which fronts the proposed Bronx Park. This land is well situated and has high prospective value. It adjoins Bedford Park.

The conveyances of last week make a splendid record, compared with the corresponding week of last year. The number of conveyances have largely increased and the consideration is $1,424,582 more. Then the mortgage indebtedness is relatively less. Here is the table:

The property, No. 17 Wall street, 21.1x67x31.7x63.4, was conveyed on Thursday to Matthew Wilks, the consideration being $300,000. Mr. Wilks now owns all the property on Wall street, east of the Stock Exchange, and extending to Broad street, except No. 15 Wall street, 14.8x72.10x13.9x76, which was purchased at auction by John H. Haar about a year ago for $86,000. The former is at the rate of about $220 per square foot, and the latter about $200. The southwest corner of Wall and Broad streets, purchased by Mr. Wilks in April, 1882, cost $330 per square foot, the price being $168,000.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Bradley & Currier. They offer houses for sale, or in exchange for city lots. Their office is at No. 54 Dey street.

Richard V. Harnett will sell on Tuesday, May 20, the tenements Nos. 69 and 71 Willett street. This property is well rented.

Gossip of the Week.

The property No. 691 Broadway, west side, 80 feet south of Fourth street, 36x200, to Mercer street, with old buildings thereon, has been sold by the Kernochan estate for $175,000.

The four-story high-stoop brown stone dwelling, No. 33 West Thirty-fifth street, 25x98.9, has been sold for $40,400 to F. W. Stevens. Brokers, A. H. Muller & Son and T. S. Clarkson & Son.

V. K. Stevenson, Jr., has sold the four-story stone front dwelling, No. 41 West Fifty-second street, 17x65x100.5, to James J. Coogan, for $32,250, and for McCafferty & Buckley one lot, 25x100.5, on the north side of Fifty-first street, between Sixth and Seventh avenues, for $19,000, to Mr. Baldwin, of 17 West Fifty-third street, who will erect a stable thereon.

W. J. T. Duff has sold for S. Lichtenstein eight lots on the southwest corner of Third avenue and Ninetieth street (six on avenue and two on street), for $78,000, to E. G. Stedman; for John W. Pirsson, the plot on the northeast corner of Third avenue and One Hundred and First street, 100x110, for about $38,000, to Moritz Bauer, and the five-story double tenement, No. 146 East Thirty-ninth street, to Robert Hall, for $18,500.

M. B. Baer & Co. have sold for James Harriman the four-story brick building, No. 466 Sixth avenue, 20x100; also for same party the four-story high stoop dwelling, No. 53 West Twenty-eighth street, 20x75, on private terms.

Edward Oppenheimer has purchased from the Bloodgood estate seven lots on Eighty-first and Eighty-second streets, commencing 133 feet west of Ninth avenue.

Messrs. Oppenheimer & Metzger have sold three lots on the south side of Sixty-ninth street, 100 feet west of Ninth avenue, to Charles L. Guilleaume.

David Frank has purchased three lots on the southwest corner of Ninth avenue and Eighty-third street for $21,000, and has resold the same to John F. Dunker for improvement.

Messrs Crevier & Woolley have sold for Mrs. Mary E. Marshall, the three-story high stoop brick dwelling No. 316 East Forty-first street, for $7,500, to A. Gourdier.

Ch. Volzing has sold for Caroline Yost, the four five-story brick and stone double tenements, Nos. 404 to 410 East Sixty-third street, 25x82x100 each, to Mrs. Jacob Ruppert, for $68,000.

Four lots on the northwest corner of Second avenue and Seventieth street have been sold by David Frank to Charles Seitz, for $42,500.

Mattie A. Cockburn is the purchaser of the two lots on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, 150 feet west of Seventh avenue, the sale of which was reported last week, the price being $13,000. Plans have been filed for new buildings to be erected on the same.

Mrs. Weed has purchased the three-story stone front dwelling, No. 243 West Fifty-second street, for about $25,000.

Donaldson & Breen have sold for Dennis Loonie, the two four-story brown stone improved flats, Nos. 236 and 238 East Seventy-first street, 20x60x100 each, to Jans Bros., for $41,000, and for William H. Payne, the lot 25x100, with two-story frame cottage thereon, No. 128 East Seventy-first street, to John Livingston for $15,000, for improvement.

John Webb has sold to Thomas Wilson the plot, 62.6x99.11, on the south side of One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street, 212.6 feet east of Seventh avenue, for $7,000.

John Davis has sold for Mayer Kahn the five-story brick store and tenement, No. 11 First street, for $25,000.

Brooklyn.

W. F. Corwith has sold the house and lot, No. 223 Eckford street, to Agnes McLean, for $3,250.

Out Among the Builders.

Henry Welsh will erect six six-story and basement store buildings on Greenwich street, extending from Desbrosses to Watts street, and including both corners. The fronts will be of Philadelphia brick, stone and iron and each building will be supplied with steam heat and elevators. Three will be 33x90, and three 28 to 39x75. They will all have double floors with asbestos paper between. The cost of the buildings is estimated at about $180,000. The old buildings on the site are now being torn down to make way for this improvement. Geo. W. Da Cunha is the architect.

John Rogers has the plans for extensive alterations to the Wellington Hotel, corner of Forty-second street and Madison avenue.

Gilbert & Thompson have the plans on the boards for the following buildings: A first-class residence, 40x60, and extension, with stable attached, 30x30, with 16-foot extension, to be erected on the east side of the Boulevard, above Eightieth street, the fronts to be of Philadelphia brick, with Potsdam sand stone trimmings and terra cotta. The prevailing style of the structure will be in the Italian Renaissance, with a tinge of Rococo. The cost is estimated at $65,000. A ten-story apartment house, 75x200, to be erected on the east side of Madison avenue, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh streets, having a frontage on the former of 200 feet and on the latter of 75 feet each. Thirty-five suites are sketched out, exclusive of servants' and drying rooms. The material will be of Philadelphia brick, stone and terra cotta, and four elevators and steam heating will be provided. One of the owners will be Andrew Lester, and the cost is estimated at $550,000.

C. F. Ridder, Jr., has the sketches on the boards for two five-story brick tenements, 25x56 each, to be built on Twelfth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, at a cost of about $19,000.

Simon Kay has commenced the excavations for two tenements and stores, to be built on the southwest corner of Ninth avenue and Forty-eighth street, the corner to be 23x75 and the inside one 27x70. They will be five stories high, and of brick and stone. Cost, about $30,000; architect, M. C. Merritt. The same party intends later on to build a 20x40 tenement adjoining, on the south side of Forty-eighth street.

Dr. John L. Colby intends to erect a four-story brick and brown stone flat with stores, 25x50, at No. 230 East One Hundred and Twenty-first street, to cost $10,000. The plans are being drawn by Andrew Spence. The same architect has the sketches on the boards for four three-story stone and frame tenements and stores, 25x50 each, to be built on the northwest corner of Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Fortieth street, for P. J. O'Brien, at a cost of some $25,000.

J. F. Dunker intends to erect three five-story brick and brown stone flats with stores, on the southwest corner of Ninth avenue and Eighty-third street. Two will be 26x80, and one, that on the corner, 25.8x90. The cost is estimated at $55,000. The plans are in the hands of J. H. Valentine. The same architect has the designs under way for four brick and brown stone tenements and stores, to be built on the southeast corner of One Hundred and Seventh street and Third avenue. Three will be two stories high, and 27x55 in dimension, and one, the corner, 19.11x55 and four stories high. The cost of the former is estimated at about $20,000 altogether, and the latter $12,000. The owner is Thomas McManus.

A. J. Post, the clothier, is about to erect a three-story brick tenement, 25x50, on the southwest corner of Avenue B and Eighty-sixth street, the adjoining 50 feet to be used as a coal yard. Architect, Thomas Wilson.

Charles Baxter is drawing plans for an extensive alteration to the United Presbyterian Church on the southeast corner of One Hundred and Nineteenth street and Second avenue, involving the alteration of the front so as to admit of three stores, 18.6x50, with a lecture hall, 54x50, above. The church will be entered at the back of the new structures. The cost of the alterations, it is stated, will be about $15,000.

W. C. Morgan is about to commence the erection of a five-story tenement and store, 32x72, on the west side of Ninth avenue, 50.2 south of Forty-eighth street, to cost $20,000. Architect, Geo. B. Pelham.

John B. McIntyre has the plans under way for a five-story brick and brown stone improved tenement, 25x86, to be erected on the south side of Eighty-fourth street, 250 feet west of Second avenue, for George Keller, of West Farms, at a cost of $17,000, for investment.

A. B. Ogden is drawing the plans for the following buildings: Four five story brick and brown stone tenements, to be erected on the northwest corner of First avenue and Seventy-fourth street, three fronting on the avenue, with stores, and one on the street; the corner will be 25.5x60 and the remainder 25x60; owners, McAuliffe & Gabay; cost, about $43,000. A five-story brown stone flat, 25x90, to be erected on the south side of Eighty-fifth street, 250 feet east of Second avenue, for S. D. Bingham, to cost $16,000; and a five-story brown stone flat, 25x60, to be built on the south side of One Hundred and Second street, 135 feet east of Second avenue, for J. Roche, to cost $14,000.

Charles L. Guilleaume will erect four four-story brown stone private dwellings of different dimensions, on the three lots on the south side of Sixty-ninth street, 100 feet west of Ninth avenue, just purchased by him.

The demolition of the old Mortimer building, on the southeast corner of Wall and New streets, has been commenced. An eight-story fire proof office building will be reared on the site, from plans by Geo. B. Post. It will be recollected that a report of this improvement first appeared in The Record and Guide some time ago.

Frank Schaeffler intends to build two five-story brick and brown stone tenements, 25x70, on the south side of Delancey street, 50 feet east of Pitt street, at a cost of $26,000. No architect selected as yet.

E. Gandolfo has the designs under way for a brick and frame Queen Anne cottage, 40x50, to be erected at Melrose Park, Flatbush, L. I., for Dr. H. L. Bartlett. The interior will be finished in hardwood, and the ceilings decorated. The cost will be about $10,000.

Charles Graham & Sons have contracted with Mr. George Kemp to erect an addition to the Buckingham Hotel, Fifth avenue and Fiftieth street, to have a frontage of 77 feet on Forty-ninth street, and be six stories in height. The addition will connect with the hotel on the rear.

James A. Frame will erect two double improved tenements, 25x82 each, and one single, 17x82, on the north side of Cherry street, commencing 210.3 feet east of Clinton street.

John H. Gray, it is reported, will build four tenements and stores on the west side of Third avenue, between Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth streets.

Cella Brothers intend to erect a five-story store and warehouse, 50x70, at Nos. 36 and 38 South Fifth avenue, for their wine, liquor and grocery store.

F. C. Lawrence intends to erect two five-story brick and Ohio stone tenements and stores, 21x51 each, one at No. 110 East Broadway and the other at No. 101 Division street, to cost $22,000. Architect, John Stroud.

Clifford Coddington will shortly build a four-story brick and terra cotta store, 25x98, on the north side of Twenty-seventh street, between Broadway and Fifth avenue, to cost $25,000. Babcock & McAvoy are the architects.

Julius Boekell has the plans under way for a five-story tenement, 25 x90, on the south side of Twenty-sixth street, 125 feet east of Second avenue, for Joseph Johnson.

Brooklyn.

Th. Engelhardt has plans in hand for a two-story frame dwelling, 22x40, to be erected on Newell street, 245 feet south of Norman avenue, for James McCafferty, at a cost of about $4,500; a four-story frame tenement, 28x55, adjoining, for same owner; cost, $6,500; two-story frame dwelling, 25x28, in the rear of No. 172 Stagg street, for. Ph. Koch; cost, $3,000; three-story frame store and tenement, 25x50, on the west side of Central avenue, 139 north of Central avenue, for Barbara Winkler; cost, $4,200; three-story frame dwelling to be erected at No. 70 Seigel street, for G. Levi; cost, $4,200; three-story frame dwelling, 25x50, northeast corner of Grand and Catharine streets, for Joseph Fulmer; cost, $4,500; three-story frame flat, 25x50, with one-story extension, 12x16, on Debevoise street, 220 east of Humboldt street, for Joseph Wagner; cost, $4,200.

Carl F. Eisenach is preparing plans for a four-story brick and granite warehouse, 26x103, with two cellars underground, to be erected on the southeast corner of Jay and Sands streets, for Alsgood, Rasch & Co., the wholesale grocers of Fulton street, who will occupy the building when completed. The cost will be about $25,000.

M. J. Morrill is preparing plans for a three-story brick building, 25x97, at No. 407 Bridge street, for lodge and assembly rooms; the cost will be about $8,000; owner, Henry Mugge.

Contractors' Notes.

Sealed bids or estimates for furnishing materials for new laundry, Hart's Island, all materials to be of the best quality of their kind, and the lumber to be delivered at Hart's Island, will be received by the Commissioners of Public Charities and Corrections, until Wednesday, May 21, 1884, at 9:30 o'clock.

Proposals will be received by the School Trustees of the Twelfth Ward, at the Hall of the Board of Education, corner of Grand and Elm streets, until Wednesday, the 28th day of May, 1884, at 4 o'clock P. M., for furnishing sliding doors, etc., for Grammar School No. 57, on East 115th street, near 3d avenue.

Proposals will also be received at the same place and time for alterations to the steam-heating apparatus in said school-house.

Proposals will be received by the School Trustees of the Eighteenth Ward, until Tuesday, the 27th day of May, 1884, at 4 o'clock P. M., for alterations in yard and play-room at Grammar School-house No. 40, on 23d street, near 2d avenue.

Proposals will also be received for removing and building closets, etc., at Grammar School-house No. 50, on 20th street, near 3d avenue.

Estimates for building a disinfecting house and boiler house at the hospital at the foot of East Sixteenth street, will be received by the Commissioners of the Health Department, at No. 301 Mott street, until 2:30 o'clock P. M., May 27.

Estimates will also be received at the same time and place for the plumbing of a hospital at the foot of East 16th st.

Estimates for ambulance stable and house, including quarters for drivers, will be received by the Commissioners of Charities and Corrections until Thursday, May 29, at 9:30 o'clock. Proposals will also be received for mason work, iron work, blue stone, cut stone, plastering, carpenter work, roofing, painting and materials, etc., for gate house to be erected on the north side of East 26th street, Bellevue Hospital grounds.

Notes and Items.

The Board of Street Opening and Improvement will meet in the Mayor's office, in the City Hall, to-day, at 11 o'clock A. M., and all parties interested in the opening and extension of Lexington avenue, the closing of One Hundred and Fourteenth street, between Tenth avenue and the Boulevard, and the laying out of a public park at Coenties slip, will be given a hearing.

The reports of the commissioners in the matters relative to the opening of One Hundred and Forty-first, One Hundred and Forty-second and One Hundred and Forty-third streets, from Eighth avenue to Harlem river, will be presented to the Supreme Court on June 20th for confirmation.

The bill of the costs, charges and expenses incurred by reason of the proceedings in the opening of Washington street from Little Twelfth to Fourteenth street, will be presented for taxation to one of the Justices of the Supreme Court on the 31st May, 1884, at 10:30 o'clock, and said bill has been deposited in the office of the Department of Public Works.

Special Notices.

The old established firm of Kelly & Rogers, designers and manufacturers of foreign and domestic marbles, have for the past thirteen years furnished their material to many of the prominent builders of the city, to whom they have given entire satisfaction. They furnish on application estimates for mantels, monuments, wainscoting, counters, slate and marble urinals, plumbers' slabs, steps, etc. Their works are at No. 1614 Second avenue.

The attention of architects, builders and others is directed to the advertisement on page vi., of J. M. Reamer, wholesale dealer in walnut, ash, whitewood, oak and cherry lumber. He makes a specialty of band sawed quartered oak, of first quality, and well seasoned, and also of pure white ash for panels, wainscoting and house trim. He sells in car lots at low prices. Letters can be addressed to him, P. O. box 3325, New York.

As this is the season for removing old buildings and building material, contractors would do well to keep F. W. Seagrist, Jr., & Co., in mind. This firm is famous in its specialty of dealing in second-hand building material. It recently removed 250,000 brick from the Standard Oil Company's building in Broadway in three days—an unprecedented feat. Their yards are at No. 619 East Sixteenth street and No. 261 Avenue B.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—As yet no positive break can be noted in the general monotony of the market for Common Hards. A considerable variation in the expression of views may be found in conversing with operators, and we have had the market quoted this week 12½@25c. per M higher, as well as claims for about a corresponding decline, but, after all, the extreme figures named differed but little from those ruling for some time past, and there is no reason to credit either buyer or seller with any fixed gain. The great irregularity in the character of the offering and the absence of any positive standard from which prices can radiate affords wide latitude in naming rates, and it is evident that in many instances a disposition to look upon "our own stock" as a little the best and that of competitors as lacking in some important essential tempers the tone of reports. Under the circumstances a general average is a fair basis for quotations and that seems to show about $5.25@6.12½ for Jerseys, $6.25@6.75 for "Up Rivers," and $6.75@7.25 for Haverstraws, but we hear of sales on all grades at lower figures, and not "washed" brick either, and also sales at higher rates where quality was extra fine, with the latter scarce and probably the least difficult to dispose of when available. In fact, the great bulk of the supply has been more or less "off" in condition this spring, and anything the closely discriminating buyers would accept as perfect really commanded a premium, though there has been some effort made to give such rates the appearance of regular values upon which to base quotations. This week's business shows quite an increase, owing to the better state of the weather, but has been offset by a fuller offering, and indeed some of the trade claim the supply has been much larger than at any one time since the resumption of navigation, and it looks as though a portion would have to carry over. There was a sprinkling of cargoes of new brick in the supply including representation from two or three points on the Hudson as well as from Jersey, and one sale of Hackensacks was rumored at a very high figure. Some surprise is expressed over the extent of the offerings, but they are about in proportion to our compilation of stocks on hand as given January 1st last. Nearly all manufacturers are now busy, but it will be some little time before the new production can become plenty enough to have any great influence. Pales do not have a satisfactory market. About the former average price is shown, or say $3.00@3.50 per M, with very choice somewhat higher, and poor lots lower, but sales are largely a matter of chance, and buyers rarely come into the market, unless they have immediate and positive use for their stock, and will not operate beyond known wants.

NOTE.—If the correspondent signing "An Old Subscriber," will make himself known to our representative on the floor of the Exchange (Thursdays, 2 P. M.) due consideration will be given such suggestions as he may have to make.

LATH.—Sellers have retained all the advantage, and there has been still further addition to cost, bringing the current rate up to $2.50 per M, at which a firm position is claimed at the close. Arrivals were moderate and come to hand in a manner to admit of perfect ease in handling, which, in connection with more or less anxiety on the part of buyers, kept the market on the upward turn. Receivers, as a rule, speak very confidently, and seem to be handling the market with a success equal to that of last season.

LIME.—Nothing new is reported on this market. Supplies have been somewhat irregular in arrival, but fair in quantity, with demand enough to exhaust them, and former rates obtained throughout with little or no difficulty.

LUMBER.—There does not appear to be much if any decided variation in the general characteristics of our local market during the week. Some dealers certainly report a greater amount of trade recorded on their books, but others complain of a loss of orders about equal to the gain of their neighbors, and taking the market through the fluctuation in the volume of actual business is probably very slight. Prices, too, while fluctuating to some extent, as a rule, swing back to about the old level, and the average run of quotations requires but little revision. In fact, it is simply the old story over and over again, and the condition of affairs might well be condensed in the well-worn and familiar commercial expression "dull and nominally unchanged." It may be, as claimed in some instances, that the city and near-by consumption is taking "nearly" as much lumber as usual, but, if so, it is certainly taking it in a very undemonstrative manner, and buyers move without the least indication of anxiety. Customers complain occasionally of assortments, but rarely of price, and the indifferent demand is undoubtedly due solely to a determination that for the present, at least, it is well to refuse ownership in all kinds of stock for which a positive use has not already been decided upon. No advices of an unusual character come to hand from primary sources.

Eastern Spruce has apparently been placed without more than the usual effort or disturbance of the general line of values. Slight variations on cost occasionally occur either in the favor of the seller or buyer but generally the latter comes out ahead on most negotiations involving a departure from the line of quotations for some time current. It is of course not always possible for receivers to find an outlet ready at hand for random offering, especially if it happens to be a little "off" and when a customer finds that he is sought after with more than ordinary solicitude it is an advantage naturally made the most of. Supplies on hand are fair in quantity and little better assorted than generally supposed. Manufacturers are still unwilling to enter upon engagements for specials except at extreme figures, and as buyers dislike to submit a great many orders hang fire. We quote on the general range at $13.00@15.50 for randoms and thence up to $16@17 for special bills.

White Pine is not making any improvement in tone at present and sellers appear somewhat uncertain over the prospect for the future. Whatever inroads may have been made upon the accumulation by the early spring distribution appears to have already become largely neutralized by the subsequent arrivals, and the quantity and assortment now on hand is said to be quite equal to the diminished demand. Holders, however, will not admit positive loss of confidence, and the offering is made with sufficient care to prevent any weight upon the market, and on the asking basis at least a showing of steadiness is made. From the interior the accounts appear to conflict somewhat but give evidence of a desire and intention on the part of manufacturers to stay under the market as long as possible, and prevent a decline if they can. We quote $17.50@19 for West India shipping boards; $25@28 for South American do.; $14@15 for box boards, and $16.00@17.50 for extra do.

Yellow Pine is still without any regular market. About the previous range of figures is named when quotations are asked for, but there is no knowing what would be the rates on actual sales on any large quantity, as the opportunity to place supplies is so seldom afforded. There is, however, little reason to believe that buyers would be placed at any greater disadvantage than for some time past, though it is said that tonnage is not over plenty and were a greater carrying capacity required it might lead to an increase of freight charges. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@20.50 per M; Specials, $20@21.00 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do., do., $23@24; Siding, $22@23 do.; Cargoes f. o. b. at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18@20 for dressed.

Hardwoods have found a somewhat irregular demand with some weakness on common stock, but first-class merchantable offerings realize former rates without much difficulty. Walnut and poplar seem to be in fair favor, and ash doing well, with an occasional call for elm. Desirable cherry is quickly snapped up, as it is a very popular wood at the moment for all classes of work. One concern is using it in the manufacture of fancy refrigerators and dressers combined for the convenience of families occupying flats. Foreign advices are not encouraging for the export trade but some lots are sent forward on consignment. We quote at wholesale rates by car load as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M.; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple, $20@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do.; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending May 14 as follows:

The shipments for the week have been only fair, and these have been but from buyers on the market. They are waiting for a better stock and assortment of spruce and hemlock, which are now being received daily by Champlain Canal. These will soon be followed from the Black River region, and pine via Oswego, Tonawanda and Buffalo. The assortment in market is now good, and the regular business of receiving, piling, seasoning, selling and shipping will be in complete operation. Our price list shows changes in some of the figures, more particularly in spruce and hemlock. They are expected to remain steady during the year, but any changes will be promptly reported. The manufacturers of pine in Michigan and Canada expect to maintain their prices on the better qualities, and perhaps advance them, but coarse lots show a tendency toward lower figures. Hardwoods are in fair assortment and prices are firm, with a probability of remaining steady during the season. Shingles are a little off, and the assortment in market is good, though the stock is not large. It will be increased by canal receipts as far as wanted. Lath will soon be received by canals. The present stock is light, but prices are expected to remain steady.

THE WEST.

LUMBERMAN AND MANUFACTURER, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

All the mills along the river are being operated to their full day capacity and some of them running by night. The supply of logs is ample at from $8.00 to $13.00, according to quality. It is claimed that the new log crop is much superior to last year's cut and that for that reason will command about as much money per thousand at the reduced figures and be a better season than has been anticipated, as the logs have cost less than they did last year to haul, and the drives promise to be short and inexpensive. There is no prospect left for the hanging up of any considerable quantity of logs anywhere owing to the good driving stage on all the rivers. Dry lumber is scarce and holders firm in this section.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

On the whole, driving conditions have slightly improved during the past week. Owing to rains the logs in some of the streams are moving faster than they were a week or ten days ago, and the indications are promising that the drives will get down in due time and in fair shape. Operations are slower on the Chippewa and Muskegon than elsewhere, and it may take a June rise to do effective work on those streams. There is little fear on the part of the mill men generally that they will be obliged to shut down for want of logs.

CHICAGO.

AT THE DOCKS.—Nearly every day this week there has been a good fleet of cargoes at the docks, the majority of which has been shingles and green piece stuff. Scattering cargoes of mixed dimension boards and strips, and others altogether inch lumber or dimension, some dry and some green, have also been offered and worked off. The market has been considered fairly active on all but shingles, though transactions in lumber to arrive take the lead, and they call for dry stock.

Considerable dry medium stock, notably the S. N. Wilcox Lumber Company's cut, from White Lake, has been sold at $15 a thousand, a figure that is considered an advance of 50 cents on last year's figures. This class of lumber includes a large proportion of strips that can be used as fencing flooring and for ceiling, a kind of lumber that is now in great demand both for city and country house building. It is now remarked that the practice has changed in respect to the use of this lumber. In the booming times nothing but B and C stock would do, now that people are economizing, and good strips are relatively higher than the commoner grades, people are content with fencing flooring. The same principle applies to the great demand for No. 2 and cull stock of all kinds: relatively more of it is being used than a few years ago. The effect is felt on the cargo market in the demand of buyers.

Very little No. 1 stock is being offered on the market. Dealers this spring have generally made such purchases as were necessary of good lumber at the mills. Some is occasionally sold to arrive, and at figures not greatly differing from those of last year. One prominent commission dealer asserts that he has sold No. 1 stock this spring at an advance on prices prevalent last fall.

Since the prices realized at the docks this spring have, on nearly all lumber but piece stuff, been for dry stock, they are scarcely a gauge of what the market will be when the cross-piled lumber is all gone. Green short dimension is now selling at $9, with the fixings thrown in, such as any little advantages the purchaser may demand. Really dry piece stuff would sell for $1 to $1.50 more, but there is little to be had that is really dry. The relative margin between green lumber and dry is greater this year than usual, for the reason that dealers are wanting scarcely nothing but seasoned stuff.

The great question with the commission men now is, what will be the effect of a rush of green lumber on the market? The mill owners over the lake are trying to answer this question by piling a part of their new cut, and thus preventing a rush. They seem to see plainly that if they should ship all their lumber to this market as fast as it is cut, it would cause a great slump in values. If they continue to pile until yard stocks are well worked down, and gradually throw their cross-piled lumber on the market as it shall become dry, it would prevent a raid at the docks here, and thus steady values. It looks as if that were really the aim of the manufacturers.

THE PROVINCES.

The following from the Montreal Journal of Commerce deals in some pretty large figures in estimating the reduced log crop of Canada and some of the trade here, while unwilling to fully question the accuracy of the statements, incline to accept them courteously:

Now that the logging season has closed we have endeavored to inform ourselves of the situation, and are gratified to know that the resolutions made by our lumbermen last fall to curtail the out-put of logs has resulted in a material reduction. The Ottawa district shows $1,500,000 less logs on hand than at this date last year, which, averaging the logs at seven to the thousand feet, would be equal to 215,000,000 feet; while the reduction in the St. Maurice district is proportionally greater, being from 5[illegible],000,000 feet last year to 15,000,000 this year, or a reduction in the out-put of pine of 250,000,000 feet in these two sections. Should it also be found, which is believed to be the case, that the pine producing districts of the Georgian Bay, Muskoka, Peterborough and Trent have made similar reductions, there would this year be fully 500,000,000 feet less pine to cut than last year.

Coupling the foregoing with the statement made that the spruce product of New Brunswick and Maine is 208,000,000 feet less, and the further fact that our own spruce districts of the St. Lawrence and Eastern townships have greatly reduced numbers of logs, many mills not having stocked up at all, we cannot be far astray in estimating the shortage in pine and spruce east of Lake Huron at 1,000,000,000 feet. This curtailment in supply must have the effect of restoring the lumber industry of Canada to its normal condition, and if the conservative action of the lumbermen meets with its reward in enhanced prices for their stock few will regret it. That the lumbermen may reasonably anticipate higher prices is evident when it is seen that the stock is only two-thirds of last year, and since the home consumption was then fully one-third of the stock, and there is now every appearance of an equally large home consumption this year, this amount, deducted from the small stock of the present season, would obviously leave only about one-half as much on hand for export to Britain and the United States.

ENGLAND.

The London Timber Trade's Journal says:

In American black walnut, as indeed is the case with most other furniture woods, a very limited trade is doing. As may be supposed, the goods lately sold at public auction without reserve were poor and faulty; for these, however, fair prices were obtained generally.

LIVERPOOL.

During the past week the market has borne a quiet aspect, the deliveries from the yards being limited in extent.

Complaints of want of business continue to be heard with painful frequency, and it is evident that consumers and dealers in the manufacturing districts are not to be tempted out of their present cautious mode of buying by even the low prices now ruling, which in many cases are below the cost of production. How long this condition of affairs is to continue it is, of course, impossible to say, but the general opinion seems to be that no material change can be expected for some time to come.

Freights continue very low, and this naturally has the effect of tempting shippers to get their productions forward in the hope that with lighter expenses than usual they may possibly get out without much loss on the free-on-board cost.

The import continues light, excepting various productions from the United States, such as oak wagon scantling, walnutwood, whitewood, &c., of which there has been a full supply during the past week, by the numerous steamers plying between this city and the various ports on the American coast.

METALS.—COPPER—Ingot [illegible] present is selling slowly, and only in small lots. Since our last report the companies and large consumers have made the usual spring deal, covering an aggregate of ten or twelve million pounds for the season's delivery, and this brings demand down to a sort of jobbing form. Prices are steady at about 14½c. for Lake down to 13c. for the more ordinary brands. Manufactured copper is in fair average demand and ruling steady at old rates. We quote as follows: Brazier's Copper, ordinary size, over 16 oz. per sq. foot, 23c. per lb.; do. do. do., 16 oz. and over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 25c. per lb.; do. do., 10 and 12 oz. per sq. foot, 28c. per lb.; do., do., lighter than 10 oz. per sq. foot, 30c. per lb.; circles less than 24 inches in diameter, 26c. per lb.; 24 inches in diameter and over, 29c. per lb.; segment and pattern sheets, 26c. per lb.; locomotive fire-box sheets, 24c. per lb.; Sheathing Copper, over 12 oz. per sq. foot, 21c. per lb., and Bolt Copper, 24c. per lb. IRON—Scotch Pig not very active, and the market has of late shown a somewhat unsettled and weak tone. It is intimated that a close careful buyer can obtain parcels to arrive at some shading from rates currently named. We quote at about $19.50@22 per ton, arccording to brand, etc. American pig has secured only moderate and generally unimportant attention, and consumers appear to have all orders figured right down to the limit of most positive wants. The companies deliver enough stock to prevent an accummulation, but could satisfy a larger outlet without difficulty and, as a rule, are a little anxious to do so. On prices there is no general change but the tone easy and desirable customers frequently obtain favors. We quote $20.00@21.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry, $18.50@19.50 for No. 2 X do. do., and $18.0@18.50 for gray forge. Old rails have been very quiet and to a large extent nominal in value, with most bids when drawn out ranging 50@1.00 per ton below the asking rates. Scrap Iron also dull and showing considerable irregularity in the general line of values. We quote at $20.00@21.00 for tee rails, $22.00@23.00 for double heads, $22.00@23.00 for No. 1 wrought scrap ex ship, $23.50@24.00 for selected do., $18.00@19.00 for old car wheels, and $22.00@23.00 for crop ends. Steel Rails not meeting with much favor, and when anything like a display of interest is made on the part of buyers, competition to secure the order is quite sharp. This has a tendency to keep rates easy, and outside figures are difficult to realize. We quote at $32 50@33.50 per ton, according to delivery. Manufactured Iron is under contract to a fair extent, and additional orders are coming in for special work. Beyond that, however, the market is dull and to some extent nominal on all descriptions. We quote Common Merchant Bar, ordinary sizes, at 2.00@2.10c. from store, and Refined at 2.10@2.45c.; Rods, round and square, 2.20@2.35c.; Bands, 2.50@2.60c.; Norway Nail Rods, 5¼@6c., and domestic sheet on the basis of 2.80@3.10c. for common Nos. 10@16. Other descriptions at corresponding prices, with 1-10c. less on large lots from cars. LEAD—Domestic Pig in a somewhat irregular way has secured a fair amount of attention. The demand, however, is neither active nor general, and the inducements upon which buyers have operated were in the main the weak position through which easy terms could frequently be obtained. Supplies are plentiful. We quote at about 3⅝@3¾c. per lb., according to brand and the size of invoice handled. The manufactures of lead are steady and quoted: Bar, 5c.; pipe, 6¼c.; and sheet, 7¼c., less the usual discount to the trade; and tin-lined pipe, 15c.; block tin pipe, 45c., on same terms. TIN—Pig has not of late found a very great amount of favor either on consumptive account or speculation, owing to the full rates asked. Holders, however, remain comparatively firm, owing to the promising position of affairs abroad. We quote at 19⅛@19⅜c. for Straits and Australian, 19⅛@19⅜ for English, and 20⅛@20⅝ for Banca. Tin Plates meet with about the ordinary trade demand, but beyond that the market has a quiet tone, and sellers do not secure much of an opportunity to stiffen values. We quote I. C. Charcoal, third class assortment, $5.55@5.35 for Allaway grade, and $6.10@6.20 for Melyn grade; for each additional X add $1.25 and $1.50 respectively; I. C. Coke, $4.75@4.80 for B. V. grade; $4.87½@4.90 for J. B. grade; Charcoal terne, $4.75@5.10 for Allaway and Dean grades 14x20; $9.80@10.20 for do. 20x28; Coke terne, $4.55@4.60 for Glais grade 14x20, and $9.50@9.55 for do. 20x28—all in round lots. Spelter has sold fairly on regular trade orders and at steady rates, but all cal's met, and sellers gained no positive advantage. We quote at 45⅝@5c. for domestic and foreign, according to brand, quality, etc. Sheet Zinc has the average trade call at former rates, ranging 5⅞@7c., according to quantity, quality, etc.

NAILS.—Demand has been of about the average volume and form, and without features calculated to have any decided influence upon the position. Buyers, in fact, do not hurry their movements in any way, but simply operate upon the basis of necessity, and as their wants may be large or small so business goes. Supplies appear to hold out very well, without reaching a point of surplus, and the line of cost undergoes no variation so far as revealed on the current reports. We quote as the "regulation" price $2.60 per keg for 10d. to 60d., but higher bids must be made for jobbing parcels, and car lots can be bought for less money.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—For pretty much every description of stock the tone is reported about steady, but there is evidences of less animation. City trade is fair, indeed has been good since "moving day," but the country consumption has fallen away, with not much prospect of immediate revival. Holders have managed to work down supplies fairly, and are not at present troubled with much of a surplus. Linseed Oil remains well in hand and commands about old figures, at say 57@58c. for domestic and 54@59c. for foreign. Spirits Turpentine moderately active and somewhat firmer, at 32½@35c. per gallon, according to size of invoice.

PITCH AND TAR.—A fair general trade demand, with stock to meet it, and prices ruling steady in most instances. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.

MARKET QUOTATIONS.

Our figures are based upon cargo or wholesale valuations in the main. Due allowance must therefore be made for the natural additions on jobbing and retail parcels.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (*) means not summoned. (†) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

J. T. LINDSEY, Business Manager.

It will be good news to real estate dealers that the Governor has signed the bill to appoint a commission to prepare and report to the next Legislature a series of measures to facilitate and lessen the expense of transfers of titles of real property. It is now to be hoped that the Governor will appoint a competent commission, and one which will not procrastinate. The work has all been done to hand by the very admirable Land Transfer Association, of which Mr. Dwight H. Olmstead is the president. That gentleman and his associates have gone over the ground thoroughly. They have prepared in advance the necessary enactments, and have consulted with the lawyers who know most about the law relating to real property. Next winter should see this desirable reform fully consummated. Real estate ought to be as good a collateral in bank as government bonds, and it would be were it not for the preposterous impediments now in the way of the consummation of every real estate sale. It is understood that the Real Estate Exchange will suggest to the Governor the names of a number of well-known lawyers from which he can select the right kind of a commission. The Exchange should endorse no lawyer without the distinct understanding that he will be ready to report at the opening of the next Legislature.

Jay Gould and Cyrus W. Field are doubtless anxious to settle the dispute between the Manhattan and Metropolitan companies, but are not probably in a position to accept Sylvester H. Kneeland's proposition. He is willing to sell the stock of the Manhattan Company for bonds, but this is no time to raise money for any such purpose in Wall street. Field's counter proposition was simply absurd. By a peculiar kind of book-keeping he tries to make out that the Metropolitan earns less than 1 per cent., and then he offers to pay 8 per cent. whenever the Metropolitan earns that amount. In other words, he offers just nothing at all. To adjust this matter satisfactorily, the whole dispute should be left to arbitrators. The courts so far have done nothing but prolong litigation, and add to the exorbitant bills of the lawyers. In the meantime the stockholders suffer, and important real estate interests north of the Harlem are injured because the connections which are to be made with the Suburban Rapid Transit, the Northern New York, and other existing and inchoate lines of travel cannot be effected until the elevated system is worked as a unit.

It will be a relief when the present House of Representatives passes out of existence. The economies on the part of the Government demanded by Messrs. Randall and Holman are of a kind to make the United States a laughing stock for other nations. We are potentially the richest and most powerful nation on earth, yet here is the most important committee of Congress cutting down the incidental expenses of the State Department for rent, stationery, postage stamps, telegrams and the like from $85,000 to $15,000. Twenty-seven consulates are reduced and twenty-one abolished. There are to be no missions to six minor countries, and the usual appropriation for the care of indigent American sailors abroad has been cut off. In short everything is being done to degrade us in the eyes of other nations so as to save some $350,000 to a treasury which has annually over a hundred millions surplus. The comic papers ought to make these cheese-paring economists as ridiculous in the eyes of the country as their official acts are contemptible.

The time is coming when there ought to be an understanding among the well-to-do classes in this country. They should take the government away from the control of the small lawyers and politicians who cater for the votes of the day laborers. Funds should be raised by voluntary subscription to pay our public servants decent salaries both at home and abroad. Our ministers should live in equal state with those of other nations. Every Senator and Representative in Congress should have a house of his own, and not be forced to live in cheap lodgings. Every Governor should have a State house, and the Mayor of New York ought to occupy the finest house in the city and have a salary large enough to entertain distinguished strangers within our gates. The day of small economies has gone by, and looking after the "cheese-parings and candle-ends" should be left to such "hole and corner" statesmen as Samuel J. Randall and William S. Holman.

During the panic of last week there was a notable increase of investment purchases of good stocks. There are plenty of people with means who know when securities are being given away, and hence in every panic there are purchasers ready to buy stocks and bonds outright and take them away from the market. Capitalists of large means not only do this, but there are literally tens of thousands of persons of limited resources, who are willing to take cheap stocks representing good properties, and keep them as a permanent investment. Hence it was noticed on the tape that quite a large number of the twenty and twenty-five shares were quoted, but in every case the purchasers of small lots were forced to pay from a half to 3 per cent. more than those who dealt in the regular hundred-share certificates. The Stock Exchange ought really to encourage these small investors. They are very numerous, and the aggregate they are willing to spend in ready cash is always a decided relief to the market in the money pinch. But in making a hundred shares the only delivery these small investors are discriminated against. It is with difficulty their orders are filled, and they are forced to pay more than other purchasers. In London ten shares is the regular delivery, and hence there are tens of thousands of investors there who avail themselves of panicky times to add to their holdings. The same is true of Paris. In none of the large cities of Europe are there any places corresponding to our "bucket" shops. Operators with limited means here are driven to these nefarious institutions, because purchasers of small lots are at a disadvantage on the Stock Exchange. The bucket shop would disappear from New York were the small buyer to have the same advantages as the large purchaser on the New York Stock Exchange. Nothing puts an end to a panic sooner than the appearance of permanent investors in the street. They pour a steady stream of cash into the place where it is most wanted. It is strange that this matter has not received more attention from the Stock Exchange. At present that institution discriminates against the small investor, who should rather be encouraged, and keeps alive the bucket shops, nearly all of which are as dishonestly conducted as the skin gambling dens.

The Proximate Cause of the Trouble.

All the financial editors are giving their theories of the recent disturbance in Wall street. Bradstreet's thinks it is due to moral causes, and was precipitated by illegitimate methods of doing business. The Financial Chronicle, which is never happy outside the facts it gives, say it was a mere stock panic, and that the general business of the country is all right. The Chicago Tribune, which often has very wise acticles, declares that the country is prosperous, and that the trouble in Wall street was a mere local disturbance.

But are not these views all superficial? We know, as a matter of fact, that after the exceptional prosperity which began with the enactment of the silver bill in the spring of 1878, and ended with the drought of 1881, there followed a period of liquidation which has continued without interruption to the present time. Why we were prosperous up to that date is easily accounted for. We had immense crops, while those of Europe were deficient. The cost of production was light and profits were large. Our currency was doubled in amount by resumption. Since 1881 our crops have been relatively poor, prices of agricultural products low, and our profits very small. Then we have built too many railroads and overproduced all kinds of manufactured articles. In four years from the date of the last census we have increased, it is true, over 12 per cent. in population, but in the meantime we have increased the mileage of our railroads nearly 40 per cent., and an expert authority asserts that in the four years there has been an increase of 50 per cent. in many of the industries which supply our population. While we have enormously increased our capacity to produce manufactured goods, our consumptive power is not much greater than it was four years ago. In 1880 there were 575 people to a mile of railroad. Three and a half years later there were only 466 to every mile of road. Does not this tell the story of the immense depreciation of securities representing properties where railroad building has been most active? With 40 per cent. more of stocks and bonds representing our transportation system the roads themselves have less business relatively than they had four years ago. Who can wonder at the shrinkage in Union Pacific, Denver, Northern Pacific, and indeed in all the stocks which have depreciated in value? and who will say that the end has come even yet?

It is also to be noted that while we have added so greatly to our manufacturing facilities we consume about as much of foreign goods as ever. There is no market for our productions abroad, due to the great cost of production caused by the high tariff in this country.

The real estate interest of this city and neighborhood is not affected by these considerations. The metropolis will grow in wealth and population whether the times are good or bad. There is literally a corner in land on New York Island. But, of course, the general prosperity of the country would be reflected in the enhancement of values in city property. Our interests, however, are in freer trade. We want to see our flag upon the ocean, and American vessels leaving and entering our harbor from all the principal ports of the world. Whenever that time comes it will see a vast increase in the population and wealth of this city.

While the dullness in the stock market may continue, and even lower prices may be reached, there are, however, some signs of a better state of things. We have stopped further railway construction, and a check has been put to the manufacture of unnecessary goods. Meanwhile our population steadily and largely increases, and after a period of dullness the country will again become prosperous by its natural growth. But it would help matters mightily if we have freer trade, cheaper production, and a steam marine of our own.

Upper Madison Avenue.

The building activity in upper Madison avenue and upper Park avenue continues, taking the form, generally, of "elegant residences," upon the outside of which much money has been expended, with varying degrees of judgment. The Tiffany house, at Madison avenue and Seventy-second street, is already the most conspicuous dwelling house in the city. The gable on the Madison avenue front must be very nearly seventy-five feet wide at the base, and the pitch is steep, so that the roof is a towering object. The house is also conspicuous by its magnitude and its material. The central gable on the Seventy-second street front and the turret at the angle are still unfinished, and these will so modify the skyline and the general effect of the exteriors that the house will not be fairly amenable to criticism until they are completed.

Just opposite, on the northeast corner, are two twenty-five foot houses, of which it is not quite clear whether their design is the work of an architect, strictly so called, or of an ambitious speculative builder. It cannot always be told from the vagaries of the human intellect, whether the intellect has been cultivated or not, and when the motive of a design is merely to do something striking the strain will affect unfavorably even an educated mind. The carving on these houses looks like the work of a more or less trained designer, but we have lately become accustomed to well designed carving on fronts quite innocent of any strictly architectural claims to admiration. The carving in these fronts is done "in place" and is not finished. The advantage of doing carving in its place instead of in the stoneyard is supposed to be that a better adjustment in scale can thus be secured. It is questionable whether this ever amounts to much. In the present instance the object has certainly not been attained, since the finished carving on the upper stories is excessive in scale, although it might not seem so if it were better adjusted to its surroundings in function, being too heavy and too protruberant merely to mark the springing of some little arches. It is, however, very well executed and in itself very well designed. Otherwise these fronts have no interest though they are full of things. One is of brick and one of brown stone, each has a three-cornered and three-storied bay window, an extremely intractable feature, and each is finished with a pediment, closed in one case and broken in the other, against a horizontal parapet wall, a combination meaningless and absurd.

At the corner of Seventy-first street and Madison avenue the new church for the Episcopal parish of St. James is rising, and has advanced far enough to show an unusual arrangement. What seems to be an apsidal chancel occupies the avenue front, with an entrance at the corner, but the main entrance is apparently at the other end of the church. This reversal is not unusual where the purpose is in "advanced" churches to preserve "orientation," that is to say, to keep the altar at the east end. But in this case it seems to have been resorted to purely for picturesque purposes, since the cathedral orientation is exactly reversed. The building is not far enough advanced to justify any remarks upon its architecture except that the rugged brown stone wall has a solid and satisfactory aspect.

Over in Park avenue, between Sixty-eighth and Sixty-ninth streets, are some new houses—at least we have not remarked them before—of a queer aspect, occupying the entire block front, and appearing to be the work of the same designer, since it is not likely that different designers would have taken so much pains to variegate their architecture. The material of all of them is the same—that is, it is all brick and brown stone, but the northernmost is exclusively brown stone and the southernmost brick, with a slight admixture of brown stone, while the ingredients are differently mixed in each of the three (or is it four?) intermediate fronts. One of them has a three-story bay window all in brown stone, another has a brown stone basement and first story, and the third some other combination. The skylines are also distinguished with much pains, one of the fronts terminating in a kind of turret, another in a curvilinear gable, a third in a roof sloping backwards and relieved by dormers, while the southern house has a plain gable and the northern a flat roof. There is a like profusion of features in each of the houses "surprised by himself." If variety were sufficed to constitute good architecture these dwellings would be admirable examples of that art. But the designer seems to have been more concerned about making sure of a large assortment of things than about adjusting the things artistically or refining them separately. Accordingly, each of the fronts by itself is overdone in profusion and underdone in design, while the effect of all of them together is not that of a harmonious group, but of a bewildering huddle. The things taken singly are not good. There are so many of them that it would be difficult to say decisively that not one of them is good. Nay, there is at least one carved panel which has a graceful design well adjusted to the space. But for the most part the decorative detail seems to have been chosen pretty much at random from the repertory of Queen Anne, of which these houses seem to be the last and one of the most spasmodic efforts. "We noticed," as the country papers say, the dish-towel ornament, with a rosette in the centre of the towel, which is one of the marks of what may be called the debased flamboyant of Queen Anne. It is gratifying to remark that the Queen Anne fashion seems to have run its course. Designers can scarcely derive inspiration so mischievous from any other quarter.

Will Chicago Overtake New York?

We last week showed that Chicago bids fair to overtake the metropolis in population. It is not likely to do so, however, in the value of its real estate, nor in the amount which it will expend on erecting new structures; certainly not for a half-century hence, at least, if the following tables form any criterion for the future:

1. Number and amounts of conveyances in New York each year, from 1873 to 1883, inclusive:

Year.	No. of Cons.	Amount paid	Year.	No. of Cons.	Amount paid.
1873	7,175	$145,285,753	1879	8,969	$85,563,913
1875	6,347	99,025,762	1881	11,678	148,2 9,490
1876	6,384	86,733,805	1882	9,875	170,764,163

But the above does not include the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards, in other words the annexed district beyond the Harlem. In 1883 compared with 1883 the conveyances for the whole city were as follows:

	Conveyances.	Consideration.

2. Assessed valuation of realty in New York city from 1882 to 1884:

	1882.	1883.	1884.

3. Valuation of realty in Chicago from 1837 to 1883, inclusive:

Year.	Real Estate.	Year.	Real Estate.	Year.	Real Estate.
1837	$236,842	1853	$13,1 0,677	1869	$211,271,240
1838	235,996	1854	18,990 741	1870	223,643 600
1839	94 803	1855	21,637,500	1871	235,898,650
1840	94,437	1856	25,892,308	1872	239,151,890
1841	127,024	1857	29,3 7,6 8	1873	262,969,820
1842	108,757	1858	3 ,175,325	1874	256,54 ,3 0
1843	902,221	1859	30,732,313	1875	127,800,975
1844	1,992,095	1860	31,198,135	1876	131,322,460
1845	2,273,171	1861	31,314,749	1877	116,082,583
1846	3,661,425	1862	31,587,545	1878	104,4 0,053
1847	4,995,406	1863	35,143,252	1879	91,152,229
1848	4,998,366	1864	37,148,023	1880	89,1 31,955
1849	5,181,637	1865	43,064,499	1881	90,699,045
1850	5,689,965	1866	66,495 316	1882	95,880,0.0

It will be seen that while the assessed valuation of realty in New York has increased each year, that of Chicago, while showing an extraordinarily rapid increase up to 1873, has since declined annually, until in 1882 it was but $95,880,000, that of New York being $1,035,298,816, or nearly eleven times as great.

4. Number and cost of plans filed for buildings proposed to be altered and erected in New York city from 1872 to 1883:

Year.	No. of new buildings.	Estimated cost.	No. of alterations.	Estimated cost
1872	1,728	$27,884,870	1,318	$2,788,379
1876	1,379	15,903,880	1,177	3,635,478
1877	1,432	13,265 114	1,308	3,215,125
1878	1,672	15,219,680	1,209	2,621,046
1879	2,065	22,587,312	1,578	3,300,110
1881	2,682	43,391,3 0	1,497	4,142,0 0
1883	2,623	44,304,638	1,870	4,540,486

5. Number of permits, estimated number of buildings in Chicago and their cost from 1876 to 1883: (There are no figures preserved prior to that date, the Building Department of that city having been instituted in that year.) The number of buildings already exceeds that of New York, though the amount is less by more than half, the structures not being so costly in Chicago. It will take the latter city probably from twenty to thirty years, even at the present rate of increase, to reach up to New York in the annual cost of its new buildings.

Year.	No. permits.	Estimated No. buildings.	Cost.
1880	3,868	not reported	9,071,850

The Bowery Redivivus.

It has long been a marvel why property holders in the Bowery were content to draw large profits from the tumble down old houses when they could add largely to their incomes by constructing more spacious and comfortable edifices. The Bowery, from Chatham Square to Cooper Institute, is destined to be the great retail mart of the central and eastern portion of the city. Its stores have always been in demand at high rents, but the construction of the east side elevated road will in time, if it has not already, double the price of Bowery property. With the exception of Broadway below Chambers street, there are more people pass through the Bowery every day than any other thoroughfare of the city, but they are generally the poorer class of our population. The Bowery beer gardens and places of amusement are among the largest and most popular in the country because of the throngs of people who are forced to make use of that avenue in going to or returning from their place of business and who also find it a convenient place to purchase needed household goods and supplies of every kind.

In view of these facts it is remarkable that stores such as Ridley's and Lord & Taylor's were not long ago located on the Bowery. Its great business warranted more commodious establishments. A store or building with very ornate architecture would be out of place. The Dry Dock Savings Bank, for instance, was a mistake, and has no business on the Bowery. But the need of new structures is at length to be met by very decided improvements which have been commenced this May. Passengers on the east side elevated must have noticed the disappearance of many old land marks and the evidence that a new era has opened for that old and popular avenue. Among the important improvements now under way or projected are the following: At Nos. 37 and 37½ Bowery, a five-story brick and iron front store, for the Allen estate, which will cost $30,000; a five-story brick and stone hotel, to be erected by William A. Martin, on the site of the burned Windsor Theatre, which will cost $70,000, and on the northeast corner of the Bowery and Grand street a five-story store of the better class, to cost $43,000. At No. 131 Bowery William H. Bradford will build, at a cost of $20,000, a five-story brick store. The Young Men's Christian Association will erect a fine structure near Houston street which will be four or five stories in height and 50 feet front, and adjoining the latter building, on the southwest corner of the Bowery and Houston street, the Astors have had the old buildings demolished preparatory to the erection of several substantial buildings, after the usual style of the Astors.

From the above it will be seen that it is probable the old Bowery is to become renewed and may in time be as attractive as it has always been popular.

The law requiring telegraph and telephone companies to put their wires underground accounts probably for some of the weakness in Western Union telegraph stock. The change is to be completed under the law by the close of 1885. If the company refuses or neglects to hide away the wires the work is then to be done by the city at the expense of the corporations interested. Of course, it would decidedly improve the appearance of the city if the unsightly poles and wires were removed. But would not other annoyances result? The wires even underground would need frequent repairs, and this will involve a continuous tearing up of the pavements. Were the Arcade road built on Broadway there would be no difficulty in getting at the interred wires on that thoroughfare, but this great improvement is postponed for another year at least. The Western Union Telegraph Company already has tubes connecting their Broad street office with the principal building, at the corner of Dey street, and with their new building corner Twenty-third street and Fifth avenue, while the latter is connected with the Grand Central Depot. But the tubes laid are intended for pneumatic propulsion. The design is to send the written messages through the tube for direct distribution at distant points of the city, thus adding greatly to the efficiency of the district messenger service. In short, the design is to save the retelegraphing of messages received at the general office. Hence it follows that in burying the wires new tubes must be laid connecting the principal offices in New York with the out-of-town telegraph and telephone systems. It is very evident that some time or other the city must be honey-combed with sub-ways. Underground New York has developed marvellously within the last quarter of a century, and the time has come when to avoid the incessant tearing up of our pavements that permanent sub-ways should be constructed, so that sewers, gas mains, steam heating pipes, water mains, as well as telegraph, telephone and electric wires and pneumatic tubes, can be constructed or repaired without touching the pavements. But, as we have said, the construction of the Arcade road would greatly simplify the problem of making use of subterranean New York.

Our Prophetic Department.

SIR ORACLE—There will be no immediate recovery from our present troubles. A blow dealt at the Stock Exchange such as that of last Wednesday week is not forgotten in a hurry. I can see no new factor to help raise prices until the crops are reasonably sure of making a good yield, and the Republicans nominate an acceptable candidate for the presidency.

QUERIST—If we have civil service reform what difference does it make who is President?

SIR O.—Not much potentially, perhaps, but the moral effect of an incoming administration is very great. It unsettles business if the personnel of the government is changed. Were President Arthur nominated to succeed himself, the business world would respond with alacrity, and I think stocks would advance as they did four years ago when Garfield was put into the field. There seems to be every reason to believe that our wheat and small grain crops will be the heaviest known for years. Last year our winter wheat crop was a failure. This year the Agricultural Bureau thinks it will reach 350,000,000 bushels, that is, within 50,000,000 of the entire crop of last year, and our spring wheat crop ought to be good for over 200,000,000 bushels. All the small grain, fruits and vegetables promise well.

QUERIST—What have you to say about corn? I think you anticipate a large crop.

SIR O.—In a previous conversation I gave reasons for believing that the farmers would distance all their former efforts in trying to raise corn. That cereal has been scarce and high-priced since the droughts of the summer of 1881. In other words we have had three bad corn years, due to droughts and early frost. In the average of chances a good corn year is due. It is very evident that the farmers will do all they can in the way of planting to grow an enormous crop, for there is a very great profit in corn at the present price, say fifty-seven cents a bushel at Chicago. Corn can be raised with a profit at twenty cents a bushel in a good year.

QUERIST—Have you any doubts now about the large corn crop?

SIR O.—Samuel Benner, in his prophecies, is inclined to predict a poor summer for corn. He publishes tables showing there are dry years and wet years, and that 1884 ought to be wet, with a low temperature during the summer. Corn can get along with very little water but must have heat to grow; hence the outlook is not as good as it might be. Then cotton does not promise well, due to a late spring and the prospect of a wet summer.

QUERIST—There is not much hope, then, of better prices on the Stock Exchange?

SIR O.—The market will be very dull for a while, but I see nothing to advance values in the immediate future. There is only one consolation, you cannot get below zero in stock quotations and we are very near that now.

QUERIST—How about politics?

SIR O.—It really looks like Arthur to me, with Lincoln a good second. Blaine is not really a candidate, but he wants to name the winning dark horse, so as to be the Secretary of State.

QUERIST—And the Democratic nominee will be?

SIR O.—Samuel J. Tilden, if he will accept. If he does not then General Slocum or Cleveland. It looks like some one from New York who has no tariff record.

A word of caution may not be out of place respecting the "gossip" about real estate given by us weekly. While the great majority of the items can be depended upon, there are some which are not trustworthy. Our reporters publish what they get from brokers and dealers, but some few of these occasionally indulge in fiction. They tell of sales at extravagant figures which deceive no one in the trade, and respecting which it would be well for outsiders to be on their guard. A reported sale will sometimes help property in the immediate vicinity, and hence the temptation for unscrupulous owners and dealers to deceive investors. Our object is to give accurate information in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, but it is impossible for us to tell how much truth there is in reported sales of vacant property when the price on its face is extravagant. There are in fact only two persons who know the real price, that is, the buyer and the seller, and it may sometimes be to the interest of both to deceive the purchasing public.

Mr. John H. Sherwood's letter to the Times, complaining of the constantly increasing bills of the gas companies, emphasizes the growing indignation of consumers at the illegitimate exaction of those corporations. New York city ought to supply gas and electric light to its citizens, as well as water. With a good civil or rather municipal service, such as we are now promised under the recent enactments of the Legislature, there is no reason why the city might not give us a far better, cheaper and more efficient service than could any corporation.

Concerning Men and Things.

A. Oakey Hall, ex-Mayor of New York, is hard at work in London as a newspaper correspondent and lawyer. In the evening he is to be found in Fleet street, at the London office of the New York Herald. His mornings are spent at the Inns of Court, where he is studying up English law, with the design of becoming a solicitor. He does the legal business for one American law firm whose office is in Pine street. Hall is a remarkable man in his way, and has had a very peculiar career. He has a certain amount of ability and can make a humorous speech. He is adroit, resourceful, but somehow lacks balance, and his life will probably end in pecuniary as well as moral bankruptcy.

Henry Ward Beecher's slur on ex-President Hayes was amusing but not just. The country would never be in any peril if all our Presidents were as discreet and self-poised as that well-meaning ex-official. The merit of President Arthur is that he has very much the same recommendations as has ex-President Hayes. There was a touch of the Sunday-school superintendent in the conduct of the latter, which laid him open to the charge of Phariseeism, but we will have a prosperous history if we never have worse Presidents than he who now lives in Fremont, Ohio. Mr. Beecher in the course of his address mentioned the fact that he had more than once visited Washington to secure favors for his friends. This is quite true. It was he who induced President Lincoln to release the proclamation forger, Joe Howard, from Fort Lafayette, and he has made applications for other but more deserving persons to every chief executive since then save alone Andrew Johnson.

The Frohman family have come to the front as the most successful of all the adventurous theatrical managers. Daniel and Charles Frohman commenced their careers in the business departments of a couple of our daily journals. They were both at one time on the Graphic. Their first venture was a troupe of negro minstrels, that is they were real negroes and not the black-cork variety. Their connection with the Madison Square Theatre was followed by the playing of numerous companies all over the country. At first the ventures were confined to plays produced at that theatre but they have now under their control a number of outside enterprises, all of which promise well. The Frohmans belong to the wonderful Hebrew race which seems to have a peculiar talent for great and risky enterprises. They are honest and honorable gentlemen, whose word is as good as their bond, and it will not be surprising if some day they were the managers of the Metropolitan Opera House.

The talk in the newspapers about a new theatre to be built in Harlem is old news. Three distinct plans have been spoken of within the past year or two, the last being so far back as the fall of 1883. Miss Maggie Mitchell's project, which was referred to in the papers, is quite stale, and has been known to every real estate broker in Harlem for a year past. That lady owns some property on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, between Third and Lexington avenues, just far enough away from the latter to avoid the noise of the "L" road. Miss Mitchell has not taken any definite steps in the matter as yet. The second plan was that of a well-known down-town manager, who was negotiating with a Harlem firm of real estate agents for a site above One Hundred and Sixteenth street; this also fell through. The third was a plan, vented by the owner for reasons best known to himself, to build a theatre on the southeast corner of One Hundred and Seventh street and Third avenue, but that gentleman is now about to file plans for a number of tenements and stores to be erected on the site. Harlem undoubtedly needs a larger and better theatre than it now has, one which will free theatre-goers in that part of the city from the unsavory odors of a lodging house for the uncomplaining quadrupeds of the Third avenue horse-car line. Harlem has a population equal to that of many important cities, and could well afford to support a first-class theatre. Here is a splendid opportunity for a smart theatrical manager.

The new private park now being laid out on the south side of Thirty-fourth street, between Lexington and Fourth avenues, will, when completed, be a very acceptable city improvement. It will add to the value of all the adjoining property, particularly the Park Avenue Hotel, which has suffered from being opposite a horse car stable. It seems it was Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt who consented to this improvement, as he controls the disposition of the ground which is owned by the Harlem Railroad. When the latter company is ready to extend its track above Eighty-sixth street to Harlem River it will dispense with the stables on Thirty-second street, as the cable motive power will be used on the Fourth and Madison avenue tracks. The plans, it is said, are prepared for a car and steam engine house on the corner of Madison avenue and Eighty-sixth street. A portion of the present stable at Thirty-second street will also be used for the motive power of the cable, but the stables for horses not being needed, a large amount of ground will be available that will command high prices, as it will be opposite the fine private park now being laid out.

One good sign," said Mr. George F. Peabody, of the firm of Spencer Trask & Co., "is that the cats are dead. The liquidation in all the minor securities so-called is over. They are no longer available for collateral, for no one will lend on them, and hence they have found their way into the tin boxes not to make their appearance again until speculation revives." Mr. Peabody is undoubtedly right. Money can now only be borrowed upon stocks which have a dividend-paying value. This will keep money easy and will in time advantage the good stocks. It was a noticeable fact that during the recent disturbance there was very little selling of good bonds. The speculation was confined to those which have a prospective value, such as West Shore & Buffalo.

Home Decorative Notes.

—One of the most effective decorative novelties for a mantel or table scarf is a groundwork of black satin, with applique flowers and figures in bright colors; the border is finished with plush crescents of various colors.

—Tinted linen shades, cream, sage or ecru, are preferred to those of white Holland so long used. They are fringed across the lower end, and may have slight open-worked embroidery of self color above the fringe.

—A framed picture of large size should never be suspended from one nail, independent of the considerations of safety, the effect produced by two points of support is better.

—A foot-warmer is very easily constructed by making a bag of bed ticking about fourteen inches square; bind the seams with braid, leaving a small opening and fill with sand; make a slip cover of any material you choose and fasten with buttons and loops; when needed heat very hot in the oven, put it in its case, and it is ready for use. It is quite surprising how very long it will retain heat.

—Some portieres are made to reach only half way to the floor, thus disclosing the adjoining room.

—Inexhaustible treasures and articles of luxury are displayed by A. Seixas, of 127 Fifth avenue, costly and perfumed sachets of velvet, plush and satin, for gloves, handkerchiefs, perfumes, laces and stationery, others are of alligator skin, Japanese and ivory leather, lined with satin and perfumed with rose or violets; library sets, composed of brass, ivory, nickel, oxidized silver and copper, in curious shapes, the varieties of ink-stands and paper weights seem inexhaustible, all sorts of devices are brought into requisition.

—After carpets have been thoroughly shaken, they can be brightened very much by scattering corn meal mixed with coarse salt over them, and then sweeping it all off; mix the salt and meal in equal proportions.

—Plush furniture is studded around with large square filigree gilt nails.

—Toilet sets, comprising the bureau, scarf, mats and pin-cushion cover, are of fine lawn with a broad Carrick-ma-Cross border worked on them.

—A harvest scene engraving is in a broad wooden frame, with the small scythes, rakes and pitch-forks that are fashionable now in each corner.

—The panels of a door may be beautified by placing on them pieces of satin of a color to harmonize with the other decorations.

—Somewhat new and attractive style of embroidery is accomplished by cutting out the plush in odd designs and laying it over satin of a lighter shade; for instance, a table scarf has the centre of plain olive green plush, while the ends are cut out in the forms of leaves, flowers or geometrical figures, and laid over green satin of a very delicate shade, couch about the spaces with silver or gold cord, and finish with heavy chenille fringe.

—Crabs, lobsters, beetles, flies and grasshoppers in bronze figure among the favorite designs for paper weights.

—An elegant table for holding a piece of statuary or an odd vase has the top of richly chased brass and supported by three finely polished Mexican horns with ends tipped in silver.

—Beautiful workbaskets are made of small leghorn hats, line the crown with silk and catch the sides together with satin bows, decorate the out side with sprigs of apple blossoms, wisteria or ox-eyed daisies painted in oil colors.

—Very useful night lamps are seen in brass, porcelain or colored glass, to some of the designs clocks are affixed, and the figures placed on the lamp shades, we can therefore ascertain at a glance the hour of the night. Varied and attractive styles are shown by C. H. Covell, of Broadway and Twenty-seventh street.

—A very pretty way of arranging a guest's place at dinner is by a floral alphabet; letters of tin, deep enough to hold a little wet sand and in which the small blossoms can be set, if the flowers correspond with the initials of the guest's name it will be all the prettier.

—The Japanese chrysanthemum design is extremely graceful for a chair back or scarf end, it is most effective when worked on a neutral tinted background the foliage variegated in olive green shades and the large loose flowers in purple, pink and white or deep dull red.

—A corner cupboard that has solid unglazed doors either flat or rounded would gain richness by the insides of the doors being covered with choice bits of Venetian leather, when such doors are opened and laid back against the wall the warm fine color would be a valuable adjunct to and not interfering with the brilliant beauties upon the shelves.

—Madras muslin curtains as window hangings are much more harmonious and blend better with the decorations than the crude white lace.

—Rugs have an immense advantage over carpets, as they can be taken up very easily to be shaken or dusted; the great amount of dust which collects in rugs is amazing. Bats are much better than sticks for beating carpets.

—Dark bamboo tables with unpainted tops have brass rods supporting the legs.

—A new etching published by Fred. Keppel & Co., of 26 East Sixteenth street, is "The Cancalaises," from a picture by Farjen Perrin in the Luxembourg Gallery, Paris, the etcher is A. P. Martial. The work shows a group of women all in peasant or fisher dress, coming from the oyster bed flats seen in the distance towards the shore. On one day of the year the women of Cancale are allowed the privilege of gathering from these beds all the oysters they can carry away, the sale of these oysters allowing them a good supply of pin money for the rest of the year. This work is a valuable example of the best etcher's art, the groupings are very good and the figures full of interest

The New Real Estate Exchange Building.

We present our subscribers this week with a picture of the Real Estate Exchange and Auction Room (Limited) as it will appear when the alterations and additions shall have been completed to the buildings now on the site. The structure takes in Nos. 59 to 65 Liberty street, and is five stories high, exclusive of the basement and cellar. It has a frontage of 82.9 feet on Liberty street, and of 91.3 feet on Liberty place. The Exchange, the principal chamber in the building, will be 42x90 in size, with a height of 33 feet. It will contain a number of auctioneers' stands, all of which will be in hardwood. A stranger's gallery will appear at the south side, entered from the front by a staircase, and on the opposite side there will be a gallery for the accommodation of members and their friends. In the latter gallery space will be set apart for the representatives of the press, a very necessary reservation considering the importance of the real estate interest, and a convenience in which the present Exchange Salesroom is conspicuously deficient. The room will also contain five hundred receptacles for letters, one for each member. It will be wainscoted and floored with marble, and the ceilings decorated. It will be approached at the Liberty street entrance through two massive doors carved in cherry, and there will be a side entrance on Liberty place. The offices of the institution will be on the same floor, and will adjoin the directors' room and the president's sanctum. The whole business of the Exchange will, in fact, be conducted on this floor. A new Otis elevator will be placed in the building, and provision will be made for another should it ever be required. The old brick structure adjoining the main building is now being demolished, and a new one will be reared in its stead, to adjoin the latter, and to be of the same height, the dimension being 21x96 feet. The offices above the Exchange Room will all be rented out, there being some fifty to sixty in all. The cost of the alterations and additions is estimated at about $90,000, of which $55,000 is for the new building and $35,000 for the alterations to the old. The cost of the buildings was $421,500, which will thus make a total, in round numbers, of about $500,000, being the amount of the capital stock. The sources of revenue will be numerous. First, the rental of the offices will yield, it is said, some $35,000 per annum. This in itself would suffice to pay a dividend, even allowing for taxes and other disbursements. Then there will be a large revenue from auctioneers' stands. These will be in great demand at high figures, as there will be but a limited number. The annual rental from this source is expected to reach about $20,000. There will also be an income from the small fees charged outsiders for information regarding city property, assessments, taxes, liens and other valuable intelligence about particular parcels of realty. In addition to this there will be a very large income from subscribers who will be admitted to part privileges of the Exchange on the payment of sixty dollars per annum. Should there be but three hundred members during the first year it would amount to $18,000. Of course the expenses of the Exchange must necessarily be large, especially in the commencement, when the intricate and exhaustive machinery of so great an institution will require many workers and much time. The bureaus of the Exchange will keep maps showing the present ownership of every lot on Manhattan Island, and great volumes will be kept in which will appear the history of each lot and the general condition of the property.

The Exchange was organized September 13, 1883, at a meeting convened by the publisher of THE RECORD AND GUIDE at the offices of this paper. Trustees were appointed and the Exchange was soon after incorporated with a capital of $500,000, in shares of $100. Subscriptions were opened and the capital stock subscribed within three weeks of the opening of the books, the number of members being limited to five hundred, each taking ten shares. The site was subsequently chosen and ratified by the subscribers. The officers are Messrs. E. H. Ludlow, president; H. H. Cammann, first vice-president; Albert Bellamy, second vice-president; John H. Sherwood, treasurer, and George H. Scott, secretary; the directors being Messrs. Richard V. Harnett, L. Friedman, E. A. Cruikshank, S. F. Jayne, S. Van Rensselaer Cruger, James Stokes, David G. Croly and Isaac Honig. Several committees have been appointed, the most important of which is the Committee on Legislation, whose object it is to watch and report on legislation at Albany affecting New York realty, and to bring the weight of the Exchange to bear upon the Legislature and the city government against laws adverse to the interests of real estate. The committee is composed of the following members: Messrs. James M. Varnum (chairman), Samuel D. Babcock, Nathaniel P. Bailey, Robert B. Minturn, James D. Lynch, Henry E. Pellew, Elias S. Higgins, Charles Buek, J. B. Cornell, H. P. Degraff, B. K. Stevens, William C. Schermerhorn, Richard T. Wilson, A. J. Clinton, Wm. Mulry, Smith Ely, Jr., Constant A. Andrews, Fleming Smith, Henry M. Taber, Wm. C. Church, E. A. Morrison, Geo. F. Gantz, Frank Tilford, H. J. Burchell, C. W. Sweet, A. Bernheimer, Richard Deeves, Geo. H. Andrews, Thos. B. Connery, Frank S. Allen, E. Oppenheimer, John D. Crimmins, H. R. Beekman, Chas. A. Schermerhorn, Henry L. Morris, Andrew J. Robinson and John T. Nagle. The directors of the Exchange are ex-officio members. Benjamin Hardwick has been elected manager.

The other committees are composed as follows: Committee on Sanitation—Messrs. Stokes, Jayne and Bellamy. Committee on Finance—Messrs. Cruikshank (chairman), Harnett and Friedman Committee on Membership—Messrs. Cruger (chairman), Jayne, Croly, Honig and Stokes. Committee on Building—Messrs. Ludlow (chairman), Cammann, Cruikshank, Cruger, Honig, Scott and Harnett. Committee on Exchange and Auction Room—Messrs. Harnett (president), Cammann, Friedman, Bellamy and Croly. The Exchange will play a very important part in the future history of New York city. The real estate is the greatest interest in the country, not even excepting the railways. Should a measure for the simplification and cheapening of transfers of property be passed real estate will become almost as easily negotiable as stocks, with the result that there will not only be an increased volume of business among dealers, but large purchases by investors who are at present not attracted. Real estate all over the country will seek a mart within the precincts of the Exchange, and parcels will be bought and sold which were never thought of prior to its establishment. Land and building companies will no doubt also be organized and the shares dealt in on the Exchange. Other spheres will open themselves for the transaction of business which will be novel to the real estate brokers, but which will tend to swell the dealings in realty. The Exchange will be opened November 1st next, when there will be present the presidents of all the New York exchanges, the Mayor, and a number of other distinguished persons.

A Bondholders' Meeting.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE REORGANIZATION OF THE TOLEDO, DELPHOS & BURLINGTON ROAD.

An important meeting of the first mortgage bondholders of the Toledo, Delphos & Burlington Railroad Company, commonly called Toledo, Cincinnati & St. Louis main branch, was held at the office of Mr. Austin Corbin, in this city, on Tuesday last. The bondholders have been rapidly completing a plan for reorganization, embracing both the main line and St. Louis division, known as the Quigley plan, and a majority of the first mortgage bondholders of both divisions have already signed the reorganization agreement. The meeting in question was called by Mr. Corbin for the purpose of submitting to the bondholders a new scheme of reorganization under Mr. Corbin's own management. Mr. Corbin and Mr. George William Ballou were both present. Mr. Corbin stated to the meeting the outline of his plan in a general way, namely: The reorganized corporation to issue bonds not exceeding $8,000 per mile, the Indiana, Bloomington & Western Railroad Campany to place them in the market, and build and equip the road as a full gauge road, the reorganized corporation to issue preferred stock to present first mortgage bondholders, and the completed road to be leased to the Indiana, Bloomington & Western Railroad Company upon a guarantee to pay interest on the fixed charges, i. e., $8,000 per mile and a fair percentage of net earnings.

Mr. Corbin stated that the road could be built and sufficiently equipped for $8,000 per mile, and that the Indiana, Bloomington & Western would only guarantee interest on that. The amount payable to preferred stockholders (now first mortgage bondholders) would depend on the amount of net earnings which the road would show when leased and its accounts kept under Mr. Corbin's and Indiana, Bloomington & Western management. One of the bondholders present asked Mr. Corbin whether the Indiana, Bloomington & Western did not intend to turn all the business of the St. Louis division from Metcalf eastward over the Indiana, Bloomington & Western to Sandusky, thus cutting off earnings on through business from Metcalf to Kokomo on the St. Louis division and wholly on the main line. Mr. Corbin was obliged to admit that such would be the working of the plan.

Another bondholder called upon Mr. Corbin to explain how he expected to rebuild and equip the road for $8,000 per mile. Mr. Corbin said that he could not give the items then but he had examined into the matter and was fully satisfied it could be done.

A bondholder who was present stated that he had seen Mr. Corbin's estimates, and that so far as they went they were somewhat higher than the estimates of the Quigley committee, but that Mr. Corbin had cut down his total by omitting all provision for receivership debts, which amounted to about $1,824.33 per mile and must be met. He had also omitted any estimate for fencing along track, a necessary item, amounting to $100,000, and he contemplated only a very small equipment of rolling stock leaving the road to hire from equipment companies or otherwise, which could only be done at ruinous charges that would eat up all profits. He said that Mr. Corbin did not save one cent by providing any one thing cheaper than the bondholders' committee proposed to do. He had simply ignored necessary expenses to the injury of all concerned. He challenged Mr. Corbin to produce his itemized statement to a comparison with the figures of the Quigley committee, which every bondholder was at liberty to inspect right at the meeting.

He said that for the item of change of gauge and reconstruction of road the Quigley committee had allowed only about $5,000 per mile, exclusive of fencing; Mr. Corbin had allowed more.

Other bondholders said they had had enough of the management of other people, and that they could take care of themselves better than Mr. Corbin could do it, with his own schemes and the Indiana, Bloomington & Western interest to promote.

One bondholder in particular said that the fact that the former financial agent of the old corporations was identified with Mr. Corbin's scheme was a complete and unanswerable reason why bondholders should have nothing to do with it. He pointed out that under the lease Mr. Corbin would get the property with no other obligation than to pay interest on $8,000 per mile, and that it would be easy for him by the aid of equipment companies, etc., to keep down net earnings so that the present bondholders would get nothing.

The meeting then passed resolutions condemning the Corbin plan and approving the bondholders' plan under the management of the Quigley committee, and indorsed the action of the committee.

The meeting then adjourned.

The third edition of that most valuable of books of reference, "Benner's Prophecies," can be obtained on application at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE. The work is of unquestioned value to all interested in business enterprises of every nature, and we are happy to be able to supply it to our readers at the publishers' price, one dollar.

Now the Park Commissioners have agreed to begin the work on Morningside Park. This improvement cannot be undertaken too soon. The neighborhood is settling up rapidly and every interest would be subserved by getting the park in such shape as would make it an attractive pleasure resort. The carriageways on the top and at the foot of the hill will soon be completed, and when they are it needs no prophet to foretell that a stream of pleasure vehicles will pass over them daily, from the Central Park through Riverside Drive to Seventy-second street.

Realty at Albany.

ALBANY, May 22.

The Legislature closed its labors last week and has departed. It has, in spite of all the denunciations heaped upon it, done more for the public than any of its immediate predecessors. The actual results accomplished will depend upon the action of the Governor on several important measures still in his hands, for he has it in his power to nullify much of the good work done by the Legislature, many of the important bills being in his hands awaiting his approval or dissent. If he decides that he will not sign a bill, that ends it. A veto was formerly considered a prerogative to be used only on a measure clearly unconstitutional, and on that ground only, but of late years it is exercised on any mere whim, and as often against important public measures as on any other. There is no longer any guide whereby it can be foretold whether a veto is probable or not. It has become an article of whims, not of law or fixed rule.

The Senate, contrary to expectations, reached and passed Mr. McDonald's bill establishing an exterior street on the East River from Sixty-fourth to Ninetieth street. It was among the last bills passed in that body on the last day of the session.

In my last letter it was stated that the bill enlarging the powers of the Board of Health relative to drainage and plumbing had been defeated in the Assembly. The vote on that bill was subsequently reconsidered, the bill amended by striking out portions of the section relative to requiring a statement to be filed with every report of a marriage, whether either of the parties had been married before, and then passed. The Senate concurred in this amendment on the last day of the session. Those two bills were the only important ones affecting realty interests which were passed on the last day of the session.

There have been a number of bills affecting real estate and public interests in New York city already approved and become laws. Among them is the act known as Chapter 17, which prohibits the cutting or laying out of streets through the grounds of the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum, between One Hundred and Fourteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets. This establishes a bar to the laying out of streets across those grounds.

An appropriation was made and the Park Department directed to improve and repair the park in Mission place by planting trees and putting the fountain in order.

Chapter 76 authorizes the Board of Street Openings to lay out a park at Coenties slip, to be called the "Jeannette" Park, when laid out to be under the charge of the Park Department.

Chapter 200 authorizes the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund on the application of the Board of Police or of the Fire Department to set apart any lot belonging to the city not already appropriated for public use, for station houses, sub-stations or apparatus houses for the Fire Department.

Chapter 252 provides for the construction, extension and operation of street surface railroads, under which more cross-town roads can be constructed and the long needed relief of the west side in the matter of transit and means of reaching that section can be secured. The enactment of that law is one of the important results of the session, and will aid in building up the west side of the city by making it more accessible.

Chapter 261 gives the Harlem Railroad Company the necessary power to acquire lands for the enlargement and extension of the Grand Central Depot, by adding 80 feet on the east side, with a street 50 feet wide on the east side of the extension. It is understood to be the purpose, when this enlargement is made, to build a bridge from the depot across to the depot of the elevated railroad station for the accommodation of those wishing to take the elevated road on their arrival in town.

Chapter 262 authorizes the Commissioners of Public Charities to purchase for the city Riker's Island, in Long Island Sound, from Queens County, with all the surrounding water right, and make it a part of the Twenty-third Ward of the city—$180,000 is the outside limit that can be paid for the island. It is to be used by the Commissioners of Charities in the administration of their department.

Chapter 273 authorizes the Board of Health to designate and set apart on the East River, north of Forty-second street, one or more places for the temporary deposit of stable manure while being removed from the city.

Chapter 292 authorizes the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund to enter into contract with a company in their discretion, for a special water service for fire, sanitary or other purposes. This is the measure for the introduction of salt or river water for the extinguishment of fires and flushing the gutters. All the necessary power is given for the erection of the required works by the company, upon entering into a contract with the city, whereby the latter agrees to take a stipulated amount of water. All the necessary works for pumping the water, the laying of pipes to convey it to different parts of the city, to be done by the company, the city simply to pay for the water that it uses, at a stipulated price.

Chapter 273 is the new law prohibiting the manufacture of cigars in tenement houses. This was passed in the interest of the Cigar Makers' Union, and is a restrictive measure of doubtful constitutionality and policy. It is to be tested in the courts.

The foregoing embrace the important measures that have become laws. All others were passed so late in the session that the Governor did not consider them until after adjournment, and has until the 16th of June to decide what he will and what he will not sign. Those signed make but a small portion of the measures passed that are of interest to real estate owners.

Among the bills awaiting the Governor's approval is the Earl Mechanics' Lien Law, which supercedes and repeals several existing laws on that subject, the repealing part having been inserted among the amendments in the Senate and concurred in by the Assembly.

The new Building Law is another important measure; none more so passed this session. It is lengthy, but was carefully examined and corrected before it passed the Assembly, all possible jobs having been eliminated.

The next bill in importance is that establishing and providing for the taking of the lands for the parks recommended by the Marsh commission, north of the Harlem River. The passage of this measure is one of the most creditable acts of the session. Its wisdom will be demonstrated in in the near future. It establishes six parks.

Another park bill passed. It provides that the Board of Street Openings shall lay out and acquire title to lands for a park at Corlears Hook, between Cherry street and the East River. This was one of the last bills passed.

The bill of Mr. Plunkett constituting the gore of land between Seventy-second and Seventy-third streets, and between Broadway Boulevard and Tenth avenue, a public place or park, is among the bills awaiting the Governor's approval.

Among the other bills in his hands is the act for the repavement of Fifth avenue under the supervision of the Sinking Fund Commissioners.

Then there is the act requiring telegraph and electric light companies to put their wires underground in the cities of New York and Brooklyn. A desperate effort is being made to find an excuse for the Governor to veto this measure, and keep the unsightly poles up—as well as the act naming a commission, of which Felix Adler is one, to investigate and inquire into the character and condition of tenement houses and their occupants in New York, the commission to report to the next Legislature.

The act to provide for the appointment of five commissioners by the Governor, all of whom are to be lawyers, to prepare and report to the Legislature a bill to facilitate and lessen the expense of the transfer of land in the cities of the State.

The McDonald bill for an exterior street, 150 feet wide, on the East River, between Sixty fourth and Ninetieth streets. The Department of Docks to determine upon the plan for said street.

Another bill relative to the improvement of the water front, establishment of the lines, bulkheads and piers between Eighty-sixth and One Hundred and Ninth streets, also in Hell Gate Bay and Harlem River to Third avenue, also passed both Houses. This bill in a measure interferes with that for an exterior street, and it is hardly possible that both can be signed, for they cover the same territory for the four blocks from Eighty-sixth to Ninetieth street, although the powers given the Dock Department under this last bill will enable them to make plans so as to conform the water front on those four blocks to that provided in the Exterior Street Bill for those blocks, and thus make the two work together instead of conflict.

The Plunkett bill authorizing the Board of Street Openings to change the grades of the streets between Eighth and Ninth avenues, from Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Twenty-third street, to adjust them to the grade of Eighth avenue. This power extends to the streets as far east as Seventh avenue, from One Hundred and Tenth to One Hundred and Twenty-third street.

The bill of Mr. Clarke directing the Park Commissioners to change the map of the Twenty-third Ward, and file a new map, or so much thereof as is necessary to change the width of Mott avenue from One Hundred and Forty-sixth street to the Harlem Railroad to 50 feet.

The act of Mr. Gibbs directing the Park Department to change the map of the Twenty-fourth Ward, or that portion embraced in the section between the Harlem River and Mosholu avenue on the north, Bailey avenue on the east and Broadway on the west.

The bill of Mr. Clarke striking off from the map Morris avenue, between One Hundred and Sixty-second street and Overlook avenue, and One Hundred and Sixty-fifth street, between Winfield place and Sheridan avenue in the Twenty-third Ward, also giving the Park Department authority to revise the map or plan of that portion of the ward from One Hundred and Sixty-second to One Hundred and Sixty-seventh street, Railroad and Sheridan avenues.

These, with the park bills, are all that passed which change the map or plans as already laid out, or the grades of any of the streets. It will be seen that four bills establishing parks have passed this session. One, the Coenties slip park, has been signed. If all the others are approved, the Legislature will have established nine new parks for the city. These are none too many for the public good. Each will help the growth of the city by adding to its beauty.

Among the other bills in the Governor's hands awaiting his approval is the act for the construction of a pier at the Battery for the use of the Police Department; the act to extend the pier on the North River between Forty-first and Forty-second streets; the act for an iron bridge for foot passengers over Fourth avenue at Ninety-eighth street, the railroad company to pay one-half of the cost; the act relative to the appeal to the courts by property owners to settle the loss or damage in connection with the abandonment of the parade ground on the upper end of Manhattan Island.

The act adding the president of the Fire Department to the new Croton Aqueduct Commission; the act adding the names of Joseph Garry and Hugh Gardner to the Assessment Commission, to fill vacancies, of which Allen Campbell, John Kelly and Daniel Lord, Jr., are the other commissioners; the act relative to the enlargement of the grounds occupied by Gansevoort Market by adding the block between Little Twelfth street and Gansevoort street, Washington and Tenth avenues; the bill for the enlargement of the Museum of Natural History in the park, and an act in relation to the park police; the bill of Mr. Plunkett, creating a new Civil Court District out of the Twenty second Ward, has been approved by the Governor. The act amending the manufacturing law, so as to enable companies to put down driven wells and furnish water to the city, is also in the Governor's hands. Nearly all of those mentioned are measures of interest and importance to the interests of the city and realty. The act fixing the tenure of office of all commissioners whose terms expire this year is also awaiting the Governor's pleasure.

None of the bills changing the fees or charges for searching title passed, that of Mr. Bindee reducing the fees one-half on the five years' search, and 60 per cent. for longer periods, never was reported. Mr. Lewis' bill to include the mortgages taken by the loan commissioners in the Register's search was reported, but the friends of the loan commissioners saw that it did not pass, for it would cut off their fees, while the reductions that were put in the County Clerk's bill in the Assembly, were stricken out in the Senate. The same fees on all points have to be paid on title searches now as were paid before the Legislature met.

The act to provide for the erection or purchase of municipal buildings for the city did not pass. There is no fire-proof building authorized for the deposit of the valuable books and papers in the Register's office. The city officials asked for the passage of the bill to give power to erect a fire-proof building, but the Legislature did not heed the request. Mr. Clarke's bill to allow the use of native asphalt pavement on streets when petitioned for by the abutting property owners did not pass either House. Mr. Campbell's bill to prevent the use of the sheds on the piers for any other purpose than the reception and shipping of goods was among those that dropped by the way. Assemblyman Van Cott's bill providing that no personal judgment shall be entered up for deficiency when the mortgaged property on a foreclosure does not sell for enough to pay mortgage and back interest was reported adversely and killed.

The act for the widening of Elm street, and its extension to the entrance to the Brooklyn Bridge on the lower end, and to Lafayette place on the north end of the street, was killed with an adverse report by Roosevelt's committee.

The Park Commissioners at their last meeting had the subject of a tunnel under the Harlem River broached to them. This will come in time. Not only one tunnel but several. The great improvement now called for is the Harlem Canal, the construction of which has been unnecessarily delayed.

Real Estate Department.

The blue stock market and the business depression due to the bank troubles has had its effect upon the real estate market. There was but little new business last week, and while there was a good attendance at the salesroom, the number of legitimate transactions were not large. The best sale was that of the Cushman estate, at which several builders bought for immediate improvement. Two vacant lots on West Thirty-eighth street brought a high price, but the purchaser was an adjoining brewer, who wished to extend his business, and the lots seem to have been bid up on him. But notwithstanding the hesitancy of dealers and investors the undertone is unmistakably good. Every one says, and with truth, that real property is the only kind which gives an assurance of future profits. All who have had dealings in Wall street are very sick of that locality, and operators in cotton and grain admit that their recent ventures have turned out unprofitably. Whatever money there is now for investment will be put into real estate.

No sales were held at the Exchange Salesroom on Saturday last. One sale took place Monday—eight were adjourned. On Tuesday the sale of lots on Eighth and Ninth avenues, West Forty-ninth and Fiftieth streets, belonging to the Cushman estate, attracted a large crowd. The plot on the southwest corner of Eighth avenue and Forty-ninth street was struck down to H. Cushman for $126,000, and the other lots, about forty in number, were sold at fair prices; a number of them will be improved at once. Houses on Willett, East Fifty-ninth, East Eightieth and West Thirty-third streets and lots on East Ninety-second street and Andrews place were sold by orders of owners, and houses on East Thirty-second and One Hundred and Eighth streets and lots on East One Hundred and Forty-second, One Hundred and Forty sixth and One Hundred and Forty-seventh streets sold under foreclosure. On Wednesday only four of the fifteen lots on Fifth, Sixth and Madison avenues were sold. Lots on East Sixty-eighth and One Hundred and Fourteenth streets and Fulton avenue were sold under foreclosure. On Thursday the plot on the southwest corner of Broadway and Twelfth street was sold for $290,000; this property rents for $25,000 a year and it is said $350,000 was asked for it at private sale. The purchaser will not make any alterations for the present. The houses Nos. 3 and 5 East Sixty-seventh street were knocked down at $79,000 and $72,500 respectively, and the four adjoining houses were withdrawn. Two lots on Thirty-eighth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues, brought $11,000 each, a very fancy price. The purchasers, however, occupy the adjoining lots and bought the above so as to enlarge their brewery. On Friday the three-story brick stable, Nos. 204 to 208 West Fifty-eighth street, was sold under foreclosure for $63,900.

The following comparison between the Conveyances of last week and the corresponding week of last year is, to say the least, interesting. The total number of transfers has nearly doubled but the purchases must have been of small parcels, as the consideration is given as less this year than last. The increase of investments in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards will attract attention. Larger transactions seem to be taking place in the annexed district. An apparently unfavorable feature is the increase in the sum total of the mortgages, which is more than double the amount of last year. But this can be accounted for by mortgages such as that of Amos R. Eno on the Fifth Avenue Hotel to make good the defalcation of his son. As we showed a couple of weeks since, while the aggregate amount paid for real estate for the first four months of this year was much larger than last year, the mortgage indebtedness created was much less. It is not improbable that the Wall street troubles will lead to not only an increased mortgage indebtedness but probably the sale of some valuable parcels of real estate. The following is the table:

CONVEYANCES.

The adjourned sale of the property of the late John Haggerty will take place on Tuesday next, May 27. There will be disposed of the valuable block of land lying between Tenth and St. Nicholas avenues, One Hundred and Fifty-sixth and One Hundred and Fifty-seventh streets, and twelve lots on Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth streets, near First avenue. There will also be sold a very desirable country place and 83 acres at Whitestone, L. I.; A. H. Muller & Son, auctioneers.

John F. B. Smyth will sell on Tuesday, May 27, in separate parcels, a plot of three lots on the northwest corner of Seventh avenue and One Hundred and Twentieth street, and on the Wednesday following he will sell Nos. 67 and 69 Third street, Nos. 105 and 107 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street and No. 134 West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street. On Thursday, May 29, Mr. Smyth will dispose of the desirable dwelling No. 145 East Fifty-sixth street. The same auctioneer announces the sale on Friday, June 6, of Nos. 511 and 513 West Twenty-ninth street and the first-class dwelling No. 10 West Fifty-seventh street.

Horatio Henriques will sell on Thursday, May 29, by order of the trustees of the estate of the late John Pentz, a large number of west side lots in the district bounded by One Hundred and Thirty-seventh and One Hundred and Forty-third streets, between St. Nicholas and Tenth avenues. The location is a good one and the sale presents opportunities for profitable investment. At the same sale will be offered several valuable parcels on Riverside Drive and Eighty-first street, Grand Boulelard, Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets.

Richard V. Harnett will sell on Tuesday, May 27, three lots on One Hundred and Fifteenth street, east of Fifth avenue, and a plot, 69 feet front, on the north side of Sixty-first street, west of First avenue.

On Monday, June 2d, Mr. Harnett will sell some valuable suburban property, adapted for the erection of villas or summer residences, splendidly located, at Orienta Point, in Mamaroneck, Westchester County, and possessing what is deemed of most value in connection with summer residences, an unexcelled water front; in this instance on Long Island Sound. A number of New York's most prominent citizens have established homes in the immediate vicinity of the parcels to be sold.

Mr. Harnett has also charge of the sale of Mr. John H. Deane's property on June 3d and 4th, which will comprise a large number of improved parcels that have been offered at auction in this city for a long period of time. There will also be sold many well-located vacant lots, such as are not always obtainable when improvements are contemplated by builders. The property will be sold without reserve subject to first mortgages. In our advertising columns will be found a full list of the various properties.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. will sell, on Monday, June 2d, the very valuable and desirable dwelling No. 393 Fifth avenue, 27.7x85, with the fine stable adjoining on Thirty-sixth street, No. 3 West, 25x76.11. This property is finely situated in the centre of the fashionable Murray Hill district, and its sale will undoubtedly attract a large and interested attendance of bidders.

The Third Avenue Railroad Company has just filed plans for the depot for their cable road to run along Tenth avenue and connect with Third avenue by way of the One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street horse car line. The building will be on the east side of Tenth avenue, between One Hundred and Twenty-eighth and One Hundred and Twenty-ninth streets, size 200x200, and cost $200,000. This improvement was announced in this paper January 5, last.

Gossip of the Week.

F. Zittel has made the following sales: The four-story brown stone dwellings, No. 50 East Sixty-ninth street, 19x93.6x104, and No. 56, 23x51x67.11, for S. M. Hamilton; for Charles Sedgwick, the "Surmount Flats," Nos. 332 to 338 East Eighty-sixth street, 100x85x102.2, for $100,000; for Morris Keller, five five-story brown stone houses on the north side of Seventy-second street, 150 feet west of Avenue A, 25x87x100 each, for $100,000; five four-story brown stone flats on the south side of One Hundred and Tenth street, 25 feet east of Lexington avenue, 25x80x100 each, for Charles Buddensiek, for $112,500, and for the same owner eleven five-story brown stone tenements on the south side of Ninety-seventh street, 100 feet west of Second avenue, 25x80x100 each, at $20,000 each, or $220,000; for Israel Casper, the four story and basement brown stone flat, No. 257 East Seventy-second street, 18x65x75, for $27,500; the four-story brown stone houses known as the "Saratoga Flats," Nos. 342 to 346 East Seventieth street, 28x82x100 each, for Chas. Sedgwick, for $100,000, and for the same owner, Nos. 334 to 340 East Seventieth street, 25x85x100 each, for $112,000, and four five-story brown stone tenements on the north side of Eighty-fifth street, 325 feet east of Second avenue, 25x75x100, for $115,000. Mr. Zittel has also sold at private sale, for S. M. Hamilton, the elegant four-story high stoop brick, stone and terra cotta mansion, No. 929 Fifth avenue, 30.5x106x120, including furniture, for $330,000; No. 931, adjoining, was sold last year for $225,000 to the President of Guatemala. Four lots have been sold by the same broker, for the Fernando Wood estate, on the south side of Sixty-first street, 83 feet west of the Western Boulevard, for $30,000 cash, to Jacob Steinhardt, which will be improved as announced elsewhere.

M. S. Baer & Co. have sold the four-story high-stoop brown stone dwelling, No. 182 Madison avenue, 28.5x98, to John A. Kernochan, for $65,000, and two lots on the south side of Thirty-fourth street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues, for $14,800.

Messrs. Maclay & Davies have purchased from Phyfe & Campbell the Sutherland flats and adjoining houses on the southeast corner of Madison avenue and Sixty-third street, 100.5x83.10; the consideration, it is said, was $290,000.

V. K. Stevenson, Jr., has sold for Isidor Cohnfeld the four lots on the south side of Forty-ninth street, 250 feet west of Eighth avenue, for $32,000, to William Rankin. Mr. Cohnfeld purchased these lots at the sale of the Cushman estate on Tuesday last for $29,200.

James C. Miller has purchased the three-story frame dwelling, No. 203 West Fifty-eighth street, 20x50.5, for $9,750.

Lambert Suydam has sold the lot on the south side of Third street, 50 feet west of Macdougal street, 25x50, to James O'Hare, with a building loan.

John J. Burchell has sold the old brick buildings, Nos. 214 and 216 East Twenty-ninth street, for $20,000, to S. M. Styles.

Messrs. Dye & Castree have sold the three-story brick dwelling, No. 153 West Twelfth street, to A. J. D. Wedemeyer, and the three-story brick dwelling, Nos. 78 and 80 Sullivan street, 42x69, to James Dowling, for $17,500.

W. R. Page has sold the two five-story brick flats, Nos. 229 and 231 West Sixteenth street, each 29.11x100, to Spencer C. Doty, for $85,000.

Jacob Bookman has sold three lots on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-second street, 275 feet east of Eighth avenue, to John Eggleston for $18,600 with a loan.

A lot on the north side of Seventy-fifth street, about 120 feet west of Third avenue, 30x100, has been sold for $12,000.

Emanuel Perls has sold for Isaac Rosenstein the four-story brown stone dwelling No. 318 East Fifteenth street, 22.6x60x103, to Edward Benneche.

The four-story stone front dwelling No. 121 West Forty-ninth street has been sold to W. R. Page, for $30,000.

The Twenty-fourth Ward Real Estate Association has now disposed of five of its villas to desirable parties, four of which are already occupied

Thomas G. Hodges has sold his four-story English basement brown stone house No. 34 East Thirty-first street, 20x100, for $28,000, to Mrs. E. L. Ludlow.

John H. Judge has purchased the lot on the northeast corner of Riverside drive and One Hundred and Sixth street, 100 feet on the drive and 25 on the street, for $15,000.

A. A. Teets has sold the four-story and basement brown stone dwelling, No. 144 West One Hundred and Twenty-second street, to Chas. Mayne, for $22,000.

Brooklyn.

Paul C. Grening has sold four three-story brown stone dwellings (new), Nos. 697, 699, 701 and 703 Greene avenue, to H. Smith, for $30,000; a two-story brown stone dwelling, No. 391 Nostrand avenue, to J. F. Ryan, for $5,000, and a similar dwelling, No. 385 Nostrand avenue, to R. Lane, for $5,000.

W. F. Corwith has sold the three-story and basement frame dwelling, with lot adjoining, and known as Nos. 115 and 117 Noble street, to William Hellberger, for $9,000.

Bulkley & Horton have sold the three-story brick dwelling, 20x45x75, No. 312 Clermont avenue, to Robert F. Leighton, for $8,000.

J. Davenport & Son have sold the Schroder buildings on Fulton street, near St. Felix street, to Charles A. Chesebrough, for $100,000.

Out Among the Builders.

William Baker has the plans under way for two elegant four-story and basement private residences, to be erected for Judge Thomas Pearson and daughter, on the south side of Eighty-sixth street, between Madison and Park avenues. The dimensions will be 18x55 and 20x55 respectively, each having an extension. The first story will be of brown stone, and the front above of Philadelphia brick, trimmed with brown stone and terra cotta. The estimated cost is $42,000.

Two costly apartment houses will shortly be erected on the north side of Fiftieth street, between Madison and Park avenues. They will each be five stories in height, and 37.6x90 in size, the fronts being of brick and brown stone. They will cost together from $90,000 to $100,000. Geo. Ed. Harding has been appointed as the architect, the owner being Bernard Spaulding.

William Astor is about to erect three stores on the southwest corner of Houston street and the Bowery. They will have a frontage of 40 feet each. The plans are being prepared by Halsey C. De Baud.

Excavations have been commenced for the erection of two first-class four-story and basement brown stone private residences, 23x78 each, on the south side of Seventy-second street, 150 feet east of Madison avenue. They will each contain a passenger elevator, and steam heat. The interior decorations will be very elaborate, and the rooms will be in hardwood throughout. The houses will be built for Joseph and Charles Liebmann, for their own occupancy, and will cost together about $160,000. The architect, Alfred Zucker, has the plans under way.

The hospital for the treatment of cancers, to be erected on Eighth avenue, One Hundred and Fifth and One Hundred and Sixth streets, will be three stories high exclusive of basement and raised sub-basement. The building will be 100x120, and will occupy part of the twelve lots purchased by the trustees of the hospital. It will be especially built with a view to first-class light and ventilation. The material will be of brick and stone, and the cost about $300,000. John E. Parsons is the president of the institution, Henry E. Pellew, vice-president, and J. W. Drexel, treasurer. The architect is Charles C. Haight.

C. W. Romeyn & Co. are drawing the plans for the New Paltz (N. Y.) Academy, for which donations were recently subscribed by several leading New York citizens. The building will be erected in the charming Wallkill Valley. It will be in brick and local stone and will cost about $35,000. The same architects are preparing plans for three five-story brick and stone apartment houses, 29.4x66, 20x59.6 and 29x13.6x22 respectively, to be built on the corner of Second avenue and Twenty-sixth street, for E. R. Fielding.

A one-story gymnasium of brick, stone and terra cotta will shortly be erected at New Rochelle, N. Y. The interior will be done in open timber and buff brick, and will contain a gallery to be used as a running track, and which will also afford accommodation for visitors. The size of the structure will be 100x60, and the estimated cost about $40,000. Mr. Adrian Iselin is the owner, the architects being Messrs. J. C. Cady & Co. This gymnasium will be quite an improvement for the above city and will form a great attraction to New Yorkers.

McKim, Mead & White are engaged on the drawings for a first-class four-story brick and stone residence, 45x100, to be erected on the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Hereford street, Boston, for John F. Andrew, son of ex-Governor Andrew, at a cost of about $100,000. The interior will be handsomely decorated and be in hardwood throughout. The building will be in the old Colonial style.

The two private houses on the northwest corner of Forty-seventh street and Sixth avenue will be altered into two stores, 20x60 and 22x22, respectively. Owner, George Hillen; architect, W. H. Hume.

Geo. E. Jardine, the architect, is about to erect, for his own occupancy, a two-story, attic and basement frame cottage, 38x52, at Rye, N. Y., to cost about $6,000.

M. H. Schneider intends to build four five-story brick and brown stone tenements, 25x82 each, on the north side of Eighty-first street, 231 feet east of First avenue, at a cost of $65,000, from plans by Julius Kastner. The same architect has the designs for a similar tenement, 25x60, to be built at No. 25 Clinton street, for Brown Brothers, at a cost of $15,000.

M. Giblin intends to erect eight five-story brown stone flats on the southwest corner of Ninetieth street and Third avenue. Six will front on the street, and be 27x82 each, and two on the avenue, with stores, 25x86 each. The cost of this improvement is estimated at about $150,000.

Messrs. Lewis & Conger intend to erect two private residences, to be occupied by themselves, on the south side of Eighty-second street, commencing 325 feet west of Ninth avenue.

Thom & Wilson have the sketches on the boards for four five-story brick and stone apartment houses, 25x85 each, to be built on the northwest corner of One Hundred and Fourth street and Second avenue, for David Stevenson, at a cost of about $60,000. The same architects have the plans for the two, 25x83, and one, 16x83, tenements to be built for J. A. Frame on Cherry street, east of Clinton, as mentioned last week. Cost about $50,000.

Jacob Steinhardt is about to erect for investment five improved five-story brown stone front apartment houses, 20x65x14x22 each, on the south side of Sixty-first street, commencing about 83 feet west of the Western Boulevard. They will cost about $100,000. A. B. Ogden is the architect.

James O'Hare will commence at once the erection of a five-story double tenement on the south side of Third street, 50 feet west of Macdougal street.

John Eggleston will erect five 15 feet front three-story brick private houses on the north side of One Hundred and Twenty-second street, 275 feet east of Eighth avenue, at a cost of about $7,000 each.

William Graul has the sketches on the boards for five five-story brown stone tenements, to be erected on the southeast corner of Ninth avenue and Forty-ninth street. There will be three on the avenue, 25x83 each, one on the street, 27x83, and one on the corner, 27x94. Owner, J. M. Ohmeis; estimated cost, about $75,000.

Messrs. Findley & Gardner propose to improve the two lots purchased by them yesterday, at the sale of the Alonzo Cushman estate, on the south side of Forty-ninth street, 150 feet east of Ninth avenue, for $7,500 each, by the erection of two five-story brick flat houses.

R. F. Hatfield has plans for adding two stories, 40 feet high, to the Masonic Temple, on the northeast corner of Sixth avenue and Twenty-third street. The cost will be about $100,000.

The interior of the West Presbyterian Church in Forty-second street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues, is to undergo extensive changes and improvements, which will be completed by October. In the balcony will be placed a number of boxes, each of which will be provided with seats for eight persons, something after the style of the boxes in the Madison Square Theatre. The choir, which now occupies a gallery above the pulpit, will be brought down to a level with the platform. The church will be entirely re-upholstered and other minor changes will be made. J. C. Cady is the architect. The renovation will cost between $50,000 and $60,000.

L. H. Broome has commenced work on the preliminary plans for the erection of a five-story brick and stone hotel, 40x80, at Nos. 45 and 47 Bowery, which will contain 70 rooms. In the rear there will be a summer garden handsomely laid out, about 100x100 in dimensions. The owner, William A. Martin, expects to expend $70,000 on this improvement.

Brooklyn.

It is the intention of Mr. John W. Mason to build for himself and family one of the finest mansions in Brooklyn. It is to be erected on Hicks street, opposite the Mansion House, Brooklyn Heights, and will have a frontage of 80 feet, and a depth of 75. The building will be four stories high, exclusive of basement and sub-cellar, the front being of Philadelphia brick, terra cotta and sandstone. The style will be the Colonial Renaissance. The interior is to be very elaborately decorated; it will be in cabinet trim, have steam heat, and all the modern improvements. The structure will to some extent form three houses, the centre one 40 feet and the others 20 feet in frontage, though they will all have one entrance and communicate with each other, thus practically and to all appearances being one building. The cost is estimated at from $80,000 to $100,000. The plans are being drawn by Montrose W. Morris, of New York.

Carl F. Eisenach has the plans in hand for six two-story brick dwellings, with brown stone basements; they will be 16.8x40 each, and trimmed with terra cotta, to be erected on Monroe street, near Broadway, for James H. Hart; the cost will be about $30,000.

E. F. Gaylor is preparing plans for a three-story frame dwelling, 50x40, with tower, to be erected on Grand street, between Gardiner and Scott avenues, for S. Tuttle, Son & Co.

Special Notices.

The valuable patent of the Marble Veneer Company is offered for sale, as will be seen from a card on page vi., opposite the front editorial page. This material can be applied to all kinds of metals, wood and stone, and on even and uneven surfaces. The patentees claim that it is water and fireproof. Parties interested can apply at the office of Charles Putzel, attorney, 149 Nassau street, who had his offices wainscoted with the veneer last fall, with pleasing effect.

Attention is called to the advertisement of Samuel Nichols, formerly of the firm of Day & Nichols, No. 197 Wooster street. All descriptions of iron work for buildings is supplied by this establishment, which has been in existence since 1866. Mr. Nichols has recently put up a good many side-walk elevators, and supplied them to the Kelly building, the Williamsburgh Fire Insurance, Mt. Morris Safe Deposit Company, Commercial Union building and scores of others. Their popularity indicates their reliability.

J. Romaine Brown, the well-known west side real estate agent and broker, has just removed from his old place at the southeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-third street, to No. 62 West Thirty-third street, round the corner. Among his numerous references are (with consent) Messrs. Jay Gould, R. G. Rolston, president of the Farmers' Loan & Trust Company, H. T. & R. E. Livingston and John H. Morris. Mr. Brown is a member of the Real Estate Exchange. Telephone call, 381, 39th street.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

BRICKS.—The general market for Common Hards has at least held its own and in some cases shows a slight improvement. This is especially noticeable on the better grades, the proportion of fine and attractive stock showing up in even smaller proportion than last week, and buyers competing for the cargoes offering sufficiently to admit of receivers exacting 12½@25c. per M higher figures. Aside from the above the changes are unimportant, advantages standing on a generally even balance, with the supply of "off" grades quite as full as receivers cared to handle, and now and then a cargo or two apparently somewhat burdensome. Demand very good at all times, but it is claimed has not increased, and against the aggregate offering is thought to form only about an even offset, the higher bids drawn out being stimulated through an absence of desirable quality rather than any shortage on quantity Some Haverstraws are spoken of at $7.75, but $7.00@7.50 per M. is nearer the average wholesale rate, and stock of merchantable quality will range from the latter figure down to $5.75 per M, according to attractions. The stock coming to hand is mostly of old make, but the proportion of new continues to gradually increase, and we hear of cargoes this week from points not heretofore represented. Pales continue somewhat unsettled and are quoted on the wide range of $3.00@4.00 per M, according to quality, and the chance of catching somebody in need of stock, with a fair aggregate of trade reached during the week. Fronts not active, but generally quoted as ruling about steady.

CEMENT.—There is nothing new on the market for imported stock, demand still appearing to exhaust all the supply it knows anything about, but not extending to strange brands, and any accumulation made is of the latter description. Prices on the general range without variation, and may be considered steady for all known marks. Domestic is evidently not as active as hoped for, and has a somewhat irregular market. One of our blanket sheet city commercial papers has just gravely informed its small and select circle of readers that a combination has been perfected to control the production, but forgot to add that it was pretty stale news, and the effort thus far has not been eminently successful. On choice dark Rosendale the rate remains at $1.10, but light shades have sold down to $1.00 per bbl., and still appear to be available at that rate.

LATH.—All the advantage has remained with sellers and a still further addition to cost may be noted, bringing rates up to $2.55@2.60 per M., with a stiff market at the close and none of the receivers apparently willing to negotiate except at an advance on the above figures. The influences appear to present simply a clear case of supply and demand, the latter constantly exceeding the former, and buyers steadily over-bidding each other in the effort to secure such stock as may become available. Receivers as a rule appear to have great confidence in the future.

LIME.—There appears to be a screw loose somewhere on this market and the buyer is evidently not placed at any disadvantage thereby. Up to the time of closing our report "no change as yet" was about the only information to be obtained regarding the price on Eastern, but weakness was virtually admitted, with more stock on hand than required for the careful demand On State lime lower rates are openly admitted and we have quotations at 75c. per bbl. for common and $1 for finishing, though certain special brands of lump are claimed to be worth more money.

LUMBER.—Suggestions of an interesting character are not plentiful and "nothing new" is fairly the sum and substance of about all the reports made. Advantage alternates slightly from buyer to seller and back again on most leading descriptions of stock but no permanent gain can be made nor does there appear to be sufficient energy on either side to indulge in an effort to force a gain. Business in fact seems to have settled into a sort of groove from which it is impossible to move it without a more powerful element than at present presented. A great deal of stuff is unquestionably going out in one way or another every week and toward all the regular outlets but trading lacks snap and vigor and a necessary stimulant to alter this state of affairs is wanting. We still note a disposition at interior points to assume that consumption for building purposes will be large this season but we think it yet a little premature to accept this theory as yet. A great amount of money is no doubt to be invested in the improvement of real estate but it will be upon structures requiring but little lumber. Buildings where the consumption of lumber would be com; aratively liberal have been planned and some will be completed but in a great many cases the progress will be slow at the best, partly owing to the caution of builders themselves and partly from the fact that "assistance" is more difficult to obtain from sources heretofore depended upon to give a backing to semi-speculative form of operations through which so many structures have grown into existence during recent years. The general accumulation of stock now on hand is fair as well as pretty well assorted, a considerable amount of stuff having already drifted upon the market from various sources.

Eastern Spruce will be called steady on one hand and weak on the other, just as operators may have met with success in handling supplies. So far as a random offering is concerned, however, the average of advantage is with buyers as the open call for cargoes is limited and particular, and only the most attractive bills are likely to secure prompt attention. Some of the short stuff can now be placed "out of town," but the exhaust is not full enough to warrant an increase of shipments in this direction. On specials the asking rates remain somewhat fuller than customers as a rule feel like submitting to, though it is reported that a little compromise on the part of both buyer and seller has of late resulted in a somewhat increased business. The quotations are named at $13.00@15 50 for random and $15 50@17.00 for specials.

White Pine has a more or less unsettled market, but shows an inclination to weakness. Occasional reports are made of a reduced amount of stock on hand, but no class of buyers are known to have been seriously inconvenienced in obtaining supplies or any average assortment, and past arrivals with additional amounts known to be coming make a fair balance against the outlet. Box boards have for some time been difficult to hold in a steady position and desirable shippers were under best control. Exporters move in rather an uncertain manner, although the outward movement this month has been very fair. We quote $17.50 @19 for West India shipping boards; $25@28 for South American do.; $14@15 for box boards, and $16.00 @17.50 for extra do.

Yellow Pine has been inquired after to a somewhat increased extent on a few bills, but the addition to the call will have to be much greater and of a more positively anxious character to give the market a really healthy and cheerful tone. Indeed most reports continue in the old dull and dissatisfied strain, and it is very common to hear that "there is no money in the business." Manufacturers are endeavoring to exercise caution, but the product of too many mills is seeking an outlet to hope for improvement in value as matters now stand. Recent special orders taken have been at low rates, and competition to reach the contracts was strong. We quote as follows: Randoms, $18@20.50 per M; Specials, $20@21.00 do.; Green Flooring Boards, $22@23; Dry do.. do., $23@24; Siding, $22@28 do.; Cargoes f. o. b at Atlantic ports, $14@14.50 for rough, and $19@22 for dressed. Cargoes f. o. b. at Gulf ports, $13@14 for rough, and $18 @20 for dressed.

Hardwoods sell fairly on about the average run of trade orders, and where there appears to be "money in it," buyers will operate somewhat ahead of wants in choice woods, such as cherry, walnut, etc. There does not appear to be much doing in logs and we hear some complaints of an over supply. We quote at wholesale rates by car load as follows: Walnut, $65@110 per M.; ash, $35@40 do.; oak, $30@55 do.; maple. $20@32.50 do.; chestnut, $25@30 do ; cherry, $40@75 do.; whitewood, $27@35 do., do.; elm, $22@25; hickory, $45@52.50 do.

Shingles are steadily held, but the demand is somewhat uncertain and confined mainly to actual orders as they may happen to develop. We quote Cypress at $8.0 @8.50 per M. for 5x20 and $11@12 do. for 6x20 regularly assorted shipping. Pine shipping stock $2.00 @ 2.50 for 18 inch, and Eastern saw grades at $2.00@2.50 for 16 inch, as to quality and to quantity. Eastern shaved cedar $4.00 @4.50 per M. Machine dressed cedar shingles quoted as follows: for 30 inch, $15.00@20.00 for A, and $23@ 28.50 for No. 1; for 24 inch, $13.00@15 for A and $18.50@20.50 for No. 1; for 20 inch, $8@9.50 for A and $11.00@12 50 for No. 1.

After careful consideration of the necessities of the case the members of the pitch pine lumber trade of this city have finally agreed upon a form of classification and inspection to go into effect immediately. It is a reform fully justified by the many difficulties under which the trade has labored for many years, and well worthy of imitation by operators interested in other descriptions of lumber. We give the result in full:

CLASSIFICATION OF YELLOW PINE.

MERCHANTABLE FLOORING.

1 in. and 1¼ in. in thickness, and from 3 to 6 in. in width, and shall show one face free from sap and two-thirds heart the entire length on the opposite face. Shall be free from splits, shakes, and unsound knots, sound knots to be allowed as follows, viz: Two knots in boards under 16 ft long; three knots in boards 16 ft. long and over, of not over one inch in diameter, or six knots if not over half an inch in diameter.

MERCHANTABLE FLOORING PLANK.

1½ to 3 in. in thickness, and 5 to 10 in. in width shall show one face free of sap, except on each edge of the face, one-half in. of sap shall be allowed and two-thirds heart on opposite face. Free from splits, shakes, unsound knots, and knots exceeding 1¼ in. in diameter.

MERCHANTABLE WIDE BOARDS AND PLANK.

1 in. to 2 in. in thickness, and 10 to 14 in. in width, shall show one face free from sap and two-thirds heart entire length on opposite face. Free of through shakes and splits and unsound knots, six sound knots of 1 in. and under in diamter, or three of 1½ in. in diameter to be allowed in a piece.

PRIME WIDE BOARDS AND PLANK.

1 to 2 in. in thickness and 10 to 14 in. in width, shall show one face and one edge free from sap, and two-thirds heart on the other face the entire length. Free of shakes and splits and knots

MERCHANTABLE SIDINGS.

One in., 1¼ in. and 1½ in. in thickness and 4 in. and over in width. Sap may be allowed as follows, viz.: On the face of best side (regardless of sap on the opposite face). One-half in. on one edge on boards 7 in. and under in width, and ½ in. on each edge of boards over 7 in. wide. Must be free of through shakes, splits or unsound knots, and on the face side the following allowance for knots: Three sound knots not exceeding 1 in. in diameter in boards under 14 ft. long; four sound knots not exceeding 1 in. in diameter in boards under 14 ft. long and over, or six sound knots not exceeding ½ in. in diameter in any length board.

SCANTLING.

Shall embrace all sizes from 2 to 5 in. in thickness and from 2 to 6 in. in width. For example: 2 by 2, 2 by 3, 2 by 4, 2 by 5, 2 by 6, 3 by 3, 3 by 4, 3 by 5, 3 by 6, 4 by 4, 4 by 5, 4 by 6, 5 by 5, 5 by 6 and 5 by 7, 6 by 8, and shall show at least three corners heart, free of injurious shakes or unsound knots.

MERCHANTABLE PLANK.

Plank shall embrace all sizes from 2½ to 5 in. in thickness by 7 in. and up in width. For example: 2½, 3, 3½, 4, 4½ and 5 by 7 and up wide. Plank 10 in. and under in width shall show one heart face, and two-thirds heart the entire length on opposite face. Plank over 10 in. wide shall show one heart face and two-thirds heart the entire length on opposite face, except that on the heart face 1 in. in width of sap may be allowed on each edge for not exceeding 4 ft. in length and that in plank over 20 ft long and 14 in. and over wide, wane may be allowed in two places on the heart face not over one-half of an inch in width, measured diagonally, on each edge, and not over 3 feet in length in each place. All plank shall be free from unsound knots, rot through, or round shakes and wane, except as before stated.

MERCHANTABLE INSPECTION ON DIMENSION SIZES OF SAWN TIMBER.

Shall vary according to the sizes, and the sizes shall be embraced in four divisions, as follows:

FIRST DIVISION.

Shall consist of the following sizes, viz: 6 by 6, 6 by 7, 6 by 8, 6 by 9, 6 by 10, 6 by 11, 7 by 7, 7 by 8, 7 by 9, 7 by 10, 7 by 11, 8 by 8, 8 by 9, 8 by 10, 8 by 11, 9 by 9, 9 by 10, 9 by 11, 10 by 10, 10 by 11, 10 by 12, 11 by 11, 11 by 12, 12 by 12, and shall be of the following quality, viz: Free from rot, unsound knots, and through and round shakes, and have two-thirds heart the entire length on all sides.

SECOND DIVISION.

Shall consist of all sizes of square lumber, 13 by 13 and over. For example: 13 by 13, 14 by 14, 15 by 15, 16 by 16, 17 by 17, 18 by 18, &c., and shall be of the following quality, viz: Free from rot, unsound knots and through and round shakes, and shall show heart the entire length on all sides.

THIRD DIVISION.

Shall consist of the following sizes, viz: 6 by 12, 7 by 12, 8 by 12, 9 by 12, 6 by 13, 7 by 13, 8 by 13, 9 by 13, 10 by 13, 11 by 13, 12 by 13, 6 by 14, 7 by 14, 8 by 14, 9 by 14, 10 by 14, 11 by 14, 12 by 14, 13 by 14, and shall be of the following quality, viz.: Free from rot, unsound knots and through and round shakes, and have two-thirds heart the entire length on the wide faces, and one-half heart the entire length on the edges.

FOURTH DIVISION.

Shall consist of sizes where the width is over 14 inches, and the width exceeds thickness. For example: 6 by 15 and up wide, 7 by 15 and up wide, 8 by 15 and up wide, 9 by 15 and up wide, 10 by 15 and up wide, 11 by 15 and up wide, 12 by 15 and up wide, 13 by 15 and up wide, 14 by 15, &c., and shall be of the following quality, viz: Free from rot, unsound knots and through and round shakes, and have two-thirds heart the entire length on the wide face, and some heart on edges, three-quarters of the length.

EXCEPTIONS.

That all square dimension sizes over 10 by 10—25 ft. long and over, and on faces of all dimension sizes over 10 in. wide, and 25 ft. long and over, sap may run across two faces for not exceeding 2 ft in length, and one inch (measured diagonally), wane may be allowed on two corners for not exceeding 2 ft. in length on each of these corners.

All fractional sizes, not herein otherwise provided for, shall be classed and inspected the same as the next lower size.

MERCHANTABLE ROUGH EDGE OR FLITCH.

Shall be sawed from good hewn timber, and shall be measured in the middle, on the narrow face, free from injurious shakes or unsound knots.

All stock to be well and truly manufactured, full to sizes and saw butted.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

ALBANY MARKET.

The Argus reports for week ending May 21 as follows:

This is the first week of the season for the full operation of the trade Hitherto this year the receipts have been only by rail, except that some lumber has arrived by boats from the nearer points. Now they are arriving from Buffalo, Tonawanda and Ottawa, bringing down pine, etc., from Michigan and Canada, and the business, both in receiving and selling, is in full force. There has been a fair attendance of buyers and there will soon be more, when it is learned that all kinds of lumber can be obtained. At the producing points the mills are rapidly sawing and the lumber is being piled to season. The outlook, both for supply and demand, is favorable, and a large trade is anticipated. The stock on hand needed replenishing, as it was smaller than it has been for many years. The arrivals will soon be dried by the winds blowing up and down the valley of the Hudson. No change in prices is expected. Spruce and hemlock are now in fair supply, and constant arrivals will keep a good stock in market. Hardwoods are coming in by both water and rail and are being piled to dry in the open air. The stock now on hand is not very large, though all kinds can be supplied. Shingles, lath, etc., are coming forward in fair amounts, and the real and full trade for the season has commenced.

THE WEST.

The Lumberman and Manufacturer, Minneapolis Minn., says:

All the mills in the country are running, and a majority to their full capacity, turning out more lumber than ever before. Lumber hunters who have been through Wisconsin report the old stocks about played out and finishing hard to find, even in small quantities, and, when found, can only be bought at full rates.

The favorable news from the drives of last week is supplemented by most favorable accounts of the condition of all the driving streams of the three States. That but a small per cent. of the logs cut will be hung up, seems now to be apparent. A few log sales are reported on St. Croix at previous figures, the limit being from $8 to $12. As to St Paul and Minneapolis markets, an enormous local demand is occupying a good deal of attention, and those who are working for outside business report a brisk demand and the presence of a number of buyers this week, all bringing favorable reports, tends to stiffen prices. The new price lists issued by several firms last week has not been followed by similar action on the part of all our dealers. Broken assortments and off grade lumber may account for this difference in list. Considerable green lumber is being shipped fresh from the saw at old price list, and the number of men hunting for heavy long dimension to be sawed to order is unprecedented. Minneapolis mills are cutting nearly 2,000,000 a day. The amount of old stock fit for use is estimated at 60,000,000 total, against 172,000,000 on the first day of December last.

SOUTH AMERICA.

This week's mail from Rio Janeiro reports:

Pitch Pine—Arrived 151,884 feet per Julia from Brunswick, which is on order. There is no special change in the market; last sale was at 37$000. White Pine—There have been no arrivals. The market is unchanged and reported to be in good position. For pine to arrive 125 rs is asked. Spruce Pine—No arrivals nor transactions. Swedish Pine—No arrivals and still quoted at 36$@38$000 per dozen.

NAILS.—The market undergoes no very decided change, and presents few really new features. More or less of an attempt is constantly making to bring the supply within easily handling volume, but buyers do not as yet appear to have suffered any inconvenience or delay in the search after stock and assortments are full enough to permit of all usual selections. Local consumption is pretty full at present, while some of the interior points are falling off. The basis quotation remains at $2.60 per keg for 10d. to 60d., with the usual variations, according to size of invoice.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—Trading does not change much in form or vary to any extent in volume, and "nothing new" is quite a common manner of report. Local consumption is keeping up very well and fair orders came from interior cities, but the general country wants are comparatively moderate. Stocks in first hands are reported to be small, but well enough assorted to permit of any ordinary selection. Linseed oil secures fair attention and is very well supported in value, closing at about 57@58c. per gallon for domestic, and 58@59c. for foreign. Spirits turpentine meeting with about average demand and steady at 32@35c. per gallon, according to size of invoice, etc.

PITCH AND TAR.—The market has not much life, and the movement of supplies is principally on the average run of trade orders. Stocks are found to meet all calls, and about former rates accepted. We quote pitch $2.25@2.30 per bbl., tar $2.50@3.00 do., according to quantity, quality and delivery.
